Telfordian Temperature Topics

Weather Notes for January.

In looking over January we find several high, low and sudden changes. The two first days of the month were fine, but on the 3rd the mercury commenced falling and for the following days to the 10th almost each morning at or below zero, and again fine to the 16th, when it made another downward tumble to 16° below zero, followed by another upward tendency, but on the 20th it made one determined plunge down to 34° below zero—being the only time since the 24th of January, 1882, that the thermometer has sunk so low—in both of these dates the extreme cold coming exactly the same. Then again on the 26th and 27th we had respectively 13° and 12° below; from that out to the finish of the month was particularly fine, which we may call the January thaw although no rain fell in this locality; the coldest day being on the 20th, the thermometer standing at 34° as said above and the hottest on the 2nd, being at sunrise 40°, at noon up to 44°, at sundown 35°, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 15°. We had rain on 3 days but only to the depth of 30-100 of an inch, and snow on 15 days to the depth of 23 inches. We had 4 times halo and twice solar corona and one fine display of heavens' almighty work in the first degree or class of auroral lights which is characterized by the presence of at least three out of four of the most magnificient varieties of form namely, arches, streamers, corona and waves which occurred on the night of the 5th of the month, three time white fog; the following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely; south west 7 days, north 2 days, north west 14 days, north east 2 days, east 1 day, south east 2 days, south 1 day, and west 2 days.

The municipal council met at the town hall, the Reeve, Jos. Forster, Esq., and Councillors Johnston, Dunlop and Hunter being present. The report of the auditors and the detailed and abstract statement of receipts and expenditures was read, which on motion was received and adopted and the clerk authorized to get 150 copies printed for distribution. Applications for office were then read, from Wm. Goodfellow for collector, and T. Bradburn, T. E. Bradburn, and Jos. T. Green for treasurer. On motion the appointment of treasurer and collector was laid over to the next meeting. A bylaw was passed appointing J. J. Bennett assessor for the year 1892 at a salary of forty dollars. A by-law was also passed to appoint a board of health, composed of the following gentlemen. Jos. Forster, reeve, Wm. Collins, clerk, Newton Maybee, Geo. H. May and Alfred Saunders, Dr. A. Yelland, medical health officer, and James Davidson, sanitary inspector. On motion Mr. Johnston was instructed to get 100 lbs. lbs. flour and 2 bags of potatoes for Wm. Close, as charity. On motion the auditors were to be paid $5 each for their services in auditing accounts for 1991. The following accounts were presented and, on motion, ordered to be paid:—Adam Hall, for iron pipe for water trough at Spillsbury's hill, gravel road, $16 86; treasurer No. two school section, for use of school house for election, $3; James Davidson, an account for services as constable and sanitary inspector for 1891, $5; Joseph Forster, to payment of insurance on town hall, $5 95. A committee, composed of the reeve and Councillors Johnston, McIntosh and Hunter, was appointed to wait on Messrs. Bell, Pearson, Stephens and Green with regard to removing their fences off the roadways. The assessor was instructed to procure a leather bag to carry assessment rolls in. On motion the council adjourned, to meet again on Monday, the 6th day of March, at one o'clock p.m.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Council met at the Town Hall Bridgenorth on Monday, February 1st. All the members present, the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A by-law was passed, appointing Township officers as follows:—John Black and Andrew Young as auditor, R. Waram, assessor and collector. Also a by-law appointing the following persons as a local Board of Health, namely, M. Sanderson, F. J. Bell, Geo. Westlake, R. Waram and Wm. Preston, jr. The committee appointed to examine the 9th Con. line across lots 18 and 19, reported recommending that no action be taken in regard to opening up the same. The sum of $75 00 was granted for repairing the South Hunkora and Burleigh roads, to meet a similar and conditional grant made by the County Council and the Ontario Government. The following claims were ordered to be paid, namely, T. Cochrane, road scraper, $9.00; Review Printing Co.'y acc., $8 25; W. Simpson, timber for road, $5 00. The council then adjourned to meet on Feb. 22nd inst.

The East Hastings Contest.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The idea of the fear of the Ottawa government is in of a fair and free expression of public opinion on their record and policy is seen from the manner in which they make use of their power to handicap the Liberals. Last week it was stated that the lists for East Hastings were not yet completed and could not be for some days. It now transpires that Tory canvassers have had copies of the lists for several days while the Liberals will have to wait a week probably before they are supplied with copies. These same unfair tactics were resorted to in East Elgin and other places. It is hoped the electors of East Hastings will condemn such measures and the men who perpetrate them.

Is it Bona Fide or Bogus.

Three members of the Dominion cabinet left for Washington on Monday to prostrate themselves before President Harrison and beg for some sort of reciprocity. This is "cringing to the Yankees," and making Canada "a commercial dependency of the United States." How do the ultra-loyalists like it? And what interests now protected by customs duties are to be abandoned in order to obtain reciprocity? Is the farmer to be forced to face unlimited American competition, while the combinesters are still to be protected? In what articles are we to have reciprocity? Or is it only a "blind" to hood-wink rural electors at the pending by-elections?

Ayer's Hair Vigor
Is the "ideal" Hair-dressing. It restores the color to gray hair; promotes a fresh and vigorous growth; prevents the formation of dandruff; makes the hair soft and silken; and imparts a delicate but lasting perfume.

"Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best in the world."—T. Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky.
"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a number of years, and it has always given me satisfaction. It is an excellent dressing, prevents the hair from turning gray, insures its vigorous growth, and keeps the scalp white and clean."—Mary A. Jackson, Salem, Mass.
"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for promoting the growth of the hair, and think it unequaled. For restoring the hair to its original color, and for a dressing, it cannot be surpassed."—Mrs. Geo. Le Fever, Eaton Rapids, Mich.
"Ayer's Hair Vigor is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a cure for dandruff."—J. W. Bowen, Editor "Enquirer," McArthur, Ohio.
"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past two years, and found it all it is represented to be. It restores the natural color to gray hair, causes the hair to grow freely, and keeps it soft and pliant."—Mrs. M. V. Day, Cohoes, N. Y.
"My father, at about the age of fifty, lost all the hair from the top of his head. After one month's trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor the hair began coming, and, in three months, he had a fine growth of hair of the natural color."—P. J. Cullen, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Quite a Hustler.

Mr. F. Stonesburgh, local agent of the Utica Saturday Globe, has been awarded $5 as a prize in the grand prize contest of that paper. There was great competition among the 8,000 agents of this paper, and he may consider himself a hustler in view of the fact that there was only 214 prizes offered. He sold 2,817 papers in thirteen weeks.

A Chance for Town Contractors.

There seems to be promises of a busy building season in the country this year, if present indications continue. In the WEEKLY EXAMINER we find that two new school houses are to be built, one in Eamismore and one in Douro, and that in the latter township preparations are being made for the building of a new R. C. Church. The parishioners have been busy hauling material. Builders and contractors in town and country will be fighting for the victory implied in getting the first contract of the season.

A Dangerous Practice.

A young lad named Howland, living in Ashburnham, came near meeting with a serious accident at noon to-day in front of the new village town hall. As it is, he is said to be pretty badly hurt. He had been enjoying himself by hanging on sleighs, and while riding on a load of logs, he slipped and was dragged a considerable distance in front of the runner, his clothes being almost torn from his body. He was carried into Madill's drug store, and it is said that he is pretty badly shaken up.

Attempted Burglary.

Last night a number of young men were walking on George street when they heard the crash of glass and on investigation it was discovered that a burglar was in the act of going through Gough Bros. store. Several of them guarded the door while one ran over to the police station, and in a few minutes Policemen McGinty and Adams were on the scene. They entered the building and began to search when they discovered the man under the counter in the boot and shoe department, with a bag filled with undercloth ing, boots, and a large amount of red cloth used for covering shelving. When taken to the police station he was asked what he was going to do with the cloth, and he said he was going to dress for the Sons of Canada Carnival to be held on Friday, the 12th. Gough Bros. are to be congratulated on the timely arrival of the police, otherwise they would be put to great loss.

A GRAND MUSICAL SUCCESS

Scored by the Philharmonic Society.

The Oratorio "Emmanuel" Brought off With Great Success—Beautiful Orchestral and Choral Work—A Large and Delighted Audience—The Oratorio Swings Smoothly da Capo al Fine.

There was a large and critical audience assembled last night in the Opera House to listen to the presentation of the Oratorio Emmanuel, under the baton of Mr. J. Churchill Arlidge. In addition to thorough rehearsal, everything had been arranged to make the event move smoothly. The front of the stage was provided with graded seats for the chorus, covered with crimson cloth. These was flanked by a beautiful collection of living plants on either side. The conductor's desk and the orchestra were placed directly in front of the stage on the floor. A portable pipe organ presided over by Mr. Schneider, was also provided. Very shortly after eight the audience being in their seats, the overture by the orchestra began, and here it is proper to pay a warm tribute to the excellence of the composition and work of the orchestra which very tastefully and judiciously supported the solos and choruses. The libretto of the oratorio, covering the life of our Saviour from birth to ascension, follows closely the gospel narrative, and its musical setting, while not of the severe classical order is of good quality of melody abounding in beautiful themes and much fine and effective harmony. the work is a credit to the promising author Mr. J. Eliot Trowbridge. The first and third parts are full of stirring choral effects while the second part, representing the betrayal and crucifixion, abounds with much of the subdued minor key, fitting its tragic character, though the magnificent closing chorus, which was splendidly sung—"Truly this was the Son of God"—was one of the best, if not the best, concerted numbers of the Oratorio. It is of course impracticable to deal in detail with the production, but it is safe to characterize it generally as a great success all through, especially the concerted portion. Much of the solo work is worthy of warm praise, while some of it was not quite up to the mark, it being necessary to remember that some of the soloists were suffering from the prevalent colds, and that some of them were just recovered from serious illness. Under the circumstances it is not advisable, though there is ample ground for so doing, to distinguish the soloists by special mention, still some of the debutantes may take courage by the success they achieved. The choruses and concerted numbers are worthy of the warmest praise. The attack was prompt, the light and shade delicately and judiciously given, the phrasing excellent and the harmony well filled in, the parts blending nicely and the result was decidedly pleasing and artistic. Mr. Arlidge must be well satisfied with the outcome of his labours in training his chorus and concerted numbers. There seemed to be a continuous crescendo movement of excellence in the several choruses till the grand finale, which was a fitting close to a most creditably rendered oratorio, and both singers and instrumentalists are deserving of praise for the manner in which they contributed to the undoubted success which the oratorio "Emmanuel" was.

In the second part of the Oratorio the symphony (No. 26) performed by the strings of the Orchestra con sordini was delightfully dainty and sweet, and was the subject of unstinted praise by scores of the audience.

One pleasing feature of the oratorio, apart from its musical excellence, was the smoothness with which it ran, the whole occupying less than two hours, including "God Save the Queen," which was splendidly sung at the beginning. Following are the members comprising the sole singers, the chorus and orchestra:—

CONDUCTOR—Mr. J. Churchill Arlidge.

SOLOISTS.—Misses Vair, L. Dixon, Edith Hall, Crane, Lee and Montgomery; Mesdames Hunter, Brodigan and Johnston; Master Gussie Arlidge; Messrs. Crane, McKee, Nelson, J. Jones, H. Thompson and J. S. A. Hall.

CHORUS.—Soprani—Misses Clarke, Claxton, F. Dixon, L. Dixon, Fairweather, A. Hall, E. Hall, K. Hall, L. Hall, P. Hall, B. Paterson and Vair; Mesdames Brodigan, Hunter, Johnston Ross and Long. Contralti—Misses Clarke, Crane, Gilmour, Lee, Montgomery and N. Patterson; Mrs. Wood; Masters Gussie Arlidge and Theo. Arlidge. Tenori—Messrs. Crane, H. S. MacDonald, McKee and Pickles. Bassi—Messrs. J. Claxton, G. Davidson, J. A. Hall, J. Jones, McCallum, D. H. Moore, W. F. Nelson, Schneider, H. Thompson and Wood.

ORCHESTRA.—1st violins, Mr. W. Donville, Toronto College of Music, and Miss Louise Yokoma; 2nd violins, Mr. Napolitano, Toronto Conservatory of Music, and Mr. F. Welsman, Toronto; viola, Mr. Park, Toronto; violoncello, Mr. K. G. Loch; contra bass, Mr. W. E. Loch; flute, Mr. J. Butcher; clarionette, Mr. G. Wholton; cornets, Mr. F. E. Jones and Mr. W. A. Sanderson; trombone, Mr. S. Foster; organ, Mr. Geo. Schneider.

NOTES.

The fine two manual reed organ used on the occasion was furnished by Messrs. Jackson & Co.

In the second part Mr. Crane took the solo work of Mr. H. Jones, and in a very creditable manner, especially considering that he did so at almost a moment's notice.

Personal.

Mr. John O'Meara, Ottawa, is in town for a few days.

The friends of Mr. J. E. McIntyre, of the "Criterion" will be glad to know that he has sufficiently recovered from a severe attack of rheumatism as to be down stairs.

Miss S. A. Stiles, of Eamismore, has returned home after spending two weeks of a very enjoyable time with Miss Maggie McGarrity, 286 Edinburgh street, town.

Mr. A. E. Scott, Misses P. Barrie, and E. Sherlock, of this town, are delegates at the Methodist Young People's Society convention, which is being held in Toronto.

Mr. John Bertram, of Toronto, is in town visiting friends. He is in excellent health He came down particularly to see his old friend Mr. William Hamilton who has been in bad health for some time but is now improving.

The Y. M. C. A. lost one of its active members in the departure of Mr. John W. Ridgway, who left on the noon train to-day for Montreal, where he expects to remain a few days. From there he goes to see his relatives in Ireland after an absence of fourteen years, expecting to return to Canada early in the spring. He carried with him the best wishes of a large circle of friends which he made while in our town.

—A deputation from Cobourg waited on the Attorney-General yesterday, asking him to urge the Government to utilize the old Victoria College buildings for some institution.

Wedding Bells.

At six o'clock this morning St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a quiet wedding, the occasion being the marriage of Marie Dmys De La Ronde Laplante, eldest daughter of Mr. N. T. Lerigee De Laplante, Lock street, to Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau Dit Eran D'Amour, of Montreal, the marriage ceremony being performed by the Rev. Father Dube. The bride, who was quietly but richly attired in travelling costume, was "given away" by her father, and Mr. Archibald Lottellier was present in the capacity of witness. There were only a few relatives present to witness the ceremony, and at its conclusion the happy couple repaired to the residence of the bride's father where a wedding breakfast was partaken of. The bride was the recipient of a large number of valuable presents, which testified in a marked degree to the esteem in which she was held. The newly-wed leave for Montreal this evening by the C. P. R. followed by the well wishes of their friends. The EXAMINER joins them in extending congratulations. The bride is a native of Peterborough, to-day being the twenty-seventh anniversary of the coming of the family to town. She is held in high esteem by her numerous friends and acquaintances. The husband is a prominent and respected business man of Montreal, a hardware merchant, and they enter upon their new relation under the most promising auspices, and with the best wishes of a very wide circle of friends.

Query?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAD SIR,—Please answer through the columns of your paper the following question:

Has a man walking on a country road, a right to one-half of it, when he meets either a team or one horse? What does the law give him? By answering this you will greatly oblige,

J. H. TAYLOR,
Otonabee.

[What share of the travelled road a man walking is entitled to, depends on the circumstances of each particular case. The width of the travelled part of the road, the kind of a vehicle, the load, if any, thereon, and similar circumstances in each case would have to be taken into account. Generally speaking a person walking on the highway is entitled to a reasonable share of the travelled part and to that share unmolested by others.—ED. EXAMINER.]

The Hockey Match.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—It is with pleasure that the Sons of Canada carnival committee announce that the hockey match will take place exactly as advertised, satisfactory arrangements having been made between the carnival committee and the Edison and Peterborough hockey clubs. It is expected that this will be the most exciting game of the season as both clubs are about evenly matched.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,
JAMES W. KENNEDY,
Secretary Carnival Committee.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEER, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY

Midnight in London.

Staff-Captain Cox gave her closing address at the Salvation Army barracks on Tuesday night. Her subject was "Midnight in London." The barracks was crowded to the doors, many being unable to gain admittance. She was attired in slum costume, and gave an interesting account of London after dark, and told a number of stories of personal experience in that city. At the close of the meeting a number of persons interviewed her. Miss Cox's meetings have resulted in much good being done, and the army has increased in membership as the result of her labours here.

Don't Answer Irresponsible Advertisements.

A recent number of the Tacoma, Washington, Daily News, has an expose of the methods of Dr. Fontaine, whose advertisement, "Deafness, its Cause and Cure," has been inserted in hundreds of papers, and it appears that Dr. Fontaine does not pay his bills for advertising. Now any man that conducts one department of his business by a swindler's methods, and it is more than likely that thousands of credulous persons, who have read and responded to the above advertisement, had nothing but disappointment and gloss. Circumstances like these should be a warning to these, and their name is legion, who go on the principle of getting by an outside prophet that confidence and patronage they refuse to a professional man whom they know they can trust. It is the height of folly for any person to pay for healing to a nameless individual in a distant land, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a swindler, when a reputable, well-educated physician has been unable to give relief.

Reason and science admit that the irresistible craving for liquor, which causes a man to drink to excess, the moment he takes his first drink is a habitual drunkard is a periodical disease. The Father Mathew Remedy is the only specific that can cure such a disease. 1d

Lakefield.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Lakefield school board looked very comfortable and contented in their new quarters in the town hall last evening.

Mr. Thomas Gordon is at present engaged on an order for fifty canoes from England, and has some six or seven hands at work.

The members of Court Lakefield will hold their annual supper and entertainment some time this month, and it is intended to try to eclipse all former attempts in the same line.

As will be seen by the council reports, they have at last made a long talked of change, viz. employing a man by the year to do the assessing, collecting, health inspector, constable and other duties; it is claimed a more efficient service can be obtained and at a less expense. A year's trial will decide the matter, and if the work is only faithfully performed, the ratepayers will have no cause to grumble, as a saving of some $100 will be effected.

On Tuesday evening when Mr. David Darling, who resides about a mile above Young's Point, had finished feeding his horses he jumped from the mow to the floor alighting on the upturned prongs of the hay fork, one of which penetrated the lower part of the body inflicting a serious wound. No one was at home, but he managed to partially stop the bleeding and got his team hitched up and started for Lakefield, weak from pain and the loss of a large quantity of blood. He will be laid up for some time at the best, under medical care, but the injury is not necessary fatal.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield School Board was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening, 9th inst.

Present—Mr. T. Gordon, chairman, in the chair; Messrs. Graham, Dench and White.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park.

MR. EDITOR,—Articles appear almost every day in the daily Canadian journals concerning the future uses of the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park. What is the meaning of these rumors and mutterings? Do the people of Canada desire to make themselves ridiculous in the eyes of their great neighbor "Uncle Sam," and the whole world also? Respect for the good and gracious Queen after whom the park is named, should protect the people's tribute from the dirt and smoke of a railroad train and its accompaniments, a station and possibly a peanut stand. Shame, ten thousand times shame, every British subject should cry at even the suggestion of such an outrage. A prominent journal states "a good deal of credence is given to the rumor which is strengthened by the fact that the alleged electric road company is composed entirely of prominent C. P. R. men and that the material for the road proposed is heavy enough for any railroad with a large traffic." Can it be possible that transportation by steam in this, the handsomest park in the world is contemplated? Imagine such a scheme proposed by any railroad company in the State of New York after the people had appropriated certain lands for park purposes to be held for the benefit of the people of the state. The legislature of the state would not dare to break faith in such a manner with the people. We hope and trust that same rumor is wrong and also that the good and proud people of Ontario will resent by universal protest any such vandalism.

Let the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park remain as it is, a park, and for the people with this simple addition viz., a fine statue of Her Majesty, and secondly, a statue of Lord Dufferin who conceived the idea of this park.

THE "SUN LIFE"
ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, - - - - MONTREAL.

The year 1891 has been the Banner Year in the History of the Sun Life.

The Gross Applications for the year in the Life Department amounted to the enormous total of $5,90!,000.00, an amount greatly exceeding that touched by the Company in any previous year, and it is believed no other Canadian Company has ever totaled a like amount in any one year.

THE SURPLUS PROFITS

have increased to even a greater extent than the new business, thus plainly indicating that the unbounded confidence placed in this great Financial Institution by the Canadian public, has not been misplaced.

A MARVELOUS FEAT ACCOMPLISHED BY CHICAGO BUILDERS.

How Four of the Seventeen Stories of the New Ashland Block Were Built Within the Space of Thirteen Days—The Work of Construction—Haste That Pays.

Within the last five weeks there has been performed in Chicago a feat in the building line which passes into history as far surpassing all previous achievements in the way of rapid construction. Indeed, so wonderful, so seemingly incredible was the feat that future generations who may read of it will doubtless pass it with something much like a sardonic smile as they whisper to themselves: "A daring piece of fiction not unworthy the day of many exaggerations in which it was recorded," just as many of us regard certain legends which one day were probably cold facts with people who lived at a time when the world was young.

At Clark and Randolph streets diagonally across from the City Hall—there has climbed to nearly its allotted height of seventeen stories the Ashland block. As has daily been observed by the thousands of persons who form the turbulent human tide coming from four different directions and at this point converging into one rushing throng, the structure is one of those daring affairs whose skeletons of steel are put up first and then so uniquely clothed with brick and terra cotta. The deft, swift way in which slender fingers of iron operated by steam, pick up massive rafters of steel and, swinging them a hundred feet or more in mid-air, put them in place as gently as the mother puts her babe into its crib; the ease and rapidity with which many a score of workmen fit and pile squares of terra cotta as the child its building blocks—these things form a spectacle which arrests the attention and for many a minute holds the gaze of hundreds of strangers during every hour in the day, while even old Chicagoans never tire of the intensely interesting sight. And when night settles down upon the city the forming of the steel skeleton and the doing of all other work connected with the growth of this stately business structure is not interrupted in the least. Great arc electric lamps lend their rival of daylight, and the spectacle takes on new fascination for stranger and citizen walking the streets below.

Of all the many persons who have witnessed this sight probably not one outside of those connected therewith has appreciated that he was witnessing something in connection with this particular building which was destined to put a big peg in the historical tablet of the day, one which would make the most notable achievement in rapid constructive skill; a peg on which would hang a vaster deal of comment and sober speculation by the greatest builders of the world than any similar event ever known. For want of a better term, it may be said that the brick part of the building is that portion consisting of the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth stories. It is the time made in erecting these four stories which is the wonder, and that as years multiply will form the magnet for curiosity and opinion passing.

One of the most nakedly truthful things in this world is a photographer's negative. Glance at the first sketch reproduced herewith. It was made from an imprint of a photographer's negative taken at the Ashland Block as it appeared Dec. 5, 1891. Then notice the second picture. This was taken from a negative made of the building thirteen days later. You find it scarcely necessary to examine these drawings closely in order to discover great progress in the construction. Your glance at the illustrations shows little more than the exterior of the street shell of the five stories in question. Imagination and reason will enable you to pierce the wall and look upon the solidly built five floors that are beyond or within.

It is simply impossible for other than a professional builder to comprehend anything like the full meaning of the assertion and fact regarding the time employed in doing this work. Think of putting up a modern steel and stone business block 80x140 feet, four stories high, in thirteen days—less time than two weeks! That is practically what the feat in question really means, barring the matter of foundation.

Some of the general facts relative to this unparalleled job of swift construction prove interesting. First, it should be noticed that all of the entire seventeen stories conform to the dimensions—80x140 feet. The prosecution of the work, midwinter as it is, is made possible only by the furnishing of artificial heat. This is done by using a hundred little salamander stoves and several hundred yards of heavy canvas, which was used to keep out the piercing winds to which the men were specially exposed while at work. As a rule the men worked in relays, although some would keep going for twenty-four hours at a stretch, the attractive size of the extra pay proving irresistible. The force of men, expert workmen, that performed the labor on the stories in question consisted of between 50 and 60 steel and iron setters, 100 brick masons, and 30 to 40 terra-cotta setters. In addition to these was a great throng of hodcarriers. As the brick masons worked their shoulders touched continually, so close together was it necessary for them to stand. On so massive a building, and one which demanded the utmost nicety of work to every foot, the skill required of every man among so many different men, the necessity of each one doing his own little part in a not less than perfect manner, and while under so high a pressure, can only be faintly imagined by those unfamiliar with such things. As to the quantity of different materials handled in erecting these five stories it was not possible to learn to any satisfactory extent, and would probably add but little to the interest of the undertaking in the eye of ordinary readers. —Chicago Herald.

Heavy Fees in Mrs. Parnell's Case.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The costs in Mrs. Parnell's will suit, which will be tried early in March and involves a sum of £200,000, are enormous. The Attorney-General and Sir Charles Russell receive each 800 guineas as a fee and 200 guineas for reading the massive pile of papers in the case. The Solicitor-General has 600 guineas fee and 200 guineas for reading the papers, and fees of a similar character will be given to the other counsel.

Of the Lisbon Medical Company is now at Toronto, Canada, and may be consulted either in person or by letter on all chronic diseases peculiar to men. Men, young, old or middle-aged, who find themselves nervous, weak and exhausted, who are broken down from excess or overwork, resulting in many of the following symptoms: Mental depression, premature old age, loss of memory, bad dreams, dimness of sight, palpitation of the heart, emissions, lack of energy, pain in the kidneys, headache, pimples on the face or body, itching or peculiar sensations about the scrotum, wasting of the organs, dizziness, specks before the eyes, twitching of the muscles, eyelids and elsewhere, bashfulness, deposits in the urine, loss of will power, tenderness of the scalp and spine, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep, failure to be rested by sleep, constipation, dullness of hearing, loss of voice, desire for solitude, excitability of temper, sunken eyes surrounded with leaden circle, oily looking skin, etc., are all symptoms of nervous debility that lead to insanity and death unless cured. The spring or vital force having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequences. Those who through abuse committed in ignorance may be permanently cured. Send your address for book on all diseases peculiar to man. Books sent free sealed. Heart disease, the symptoms of which are faint spells, purple lips, numbness, palpitation, skip beats, hot flushes, rush of blood to the head, dull pain in the heart with beats strong, rapid and irregular, the second heart beat quicker than the first, pain about the breast bone, etc., can positively be cured. No cure, no pay. Send for book. Address M. V. LUBON, 24 Macdonell ave., Toronto, Canada.

A General Overcome.

DEAR SIRS,—I suffered from general weakness and debility and my system was completely run down and I found B.B.B. the best medicine I ever tried. I would not be without it for a great deal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4th, 1891.

It is a pleasure for me to say good words in favor of Anti-Dandruff, as its merits can not be questioned. In my own case, Dandruff not only made itself known by appearance in more than liberal quantities from which I could not obtain relief, but its continued presence and increasing formation caused falling of the hair. My barber spoke highly of Anti-Dandruff. I used it, and not only has every trace of Dandruff disappeared but the falling of the hair has stopped. Having full faith in the preparation I not only endorse it for the above but further add that as a fine dressing for the hair nothing equals it.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1 dw

From the Jaws of Death.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital, in Kingston, Ont. In big bottles, 50c. and $1. At Peterborough drug stores. dw

Attacked by an Enemy.

DEAR SIRS,—About a year ago I had a very bad attack of dyspepsia. For nearly four months I never ate a meal without suffering pain after. I got so weak I could scarcely walk, when one day I saw an advertisement for B.B.B. and thought I would try a bottle. Four bottles cured me completely, and I am now strong and healthy.
MISS JANET STUART, Muskoka Falls, Ont.

DEAR SIRS,—Last winter I had five large boils on my neck and was advised to use B.B.B. Before I had finished the first bottle I was completely well and think B.B.B. cannot be excelled as a blood purifier.

"August Flower"

Perhaps you do not believe these statements concerning Green's August Flower. Well, we can't make you. We can't force conviction into your head or medicine into your throat. We don't want to. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so. John H. Foster, 1122 Brown Street, Philadelphia, says: "My wife is a little Scotch woman, thirty years of age and of a naturally delicate disposition. For five or six years past she has been suffering from Dyspepsia. She became so bad at last that she could not sit down to a meal but she had to vomit it as soon as she had eaten it. Two bottles of your August Flower have cured her, after many doctors failed. She can now eat anything, and enjoy it; and as for Dyspepsia, she does not know that she ever had it."

COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular meeting of the village council was held in the Town Hall on Monday evening 8th inst. Present, W. H. Casement, reeve in the chair, Messrs. Lillicrap, Hall and Moore. The clerk reported that Mr. Hall had taken the necessary declaration of qualification and office. Minutes of last meeting read and adopted. Applications were received from several parties for the office of assessor, collector, etc.

Moved by Mr. Hall seconded Mr. Moore, that the several communications be received and considered separately.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Moore, that Messrs. Lillicrap, Moore and Hall be the Road and Sidewalk Committee for 1892, that Messrs. Hall and Bird be the Finance Committee for 1892, and that Messrs. Moore, Bird and Hall be a general committee for 1892.—Carried.

The auditors presented their report, which was on motion of Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Moore, received and adopted and clerk and treasurer instructed to carry out the recommendations made therein.

The Finance Committee presented their report, recommending payment of the following accounts, the reeve's order to issue for the same:

John Simpson, cleaning snow	$10 25
John Cooper, Teamieg	50
Isaac Watson, wages	3 02
" " wood and shovel	3 80
Total	$17 67

The report was on motion received and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Moore,—That the application of Mr. J. C. Carveth re overcharge of taxes be referred to the Finance Committee.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Lillicrap,—That the General Committee have a statement of all loose property belonging to the corporation prepared and submitted to the council at its next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Hall,—That a committee of the whole council be appointed to consider the advisability of advertising, to call the attention of manufacturers to the advantages of locating here and that Mr. Moore be the convener of said committee.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Moore,—That the village constable is hereby instructed to act as Truant officer.—Carried.

A by-law to appoint a Board of Health for the year 1892 received its several readings, was passed, sealed and signed, the blanks being filled with the names of W. H. Casement Reeve, Alex. Bell, Clerk, C. J. Blomfield, Robt. Graham and John Isbister.

A by-law consolidating the office of assessor collector, constable, roadmaster, etc., under the charge of one man at a yearly salary, received its several readings, was passed, sealed and signed, the blanks being filled with the name of William Doidge, and the salary $300 per annum, his whole time to be given to the corporation.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Hall,—That this council, in dispensing with the services of Mr. Isaac Watson, desire to place on record their high appreciation of his long and faithful services, which are necessarily dispensed with under the consolidation of the several offices, and that the clerk forward him a copy of this motion.—Carried.

Council then adjourned to meet at the call of the reeve.

What Can a Lover Do.

When a woman loves, and will not show it,
What can a lover do?
I asked a scholar and a poet,
But neither wise fool seemed to know it,
So, lady, I ask you.

Were you in love—let me suppose it—
What should your lover do?
You know you love him, and he knows it;
Oh, why not, then, to him disclose it,
As he his love to you?

It is not what its proprietors say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that makes it sell, and wins the confidence of the people.

TWO CANADIAN VICTIMS.

A LONDON MAN AND A TORONTO WAYWARD WOMAN

Perish in the Flames of the Hotel Royal, New York—Still Dragging Out Unrecognizable Bodies—The Bulk of the Bodies Not Yet Discovered—Terrible Scenes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Tuesday morning Archibald Jacobs of 1215 Broadway visited the morgue and identified body No. 1, taken from the ruins of the Hotel Royal fire, as that of Mrs. J. Cohen of Toronto, Canada, and body No. 4 as that of Louis Levy of London, Ont. Mr. Levy and Mrs. Cohen came to this city together from Canada.

[Mrs. Cohen, who perished in the fire, was the wife of Mr. J. Cohen, who keeps a shoe store at 97 Queen-street west. Two years ago last August she eloped with Louis Levy of London, Ont., another victim of the fire. For some time they lived in Chicago, but recently moved to New York, where they met their doom together in the fatal hotel. The family of Mrs. Cohen lives in New York and as soon as her body was recognized her brother sent a message to the deserted husband. Mr. Cohen in response left for New York.

Louis Levy is well known in Toronto as an inveterate gambler and poker player. Last spring he attended the Jockey Club meeting and played the races. Shortly afterwards he went to New York.

Caused by Carelessness.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Fire Marshal Mitchell from investigations thus far made is of opinion that the Hotel Royal fire resulted from the careless use of matches or lighters in and about the elevator.

Quite a number of additional bodies were found to-day. Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon 17 bodies in all had been found. The last three were those of women. In several cases the arms and legs were missing or burned to a crisp, while the heads and faces of others were burned to a crisp.

MRS. OSBORNE'S JOURNEY.

Her Husband's Extraordinary Devotion—Spanish Peasants in Sympathy.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Dwarf, a society paper, prints an interview with Captain Osborne on the pearl case, and gives the movements of Mrs. Osborne after the celebrated case came to an untimely end.

According to this story Captain Osborne soon discovered the terrible denouement to his wife's case. At the conference held by counsel on the following Saturday morning he directed the proceedings to be abandoned on the same night. Despite the vehement entreaties of his wife that he should let her stay and give herself up to justice he almost forcibly, knowing her precarious condition of health, rushed her across the Channel.

They stayed in Paris three days and three nights, where they learned that a warrant had been issued. Captain Osborne thereupon lost no time in taking his wife across the Pyrenees. They settled down at a small place not far from Irun.

Had the detectives been fortunate enough to trace them they would have met with some difficulty in their endeavor to capture their prey, for Captain Osborne and his wife were blessed with staunch and powerful friends in the neighborhood of their haven of rest and any attempt to execute a warrant in the lady's deplorable state of health would have been resisted by sturdy peasants to the number of over one thousand.

When the return journey with his wife was undertaken Captain Osborne anticipated that he would not be able to complete his painful task, as Mrs. Osborne broke down again in health on more than one occasion, and a premature accouchement, which he feared from the first, appeared imminent.

Mrs. Osborne is now in Holloway Jail. The child is expected in May, and if she is sentenced and committed for perjury it will probably be born in prison.

Danced Herself to Death.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 10.—Miss Amanda Jenson attended a dance at Turner Hall last Saturday evening and died a few hours later of heart disease. She had been repeatedly warned by physicians that she must not dance, but could not resist the temptation. She went home from the ball in high spirits, threw herself upon the bed in her room, chatted gayly with her roommate a few minutes and then fell into a stupor, from which she could not be aroused.

Rats Had Gnawed the Body.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—In his den in the wretched little rookery No. 47 Hamilton-street, old Dennis Buckley, who was called a miser by the boys in the neighborhood, was found dead yesterday. It is supposed that he died of starvation. Rats had gnawed the body of the old man. One of his feet was eaten away and only the bones remained and the rats had burrowed into the body at various points. Buckley was about 65 years old. His wife Mary became insane a few years ago and was sent to Blackwell's Island.

Buffalo Bill Returns.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The Cunard steamship Umbria, which reached New York from Queenstown yesterday, steamed through gales nearly all the voyage. The passengers were compelled to remain below most of the trip. The waves at times swept the promenade deck.

One of the saloon passengers was Colonel Cody (Buffalo Bill), who brought with him three handsome coursing dogs, presented to him by Colonel North, the Nitrate King.

SAVED BY THE SNOW.

Snow Makes it Easier to Convey Food to the Distressed Russians.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—Little is now heard here of the famine. Heavy snows have fallen, a strong crust has formed and goods and grain may be conveyed in sledges to any part of the Empire. Much grain has already reached the famine-stricken provinces, and according to the reports received here the condition of the sufferers has much improved.

It is the general opinion here that the distressed provinces will now be enabled to hold out until spring.

SPURGEON'S REMAINS.

The Crowd Break Up the Wooden Case of the Coffin for Relics.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—From 7 o'clock yesterday the body of the late Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon has been lying in state in the Metropolitan Tabernacle. An enormous crowd was waiting for the doors to open and as soon as they were permitted the throng began to move past the coffin. Thirteen thousand persons had viewed the body before 11 o'clock. The coffin is covered with palm branches.

The coffin was originally inclosed in a wooden case, and before it was taken to the train that was to convey it to London this case was taken off. It was broken to pieces, and the crowd eagerly seized upon the bits of wood and carried them off as relics.

Mrs. Frank Carew Divorced.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Miss Edith Chester, the actress, to-day obtained a divorce from Frank Carew, with the custody of her children. Carew treated her badly, and on one occasion struck her. He was, moreover, found guilty of infidelity.

Miss Edith Chester is known here as a former member of Rosina Vokes' Comedy Company, when she went under the name of Miss Leslie Chester.

HESLOP MURDER.

Tom Young and His Wife Both Down with Grip—Over the Ground.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 10.—Thomas Young and his wife, who are witnesses in the Heslop murder case, have both been very ill with la grippe.

The Heslop residence remains as it was on the night of the murder. The basket upon which Mr. Heslop's head rested when his wife and daughter reached him, after his life had been taken, is still in the same spot, and nothing will be touched until after the trial is concluded.

The Lottridge family feel confident that John Lottridge will be released on the day of the trial. Mr. Thomas Lottridge, father of the accused, is a very respectable man and feels the position of his son very keenly.

Whatever the defence propose to set up they are doing it in a manner that the prosecution cannot gain any information about it.

TO MEET BLAINE TO-DAY.

The Canadian Ministers Have Arrived at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Canadian reciprocity commissioners arrived yesterday. They will be received by Mr. Blaine to-day.

The New Ontario License Inspector

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—Ex-Ald. J. K. Stewart, who has just been appointed provincial license inspector, was to-night given a reception at the City Hall. Hon. E. H. Bronson, on behalf of the citizens, presented him with a farewell address. Senator Clemow presented a gold watch and Mayor Durocher handed him a well-filled purse, to which all classes and men of every shade of politics had subscribed.

The N.Y. Life's New President.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The presidency of the New York Life Insurance Company has been offered to John A. McCall, comptroller of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and formerly superintendent of the State Insurance Department. Mr. McCall has until to-morrow to decide whether he will accept the office. It is understood the salary of the new president is to be $50,000.

Cremated in a Box.

VIENNA, Feb. 10.—Additional news from the scene of the railway disaster, between Bucharest and Brakelov, shows that the disaster was a terrible one. In one carriage no less than 20 people were locked in together. When the car caught fire the imprisoned ones shouted for aid, but before succor came all but two were burned to death or suffocated.

Quite a Nap.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—A miner named Latus, living at Myclovitz, Prussian Silesia, has just awakened from a sleep that had lasted for four months and a half. During this period his limbs were rigid, but now he appears to have completely recovered and his cataleptic rigidity has vanished.

The Elder May Be Saved.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Capt. Leister, inspector of the North German Lloyds Steamship Company, yesterday said he was hopeful of saving the stranded steamer Eider.

Praying for Pardon.

MADRID, Feb. 10.—Three Anarchists have been arrested at Barcelona.

Several workmen's unions have sent a petition to the Queen Regent to pardon the condemned Xerxes Anarchists.

Two of the condemned men have confessed to a priest and expressed remorse for their deeds.

JACOBITES STILL FLOURISH.

A Frustrated Attempt to Place Flowers on Mary's Tomb.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Yesterday being the anniversary of the death of Mary, Queen of Scots, 250 Jacobite Royalists made their way to Westminster Abbey. A body of constables met the Jacobites at the entrance to the north chancel and announced that admission to the royal chapels would be refused.

It was then decided to form in procession and march to the large iron gates leading to the royal chapel. A lineal descendant of Robbie Anderson, who led the forces of Prince Charlie at Prestonpans, headed the band.

The Marquis de Ruvigny placed a floral tribute on the spikes of the gate leading to the royal tomb, with this inscription:

"In memory of the martyrdon of Mary of England, Scotland, Ireland and France, Queen, from a league of Jacobite Legitimists."

GLADSTONE ON MANNING.

The Priest's Conversion to Rome a Death to Their Friendship.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Mr. Gladstone, in a letter on the late Cardinal Manning, says:

"My relations with Manning were very peculiar. At first they were those of a mere acquaintance between two undergraduates, and lay wholly on the surface. Then came a close and intimate friendship of 15 years, founded entirely upon interests in religion and the church.

"Then came his change, simultaneous with that of my yet closer friend, Hope Scott, which was altogether the severest blow that ever befel me. In a late letter to me the Cardinal termed it a quarrel. My reply said it was not a quarrel, but a death. That was truth.

"There had since been vicissitudes, but I am quite certain that to the last his personal feeling never changed, and that he kept his promise, made in 1851, to remember me before God at the most solemn moments."

A Man Drowned in a Pail of Water.

PICKERING, Feb. 10.—Frank Clark, aged 19, the adopted son of Smith Clark of this place, was this morning found dead, being drowned in a pail of water. Deceased was subject to fits and had fallen face downward. When found his face was in the water and life was extinct.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Head one Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cuticura.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his fingernails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.
GEO. B. & JANETTA HARRIS, Webster, Ind.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

This Week An Avalanche Of Spring Goods

Is on us. It would take two columns of this journal to enumerate all we have received, but if there is one thing more than another that deserves special mention is our importation ex. S.S. "Sardinian," from St. Gale, Switzerland, of

NEW SWISS EMBROIDERIES, FLOUNCINGS AND HAMBURG EDGINGS.

Plain Hem Stitched Skirtings are in great favor and we show them in many qualities.

With this lot came our New Spring stock of Swiss Muslin Embroidered Curtains, Swiss Applique Curtains, and one of the New Effects is Hem-Stitched Borders, New Tambour Sash Curtain Muslins and Tambour Curtain Nets, and New Silk Curtains.

All are on display in our show windows. As we import these goods direct from the makers, our prices are about as low as wholesale jobbers sell them for in this country.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Death of C. H. Waterous of Brantford—Other Deaths.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 11.—C. H. Waterous, sr., died last evening. The funeral will be on Friday. Deceased was the founder in 1844 of the Waterous Engine Works Company of this place.

Ottawa Bank President Dead.

BUCKINGHAM, Que., Feb. 11.—Mr. James McLaren, a prominent lumber merchant and president of the Bank of Ottawa, died today.

Deceased leaves two brothers, Rev. Alexander McLaren of the Presbyterian Church and Rev. Dr. McLaren, professor of theology in Knox College, Toronto.

Mr. McLaren took a great interest in the formation of the Bank of Ottawa, and was its first and only president, much of its success being due to his energies. He was a member of the firm of W. McClymont & Co. of New Edinburgh, the Canada Lumber Co. of Carleton Place, vice-president from its commencement of the Shepperd Morse Lumber Co., formerly of Burlington, but now of Boston; president of the McLaren, Ross Lumber Co. of New Westminster, B.C.; president of the North Pacific Lumber Co. of Port Moody, B.C., and was largely interested in mining operations in Ottawa and Hastings Counties, and also held interests in sugar, salt and silver industries in western Ontario. His estate is estimated at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Other Dead.

Hermann Homan, managing director of the German Lloyd Steamship Co, the effects of a stroke of apoplexy.

Rev. J. B. Armstrong, Orillia. He was ordained in 1851 and retired from active work in 1887.

Right Honorable Sir James Caird, the well-known writer on agricultural subjects, at London.

In the Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—In the House of Commons yesterday Thomas Sexton, member for West Belfast, gave notice that he would move an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, declaring that a majority of the Irish people and their representatives in the House of Commons are convinced of the inability of the Imperial Parliament to legislate for Ireland in a manner required by the distinctive interests of that country. This conviction has been intensified by the manifest failure of the Land Purchase Act to afford a basis for an extension of the class of occupying tenants.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The members of the Parnellite party met here yesterday, and appointed their Parliamentary whips and secretaries. It was resolved to leave the chair vacant as a mark of respect to the memory of their late leader, Charles Stewart Parnell.

In Honor of Spurgeon.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The first of the three services to be held over the remains of Rev. Mr. Spurgeon to-day opened in the Tabernacle. The edifice was crowded. The children from the Stockwell Orphan Asylum, in which institution Mr. Spurgeon was deeply interested, were present, dressed in mourning and sang hymns.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Edmund Yates cables: "I understand that one result of the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Osborne is that the Queen consented to allow the coffin of the Duke of Clarence to be removed to Sandringham, where it will be buried in the churchyard in a grave adjoining that of the infant Prince Alexander who died in 1871. The coffin is to remain in the Albert Memorial Chapel, Windsor, until after the return of the Court to the castle, as the Queen wishes to see it and Her Majesty will attend the service in the chapel, which will be conducted by the Bishop of Rochester and Canon Bulton. The Queen did not wish the coffin to be placed in the royal vault, but desired to have it buried in a crypt of the Prince Consort's Mausoleum at Frogmore. The removal to Sandringham and interment there will be conducted privately."

A Startling Leprosy Rumor.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—L'Evenement makes the alarming statement that there is a supposed case of leprosy in Montcalm Ward, the sufferer being a man who has led a very hard life, and whose flesh first turned black and then livid and is now dropping off in pieces. The health officer is unable to find any trace of such a case and believes the report to be a canard.

Will Lose all His Limbs.

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Feb. 11.—John Allen of the Scotch Block got his hands and feet badly frozen. His physician found it necessary to amputate both hands. It is probable that the feet will have to be amputated also.

To Prevent Crimping.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The British Chamber of Shipping has adopted a resolution in favor of Great Britain negotiating a convention with the United States to prevent "crimping" and desertion of British sailors in American ports.

CANADIAN MINISTERS.

CONFERRING WITH BLAINE AT WASHINGTON.

The Preliminary Interchange of Views Results in the Arrangement of Ground for a Conference, Which is Expected to Last Several Days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The negotiations between the United States and Canada in regard to reciprocal trade relations were opened formally at a conference held at the State Department of the representatives of each government.

The Secretary of State and General John W. Foster represented the United States, while Canada was represented by a commission consisting of Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice; Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Militia; Hon. George E. Foster, Minister of Finance; Mr. Parmalee, Deputy Commissioner of Customs, and Mr. Stewart, Private Secretary. The commission really consists of the three first-named officials, the others accompanying them as attaches.

This morning Secretary Blaine spent half an hour with the President at the White House, going over the ground to be taken by the United States in the coming conferences. He then at 11 o'clock went to the State Department and met Gen. Foster in the diplomatic reception room.

In a few minutes Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister, appeared and notified the Secretary that the Canadian delegates were ready to enter upon the negotiations, and it was arranged that they should proceed to the State Department.

They arrived about noon and there was a preliminary session of an hour, during which the confreres talked "across the board," as the diplomatic phrase goes, and arranged the ground for the coming conferences, which will last several days.

This series of negotiations is intended by the Canadian authorities as a preliminary interchange of views for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the subjects that each side will be willing to discuss and what form the discussion shall take. The results that may be reached will not therefore be final.

"These Be Strong Words."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Secretary Blaine was yesterday shown a published statement that he was about to retire from the Cabinet. He read it slowly and then said with deliberation: "It is entirely false. There is not a word of truth in it. This statement is an infernal lie."

The House Committee on Immigration agreed to report favorably a bill absolutely prohibiting Chinese immigration.

The House Committee on Coinage has agreed to report favorably the free coinage bill introduced by Mr. Bland.

Keeley-Cured, He Lost His Mind.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Walter B. Earle died at the Poughkeepsie Insane Asylum on Friday. His wife deserted him four years ago and went to England. He took to drink. He entered the Keeley Institute at White Plains on Dec. 21 last and remained there until the end of January. He was apparently cured.

Sunday, one week ago, he became suddenly insane, though up to that day he was perfectly rational and had not touched a drop of liquor since his discharge from the institute.

Earle became so violent that he was removed to the insane asylum at Poughkeepsie, and on Friday died, his last words being, "Josie! Josie! Come home to your husband and children!"

His death and others which have occurred recently at the institute may lead to the State Board of Health, and the State Medical Society also, taking a hand in an investigation on their own account, and it is one of the probabilities that a legislative investigation may be ordered by the Senate and the Keeley people be forced to make public their secret, which apparently not only cures but kills also.

Restoring Mind to An Idiot.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—If a novel surgical operation which was performed yesterday is successful there will be one idiot less in the world. Ex-Surgeon General William A. Hammond, assisted by three surgeons, opened the skull of an imbecile, removed a large amount of bone, closed the skull, and expects that the patient will not only recover but will be a level headed man. This is the first operation of the kind ever performed upon an adult.

The patient is a young man from Canada, 24 years of age, and was brought to this city four or five days ago. Up to four years ago he possessed more than average intelligence, had a collegiate education and was recognized as a man destined to make a bright record in the world.

Won His Bet and Died.

VINELAND, N.J., Feb. 11.—James Donnelly, a lad of 16, who lives at Lockport, made a wager of $2 last Saturday that he could eat 24 raw eggs within 15 minutes and drink 20 glasses of beer. He succeeded in his attempt and won the $2, but two hours later was taken with convulsions and died.

"My Poor Heart is Broken."

KINGSTON, Feb. 11.—Maurice Nagle, Bathurst, Ont., died in the shanties from cold. He was being driven to the doctors, 40 miles away, but his pain was so severe that all they could make was some 20 miles the first day, and had to seek lodgings in a house on the road. The next morning they started and got within four miles of the end of their journey, when he turned to his companion and said, "I am dying; my poor heart is broken," and died soon after.

The Unknown Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The gang of 100 laborers who have been searching for bodies in the ruins of the Hotel Royal have been laid off. There are no more bodies in the ruins, the total number of dead being 17.

Major Vidal Married.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—Major R. H. Vidal of "C" company, Royal School of Infantry, Toronto, and Miss Beatrice Taschereau, daughter of the Hon. H. T. Taschereau, judge of the Supreme Court, were married here to-day.

Arrested for the Sixth Time.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—Fourteen of the officers and clerks of the Louisiana State Lottery were arrested this morning for the sixth time for the violation of the anti-lottery postal law.

THE POLITICAL COLUMN

M. C. CAMERON RETURNS FROM FLORIDA.

Judgment by the Supreme Court in the West Northumberland, Prescott and North Perth Appeals—Several Bye-Elections To-Day.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—The argument in the appeals in the preliminary objections in the Supreme Court in the West Northumberland, Prescott and North Perth elections was concluded at 1 o'clock to-day. It was contended by the appellants that the deposit of security was placed in the wrong court, that is, that it was deposited in the court where the cases originated and not in the court of trial. The four judges held that in regard to the deposit the statute was literally complied with and therefore they dismissed all the cases with costs. All three constituencies are Liberal. Justice Taschereau took no part in the judgment. The cases had nothing to do with the merits and the appeals have yet to be heard.

M. C. CAMERON IS BACK.

And Says He Will Defeat the Secretary of State by 500 Majority.

WINDSOR, Feb. 11.—Mr. M. C. Cameron stopped at Windsor yesterday on his return from Florida, where he has been for his health. He says he will certainly defeat J. C. Patterson at the coming election by at least 500 majority. Mr. Cameron is looking unusually healthy and says his sojourn in Florida has been of great benefit to him.

The Church And Bribery.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—A mandement signed by all the bishops of the Province will be read on Sunday in all the Catholic Churches of the Province. The document is aimed at bribery which is so prevalent during elections. In the case of a penitent having accepted a bribe for his vote, no absolution will be given at confession, but the matter will have to be submitted to higher ecclesiastical authority for investigation.

Wandering Willie's Autobiography.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Hon. William Macdougall, who spent the greater part of his life in active public life in Canada, is preparing an autobiography. Mr. Macdougall is one of the fathers of Confederation and possesses an immense amount of information touching the political affairs of the Dominion, the publication of which will prove a boon to every student of politics.

Simard Confirmed in His Seat.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—Judges Bourgeois and Gagne presided at the Election Court at Murray Bay, when the contestation of Simard's (Liberal) election for the House of Commons was proceeded with. Two witnesses were heard and the election petition was dismissed with costs.

To-day's Elections.

To-day will be another field day in bye-election annals, contests occurring in no less than six constituencies, which return seven members. These constituencies are: East Bruce, Halifax (2), Peel, North Victoria, South Victoria and East Middlesex. Of these seven seats, four, viz., Halifax (2), South Victoria and East Middlesex, were represented by Conservatives last session and the other three by Liberals, two of them, Peel and East Bruce, being gains at the last election.

Condition of Frontenac's Member.

KINGSTON, Feb. 11.—Hugh Smith, M.L.A., is still alive, but very low. It seems that by the fall he had in his barn several ribs were broken. A cold was contracted and was speedily followed by most serious results. There is some hope of recovery, but his friends are sadly doubtful.

To Oppose McGreevy.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—It is understood that Hon. John Hearn, M.L.C., will be the Government candidate against Hon. Thomas McGreevy in Quebec West. Nomination takes place Feb. 19; election Feb. 26.

Premier Blair Preparing for a General Election.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 11.—Attorney-General Blair and Solicitor-General Pugsley addressed a large meeting of electors at Sussex last night on Provincial politics. Blair is putting his house in order for a general election.

Sued for a Cool $10,000.

QUEBEC, Feb. 11.—Hon. P. Garneau has instructed his lawyer to take out an action for damages against J. R. Whelan. The amount claimed is $10,000.

The Premier Still Indisposed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Premier Abbott is still suffering from the effects of a severe cold. He was unable to be at his office yesterday.

Writ for London Issued.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Writ for London, Ont., issued last night. Nomination Feb. 18, polling 25th.

Prove an Alibi and Conspiracy.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 11.—The trial of John Bartram and John Lottridge for the murder of John Heslop of Ancaster will come off before Mr. Justice Rose at Hamilton on March 9. The defence will be an alibi and conspiracy between the Indians to condemn the prisoners and secure the reward. An effort will be made to show that the witnesses are of the most unreliable class and that Douglas, notwithstanding his confession, was not in the vicinity of Ancaster on the night of the murder. Several Indians will swear that they were with him in Lewiston, N.Y., on the date of the murder, and that Douglas' own statement to the contrary he could not possibly have been there. The characters of the two confessed accomplices will be fully exposed and their general untruthfulness proved.

It is said Bartram can easily prove the alibi in his case and that, too, by witnesses whose word would be accepted by any jury in Ontario. His representatives deny the statement that he had made damaging admissions to Warden Blayberry, who had charge of him for six weeks. The crown, however, say they have such admissions, and that they will be used as corroborative evidence against Bartram.

For Being Knocked Down by a Curtain.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Hermann Vezin, the Anglo-American actor, was awarded $500 damages and $90 for doctors' bills in an action for damages which he brought against the proprietors of the Colchester Theatre for injuries received by being knocked down by the unexpected fall of the curtain at that place of amusement.

Smith

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Millburn Union Association, No. 7, Patrons of Industry, held a tea and entertainment in Millburn's school house, on the Communication Line of Smith, on Tuesday evening, February 9th. There was a large number present, including a number of young ladies and gentlemen from town. The tables were exquisitely set, and everybody did justice to the delicious viands which were prepared by the ladies for the occasion. After the tea had been served Bro. W. Stothart was called to occupy the chair, which he did in a very able manner. The following programme was rendered :—

Address.....Chairman
Vocal solo.....Mrs. J. Weir
Recitation.....Mr. McEwan
Duet (autoharp harmonica).Bro. E Hodgson
Recitation.....Miss Lewis
Quartette.....Misses Scott and Barker, and [Messrs. Tapscott and Mann
Reading.....Mrs. J. Weir
Vocal solo.....Mrs. W. Simpson
Address.....Bro. J. Middleton
Address.....Bro. W. Bell
Club swinging.....Miss A. Ellis
Recitation.....Miss M. Pratt
Dialect recitation.....Bro. E. Hodgson

The programme was one of the best ever presented to the public, which reflects great credit on our local talent. The proceeds are to be used in payment of an organ purchased by the society and school some time ago. The evening's enjoyment came to a close by singing the National Anthem.

England Does Not Object.

The British Government has assented to the reciprocal trade arrangements made between Her Majesty's West Indian colonies and the United States, under the provisions of the McKinley bill, and President Harrison has issued a proclamation announcing that the treaty with the several colonies will go into effect on the first day of April next. Thus the Imperial authorities have affirmed the principle that the colonies are free to pursue whatever course they deem best in commercial matters, even when allowing them this freedom threatens to injure British trade interests. The arrangements made between the West Indian colonies and the Washington government do not, on their face, involve tariff discrimination against Great Britain and other countries in favor of the United States, though practically they do. In order to secure free access to the United States markets for their sugars, fruits, etc., the colonists agree to reduce the duties upon those articles that are generally imported from the United States—and which are not supplied to any extent by Great Britain—by from twenty five to fifty per cent., and some important articles of American produce are placed upon the free list. The reduction of course applies to all nations, but the United States is the nearest neighbor of all the islands, and the new arrangement will practically give the Americans control of the British West India trade. Had Newfoundland been allowed the right which has been conceded to the West India colonies the present trouble between Canada and that island would have been avoided.

Bobcaygeon's Bridges.

A deputation from Victoria County, composed of Dr. McKay, M.P.P., John Fell, M.P.P., Warden Vrooman, Reeve Hopkins and others waited on the Attorney-General yesterday afternoon, the Globe says, to seek an amendment to the Harvey Act of 1887. By this act a portion of Peterborough county had been added to Victoria, and in the added section were three bridges at Bobcaygeon across a branch of Pigeon Lake. The Victorians sought to get the act so amended that a portion of the cost of maintaining these bridges be borne by Peterborough, as they equally with Victoria used and benefitted by them. The Attorney-General promised to look into the matter.

Will be Opened by Commission

Sir Alexander Campbell, being unable to officiate personally at the opening of the Ontario legislature, has appointed a commission, consisting of Hon. J. H. Haggarty, chief justice of the Court of Appeals; Hon. J. A. Boyd, chancellor of the chancery division; and Sir Thomas Galt, chief justice of the Common Pleas Division, to act in his stead.

East Simcoe Election.

Returning Officer Craig has issued his proclamation for an election in East Simcoe. Nomination is fixed for the 18th and polling for the 25th. This is the constituency for which the Globe charged that the writ was issued and then withdrawn, and curiously enough, it is the only election which has been announced from Ottawa.

Self Application of Electricity

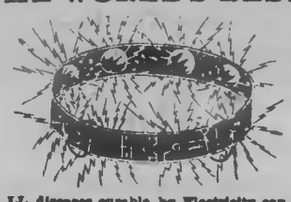
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete HOME BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, HEART DISEASES, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and realized as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not clean this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and moss with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

A Trip Across Georgian Bay.

A Graphic Description of the Perils of the Ice Journey.

"Going far?"

"All the way up the line," was the reply.

The person addressed was a short, stout man, with a county moustache, that gave a youthful appearance to his face. He had entered the train at one of the smaller stations between Orillia and Midland, carrying a hand bag in one hand, and a heavy fur overcoat thrown carelessly over the other arm, and occupied a seat directly in front of myself and friend. Edward B——, my friend, was a commercial traveller or "drummer," who paid occasional visits to the large lumbering centres which are so numerous along the Georgian Bay coasts. He evidently eyed the new arrival with some suspicion, from a business point of view. The suspicion was clearly mutual. After a few guarded questions and answers on both sides, concerning the destinations of each, the stranger took out a cigar case and made his way to the smoking car.

"I'll bet my bottom dollar," said Ned, excitedly, "that fellow is bound for the H—— Mills." Ned himself was going to the same place to get an order for his firm, and I had joined him, but on a different errand. The mills were over twenty miles distant across the ice of Georgian Bay.

"Who is he?" I asked.

"His name is Samuel Bunter, the traveller of a firm that is trying to freeze us out. I have seen him before, and he is a 'hustler,' but he does not know me."

Just before reaching Midland the person in question returned, carelessly asked what sort of a place Midland City was, and said he guessed he would stay around a few days. In the bustle of leaving the train we soon lost sight of him.

Before going to bed that night Ned ordered a man to bring round his team to take us over to Penetang, a drive of two miles and a half. And the next morning when breakfast was over we found our team in waiting and soon arrived at the above named place. Here the preparations were to be made for the really difficult part of the trip.

EARLY IN THE MORNING

At the livery stable we procured a small but tough looking horse whose spots showed that he had some Arab blood in his body.

"You see he will stand the journey and, he is so light there is less danger of breaking through," explained the man.

The horse was harnessed to a single cutter, with none too much room for the two of us wrapped in great fur coats which we were fortunately able to procure and which proved invaluable. Noticing an axe and a rope lying at our feet in front an enquiry concerning them brought out the comforting information that the axe was to try the ice where it was supposed to be dangerous and the rope to pull out the horse in case it should give way and let us in. A further enquiry concerning a broken shaft elicited the fact that a few days before a horse had been drowned in the bay, right in sight of the town, by a careless driver, and the cutter we were riding in was the one that had been through the adventure.

Just when about to start the owner of the horse said, "keep a lookout for a man driving a bay horse who has gone ahead of you. He does not know the way and I am afraid he will get lost or drowned."

"What sort of a looking man was he?" asked Ned, anxiously.

"A short, stout man wrapped in a big gray coat," was the reply.

"GREAT SCOTT! ITS BUNTER," exclaimed Ned wrathfully, "and he's duped us. But never mind," he added as he touched the horse with the whip and started, "I know the way pretty well, and we'll overhaul him yet."

After driving east about a mile we passed the reformatory. It is a solid stone building with brick outbuildings, surrounded by a high board fence. In the adjoining field are the barns and stables belonging to the same institution. We saw some of the larger boys at work, dressed in uniforms of a bluish grey colour, trimmed with black stripes about an inch wide, reminding one very much of Uncle Sam's military costume. It was here we had to take the ice.

The first thing I noticed was that there was no beaten track, and you were at liberty to drive where your own sweet will should lead you, provided you knew something of the general direction and the dangers to be avoided. In fact it is only about once a week, sometimes not that often, that anyone ventures to cover the twenty odd miles that lay between us and our destination. On a boat in the summer it is as pleasant a journey as could be taken. But on the day in question no balmy summer breeze raised ripples on the surface of the water, but a fierce north wind swept across the ice, accompanied by a blinding snowstorm. It was dangerous to make the attempt without a guide, especially as the snow pelted directly into our faces.

"Shall we turn back?" I asked dubiously.

All the reply I could catch above the whistling of the wind was something about "that bloke Bunter."

The snow lay on the ice at least six inches deep and

THE DRIVING WAS VERY HEAVY,

For a while we skirted the shore but soon had to strike across an open stretch of ice. When about half way across, crack went the ice, the horse began to plunge and while my companion climbed out one side I was performing the same feat on the other. It was a false alarm however. The water had risen half a foot over the thick ice and it was through the thin film that covered this that the horse was breaking. There was considerable of this kind of driving and to say the least of it, it was slow in a Georgian Bay storm. Here and there we came to an island and made what is called a portage, that is cross the land to the next ice. It would be utterly impossible to drive over these rugged inlets in summer, but the snow covers a multitude of holes and you twist and wind in and out among the rocks unconscious of the many dangers and thankful if your horse gets through with unbroken limbs. Where these islands are at all numerous (and there are said to be 30,000 of them in Georgian Bay) some shelter is afforded, but in crossing a "gap" of open ice, a storm that on land is mild, becomes here simply furious. Only now and then could we open our eyes to see if we were in the right direction, and when we did the snow came driving into them like dust and made them smart not a little.

Occasionally in the more sheltered places we came across fishermen with their dog teams.

which they had set under the ice, the ends being fastened to stakes at holes cut about one hundred feet apart. But as yet no sign of our rival.

We were coming to a place where two long islands met like the letter V, and where we had to make a portage over the low ends where they were joined, when Ned suddenly exclaimed, "What's that dark object over there?" pointing eastward.

We were now getting into the shelter of the islands and could see more distinctly.

"It looks like a bear," he continued "but it is too humped in the back."

"Let us go and see," I said, and our already jaded horse was turned in that direction.

"Why it's a horse and that humpon his back is a man. What on earth can he be doing standing there in the storm?"

When we drew near we discovered the horse standing up to his knees in the water, the ice broken all round him, the cutter sunk in deeper water behind, and none other than Bunter clinging to the back of the wretched animal. They had gone through the ice and were drenched, but the horse had found standing room on a solitary rock which lay in about ten feet of water.

"Hallo! Bunter, I thought you were in Midland," shouted Ned.

"For God's sake help me out out of this mess or I'll freeze to death," was the answer.

"Serve him right if we left him there," said my companion, but nevertheless getting out he seized the axe and directed me to bring the rope. Cautiously approaching the edge he cut away all the dangerous ice. Then after a great deal of labor he about ten feet square. On the side next to us he made a hole through this mass and taking the rope tied it through the hole. With some poles procured from the neighboring island, this was shoved over to the horse and Bunter slipped off the animal's back on to it and we hauled it to us again with the aid of the rope. After much labor we also saved the horse and cutter. Poor Bunter's clothing was frozen stiff and himself nearly perished with cold, but by half dragging we succeeded in getting him to a deserted fisherman's hut and lighted a fire to thaw him out. As soon as he was thawed out sufficiently to talk of his late experiences he said. "I thought to fool you fellows but I am served right for deceiving you. I have now to thank you for saving my life and to say that I shall no more cross this ice as long as you remain on the beat." This last was addressed to Ned, and for a drummer, was a great sacrifice, which was fittingly acknowledged.

I have never since crossed a piece of ice without calling to mind the incident of the Georgian Bay trip.

VIATOR.

It Rings With Honesty!

Our People Believe In It—It Never Fails!

We have in Canada, as in other lands, people who are not afraid to speak to the public through the press, and we have others who are averse to publicity, and who are contented to spread "glad tidings" to their own circle of friends and acquaintances. Paine's Celery Compound has many friends of the latter class who write to the proprietors of Canada's great medicine and speak of wonderful cures. To-day we mention a few of these remarkable cures for the benefit of others who may be seeking the means of banishing disease and suffering.

Mrs. ——, Church street, Toronto, was for six years a victim of nervousness and sick headaches. After doctoring with physicians without good results, was cured after using a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. ——, living on Dorchester street, Montreal, suffered for three years from dyspepsia and flatulency; was made strong, healthy and robust after using four bottles of Paine's Celery Compound.

Miss ——, a young lady on Slater street, Ottawa, became nervous and melancholic; lost her bloom and healthy looks; she found a new life, new existence, by using Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. ——, of King street, Hamilton, was a perfect martyr to rheumatism for many years, and had spent a small fortune with doctors. He heard of Paine's Celery Compound, and after using ten bottles felt that all his pains and aches had vanished.

Scores of other remarkable cures might be added to-day to the above. We believe our people will find sufficient food for reflection in what has now been made public, and will have their confidence established more firmly than ever before in this great and honest remedy.

A Square Bargain Proposed.

Speaking of the request of the brewers to the Federal Government for the abolition of the excise duty upon malt, Le Canadien says it has information that the brewers have been informed that their request will be granted if they subscribe $20,000 to the fund now being raised to help the De Boucherville party in the coming Provincial elections.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Is the "ideal" Hair-dressing. It restores the color to gray hair; promotes a fresh and vigorous growth; prevents the formation of dandruff; makes the hair soft and silken; and imparts a delicate but lasting perfume.

"Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best in the world."—T. Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a number of years, and it has always given me satisfaction. It is an excellent dressing, prevents the hair from turning gray, insures its vigorous growth, and keeps the scalp white and clean."—Mary A. Jackson, Salem, Mass.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for promoting the growth of the hair, and think it unequaled. For restoring the hair to its original color, and for a dressing, it cannot be surpassed."—Mrs. Geo. La Fever, Eaton Rapids, Mich.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a cure for dandruff."—J. W. Bowen, Editor "Enquirer," McArthur, Ohio.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past two years, and found it all it is represented to be. It restores the natural color to gray hair, causes the hair to grow freely, and keeps it soft and pliant."—Mrs. M. V. Day, Cohoes, N. Y.

"My father, at about the age of fifty, lost all the hair from the top of his head. After one month's trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor the hair began coming, and, in three months, he had a fine growth of hair of the natural color."—P. J. Cullen, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Hockey at Cobourg.

The Peterborough Hockey Club went to Port Hope to-day to play the club of that town. At the conclusion of this game, they will take the train for Cobourg, playing there in the evening. The teams of both towns are considered first-class players, and good games are expected.

Tourists

Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 75c. bottles by all leading druggists.

Evangelistic Services.

The evangelistic services conducted by Rev. W. Meikle in the George street Methodist church last night, were largely attended. The sermon was listened to with great interest and apparently made a deep impression on many minds. The services to-night will close the series.

Have You Tried

"Kirk's" baking powder yet? It is one of the finest pure cream of tartar baking powder sold in Peterborough, and put up expressely for W. C. Kirk in glass jars. Half pounds 15c.; pounds 25c. Give it a trial and you will use no other. Ontario telephone No. 6; Bell telephone No. 312. d

We notice that Adam Hall is selling best Canadian oil at 12 cents per imperial gallon. This is exceedingly low and we are assured that it is a superior quality, being safer, purer and higher fire test than any other in the market. Customers should take advantage of this and have their cans filled early and often.

Ice Cutting.

There seems to be a great rush among the local ice cutters this winter. Mr. Nelson, of Ashburnham, and Messrs. Mercier & McDonald, of Point St. Charles, have a large number of men cutting ice on Little Lake this winter. The latter firm are shipping large quantities of ice to Havelock. Besides these two firms, a number of private firms have a number of men employed cutting ice on their own use.

Personal.

Sir Richard Cartwright was in town this morning for two or three hours, en route to Montreal. Last night he addressed a meeting in Lindsay in the interests of Mr. Walters.

Ex-Alderman J. K. Stewart, of Ottawa, the newly appointed Provincial license inspector, on Tuesday night on the occasion of his leaving for Toronto to enter upon his duties, was presented with a complimentary address and a gold watch and purse by the citizens. The donors included the leading citizens of Ottawa, and the presentation was made by Mayor Darocher.

Mr. S. H. Might, of Moosejaw, N. W. T., is in town on a visit to his father Mr. James Might, and other friends. Mr. Might and his brother Mr George Might, conduct a 640 acre farm and ranch or stock farm at Moosejaw. Their farming operations are extensive and successful and they pay great attention to the raising of thorough and high bred Clydesdale horses of which they have about 100 of which one and one are thoroughbred and the remainder high grade crosses with pure Clydesdales. The climate is not severe being close on the borders of the Chinook region.

Obituary.

The Late S. J. Carver.

Yesterday one of the pioneer residents of this county passed away in North Monaghan in the person of Mr. S. J. Carver, from an attack of la grippe, complicated with pulmonary trouble. Mr. Carver's death by a very unusual coincidence, fell upon the 90th anniversary of his birth. Mr. Carver was a native of England, born February, 10th, 1802. He was the eldest son of S. J. Carver, Esq., who was for 30 years in the Home Civil Service of the East India Company. He studied law for some time. Wishing for a more active life he emigrated to Canada in 1829. He was induced to come to Cobourg by Col. Covert of that place, who was a fellow passenger, and bought 200 acres of bush land in the township of Otonabee, from Capt. Rubidge, R.N. He cut a road to his lot and began clearing up his land and making a home for himself in the bush.

In May, 1831, he was gazetted to a lieutenancy in the 4th Northumberland Militia, (Peterborough County at that time being part of the county of Northumberland), by Lieutenant General Sir John Colborne, who was one of the Duke of Wellington's great fighting generals. On the breaking out of the rebellion in 1837, Lt. Carver marched with his company and some other volunteers to Toronto. On their arrival there his company, along with six other companies of volunteers, were formed into a battalion and called the "Queen's Own Incorporated Battalion of Militia," and he was gazetted senior-lieutenant of the battalion, first for duty, first for promotion. The batallion was commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Kingsmill, a veteran officer of the Peninsular war. After remaining in Toronto awhile to drill, the battalion was ordered to Niagara Falls, along with the left wing of the 24th Foot, Major Magrath's Lancers and four guns. The whole force was commanded by Major Townsend, of the 24th Foot, who was appointed colonel commandant of the Niagara frontier, and remained there until disbanded. On returning home he found that another battalion was being raised, consisting of six companies, commanded by Col. McDonell and Major Cowell, and called the 7th Provisional Battalion, to which he was gazetted senior lieutenant, and was appointed to drill C command, Capt. Murphy's company (the captain himself being in ill-health), until they were disbanded.

He then sold his farm and for two years assisted his old friend, Mr. Sanford, who was then postmaster of Peterborough, until the death of the latter, when he received the appointment of postmaster from Lord Metcalfe, Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, and his commission as postmaster from Earl Lonsdale, Postmaster-General of England. He continued in that office until the year 1871, when he resigned his office and retired to his farm in North Monaghan, where he resided until his death. He received no pension for his long services, but had several complimentary letters sent to him from the Post Master General and the several heads of the post office department at Ottawa. Mr. Carver was a member of the Charlotte street Methodist church for a number of years, and in politics he was an ardent Conservative for sixty-two years. He was highly respected and esteemed in his official and personal relations, and his death, though at an advanced age reached by few, will be deeply regretted. His wife survives him, together with five sons, two of whom are in California, one in Western Ontario, and two reside on the homestead.

John Henry Capel.

This morning, at the Nicholls Hospital, Mr. John Henry Capel, well-known in this district, died. He has been in the hospital from time to time all winter. The deceased gentleman was an eccentric character, but of good connections and unusual ability. He was a native of Cork, and at the time of his death between 85 and 90 years of age. Many years ago he came from Ireland and, with many half-pay officers, settled on Sandy Lake, township of Harvey. He entered into farming, but, like most of his fellow-colonists, failed from lack of experience. He was an exceedingly clever draughtsman and was for some time employed in that capacity in the United States navy yard, Brooklyn, and secured two or three medals in recognition of special proficiency and services. From time to time for years Mr. Capel's appearance and erratic movements have been familiar on our streets, yet he counted many warm friends amongst our best citizens. Of late years he has had no fixed habitation, gravitating between Bobcaygeon and town, and town and Brooklyn. He was a great pedestrian, always performing his frequent journeys between here and Bobcaygeon on foot—moccasined in summer and winter. Mr. Capel wealthy had connections in the old country, who generously contributed to the comfort of his declining years.

The Street Railway.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I had the pleasure of being in Ottawa last week, and was over the electric railway in that city several times, and I must say that I was surprised as well as delighted the way it was run. The cars run on time, and are never overcrowded, for if there is an extra crowd the managers put on what they call trawlers, thus avoiding crowded cars. Now a word as to the Peterborough company, who will have their road in operation about the 1st of July. Allow me to say, Mr. Editor, that it is a pity that the railroad was not in full operation to carry the large crowd that is going to see the hockey match at the Sons of Canada Carnival, on the 12th of February.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space,
I remain, yours very truly,
TRAVELLER.

"What's the Difference?"

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—This question is often asked regarding the night hawk and whip-poor-will, and also the lynx, "Felis Canadensis," and the wild cat or lynx cat, "Felis rufa." I have the pair (male and female) of wild cats to mount for persons that you previously mentioned in your valuable columns. The habitat of the wild cat is more southern than that of the lynx. For this reason we do not see so many of the former. The dimensions of the lynx are as follows:—From nose to tip of tail, 40 inches; tail, 4 inches; height, 22 inches; tail butted as if cut off, having the tip black. The dimensions of the wild cat—from nose to tip of tail, 32 inches; height, 16 inches; tail, 7 inches. This tail differs in shape from the lynx, it being pointed, having the tip black and all the underside of the tail white. The legs are also different, the lynx being a plain greyish color, the wild cat blotched and spotted with black; the feet also instead of being broad and spreading as those of the lynx, are rounded and neat like our domestic cat, the back part of the hind leg is also black upon the wildcat, the head is differently marked, the general color of them both being a greyish color. Some might argue that this is an adult and young lynx, the age making the difference, but I have the young lynx as well. But seeing is believing in this case, therefore all that are lovers of natural history are welcome to call and see for themselves, and, as many call my place a genuine museum, from my large collection, they can see animals, birds, fish, insects and shells free of charge. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain

Yours,
EDWIN ELCOME,
Taxidermist.

—Campbellford will vote on a local option bylaw at an early date.

—The Royal Templars of Temperance Grand Council for Ontario, will meet at Belleville next week.

MARRIED.

OLD—BROWN—At 232 Gerard street, east, Toronto, on Wednesday, February 3rd, 1892, by Rev. A. H. Baldwin, Frederick J. T. Old, M. D., of Port Colborne, to Sarah Edith, only daughter of Mrs. L. Brown, and grand-daughter of W. L. Johnston, Esq., of Peterborough.

DIED.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

Intense Suffering 8 Years

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Winter Races.

From what can be learned among our local horsemen, it is not likely that their will be any ice races in Peterborough this winter. A meeting of horsemen was called for Wednesday night, but there was only two "sports" present. They seem rather indignant to think that no more turned up at the meeting, and as a result it is said that the races will not take place.

St. Paul's Church

Annual Congregational Meeting.

There was a good attendance at the annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's church, in the school room last night. Tea had been served from 6 30 to 7 30, and at 8 o'clock Rev. E. F. Torrance opened the meeting with devotional exercises. Mr. Mulholland occupied the chair.

After routine, Rev. Mr. Torrance gave the report of the session. Though there were large additions to the membership yet the net increase was not great owing to death removals, demissions, etc. There had been 49 baptisms during the year. The session warmly commended the work of the Endeavour Society. The anniversary contribution to the church debt was $1,438, the Sabbath collections, $4,741, showed a larger increase over last year; the college collections were 50 per cent better than last year. The Bible class showed an increased attendance and interest.

Mr. H. S. Macdonald, acting-secretary, presented the REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The business statement was most satisfactory the debt of the church building had been reduced from $11,000 to $4 000; the envelope report showed a gain over the past year. The south ward mission building was sold for $400 which amount is to be kept for future use in the south ward. Reference was made to the illness of the financial secretary, Mr. J. H. Bennet. The choir master and organist Mr. J. Churchill Arridge and choir, were cordially thanked for their services, and reference made to the lamented death of Mr. Walter Peterson, one of the oldest members of the board.

The report was adopted.

The missionary report was read by the pastor, and also adopted, showing that the amount contributed by the missionary society of the church proper was $990.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society's report was also presented.

A temporary adjournment was made for the purpose of electing representatives of the church on the Hall Trust Board—Mr. W. G. Ferguson—and on the Nicholls Hospital Board—Mr. Wm. Walsh.

The Sunday school report showed an average attendance per Sunday of 284.

The Ladies' Aid, Christian Endeavour, Mission Band, and Foreign Mission Band reports were read and adopted,

THE BOARD OF MANAGEMENT.

The old members of the board were on motion re-elected, with the addition of Messrs. R. Mulholland and A. Loch.

Messrs. J. A. Fife and R. E. Wood were appointed auditors.

The clerk of the session and the secretary were appointed a committee to arrange for the publication of the annual report.

[illegible] & Co.'s Steamship

GLASGOW, Feb. 11.—A fatal accident happened yesterday to a number of workmen who were engaged in making some repairs to the hull of the British steamer Peruvian from Boston, which arrived at Glasgow on Saturday last. The steamer was on the ways in the Govan Graving Dock at the time. The men were working on a scaffold suspended over the side of the vessel when the frame suddenly collapsed and they were precipitated to the bottom of the dock. One man was instantly killed and four others fatally hurt.

For a Broken Neck $4000.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 1.—The jury in the case of Leonard Matthews against the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company returned a verdict in the Circuit Court yesterday awarding damages of $4000 to the plaintiff. This celebrated case has been before the courts for two years. The complainant alleged that his neck was broken by being knocked from a car by a bridge near Joliet about two years ago, and he now wears his head in an iron frame-work for support.

A Frontier Battle.

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—A despatch from Landsberg, close to the frontier, states that a conflict has occurred between a body of Russian gendarmes and a band of emigrants. The fight took place on Russian territory, a short distance from Landsberg. Three emigrants were killed and ten were wounded. A number of emigrants were taken prisoners.

From Fitzsimmons' Spirit.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 11.—Annie Eva Fay, the spiritualistic medium, last night gave a seance in the Auditorium in Penn-avenue. The medium, as usual, was tied in a cabinet where bells and musical instruments played. Then the spirits cut the knots. Among others a letter was received from Fitzsimmons, the Brockville murderer. Teaching Temperance in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Through the medium of your columns I would like to ask whether the new school board and the public generally are aware of the fact that the teaching of temperance and hygiene in our Public Schools is compulsory, being included in the curriculum of study for second, third and fourth forms and placed on the same basis as reading or arithmetic. (See departmental regulations, appendix A.) Also that it is the duty of the inspector to see that it is taught, he having power to suspend any teacher refusing or neglecting to teach it—(see page 9, sec. 14)—or withhold the school grant from schools in which it is not taught. (Page 9, sec. 10, clause B.) Any inspector failing in his duty in this respect, as in any other, may be reported to the Minister of Education and suspended. In our schools this subject is not taught excepting for a week or two in the fourth form before entrance examinations, when a little cramming is done for the sake of additional marks. At other times the law is ignored. The attention of the inspector has been called to this state of things, and still the law is ignored. Now, the question is, What shall be done next? Will our school board see that the regulations are complied with, or must an appeal be made to higher authority? Parents, procure a copy of the school law and investigate for yourselves.

STARVING MILLIONS !

THE TERRIBLE FAMINE NOW DEVASTATING RUSSIA.

Tolstoi and His Family to the Rescue—Nobles Give Their Jewels to Feed the Hungry—Scenes in the Famine District—The Causes Discussed.

GEN. ANNENKOFF.

THE famine in Russia finds its only parallel in the terrible want and privation with which India has been stricken time and again, and in the depths of the misery to which Ireland has fallen during its awful famine years. Where in Ireland the destitution was confined to a few counties, in Russia at present it is ravaging over eighteen of the largest provinces in the empire, an extent of territory as large as France, Belgium and Switzerland.

The rich are giving their jewels, even the poor in the cities are bringing to the churches the remnants of their daily food. No day passes in which a dozen relief trains do not leave St. Petersburg, and almost as many go daily from Moscow, Liban, and other large cities.

The great international market at Nijni Novgorod is filled with sallow-cheeked beggar peasants, who have flocked there only to find an empty market, and destitution almost as severe as it is at their homes in Samara and Kazan. The highways about Kiew, about Novo-Ouzensk, Samara, and Kazan, are filled with starving men, women and children, intent upon plunder, looking to prison walls as a haven of food and drink. Children have been strangled as they reached for the crust of the bread which must go to the famishing and stronger father and mother.

VERY LIBERAL RESPONSES.

In St. Petersburg the responses of individuals are numerous and liberal. Women of noble birth are daily seen giving up their jewels at the relief stations. All army banquets have been postponed indefinitely, and the funds intended for them have gone to swell the purse of the Government relief associations. At every church in all the towns and cities outside the stricken districts wagons are seen coming and going bringing and taking cold food and the clothes brought by even the poorest of the members of the congregations.

Ten million rubles have been set apart by the Department of Public Works to give employment to the men in Samara and Kazan. All this money is being expended under the direct supervision of General Annenkoff, who built the railway from the Black Sea to Eastern Asia.

This is a sample subscription list taken from a late issue of the Journal de St. Petersburg:

	Rubles.
Grand Duc Georges Makhailovitch	35,000
Grand Duc Alex. Mikhailovitch	35,000
Duc Serge Mikhailovitch	35,000
Ministre Debunge	4,000
Major General Schanovsky	10,000
Madame Le Comtesse Stenbock-Fermor	10,000

ARRIVAL OF THE RELIEF TRAIN AT SAMARA.

To this are added the names of 4000 or 5000 prominent society people, all of whom have subscribed in sums of over 500 rubles to the relief fund. In fact the Journal de St. Petersburg announces that its own subscription list in four days reached 24,436 rubles.

At the Anitchkow Bridge, in St. Petersburg, the Government receives each day over 1000 wagon loads of food and clothing.

The transportation facilities to the northern part of the stricken district are exceedingly meagre, and it is on this account that the famine there is so intense. Caravans of wagons leave Moscow and the railroad termini daily, adding as they move along.

All this shows that the great mass of the Russian people have awakened to the situation and are doing what they can.

WORK OF THE CHURCH.

The Greek Church is doing a herculean work. Its arms reach out to every nook and corner of the vast empire, and while in the stricken districts the places of worship have been changed into hospitals and distribution halls, in all other sections they have become receiving stations, and none so poor as to hold back his mite. It is this united work of the Government and the Church which was, however, found powerless to relieve all the destitute.

Twenty millions is the number of the penniless, and in the face of that gaunt spectre the Government made the concession that individuals could distribute the donations they received. It was at this juncture that Count Tolstoi jumped, armed with practical ideas and back of him a host of rich friends, into the midst of the destitution and began the establishment of his famous soup houses. "First the children and the women," he cried. "The strong can suffer—those are relieved."

"I visited one of these Tolstoi soup kitchens in the Dankov district," writes an American friend in New York, "and I search in vain for words to describe the pitiful scene. Tolstoi himself was there eating with the poorest of those he aided.

"German Syrup"

Martinsville, N.J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M.E. Conference, April 25, '90.

STARVING MILLIONS!

With him were two Englishmen, 'Angels of the Red Cross,' as some one calls them. They were gathering the best morsels for the sick. The sunken cheeks and bowed frames of men, women, and children told me the story of their abject want. All were like children in their greed and it took the gruff voice and the tender touch of the great Tolstoi himself to bring them to a partial sense of duty. I should judge that there were thirty people gathered in this barn. Stones served as tables, and on these the starving were served with a pitiful bit of gruel, the purchase and preparation of which the generosity of Count Tolstoi's friends had made possible.

"In other districts the sons and daughter of the count are doing similar service, while the wife issues appeal after appeal from her home in Moscow, receives the donations and sends them on to where there is the greatest need. There is no waste in this distribution, it all goes to the poor, and even the richest are beginning to turn their resources into the Tolstoi channel. It is a giant work, and it is being done by mighty hands."

COUNTESS TOLSTOI'S PETITION.

Here is one of the peculiar petitions sent out by the Countess:

"My whole family has broken up to go and help in various parts of the country. My husband, Count Lyov Tolstoi, is at present with our two daughters in the Dankov district trying to arrange the largest possible number of free soup kitchens, or as the peasants have named them, 'Care for Orphans.' My two elder sons, who serve in the Red Cross, are actively helping in the Cherniski district, and my younger son has gone to the province of Samara to open soup kitchens there as far as his means will allow.

"I quote from a letter that my daughter had written to me from the Dankov district, referring to the soup kitchens which the local land owners have opened:

"'I have been in two of them. In one which has been opened in a tiny chicken house, a widow cooks dinner for twenty-five persons. When I entered a lot of children were sitting at table, each with a piece of bread, and eating soup. Several old women were standing and waiting for their turn. I talked with one of them. The poor things are kept alive simply by these free dinners; they have absolutely nothing at home, so they have no breakfast. They receive two meals a day at the kitchen, and the cost of this, fuel included, is from 95 kopecks to one ruble, 30 kopecks a month for each person.'

"Thus 13 rubles will save from starvation till next harvest one person. But there are so many that enormous sums are needed. Let us, though, at least try what can be done. If each of us saves, according to his or her powers, one, two, ten or a hundred lives, our consciences will be lighter. Surely God will spare us another such year in our lifetime!

"I venture to appeal to all those who are willing and able to help for material aid in the work that my family have undertaken. All donations will be employed directly to feed children and aged persons in the soup kitchens opened by husband and children.

"Donations may be forwarded as follows: Count Lyov Nikolaevich Tolstoi, No. 15 Dolgo-Khamoynichesky, Pereoulok, Moscow. It will not be for me to thank those who respond to my appeal, but for the unfortunate people whom they will save from starvation."

THE CAUSES AND REMEDY.

The famine now ravaging in Russia extends to eighteen provinces, the area of which is equal to that of France, Belgium, and Switzerland together, and the population of which is about 40,000,000. In six provinces the famine is partial, in the other twelve complete. The official paper, the Journal of Finance, has announced that it will take 75,000,000 bushels to keep the population alive until the next crop.

It seems strange that all the facts concerning the impending famine were known to the Government in June and July, for the Zemtvas, or district assemblies, had made complete reports at that time of the failure of the crop, and in the light of the latest events it is seen that their figures were correct, their details accurate. Their requests for immediate aid were lost in a tangle of red tape and in consequence half of the provinces were left without seed and in the other half the starving peasantry was compelled to utilize the seed grain for food.

It is my opinion that if Russia had a popular form of government the great surplus in Caucasia and in other parts of the Russian Empire would have been sufficient to meet all demands. As it is now, grain is absolutely rotting on the fields of Caucasia.

Taxes are the prime cause of the terrific disaster that has come over Russia. If in America a farmer can hardly make a living by paying 10 to 12 per cent. a year, what will you say to a tax of 45 to 78 per cent. on production, paid under the lashes of the knout, to the Russian Government.

The effects are working in two ways. The intelligent class wishes to help its separate people by organizing philanthropic societies all over the country. Professor Solevieff proposed to the Government a list of subscribers whose donations would amount to 14,600,000 rubles, on condition that the Government allow the societies control of the distribution. The rich widow, Sava Morosoff, proposed to give 3,000,000 rubles to the sufferers on condition that she be permitted to organize a relief society, and in both cases the Government declined. My Russian correspondents have given me several similar instances.

But the concession came when the dying and dead were filling the village homes, when Church and State, with its burdens of officials, found itself unable to cope with 40,000,000 starving peasants. Individuals were permitted to receive contributions and distribute them in their own districts. It was this concession that brought Count Tolstoi to the front, and he and his family are now doing a herculean work in the stricken districts.

At the outset the reactionary papers of Russia cried out that Count Tolstoi's action would produce a revolution. Two weeks after this denunciation these same papers denounced the Government organization in the famine districts as failures, and boldly asserted that the Government has not given one-third the amount subscribed at the beginning of the famine.—L. Goldenberg, Editor of "Free Russia."

It is a pleasure for me to say good words in favor of Anti-Dandruff, as its merits cannot be questioned. In my own case, Dandruff not only made itself known by appearance in more than liberal quantities from which I could not obtain relief, but its continued presence and increasing formation caused falling of the hair. My barber spoke highly of Anti-Dandruff. I used it, and not only has every trace of Dandruff disappeared but the falling of the hair has stopped. Having full faith in the preparation I not only endorse it for the above but further add that as a fine dressing for the hair nothing equals it.

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the cause of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail.

COLONIAL FREE TRADE

INTRODUCED IN THE BRITISH COMMONS.

The Government Declines to Terminate the Treaties Hindering a Preferential Inter-Imperial Trade—Negatived Without Amendment.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—In the House of Commons last night Mr. Lowther offered a motion in favor of renouncing the favored nation clause in treaties with Belgium and zollverein countries in order to enable the establishment of preferential commercial relations with the colonies.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, President of the Board of Trade, replied that the Government was disposed to go a great way to establish a real zollverein with the colonies, but the proposal was impossible without sacrificing portions of treaties highly beneficial to Great Britain. The motion was negatived.

A Disappointment to Colonials.

The debate on Mr. Lowther's motion to terminate the treaties hindering a preferential inter-imperial trade was very disappointing to the friends of the Colonial free trade movement.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was led by the avowed protectionist nature of the speeches of Mr. Lowther and Howard Vincent to adopt an openly hostile attitude on behalf of the Government. He said he would go a long way to secure a common tariff for the whole empire, but this miserable substitute would injure Britain without doing the colonies any good. The Dominion Parliament proposed no definite scheme to the British Government. The advocacy of the idea was based upon the vaguest resolutions of public meetings, "overflowing with sentiments which we cordially share," viz., affection between England and her colonies. With all respect to Canada England is a better judge of the requirements of the commercial relation of this country even than the Canadian Parliament. This was not the time to move for a revision of treaties.

The debate then soon collapsed. Mr. Lowther wished to withdraw his amendment, but the Liberals would not permit it and it was then negatived without division amid cheers and laughter.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Sir Charles Tupper says he has seen the arbitration clauses in the Behring Sea agreement with the States, and that they are perfectly satisfactory to Canada, and the British Government has expressed the confident hope that the sealers of British Columbia will receive at no distant day ample satisfaction for injuries received.

The Arbitrators Named.

In the House of Commons this afternoon James Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, said that Great Britain and the United States had agreed that France, Italy and Sweden should act as arbitrators of the Behring Sea dispute.

Mr. Lowther added, however, that although France, Italy and Sweden had been agreed upon they had not as yet been asked to appoint the arbitrators. Great Britain and the United States, he said, would each have two representatives before the Arbitration Commission.

In reply to an interrogation regarding the dispute with France concerning Newfoundland, Mr. Lowther said he was afraid that matters had not advanced rapidly. The bill agreed to in 1891 between Great Britain and Newfoundland was still waiting to be introduced in the Newfoundland Legislature owing to the absence of the delegates who had come to England in connection with the negotiations with France regarding Newfoundland. The French Government, he added, had not yet presented the agreement to the Chambers for ratification.

Confirmed at Washington.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 11.—The Department of State yesterday confirmed the report from London that Great Britain and the United States had agreed to invite the Governments of France, Sweden and Italy each to designate a person to serve as a member of the tribunal to be selected to arbitrate the Behring Sea controversy. This tribunal will have seven members, two representing the United States and two Great Britain and three representing neutral governments.

Have Proven of Immense Benefit.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The British Board of Agriculture has scheduled Denmark on account of cattle disease, almost closing London cattle markets for fear of the contagion. Experts say that had the Canadian Government yielded as they nearly did to recent agitation for relaxing restrictions against States cattle entering Canada Canada's position would now be much less secure. Sir Jacob Wilson, who controls the Board of Agriculture, is keenly protectionist and loses no chance for using the cattle regulations to exclude the live stock from competing in the British markets. Even The Times says the incident suggests whether the prohibition of all live foreign animals should not be absolute as in Canada. Seeing this, the friends of Canada are asking whether the Government should not insist upon a strict enforcement of the quarantine against States cattle in British Columbia. It is said to be unsafe to leave even this door for disease open.

Anglo-Canadian Trade.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—British exports to Canada decreased 25 per cent. in January, imports from Canada increased 55 per cent. Wheat, fish and wood imports have largely increased.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Destructive Fire in Montreal—Conflagrations in Other Cities.

MONTREAL, Feb. 11.—Fire yesterday in Chisholm's warehouse in College-street occasioned damage to the stock of cheese and provisions to about $35,000.

Fire at Agincourt.

AGINCOURT, Ont., Feb. 11.—The residence of Mr. J. L. Patterson was destroyed by fire yesterday, the inmates barely escaping with their lives in their night clothes. The house and contents are a total loss, together with about $200 in cash and considerable jewelry. Estimated loss, $4000; insured in the London Mutual for $1200.

Cincinnati's Destructive Fire.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—A fire which in its destructiveness was one of the most far-reaching of any ever before in Cincinnati broke out early yesterday in the building occupied by Ezekiel & Bernheim, auctioneers and storage commission dealers, Main-street. The building was destroyed, together with the warerooms of the American Oak Leather Co., the Commercial National Bank and Hammond-street police station. The total loss will reach $400,000.

Broke Up the Tea Meeting.

AMELIASBURG, Ont., Feb. 11.—While a crowd was assembled in the Methodist Church last night attending a tea meeting, fire was discovered issuing from the house of Samuel Simonds. The meeting broke up in confusion and the crowd started to the scene of the disaster. The entire contents were consumed. Mr. Simonds' loss is $1200.

A Woodbridge Blaze.

WOODBRIDGE, Ont., Feb. 11.—The residence of Mr. Robert Cowling, principal of the public school, was burned to the ground about 9.30 last night. The fire broke out while Mr. Cowling and family were at the York county Sabbath school convention, which was in session. Loss unknown.

Napanee Furniture Factory Burned.

NAPANEE, Ont., Feb. 11.—J. Gibbard & Sons' furniture factory was destroyed by fire at 1 a.m. Loss probably $15,000.

At Tilsonburg.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

This Week An Avalanche Of Spring Goods

Is on us. It would take two columns of this journal to enumerate all we have received, but if there is one thing more than another that deserves special mention is our importation ex. S.S. "Sardinian," from St, Gale, Switzerland, of

NEW SWISS EMBROIDERIES, FLOUNCINGS AND HAMBURG EDGINGS.

Plain Hem Stitched Skirtings are in great favor and we show them in many qualities.

With this lot came our New Spring stock of Swiss Muslin Embroidered Curtains, Swiss Applique Curtains, and one of the New Effects in Hem-Stitched Borders, New Tambour Sash Curtain Muslins and Tambour Curtain Nets, and New Silk Curtains.

All are on display in our show windows. As we import these goods direct from the makers, our prices are about as low as wholesale jobbers sell them for in this country.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

OPENED YESTERDAY BY CHIEF JUSTICE HAGARTY.

Who Officiated on Account of the Illness of the Lieutenant-Governor—A Speech from the Throne—Measures Which Will Engage the Attention of the Government.

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—If there is any desire abroad to popularize the meetings of the Ontario Legislature it must have occurred to many in attendance at the opening yesterday that the scene presented contained fruitful suggestion to say the least of it. The faces of Mr. Mowat, Mr. Meredith, Mr. H. E. Clarke, Mr. Hardy, Mr. E. F. Clarke and other leading men were absent from their accustomed chairs, but in their stead appeared the blooming faces of fair young girls, or the more matured but still attractive charms of handsomely dressed matrons. Certainly to the male portion of the sight-seers present this was a decidedly acceptable change, for, however much we may pretend to admire ability and intellectual prominence, there is no pretence whatever about our admiration of the other sex. The usual occupants of the chairs stood about playing gallant to the ladies who came down to see that the constitutional function was properly attended to. The dressing of the ladies was on the whole subdued, the bonnets and cloaks of the street being retained. In this respect it is quite different from the similar event which will take place in Ottawa in a couple of weeks, when the ladies of the Capital and surrounding country will descend on the Senate chamber and, rolling up their sleeves, see to it that all due formalities are observed. No, the display of graceful necks, silver shoulders and plump arms, which are so much a feature of the Ottawa show, were totally wanting in the meeting of yesterday. Consequently as a spectacle it was inferior in color and vivacity to its great prototype.

To Business, Gentlemen.

Speaker Ballantyne took the chair according to the custom that has prevailed in recent years some time before His Excellency, or rather his representative arrived, and some formal announcements such as resignations of members and elections held since last session were made.

They Came in Pomp.

At 3 o'clock sharp a gleam of color was seen at the western door and Commander Law, Major Gray, Col. Hamilton, marched in followed by a simple dignified gentleman who was none other than Chief Justice Hagarty, the commissioner who was to act for the Lieutenant-Governor. He took his seat and at once plunged in medias res, or in other words started to explain that acting as the deputy of the Lieutenant-Governor he would disclose to them the reasons for calling the House together. He then read the Speech from the Throne, which follows, very much in the same way he would read a judgment on a point of law that needed but slight elucidation:

The Queen's Speech.

The lamented death a few weeks ago of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale caused profound sorrow throughout the British Empire. On behalf of the people of Ontario the Lieutenant-Governor communicated by cable their deep sympathy with Her Majesty and their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales in their great affliction. His Royal Highness was pleased to acknowledge the message very graciously.

I am pleased to be able to congratulate you on the bountiful harvest of the past year.

The demand for the publications of the Department of Agriculture and for the enlargement of the scope of the Bureau of Industries evinces a growing desire for fuller information with respect to all matters affecting the interests of the husbandman. The large attendance at Farmers' Institutes and at meetings of other associations connected with agriculture, and the practical character of the work which is now being done, are further signs of agricultural progress. The work of instruction carried on during the past year by the Dairymen's Association, and by means of the Traveling Dairy, was very satisfactory; the demands for the Traveling Dairy were far greater than could be met.

Notwithstanding the decreased output of timber and saw logs last winter, the revenue from woods and forests for the year 1891 was in excess of the estimate. The receipts on account of Crown lands sales were also larger than anticipated.

Saving the Revenue Producer.

Owing to the exceptional drought in the spring and early part of the summer of last year, forest fires were unusually numerous and extensive. By means of the system of fire ranging adopted some years ago, these fires were in some instances entirely extinguished at an early stage, and in others confined to limited areas. The prompt information conveyed to the Crown Lands Department through this service greatly facilitated the work of the department in dealing with the injured timber, and about one hundred million feet of pine in unlicensed territory through which fires had passed were, during the latter part of the year, disposed of at good prices.

A commission has been appointed to report upon the desirability of establishing a forest reservation and park in part of the Nipissing district south of the River Mattawa, and upon the methods and expense of maintaining and managing the same.

The depression of the mining industries of Great Britain and the United States from the failure of several large mining companies during the last year had an injurious effect upon existing and projected enterprises in Ontario also. A steady demand has, nevertheless, been kept up for our mineral lands, the leasing provisions in the Mining Act being regarded with special favor. A bill to consolidate and amend the mining laws will be laid before you.

Will Flit After This Session.

I am pleased to be able to state that the new Parliament buildings are so near completion that the departmental offices will be removed thereto during the summer and that the next session of the Legislature will probably be held in the new buildings.

I am glad to inform you also that the Provincial University buildings, so seriously damaged by fire two years ago, will be fully restored within the next few months. The improved interior arrangements and the erection of a library apart from the main building will add greatly to the efficiency of the work of the University. I am pleased also to perceive the progress made with the building for Victoria University, now federated with the provincial institution.

The completion of the new buildings erected for the use of Upper Canada College marks an epoch in the history of one of the oldest educational institutions of the province. So great has been the demand for admission to the college that the increased accommodation is still inadequate to meet the public wants. A full report by the trustees of the college will be submitted.

Bills have been prepared and will be laid before you immediately consolidating the municipal laws, the assessment laws and the election laws respectively as these now stand. Bills amending these laws will also be submitted for your consideration, with the view of such amendments as you approve of being introduced into the consolidated acts before the passing thereof.

A bill will be submitted to extend some of the provisions of the laws heretofore made in respect of insurance to certain classes of insurance not included in the present enactments. Also a measure to correct the evils which have arisen from the difficulty under existing laws of distinguishing licensed insurance companies and legitimate and bona fide benefit societies from organizations which are unauthorized and illusory.

The report of the Commission [illegible] and Game of the province will be laid before you, and if possible, measures will be submitted during the session having in view the more effective protection of these important sources of food supply.

Amongst other bills which are in preparation is a bill for the assessment of collateral or remote inheritances in certain cases; a bill adopting in substance the recent modifications by the British Parliament of the laws relating to Mortmain; and a measure respecting the emoluments of certain of the county officers who are paid by fees.

The public accounts for the past year will be laid before you at an early day. You will be pleased to learn that the expenditure has been kept within the appropriation, and that the revenue has exceeded the amount anticipated.

The estimates for the current year will be presented for your approval. They will be found to be framed with due regard to economy, and to the necessities of the public service.

A Little Business Done.

After the reading of the speech the Chief Justice bowed low to both sides of the House and departed by the carriage that had conveyed him to the door. In front of the building C company, School of Infantry, under command of Capt. McDougall and Lieut. Laurie, were drawn up.

There was a general movement of the ladies and gentlemen when Her Majesty's representative had retired, and a hubbub of conversation filled the chamber. There was much shaking of hands as acquaintances who had not met since last session described each other.

After the ladies had resigned their places to the legislators the Speaker again took the chair, and Mr. Mowat introduced James Kirkwood, the new member for East Wellington.

On motion of Mr. Mowat it was agreed that the consideration of the Speech from the Throne will be proceeded with on Monday. The public accounts will be laid on the table the day after the answer to the speech is given, and the Attorney-General promised that the financial statement will be given almost immediately.

HIS SOUL IS IN HEAVEN.

But His Body, Unlike That of John Brown, Still Goes Marching On.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 12.—Coulter, the self-confessed murderer of his father, was arraigned on a charge of perjury in the Circuit Court this morning. He pleaded guilty. Judge Steare asked him if he understood the nature of the charge against him. "Yes," he replied. "It is a business matter between God and me for eternity." He was remanded to jail to await sentence. Coulter is undoubtedly crazy. He says that his soul is in heaven and that he cares not what becomes of his carcass.

GOOSEY SKEDADDLES.

The Indian Witness Makes His Escape From a Constable.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Feb. 12.—The Indian Goosey, the chief witness in the Heslop murder case, has skipped out. He has been staying in charge of Constable Hunter, and this morning a son of the latter saw him making good his escape. He put after him, and when he caught up Goosey smashed him pretty badly and proceeded on his way. It is thought he will make for the States.

KILLED IN HIS CAB.

Fatal Collision on the Michigan Central at Tilbury.

TILBURY CENTRE, Ont., Feb. 12.—A west-bound train on the Michigan Central Railway, Conductor J. H. Kilgour, Engineer William Deyell, crashed into an eastbound while the latter was taking the siding at the east switch here during a storm at 5 o'clock this morning. All the trainmen escaped by jumping excepting Engineer Deyell, who was caught in the wreck and instantly killed. The engine and two box cars were demolished. Deyell was a resident of St. Thomas.

Killed at a Crossing.

WALKERVILLE, Ont., Feb. 12.—Jeremiah Driscoll, deputy-reeve of Sandwich East, returning from Windsor last evening with a load of hay, was struck and instantly killed while attempting to cross in front of the 6.30 express going south on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway. The horses he drove escaped unhurt.

The Girl Ironed While the House Burned.

BARRIE, Feb. 12.—During the absence from home of Mr. Jonathan Simons, ex-warden of the county, and his wife his residence at Crown Hill was entirely consumed by fire, with its contents. A servant girl was in the kitchen ironing and was not aware of the fire in the main building until it was beyond control.

THE CANADIAN LIVE STOCK TRADE THREATENED.

British Ports May Be Closed to Canadian Cattle—Suicide of a German Officer—The Spanish Anarchists Still Causing Trouble—General Foreign.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The agitation against live cattle imports is gaining dangerous strength. Following The Times The Morning Post, which hitherto has been most friendly to Canada, says: "In the presence of the grave danger of a spread of the disease to British herds the most obvious dictates of common sense may close the ports of England. We are spending millions of pounds to suppress the disease among home animals, yet with inexplicable futuity we leave the doors open at the ports. The closure of the ports to live animals would make no difference to the imports of dead meat nor raise the price."

Bell's Weekly Messenger, another general friend of Canada, indicates the seriousness of the present outbreak and urges the public to support Mr. Chaplin, if necessary, to stop all imports of live cattle. The situation is one of grave peril to the Canadian trade, and the Canadian Government may perhaps strengthen the position by promptly announcing a rigid quarantine against United States cattle entering British Columbia, as well as the rest of Canada.

A Cedar of Lebanon Has Fallen.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The last memorial service over the remains of the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon was held last night. The funeral service this morning opened at 11 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Pierson, the American minister who filled Mr. Spurgeon's pulpit during the latter's illness, made a most eloquent address. He dwelt at length upon Mr. Spurgeon's powerful influence. "A cedar of Lebanon has fallen," he said, "and the crash of its downfall has shocked the whole land. No such vast vacancy has before befallen the church in a century."

The coffin containing the remains was then taken from the catafalque upon which it had rested since Monday night and conveyed to the hearse and thence to Norwood Cemetery.

Arrest of a Spy.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—A sensation was caused in military circles here yesterday by the receipt of a despatch from Augsburg, Bavaria, announcing the arrest of a spy, said to be an officer of a foreign army. The stranger, when searched, was found to have been successful in stealing one of the new and most improved rifles of the German army. The lock and other important parts of the weapon were found sewn in the clothes worn by the prisoner.

Volcanic Phenomena in New Zealand.

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Feb. 12. — North Island has been shaken by severe earthquakes, which are supposed to be connected with a violent eruption of Mount Ngauhoe. The flames from the volcano reach a great height, presenting a grand spectacle at night.

Foreign Gossip.

Berlin police have discovered and frustrated a widespread Anarchist plot.

Official notice has been given that a famine prevails in Bombay presidency.

The secretary of the German Admiralty has asked the Reichstag for an appropriation to increase the naval force.

Barcelona Anarchists have posted proclamations threatening vengeance for the execution of the Xeres Anarchists.

The Russian Government has granted the sum of 60,000,000 roubles to be expended for the relief of the sufferers in the famine districts.

Mr. Gladstone had sent a letter to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, in which he pays a high tribute to the character and worth of the late Duke of Clarence and Avondale.

The Russian General VonHaford shot himself through the head with a revolver yesterday at Berlin. He was 72 years of age and was suffering from disease of the larynx.

A petroleum well belonging to the Assam Railway Company, near Calcutta, India, has been sunk to a depth of 650 feet, at which point a vein was struck which is flowing at a rate of 700 barrels daily. This is taken to indicate that there is a rich supply of oil in the district.

A report comes here from China by way of Singapore that General Tchen Kitong has been executed at Tien Tsin for treason in having pledged himself to support French influence, in having become a Christian and in having sought an audience with the Pope to facilitate the work of Catholic missions in China.

Shot Himself Six Hours After His Wedding.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 12.—Last night Mr. Arnold Warden, an artist of this city, shot himself under sensational circumstances.

He was married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Miss Alice Heywood, daughter of Mr. Charles Heywood. The newly-married couple, with their friends, went to Mr. Heywood's house to spend the evening. About 10 o'clock the deceased bade one of his friends good-night, went into the drawing room, and immediately afterward a shot was heard.

Mr. Heywood, going into the room, found the deceased lying on the floor with a revolver near him, and this morning he died.

His Tongue Swelled Until it Caused Death.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—William Hanley, 25 years old, a newsdealer at Sackett and Hicks-street, died in the City Hospital, Brooklyn, yesterday morning of glossitis, or inflammation of the tongue, after an illness of four days. The disease is an exceptionally rare one. Hanley was attacked with the grip on Friday morning, and in the evening his tongue began to swell. By midnight Hanley's tongue and surrounding glands were swollen to such an extent as to force his jaws apart, and he was unable to speak or swallow. He continued in this condition until his death.

An autopsy on the body was made yesterday afternoon in the presence of the entire medical staff of the institution. The conclusion reached by most of the doctors was that the disease was formed through a diphtheretic inflammation.

Reilly Must Stay in Quod.

KINGSTON, Feb. 12.—Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, considered the large petition forwarded to him asking that W. R. Moffat's term in prison be shortened. Sir John writes that the matter is beyond his interference.

The Boodle Charges.

When Mr. Tarte made his charge a few weeks ago that Sir Adolphe Caron had received $15,000 from Thomas McGreevy, the Minister caused to be published in his own organ and in the Montreal Gazette that he had not received any money from that source. He has now changed his ground. He says that he did receive money from McGreevy, but that it was his own and that of other Ministers. Certain parties, he says, would come to him favorable to the Government and give subscriptions to the elections. These he would hand over to a committee of which Mr. McGreevy was chairman, instead of disbursing the money himself, and he would give an order for some of it on Mr. McGreevy to be used in the elections. Sir Adolphe's assertion that there was a committee, again, is contradicted by Sir Hector Langevin, who said, during the Parliamentary inquiry, that there was no committee. These instances serve to show the unwisdom of Sir Adolphe Caron and his friends in popping up with a defence of him before all the evidence is out. He will propably have to change his ground again before all is over. Our correspondent, it will be remembered, stated that $112 000 had been paid out by Thomas McGreevy to Conservative Ministers and members, and that $20 000 of this came from Larkin, Connolly & Co. We believe that not only can this be established, but that it can be shown that Conservatives in high standing in the party got money direct from Larkin, Connolly & Co. and from the contractors and promoters of railways receiving Dominion subsidies. The names of the persons concerned will appear in due course. Some party advantage might perhaps be gained by withholding all reference to these matters until the whole case is developed, and thus entrapping the Minister and his friends into a series of denials, each contradicting the last; but we prefer to give him fair warning as to the nature of the evidence which will be adduced against him. We believe it will be shown that a great part of this money was received by Sir Adolphe Caron personally from these contractors and railway promoters; that as a rule the money was paid in to McGreevy, who gave his receipt for the money as it arrived; that it was then checked out by Caron and that McGreevy holds the drafts and receipts. Sir Adolphe Caron and his friends are falling into the error that the vouchers already published in the Globe are the only ones that can be produced before a Parliamentary Committee and are framing a defence upon that supposition. It will be better for him either to tell the whole truth or keep silent until the whole case is laid before the public. We have to repeat that the Ministerial journals are mistaken in "supposing" that Mr. Thomas McGreevy has given information to the Globe. He has resolutely refused to speak. No doubt he could if he chose give most important information, and it will be for Parliament to devise means to compel him to disclose it.

What will be the electric motor of the future? This is the question many municipal corporations both in Canada and the United States are grappling with. Self Application of Electricity
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES
BY THE
DORENWEND
ELECTRIC BELT
And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—168 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation of current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the worthless combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. J. D. TULLY, Agent, Peterborough. eod w

The Trent Narrows' Bridge.

Seymour's Reeve Makes an Appeal to the County Council.

At the late session of the counties council in Cobourg, Mr. F. Macoun, reeve of Seymour, made a strong appeal for a grant towards the maintenance of the Trent bridge at the Narrows, and moved the following resolution:—

"Whereas the township of Seymour has in the year 1891 expended on the Narrows' bridge the sum of $675 over and above a large expenditure on the other bridges in the township, be it therefore resolved that a grant of $400 be made to said township in view of said expenditure on the Narrows' bridge."

In moving this resolution, Mr. Macoun stated that in the year 1873 the Narrows bridge had been constructed across the river Trent at a convenient point within the township of Seymour, grants of money for its construction having been made jointly by the Provincial Government, the County of Peterborough and the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. The bridge was built to enable the residents of the township of Belmont and other Peterborough municipalities to get to the front. It did not benefit the people of Seymour although they had spent $675 in putting it in repair. The bridge had stood 18 years and was now in an unsafe state. The council of Seymour had consulted a lawyer to know if they were legally responsible for the maintenance of the bridge, and it was his opinion that they were. They had done their best to get the county of Peterborough to bear a fair share of the expense, and they were taking steps to introduce a bill in the Legislature, which would provide for a measure of relief. A baby had been left on their doorstep and they asked the County Council to help them take care of it. (Laughter.)

Mr. Denike made a strong appeal for a generous consideration of Seymour's claim, which he said was a reasonable one.

Mr. S. E. Ferguson said there was no doubt, Seymour had a grievance. If that township was compelled to build a bridge costing $15,000 it would be ruinous.

Mr. A. Ferguson said the Narrows bridge had been thrown on the township of Seymour. Very few residents of that township used the bridge, which was of more service to Belmont than to Seymour. He thought a grant should be made.

Mr. Hicks said it was a hardship for Seymour to have to keep up a bridge they did not use. He would vote for the motion if the amount of the grant were reduced to $200.

Mr. Fowlds said the bridge was built for the accommodation of the northern part of the county of Peterborough when there were no railways in the country and people had no way out.

Mr. Denike said this bridge had been a subject of irritation, vexation and agitation for some time.

Mr. Carlaw said it was too bad that Seymour had got such a big baby to carry.

Mr. Mulholland moved in amendment that the council grant the sum of $300.

Mr. Preston moved in amendment to the amendment, that motion and amendment be referred to the road and bridge committee.

On being submitted to the council, both amendments and the motion were lost, only 13 voting for the grant.

Smelting at Sudbury.

The Ontario Government Asked to Aid in the Establishment of a Smelter for Nickel and Copper Ore.

A petition was presented Wednesday to Hon. A. S. Hardy, Commissioner of Crown Lands, by Mr. J. M. Clark, solicitor for the Customs Smelting Company of Sudbury, representing that the company propose to build and operate a customs smelter for treating and smelting nickel and copper ore at Sudbury, thus filling a long-felt want; that the Ontario Government should give substantial assistance to such undertaking as it is the first of the kind in Algoma; that the most expedient form of such assistance would be in the building and equipping of a laboratory and in the appointment and maintenance of a Government chemist and assayist and smelting superintendent in connection with the smelter; that by that means the Government would obtain the most accurate and reliable information as to value and treatment of the ore in that district; that in the event of a school of mines being started, the smelter would be open at all times to their inspection for instruction, etc.; that the following is an estimate of the expense of granting this petition:—cost of suitable building, apparatus, etc., $3,000; salary of assayist, $1,800; of assistant, $1,080; of boy, $130; cost of chemicals, $350, making a total of $6,360; that to lessen these expenses a considerable income could be derived by the Government from outside assays; that the petitioners would recommend for the position of Government chemist Alfred Murray, late manager of the Murray mine, owned by H. H. Vivian & Co., and a graduate of the Royal School of Mines of London, England, and actually engaged in mining, smelting and refining operations for sixteen years. The petitioners, who are James Conmee, M.P.P., James Stobie, J. R. Gordon, C. S. R. McConnell, Mattawa; Stephen Fournier, Frank Cochrane, James McCormick, R. B. Struthers, Matthew McCormick, D. O'Connor, J. Flannery, Capt. A. Hoffman Smith, Chas. Jessop, W. J. Skinner, J. B. Hammond, J. A. Orr, C. G. Richardson, W. McVitty, Alfred Merry, jun., A. J. Macdonnell, manager of Ontario Bank, all of Sudbury. R. Geddick, barrister, of Toronto, therefore asked that the Government might grant substantial assistance to their undertaking and might build and equip a suitable labatory in connection therewith, and appoint and maintain a competent Government chemist and assayist.

Mr. Hardy promised that the Government would give the matter most serious consideration.

SIR MORRELL MACKENZIE.

The Distinguished Physician Succumbs to an Attack of Bronchitis.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie, the distinguished physician whose serious illness with bronchitis was announced a few days ago, died on Wednesday, 3rd February.

SIR MORRELL MACKENZIE.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie was born in Leytonstone, Essex, in 1837, and was educated at the London Hospital Medical College and in Paris and Vienna. He was the author of numerous publications on laryngological subjects and in particular of a systematic treatise in two volumes on "Diseases of the Throat and Nose," which is acknowledged to be a standard work. Dr. Mackenzie was also the author of monographs on diphtheria and hay fever, and of an article on "Specialism in Medicine," which appeared in the Fortnightly Review in 1885, and which excited considerable attention. Dr. Mackenzie was in attendance on Frederick III., German Emperor, during the latter's last illness, and was knighted in 1887. He published in 1888 "The Fatal Illness of Frederick the Noble." At the close of that year he resigned his connection with the College of Physicians. In 1889 he contributed to The Contemporary Review some essays entitled, "The Voice in Singing and Speaking."

WHY COUGH,
WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household with young children should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

A marriage took place at the residence of Mr. W. Mathieson, Havelock, on Tuesday, Feb. 9th, at 2.30, Mr. Wm. Armstrong being united in marriage to Miss Jeanie Bannon, both of Fleetherton, Grey county, Rev. Hugh Brown of that village performing the ceremony. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. W. Armstrong, and the bride by her sister, Miss Edith Bannon, and Miss Mamie Hall. The young couple were the recipients of a large number of elegant wedding presents. The bride is a sister of Mrs. W. Mathieson, Havelock, and neice of Mrs. H. Nesbitt, town.

Here is a Pointer.

Mr. James J. Sheehy informs us that from this date until March 1st he will offer exceptionally good value in three or four lines of goods. White blankets will go at mill prices. Just a few pairs left and they MUST be sold. Boys' heavy ribbed knicker-booker hose also will be placed on the bargain table. These goods are made of the finest Saxony yarn and should sell at sight. Remnants of mantle cloth, just the thing for little girls' cloaks, will be cleared out regardless. A few pieces of hemp, wool and tapestry carpets, left after clearing sale, will also be sacrificed, and, finally, ten pieces of heavy all-wool dress goods without doubt the best value in town at the original price—25c.—now selling at 15c. per yard.

Interesting Letter From Mr. F. G. Saunders, Formerly of Peterborough.

CHINA INLAND MISSION,
Ganking, 19th Dec., 1891.

DEAR BRO. COLVILLE,

Although it is late I am so full of praise to the dear Lord, that I feel I must tell you what I heard of His doings at a meeting we had to-night.

Some 4 or 5 years ago, a man went from his home in the country to a city to take part in a law suit; while there one day he happened to wander into a C.I.M. preaching hall, and hearing the gospel believed; as a result of this he gave up his law case at considerable loss to himself and went back to his village full of zeal for the conversion of lost souls and began immediately to tell the people, of the Saviour who had done so much for him through the the sacrifice on the cross and that this same Saviour was just as willing to save them.

Well, the result of this was great persecution and he had to suffer many hardships for what the people called having eaten the foreigners doctrine, but the fire of persecution only seemed to make him draw nearer to his new found Saviour, and of course the result was that the nearer he got to Jesus the more he chose for Jesus. After some time others began to believe and then a small church began to strike its roots down into the dry ground and four baptized Christians regularly met for worship and they kept bright in spite of very bitter persecution. In fact this persecution reached such a stage about a year ago, that it seemed as if their relatives would drive them out of the place, but praise the Lord, they are still there and the down, although a little while ago they came to this man for a subscription towards a Buddhist temple, but he said that he was a disciple of Jesus and therefore would not give them anything, so the neighbors assembled in a great rage and one man started beating him, but he took it quite calmly and only said that if they had hit him before he believed in Jesus he would have hit them back, but now things were different, so then they left off.

I think I told you some of the foregoing in a previous letter, but it is so good that I use it again as an introduction to the following.

A few weeks ago we being the nearest mission station to this village, which is sixty miles off, got word that there were six more candidates for baptism there and they wanted some one to go over to baptize them. After much prayer Mr. Cooper found that owing to circumstances which could not be avoided he was not able to go, so therefore two weeks ago he sent a faithful Christian coolie to bring the people here for baptism. This coolie, you may be sure is not educated much, although he is extremely earnest, and that's the great thing is it not? Last Sunday they asked him to take the service, but he could not read, so they replied, "all right, we'll do the reading," and as a result they had a delightful service, our coolie being the special preacher and these other dear ones forming the congregation. Would you not like to have attended that meeting. After the Sunday was over they began

TO GET READY FOR THEIR JOURNEY.

As the three women could not walk because of their small feet, they hired wheelbarrows for them to ride on, and these, along with four or five men, set out towards Ganking. The people along the road wondered what it meant, seeing so many people travelling together, and, in answer to their questions as to "Where are you going?" they got the rejoinder, "We are going to Ganking to be baptized," and, of course, this gave them many opportunities of explaining the Gospel to the heathens whom they met.

I should tell you that three of this happy party are Christians who were baptised before and are now coming here with these first fruits of their labours.

Some arrived this afternoon, but the others have been delayed on the road and may not be here till to-morrow. One woman who arrived to-day seems exceedingly bright. She knows several hymns and the eleventh of Matthew off by heart and seems full of love to Jesus. Our Bible woman, who was talking to her after her arrival, says she has a very bad cold, but keeps trying to sing and talk about her Lord. She wants to sleep with Mrs. Cooper's old woman servant to-night, and says it is not because she is frightened to sleep alone, but because this servant is an old Christian and can teach her all night about Jesus.

There is a man who lives some four miles off this country meeting house who comes into the services on Sundays, but the good people there did not know of the work of grace that was silently going on in his heart and that and so to-night, just a little while before our prayer meeting, this man turned up; he said that the others had not sent to invite him to come, but he heard of their starting so he left to come here by another road. He had never been away from his home before, but inquiring the way as he went at last he arrived at the river bank outside the city. He tells us with great joy how the Lord helped him then, for, having asked where our place was, he was told that it was at the north gate, but that did not satisfy him (for how could a country man find the north gate in a big city like this), so he said that if some one would show him the way he would give them a few cash, and as there happened to be a man coming this way he arrived all right.

Oh! Mr. Colville, what can I write to impress the need of this great land on the readers of this letter, that they may say "Here am I Lord, send me," for at the same time as we rejoice to know of this little band of disciples in the midst of heathen darkness in a Chinese village; we know that there are thousands of large cities and towns containing millions of people who worship idols, and not one who worships God. And why? Because they do not love Him? No, but, because they do not know of Him.

I remain, yours sincerely,
F. G. SAUNDERS.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaendinger, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter, of Montreal, are in town to-day.

At London, where the annual convention of the Y.M.C.A. is being held, Mr. G. J. Early, Peterborough, was elected fourth vice-president.

Miss Annie Fawcett and Miss Kincaid, o Peterborough, who have been guests of Mrs. S. G. Parkin, Lindsay, for the past week, have returned home.

Mr. Thomas Blezard, M.P.P., East Peterborough, and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., West Peterborough, are in Toronto, attending to their duties in the Ontario Legislature which was formally opened on Thursday, Feb. 11th.

Dr. Butler, of Coldwater, the Post says, removed to Peterborough this week, where he will resume the practice of his profession. His principal object in leaving Coldwater is the education of his two children, who will attend the Collegiate Institute in that town.

Mr. Harry Heap, of Dundas & Flavelle Bros., returned Monday from Peterborough, where he had been called by the serious illness of his brother, Mr. Fred. K. Heap, classical master in the Collegiate Institute there. Many friends in Lindsay, the Post says, will be pleased to hear that he is now recovering.

News Nuggets.

—There was a blank at the police court this morning.

—On Wednesday night a very successful firemen's ball was held.

—Upper Canada College defeated Lindsay in a hockey match in that town last Saturday.

—On Grand Trunk time tables, on the Midland division, "Carmel" takes the place of "The Summit."

A Fine Roadster Dog.

Norman, son of Mr. William White, Bowmanville, has a thorough-bred Collie dog which bids fair to rival Willie Ketchum's famous dog "Doc." On Monday with Colie hitched to a small sleigh, he started for Oshawa to visit his uncle, Mr. Henry Gordon, arriving there before evening, and spent Tuesday with his friends. Yesterday he arrived at his grandfather's, Mr. Charles White, Englishtown, making the distance at the rate of about seven miles an hour. Norman is fifteen years of age and weighs one hundred and five pounds—a pretty heavy load for a dog. The animal seems as fresh to-day as if he had been at his ordinary duties. The rig and harness are all of Norman's own manufacture. The boy is a genius. He has also constructed a machine for churning with the dog.—Port Hope Guide.

A Cold Snap.

A north-west blizzard seems to have struck our town to-day, and the streets are almost deserted of pedestrians. At an early hour last night a north-west wind sprang up and turned the temperature. Signs, bill-boards and fences were blown down by the storm in different parts of the town. The thermometer registered 7° below zero.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Sarsaparilla. It had wrought wonders in the case of his wife. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

The Late T. J. Milligan.

The following from the Cobourg World refers to a brother of Mrs. P. Glover, Ashburnham, whose death at Smith's Falls, was recorded in Wednesday's Examiner:—

"The news of Mr. Milligan's death was received with heartfelt sorrow by his many old friends in West Northumberland. Born of Scottish parents, in the city of London, Eng., in 1832, he came with his father to Grafton when only 12 years of age. He began the business of life as a clerk in Taylor's general store. Also in Grafton he worked for Josias Gillard, and was a book keeper for Campbell & Pym. He was also a partner in the firm of Cameron & Milligan. Afterwards he acted as bookkeeper in Mann's hardware store in Cobourg. He next removed to Baltimore, where he went into business on his own account as a general storekeeper. He resided in that place upwards of 20 years, doing a large business and gaining the respect of everyone. He was an active member of the Presbyterian church and filled many offices of trust. In politics he was always a staunch, enthusiastic, hard working Liberal. He was married in early life to a daughter of the late Wm. Glover of Grafton, who died in 1872, leaving one son, Mr. Max G. Milligan of this town,—the only member of the family now surviving. The remains of the deceased were interred in Grafton on Saturday afternoon, having been accompanied from Smith's Falls by Mr. Percival, Worshipful Master of the Masonic Lodge, with which Mr. Milligan was connected. Mr. Max Milligan has the sympathy of many friends in the sudden bereavement that has left him an orphan in the world.

Peterborough Defeats Toronto Thursday in Victoria Rink.

Four rinks of Peterborough curlers at Victoria rink, Toronto, Thursday, met four city rinks, which resulted in a well-earned victory for Peterborough by 16 shots. The ice was in a very poor condition, being soft. Dr. Boucher played a grand game and several times during the match turned the points in favour of his own rink. The Peterborough curlers are delighted over their victory. The following is the score:—

Peterborough Plays at Port Hope and Cobourg.

The Peterborough Hockey Club went to Port Hope and Cobourg, Thursday and succeeded in defeating the Port Hope team by three straight games in about an hour's play, Walter Phelan scoring two games and H. Dumble one. The ice was not in a very good condition, it being an open rink. After defeating Port Hope, the Peterborough drove through the storm to Cobourg, where they were defeated by the local club. The Peterborough boys state that they were fatigued after their match with Port Hope, and were not in as good trim as they would have liked to have been. The two clubs played for about 30 minutes neither scoring a game. Ten minutes rest was taken and in the last twenty minutes Cobourg scored four games. The home team are loud in their praises of the treatment they received at the hands of the two clubs. The following is the Peterborough team:—W. J Montgomery, captain, and Messrs. Crofton, Roy, Dumble, Gammell, Bradburn, Phelan and Sawers. The Port Hope and Cobourg will play a return match on the home rink at an early date.

UNDER A MOVING CAR.

The Sensations Experienced When Face to Face With Death.

To fall under a running railroad train; to lie on the rail and see death in the shape of big wheels approaching one at the rate of fifteen miles or so an hour and only a few feet distant, is an experience not given to many to be able to relate. To drop off a slippery step and tumble onto the rail between the wheels of a sleeping-car and yet escape with only the loss of the flesh of one's heel is a feat not often successfully accomplished. Yet this was what happened to a well-known Canadian the other day.

"How did it happen? What were you thinking about?" he was asked the other day.

"Well," he replied, "I had no time to find out how it happened, but I do remember a good many things that I thought of while it was happening. Now it seems utterly impossible to me that such a flood of thoughts could flash through my brain and leave their individual and distinct impressions, as did in the almost immeasurably short space of time that I lay on the rail in front of those wheels. It is said that just at the moment of one's death the whole doings of a lifetime are held up for review in less time than it takes to wink one's eye. I can readily believe it. In less than a second I thought of the many railroad accidents of which I had read. It flashed through my mind that I had often seen men credited with willful negligence or reckless intention in allowing themselves to be killed or maimed, and there I was on the track, ready to furnish another illustration. Yes, sir; there I lay, flat on my back on the rail, and saw the wheels of the after truck of the car come rolling along, and only a few feet away. It almost seemed as if I felt them crushing and grinding my bones, yet I had, it seems, time to think also of how easily a fellow gets killed.

"I thought how foolish it was to accuse others of foolhardiness in getting run over while I myself was about to become a horrible example. I thought of how often I had 'let up lightly' engineers and conductors and helped to take the blame from them and put in on the fellow who got killed. But my greatest regret, in the time I had to think, was that I had so often adversely criticised the man who got run over.

"Strange as it may seem, however, these were not half my thoughts. I realized that I was yet alive, in the best of good health, every bone and limb sound, so to speak, and the next instant I would, I felt, be ground into pieces and my flesh and bones scattered over the railroad track. There was no power in the world to help me, so it seemed; not all that the engineers or conductors or brakemen could do would be of any avail. Then it flashed through my mind that I was on the brink of the other world and I had not even a chance to make one repentant prayer. I wondered what it would mean for me.

"While these ideas were flying through my mind I must have made some sort of an effort to escape. I have no knowledge of how I did it nor the least notion of how I accomplished it, but I did roll off the rail outward. The wheel caught my heel, though at first it seemed as if my foot was cut off above the ankle and I was powerless to move it. I managed to get on to my right foot and balance myself on that for a second, and get my thoughts together as to what I should next do. It has taken me ten or fifteen minutes to tell this thing, but it did not, I should judge, from the rate the train was going, take anything like a second of time for it all to happen.

"When I gained my feet, or rather my foot, I wondered why some men, who had been standing not far away when I made the jump, did not come to my assistance. Later on, when they were toting me around to see a surgeon, I heard the explanation. 'I turned away when I saw you under the the car, with the wheels almost on you,' said one man, 'and I was afraid to look around again and see you crushed, and felt sure you would be.'"

CHILI AND ITS PEOPLE.

SKETCH OF THE LAND THE UNITED STATES TALKED OF FIGHTING.

The Physical Features of the Country—Its Chief Cities, Climate, Resources, Customs and Society—Valparaiso and Its Mole—A Probable Consequence of War.

How far away is Chili? Chili is so far away from us that it costs $3 to telegraph one word from Chicago to Valparaiso or Santaigo, and another dollar to any other part of the country. Inasmuch as cable lines charge for addresses and signature as well as for the message itself, few telegrams are exchanged between that country and this. Chili itself is well supplied with telegraph lines. From the southern extremity of the country, which is not far from "the end of the world," up to the Peruvian border there are lines frequently duplicated by land and water. Much of the coast is cliffy and uninhabited and the cordillera or long, low, irregular mountain ranges that intervene between the fertile valleys and the sea are too difficult of ascent and penetration for even the hardy builders of telegraphs. Between some points the wires are submerged.

Chili is most compactly described as a long stocking-like strip of land, with stunted foot and a rather wide knee top. The seacoast exceeds 1,600 miles, and is indented by many shallow and a few deep harbors. It is dangerous by reason of sands and rocks, and most of the bays that might give a ship shelter from the fury of an ocean storm lead into sterile pockets of low mountains, where neither man nor beast can live. The country rises in terraced plains and valleys from the sea cordillera at the front to the vast wall of the Andes at the back, the width from sea to mountain varying from forty to 200 miles, the country, especially toward the south, being uneven and in all parts bearing traces of volcanic formation. It has three distinct climates—a northern, a southern and a middle. The north (mineral) is hot, the middle (agriculture) is moderate, the southern (pasture) is cold. Sea and mountains equally affect its climatic conditions, while the sands of the many great stretches of half-explored plains over which rain rarely or never falls, render life difficult and death easy. Population is ten to the square mile, with a total of 3,000,000.

SUMMER IN WINTER.

It makes great difference what time of year you arrive in the commercial metropolis of Chili. When the snows are heaviest in Chicago the flowers are abloom in Chili. When autumn brings in the yellow and russet on our northern trees it is spring in Chili. When the raw winds of March sweep up our lakes and the relaxing finger of April opens the straits and lets forth the grain fleet it is autumn in Chili—that is, in the latitude of the southern Andes. Spring begins in September, summer in December, autumn in March and winter in June. The country is in part tropical, in part antarctic. Snow lies forever on some summits of the mountains, flowers bloom forever in some of its sheltered vales. Rain also falls by extremes. At Magellan Straits it is so excessive that crops frequently fail to ripen; in the far north where the nitrate beds lie it is so rare that distillation is necessary and irrigation in the agricultural region is essential; in the mid-plains it falls moderately in winter, that is June, July and August.

There are only two winds, northerly and southerly, the former during the Chilian winter, the latter during our winter.

THE SOIL.

The fertile parts of the country produce everything known to the vegetable world; the mineral lands nearly all minerals. Nature seems to have tried to epitomize herself in Chili and see how many different feats she could accomplish in the smallest latitudinal room.

VALPARAISO.

Valparaiso and Santiago, which is 110 miles or five hours by rail from the port, possess most of the natural advantages of soil and climate. "Valparaiso" means "vale of paradise." It is supposed to have been given by tempest-tossed voyagers, who, escaping from the Pacific, which is the least peaceful of oceans, suddenly found themselves in a beautiful natural semicircle of water washing the bronze toes of a group of gold and violet hills. All artists who have been in Chili find words inadequate to describe the loveliness of its aerial coloring, violet, the note of the impressionist, dominating mountains, plains and seacoast. The town itself is typical of every South American city. The white stone mansion has for neighbor the dobe hovel. In its fine public square the unclean beggar sits all day amid wares of small merchants, curious mountain aborigines in blankets, gorgeously mounted aristocratic gentlemen from adjacent haciendas, pretty girls out with bonnes or driving with elderly chaperones and impudent cads in smart Paris or London clothes staring out of countenance everybody worth looking at. The city life is a strange mixture of Spanish, French and English. Spanish, with many Indian words for simple and natural things, is the language of the common people; English that of trade and commerce in the large, French that of polite and refined society. There is much respect for externals and conventionalities of the catholic religion. As to morals travelers of all kinds and various degrees of opportunity for observation and information do not differ materially. Probably the South American cities trade with old European capitals and the City of Mexico; there is in the new world communities a blending of traditional paganism with the picturesqueness and vivacity of Latin christianity, and life is not too austerely bounded.

The harbor of Valparaiso is eagerly waited for by voyagers round the cape. That is probably the stormiest bit of sea in all

Growth of Trade and Population.

The Ministers of Finance professes to be satisfied with the increase which has taken place in Canada's foreign trade. The fact is that after a series of movements, sometime progressive and sometimes retrogressive, our foreign trade has got back to the position which it occupied in 1873 and 1874. In 1873 it was $217 801,203; in 1874, $217,565,510; in 1890, $218 607,339; in 1891, $218,384,934. "It has varied," says Mr. George C. Gibbons, of London, "from year to year according to the character of our crop. When that was bountiful it went up, when poor, down." Mr. Gibbons points out that in the same period the foreign trade of the United States since 1870 has increased from $913,000,000 to $1,613,000 000, or 76 per cent.; Mexico has increased $23,000,000, or 26 per cent.; Central America 39 per cent.; the West Indies $85 000,000, or 36 per cent. The South American countries show an increase of $296,405,645, or 90 per cent. The growth of our population is equally discouraging. Ontario has increased 186,000 in ten years. Mr. Gibbons compares it with the increase in the following States:

Michigan	453 000
Ohio	468 000
Kansas	427,000
Minnesota	520,000
Massachusetts	450 000
Nebraska	604 000
New York	996,000
Pennsylvania	966,000

The London Free Press accounts for the greater increase in the United States by saying that they have a dozen Ontarios and we only one.

Reciprocity would give us free trade with that dozen of Ontarios.

Of the Labon Medical Company is now at Toronto, Canada, and may be consulted either in person or by letter on all chronic diseases peculiar to men. Men, young, old or middle-aged, who find themselves nervous, weak and exhausted, who are broken down from excess or overwork, resulting in many of the following symptoms: Mental depression, premature old age, loss of memory, bad dreams, dimness of sight, palpitation of the heart, emissions, lack of energy, pain in the kidneys, headache, pimples on the face or body, itching or peculiar sensations about the scrotum, wasting of the organs, dizziness, specks before the eyes, twitching of the muscles, eyelids and elsewhere, bashfulness, deposits in the urine, loss of will power, tenderness of the scalp and spine, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep, failure to be rested by sleep, constipation, dullness of hearing, loss of voice, desire for solitude, excitability of temper, sunken eyes surrounded with leaden circle, oily looking skin, etc., are all symptoms of nervous debility that lead to insanity and death unless cured. The spring or vital force having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequences. Those who through abuse committed in ignorance may be permanently cured. Send your address for book on all diseases peculiar to man. Books sent free sealed. Heart disease, the symptoms of which are faint spells, purple lips, numbness, palpitation, skip beats, hot flushes, rush of blood to the head, dull pain in the heart with beats strong, rapid and irregular, the second heart beat quicker than the first, pain about the breast bone, etc., can positively be cured. No cure, no pay. Send for book. Address M. V. Lubon, 24 Macdonell ave., Toronto, Canada.

A General Overcome.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Pale, Weak Women need a tonic, strength giving flesh building medicine like Milburn's Beef, Iron and Wine.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1 dw

From the Jaws of Death.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have ailed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital, in Kingston, Ont. In big bottles, 50c, and $1. At Peterborough drug stores. dw

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them. dw

Attacked by an Enemy.

Dear Sirs,—About a year ago I had a very bad attack of dyspepsia. For nearly four months I never ate a meal without suffering pain after. I got so weak I could scarcely walk, when one day I saw an advertisement for B.B.B. and thought I would try a bottle. Four bottles cured me completely, and I am now strong and healthy.

Miss Janet Stuart, Muskoka Falls, Ont.

Five To One.

Dear Sirs,—Last winter I had five large boils on my neck and was advised to use B.B.B. Before I had finished the first bottle I was completely well and think B.B.B. cannot be excelled as a blood purifier.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used Relieved in your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never Two Days. without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. Constipation While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken Life of Misery with judgment. A. M. CHILI AND ITS PEOPLE.

oceans. Relief from its incessant turbulence is found the more welcome because of the suddenness of its discovery and breadth of its gate. The harbor itself is safe ten months in the year. There is no breakwater, and during our midsummer when the northern winds are over Chili, vessels are frequently compelled to go outside to escape being dashed on the rocks or lifted on the sands. There are no American steamships to Valparaiso; the American flag, carried only by sail, is rare in that port except when at the mast top of a gunboat. The town is ruled by Chilian pride and English shopkeepers. It was once far greater than it is now in its own esteem, and that is saying a great deal. This was during the rush for the California gold fields, before Panama afforded the short railroad cut or Pacific railways were completed.

DESCRIPTION OF VALPARAISO.

There is only one business street in Valparaiso, and that bears a name dear to both the Chilian and English heart—the Calle Victoria. On it are all the banks, hotels, wholesale houses, principal retail resorts, the government buildings and the fine private residences. It forms a hoop around the crescent of the harbor. A battery on an American war ship would inflict on its sweeping curve deadly harm that would strike in an hour an almost fatal blow at everything in the city. The tendency has been increasing of late to build farther up and back against the cliff sides, the zigzag streets being goat paths, the distances shortened in many instances by inclined railroads like those at Clifton and Niagara Falls and numerous points in the mountains of Switzerland. Indeed, Chili has been compared to northern Italy, so like the moderate ascent of the Alps are many of its mountains on which towns have endeavored to fasten roots. Modern devices are in grotesque familiarity with antiquated and primitive usages in Valparaiso and Santiago. Electric lights serve only to make more hideous filth and garbage. Pretentious statuary in parks gain no charm by offensive sights at their bases. Social life is brilliant and boisterous, vice is unabashed, drunkenness prevalent and the population of 125,000 as thoroughly mixed and as easily excited into impropriety as that of any other too wealthy seaboard town dependent altogether upon commerce for its vivacity.

VALPARAISO.

The street cars are double-deckers and the conductors are women. In most Latin countries women are not permitted to engage in profitable occupations. In Mexico and most of the South American countries men perform the duties of chambermaids. But the war with Peru called off the men from those "getting out of the cradle to those falling into the grave," and as street cars had to be run it was necessary to let the women run them. The experiment is said to be entirely successful.

SANTIAGO.

The capital of Chili is happily described by Theodore Child in his delightful volume recently published, "Spanish American Republics." He pronounces Santiago "the Paris of Chili, to which all Chilian eyes are turned, and to which all Chilian fortunes sooner or later find their way. This fact is manifested by the number and splendor of the private houses, the great quantity of private carriages and the animation of the elegant and leisured movement of the streets. Santiago, with its steeples and towers and its wooded hill of Santa Lucia, lies toward one end of a broad plain hemmed in by mountains which are always visible closing the perspective of the streets and rising in grand silhouettes, even more beautiful in winter than in summer, for then the mountains are covered with a mantle of snow which reaches within a few meters of the plain and there ceases in a sharp line marking the limit of the temperate air. The climate is delightful; rain falls only during the four winter months, the mean temperature is 70 degrees Fahrenheit in summer and 52 degrees Fahrenheit in winter, day after day for weeks together the thermometer scarcely varies, the sun shines in a clear sky with a constancy that conduces to filling the soul with placidity and contentment." The plaza or public square is the starting point of all vehicles, the site of the archbishop's palace, the cathedral, the town hall, the postoffice, in which women are clerks. It is the business center by day, the promenade by night.

SOCIAL TESTS.

In Santiago social tests differ essentially from those of any other city of corresponding age or pretension. In London wealth is not as necessary as attested grade; intellectual or moral standards vary. In Paris the intellectual is paramount; be you rich or poor, if dull you cannot enter in; whether virtuous or depraved, if bright enter and be welcome. In Santiago there is the uncertainty of riches that depend on vessels at sea and shylocks on land, on water rats and usurers in London; for England [illegible] Santiago under mortgages of many kinds, and many a commercial agent in Santiago who would not be permitted to see the inner door of his principal's private office in London, much less the table of his country house; exercises over the Chilian debtor to that principal a social compulsion that is unique. All nationalities are welcome in Santiago except the North American. Gambling, drinking, profligacy peculiar to all large and wealthy cities, balls, dinners, constitute regular incidents in the leisure of the aristocracy, while the common people are content with cocking mains, racing, running matches, prize fights, public and promiscuous dancing like that in Paris on national feast nights in the streets and in Mexico every night in the week, where sawdust and music, with plenty of wine or stronger drink, may be had.

A PROBABLE CONSEQUENCE OF WAR.

It is not at all improbable that if an American army shall go to Chili a large proportion of the men, especially the unmarried ones, would remain in the country. The climate is perfectly suitable; there is practically no limit to the manufactures that American ingenuity would set up with little capital or with labor only, for the lands of the country are sparsely occupied and the greatest inducements are held out to immigrants—inducements not always truthfully presented. Wherever English can thrive Americans can live. In twenty-five years American thrift, pluck and enterprise would have control of a great part of the commercial interests now monopolized by England. The rush to Oklahoma, exhaustion of our public lands, disappointment in the climate and soil of some of the new states, all indicate that if the path of colonization were opened in a new direction there would be an animated disposition to try it. We should not want political connection in the Latin Americas. It would be a good thing for the Latin Americas to get a large infusion of cool and honest North American blood.—Chicago Herald.

It is a pleasure for me to say good words in favor of Anti-Dandruff, as its merits cannot be questioned. In my own case, Dandruff not only made itself known by appearance in more than liberal quantities from which I could not obtain relief, but its continued presence and increasing formation caused falling of the hair. My barber spoke highly of Anti-Dandruff. I used it, and not only has every trace of Dandruff disappeared but the falling of the hair has stopped. Having full faith in the preparation I not only endorse it for the above but further add that as a fine dressing for the hair nothing equals it.

CONSUMPTION

Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 14th, 1888.

I have used your Emulsion in a case of Phthisis (consumption) with beneficial results, where patient could not use Cod Liver Oil in any form.
J. H. DROGE, M. D.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 20th, 1888.

I can strongly recommend Flax Seed Emulsion as helpful to the relief and possibly the cure of all Lung, Bronchial and Nervous Affections, and a good general tonic in physical debility.
JOHN F. TALMAGE, M. D.

GENERAL DEBILITY

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 28th, 1888.

I regard Flax Seed Emulsion as greatly superior to the Cod Liver Oil Emulsions so generally in use.

THE SIX BYE-ELECTIONS.

RESULT OF THE VOTING IN ONTARIO YESTERDAY.

East Bruce, North and South Victoria, Halifax, East Middlesex Carried by the Government and Peel by the Opposition — The Figures Contrasted With the Returns of Last March.

WALKERTON, Feb. 12.—Henry Cargill (Con.), the former member for East Bruce, who was defeated by Reuben Truax (Lib.) last March, carried the constituency against the same candidate to-day. The battle was one of the keenest of the bye-elections. The majorities:

	Cargill.	Truax.
Walkerton	82	..
Greenock	148	..
Brant	39	..
Carrick	..	133
Culross	..	109
Teeswater	..	21
Totals	269	256

Majority for Cargiel, 13. Truax's majority at the general election, 114.

NORTH VICTORIA.

Sam Hughes Wrests the Seat from Mr. Barron.

FENELON FALLS, Feb. 12.—In North Victoria there were no special reasons for expecting the defeat of Mr. Barron, the Liberal, who had twice been elected. His majority at the general was 202, Mr. Samuel Hughes being his opponent. North Victoria is a Conservative county; but for some years divisions and bickerings and personal aspirations disturbed the usual harmony of Government supporters. However, Mr. Hughes surprised both friends and opponents by carrying the constituency by a respectable majority. The majorities:

	Hughes.	Barron.
Fenelon Township	..	67
Somerville	57	..
Bexley	73	..
Snowdon	..	11
Lutterworth	..	11
Carden	..	48
Woodville	..	20
Eldon	98	..
Conway	..	7
Anson and Minden	20	..
Laxton	63	..
Galway	..	68
Digby and Longford	34	..
Fenelon Falls	8	..
	353	223

Majority for Hughes 120, with places to hear from which will increase it to 150.

SOUTH VICTORIA.

A Conservative Majority of 35 Increased to Over 300.

LINDSAY, Feb. 12.—The election in South Victoria resulted as was expected in favor of the unseated member, Charles Fairbairn, but by an increased majority. The majorities:

	Fairbairn.	Walters.
Ops township	..	26
Emily and Omemee	164	..
Bobcaygeon	102	..
Lindsay	64	..
Mariposa	..	197
Verulam	136	..
Totals	466	223

Majority for Fairbairn 243, with two places to hear from which may reduce the majority by about 40. Mr. Fairbairn's majority last March was 25.

PEEL.

The Former Liberal Member Increases His Majority.

BRAMPTON, Feb. 14.—The election in Peel yesterday resulted in the re-election of Joseph Featherstone (Lib.) by an increased majority. The majorities:

	Featherstone.	Jackson
Brampton	..	64
Chinguacousy:
Norton's Corners	13	..
Mayfield	26	..
Sandhill	16	..
Huttonville	..	29
Alloa	39	..
Cheltenham	57	..
Westervelt's	41	..
Victoria	20	..
Toronto Township:
Port Credit	..	18
Springfield	..	6
Cooksville	..	11
Dixie	33	..
Harris' Corners	..	41
Meadowvale	..	4
Palestine	3	..
Malton	24	..
Clarkson	44	..
Streetsville	..	60
Toronto Gore:
Grahamsville	43	..
Castlemore	9	..
Totals	367	283

Majority for Featherstone 134. Mr. Featherstone's majority at the general election was 54.

EAST MIDDLESEX.

Marshall's Majority in East Middlesex Between 500 and 600.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—In East Middlesex the election of the unseated member, Mr. J. Marshall, was a foregone conclusion. His opponent was Mr. George Taylor, a disaffected Conservative The majorities:

	Marshall.	Taylor.
London township	289	..
South Dorchester	3	..
North Dorchester	83	..
London West	156	..
Springfield	..	29
West Nissouri	..	72
London East	48	..
Totals	578	51

Majority for Marshall 527 with five subdivisions to hear from, which may reduce it by 50. Mr. Marshall's majority at the general election was 155 against the same candidate.

HALIFAX.

Partials Returns Indicate the Return of the Conservative Candidates.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 12.—Stairs and Kenny, the Conservative candidates, have 500 majority in Halifax and Dartmouth. Only portions of the county have been heard from as yet, but full returns will not likely change the result materially. The vote polled was away below that of March last, when Kenny had 1100 majority and Stairs 939.

Full returns are not looked for till to-morrow night as a heavy blizzard is raging and the roads are all blocked.

CARLING IS ILL.

Carling Too Ill to Take Any Part in the Contest.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—It is now most unlikely that Hon. Mr. Carling will be able to speak during the current campaign, owing to the throat affection which has confined him to his room for so many days. For the same reason Mr. Carling will not be able to do any personal canvassing in this campaign. His physician absolutely prohibits any outdoor work or public speaking. So that he will suffer that disadvantage as against his opponent.

SEATS NOW OPEN.

Of the constituencies now vacant, but 4 were held by Conservatives and 18 by Liberals, as follows:

Conservative.	Liberal.
Brome.	Montmorency.
Bagot.	Rouville.
Montcalm.	Vaudreuil.
East Elgin.—4.	L'Assomption.
	Maskinonge.
	Montmagny.
	Pontiac.
	Digby, N.S.
	King's, N.S.
	West Northumberl'd.
	South Perth.
	Welland.
	West Huron.
	Prescott.
	South Ontario.
	Monck.
	London.
	East Hastings.—18.

East Elgin election takes place to-day, and Digby and King's, N.S., to-morrow.

Mr. Miscampbell Improving.

BARRIE, Feb. 12.—Mr. A. Miscampbell, M.L.A., has left his father's residence, Allandale, for his home in Midland. He has been under the care of Dr. Wallwin of this town for some time. He is still under his physician's care, who thinks his patient may be able to get around in the course of about three weeks.

Rory McLennan Very Ill.

CORNWALL, Ont., Feb. 12.—Major R. R. McLennan, M.P. for Glengarry, is still very ill at the Rossmore House. The doctors have given orders that no one be allowed to see him. His condition, however, is somewhat improved since morning.

Another Protest in Prince Edward.

KINGSTON, Feb. 12.—It is stated that it has already been decided to endeavor to unseat A. G. Miller, M.P. for Prince Edward, for corruption. The Picton Times says $12,000 was spent in carrying the election.

Pelletier and the Widow.

QUEBEC, Feb. 12.—Hon. L. P. Pelletier has instituted an action for $199.99 damages against Widow Larochelle in connection with the recent charges made against Mr. Pelletier by the defendant.

The Count is Confident.

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—Count Mercier, who looks considerably aged and careworn, was asked yesterday as to the prospects for the re-election of his party: "I am as sure as any man can be before he gets there," replied the Count, "that I will have a majority behind me when the elections are over."

The First to Arrive.

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—Dr. Hugh Cameron, M.P. for Inverness, N.S., is the first of the Maritime members to arrive for the session.

The Way of the Transgressor.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 12.—Bert Smith, arrested in Toronto after serving a term for bigamy, was tried for embezzlement this afternoon and acquitted. He was afterward re-arrested on a charge of larceny committed at St. Thomas two years ago.

A Wealthy Bride of 91 Years.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A strange marriage has just been announced. The bride was Eliza A. Clark of Danbury, Conn., aged 91 years, and the possessor of a fortune of about $400,000. Marvin D. Hubbell, the groom, is only 29.

NEW BRUNSWICK FINANCES.

They Are in a Very Bad Shape—A Business Tax Suggested.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 12.—Premier Blair addressed a public meeting at Sussex last night on the provincial finances. He admitted a deficit for the past year of between $60,000 and $70,000. He now proposes to make the revenue meet the expenditure by levying a tax on banks, insurance, telegraph and telephone companies and kindred organizations. This announcement is possibly put out as a feeler. It has created considerable excitement in business circles. The provincial finances are in a bad way, Mr. Blair frankly saying last night that the interest on the debt of New Brunswick had increased from $45,000 in 1882 to $103,000 at the present time. Mr. Blair flatly contradicted the reports that he intended to dissolve the House and forsake provincial politics for the Dominion arena.

Behring Sea Commission.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Behring Sea Joint Commission met at the State Department yesterday for the first time for business. Nothing could be learned of the proceedings, as an agreement has been reached that they shall be regarded as confidential until the commission is ready to report. The meeting lasted a little over an hour.

Typhus Fever in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Thirty-six cases of typhus fever were discovered yesterday by inspectors of the health department of this city. Fifteen cases were discovered in the building occupied by the United Hebrew Charity Association in East Twelfth-street. The victims are men, women and children. The places were fumigated and the people removed to North Brother Island. This is the same as the hunger typhus fever of Russia. It is said to be the worst of all fevers.

Penetang's Poobah.

PENETANGUISHENE, Feb. 12.—No trace has been obtained of Mr. H. J. Jennings, who left for parts unknown almost two weeks ago. He was town clerk and treasurer, treasurer for the School Board, Division Court clerk, express agent, telephone agent and represented a number of insurance companies.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

Another Electrical Evening

At the Collegiate Institute—The Principal on Applied Electricity—A Fair Attendance—An Instructive Talk on Electricity at Work.

Last night there was a fair attendance of pupils and friends at the Collegiate Institute in the assembly room, to listen to the third of the series of lectures given by the staff under the auspices of the Literary Society. In addition to the lecture itself there was a very pleasing musical programme, which was opened by Miss Lottie Smith performing a very creditable pianoforte solo. This was followed by a well-sung vocal quartette by Misses Hall and Wrighton and Messrs. Drope and Hutchins.

Then followed the treat of the evening when Mr. Principal Fessenden treated on electricity at work. He began by saying that after the discovery of the effects of the electrical current upon the compass needle and upon a piece of soft iron, converting it into a magnet, its application to long distance signalling was thought of, but it was many years before this idea was practically applied in telegraphy, and it was explained how the difficulty of transmitting the electric current effectually was overcome by Henry's coil of wire, which made a comparatively weak current effective. In ocean telegraphy, the difficulty of transmitting the current through a long stretch of wire, as well as the conductive character of the element in which it lay, was overcome by using instruments extremely sensitive to electric influences. After the electric telegraph came into use, it was found necessary to discover the point of break in a line. The manner of doing this was explained and illustrated by the lecturer. The resistance to the electric current is proportionate to the length of the conducting medium. Thus if the ratio of resistance, as shown by the galvanometer of a known length of wire or cable, to the ratio of resistance of an uncertain length of broken wire or cable is ascertained by means of a simple apparatus called a "bridge," the length of wire between the station and the break can be very closely approximated. Mr. Fessenden tried the experiment and succeeded amidst great applause, in determining the length of a piece of wire of previously unknown length, to the inch. The principle of the telephone was explained by showing that a vibration, imparted to a delicate disc would produce a sound, the pitch of which was dependent upon the rapidity of the vibration, and that one disc electrically connected with another distant one and vibrated by the voice, would produce the same vibrations and consequently the same tones of the voice in the distal disc, the two being respectively the transmitting and receiving discs. It was stated that many of the practical applications of electricity were known as possible for a long time, but their use delayed till invention made them of practicable cheapness. An instance was the modern dynamo whose essential principle depended upon the movement of a closed circuit of electricity in the neighborhood of a magnet, which developed a continuous and transmissable electric current. Mr Fessenden showed and explained the mode of operation of the dynamo,—an ingenious minature instrument of his own construction, producing not only an electric light but also showing how mechanical energy produced the electrical current and how this in turn might be and was used to create mechanical force,—the principle of the electric motor which was one of the most important facts in electrical science—the electric motor being used to drive machinery, propelling street cars etc. The effect of the electric current in passing through a chemical solution was shown by passing the current through a solution of sulphate of copper. A plate of platinum placed at the point of exit, was coated with a film of the separated copper, an illustration of the manner in which electricity is applied to the industry of electro-plating. The lecture throughout was illustrated by practical demonstrations of the several uses to which electricity is applied, and was most entertaining, as well as instructive.

At the close of the lecture, Mr. Dumble in a few commendatory sentences as to the pleasure and instruction he had derived from this and other lectures of the series, moved a vote of thanks to the members of the staff, which was seconded by Mr. G. A. Smith, supported in a brief speech by Dr. Fife and unanimously and heartily carried.

A heartily encored autoharp and harmonium duet by Mr. Corbis, a selection by the glee club and 'God Save the Queen," brought a decidedly pleasant and profitable evening's entertainment to a close.

Our People Value It Highly!

It can be affirmed with pride and pleasure, that real and genuine worth and merit have made the great reputation that Paine's Celery Compound now enjoys. Its magnificent results in the past have firmly established it in the estimation of our people.

Notices of Motion.

Mr. Whitney—A bill to amend the Ontario Election Act.

Mr. Balfour—Bill to amend the Municipal Act.

The above business occupied but a few minutes, and little interest was taken in the proceedings by the few spectators present.

WED TO A CHINAMAN.

The Sad Story of a Pretty Cambridge Girl Only 22 Years Old.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—In a pretty thoroughfare in Cambridge, Mass., was born, a little over 22 years ago, a baby of wonderous beauty.

A dark day came to the previously happy home soon after the advent of Lizzie Tale. A deadly disease seized the mother and carried her off.

Soon after the death of his wife the father took to drinking and suddenly left for parts unknown.

Kind neighbors took charge of little Lizzie, though, and for ten years she was cared for, clothed and sent to school.

Soon the child, pretty, fragile and extremely sensitive by nature, began to hear the current gossip among the neighbors of her queer birth and dependence.

The rest is soon told. Lizzie went the long way where many another unguarded girl has gone. She drifted about the city from post to pillar.

From a number of Chinamen, whose acquaintance she formed, she soon learned to smoke the soul-destroying opium. But even this was not strong enough for her, and she finally drifted to this city, having been sent here by a Chinaman in Boston.

Upon her arrival here, now three years ago, Lizzie's pretty face and still pleasant ways soon gained her an abode in crime-laden, sickening, sin-infested Mulberry Bend. For two years past, at almost any hour, on a clear night, wanderers through this byway might have seen Lizzie standing on a street corner with one of the groups of Chinamen.

About two years ago it became a fad of the Chinamen to have American wives. She had many suitors. Wrong Lee, Yank Lin, Lee Hing and many other Celestials each besought her to marry them.

Lizzie finally with a desparate laugh, selected Lee Hing. Lee was a large, fairly good-looking Chinaman, had several nice "lay-outs" and some money stored away. She was in great luck, the other Chinamen's wives said. She could smoke to her heart's content, and she could have a glass of white wine whenever she liked, in fact she was in great luck.

Thus Lizzie lived until last Saturday, when her brain gave way momentarily, and in a fit of rage she hurled several dishes and stove lids at her spouse, which so frightened the Mongolian that he ran, yelling murder, to the street.

A reporter visited him late last night at his residence in Mott-street. Hing is a Chinaman of the worst possible type, with a marvelous talent for lying, discounting by far any art Ananias ever illustrated. His rooms are well furnished, and the reporter thought he saw indications of Lizzie's handiwork in the ornamentation about the Chinese home.

A dozen pipes and all the necessary accompaniments plainly showed what the business of the place was. Hing declined to say anything further than to acknowledge that his wife had tried to kill him with a stove lid.

The ambulance took Lizzie to Bellevue Hospital. Her wild recklessness and odd mannerisms induced the surgeon to put her in the insane pavilion. She was transferred to the alcoholic ward, where the reporter found her and gleaned the history recounted above.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS.

RECIPROCITY AND BEHRING SEA COMMISSIONERS.

The Duty on Canadian Barley Will Be Reduced From Thirty to Ten Cents per Bushel in Response to the Demands of the Buffalo and Oswego Brewers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—There is practical unanimity among the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee in favor of the bill of Representative Fitch of New York reducing the duty on barley and hops and there is little doubt this measure will be favorably reported to the House.

At to-day's meeting of the Democratic members of the committee Representatives Lockwood and Fitch made an extended argument in favor of the bill and maintained that the malting interests of the country are being seriously impaired by the operations of the McKinley bill. These gentlemen contended that it was shown by figures and acknowledged by the interests affected throughout the country that the present duty is so excessive that it practically prohibits the importation of Canadian barley into this country. Instead of the 12,000,000 bushels that was imported prior to the passage of the McKinley bill there has been imported during the past year less than 3,000,000 bushels. The bill, they say, had worked the destruction of the malting interests all over the state of New York and throughout the country generally.

The same kind of malt, it was said, cannot be made out of American barley as can be made out of Canadian barley, the former being of an inferior quality. The Canadian barley when brought to this country was mixed with the best grades of American barley and thus created a greater demand for American barley than has been found to exist since the importation of Canadian barley has been stopped. The price of American barley, the speaker stated, instead of advancing, as prophesied by the advocates of the McKinley Bill, has constantly gone down since that law went into effect.

The price of Canadian barley, on the other hand, has remained substantially the same.

These gentlemen also contended that there are no interests in the country that would be adversely affected by the placing the duty the same as it stood before the passage of the McKinley law. The interests affected now are important and various, for according to the argument of the New York Congressmen the present duty affects not only the importers of barley, but also the maltsters and brewers. It also tends to produce an inferior quality of beer and further affects the elevator and transportation interests of the country adversely instead of beneficially.

So far as the Democratic members are concerned there appeared no opposition to Mr. Fitch's bill, and the New York congressmen hope to have it reported favorably at an early day.

The bill introduced by Mr. Fitch amends the McKinley law so as to make the duty on barley 10 cents per bushel of 48 pounds, on barley malt 20 cents per bushel of 34 pounds and on hops 8 cents per pound.

The Behring Sea joint commission has adjourned until to-morrow, when it is expected that the reports prepared by the representatives of Great Britain and the United States will be submitted for consideration.

It is expected that Lord Salisbury will act on the arbitration treaty next week and that the matter will then be submitted to the senate without delay. It is thought the modus vivendi of last year will be renewed in time to anticipate the departure of the sealing fleet. The arbitrators will not be appointed until the treaty shall have been ratified. Hon. E. J. Phelps, ex-minister to England, has been selected as leading counsel for the United States before the proposed tribunal. He will have two or three assistants.

The Canadian reciprocity commissioners had another conference with Secretary Blaine and Gen. Foster to-day. Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister, attended to-day's conference.

Acting Secretary Spalding has issued a circular to customs officers calling for a more stringent enforcement of the McKinley Tariff Act in the marking of imported merchandise.

The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee held another conference to-day on the Springer Wool bill, but it ended without an agreement being reached.

The Senate Committee on Agriculture to-day agreed to report a bill authorizing the committee to make a general investigation of the present condition of agriculture in the United States, the present prices of agricultural products and if there be any of which the prices are depressed, the causes of such depression and the remedies therefor.

Terrible Tales From Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—A despatch from Penza, capital of the government of that name, in the southwestern part of what is known as Great Russia, is published in The Chronicle yesterday. The despatch says the thermometer registered 58 degrees below zero, and that there is terrible suffering among the peasants. A number of men have been frozen to death on the high roads, and so intensely cold is it that birds drop dead from the trees in which they have sought shelter. The peasants have smallpox and diphtheria. Around Penza 200 peasants have died from these diseases.

A STABLE FINANCIAL INSTITUTION.

In another column will be found the proceedings of the eighth annual meeting of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company. The year covered by the report has been a very successful one. The invested funds, amounting to $3 163 873, and surplus funds of $220,000, at the end of the eighth year of the company's operation argues energetic management, while the satisfactory nature of the securities is shown by the fact of so very small an amount of interest being unpaid, a circumstance which indicates the prudent system which accompanies the aggressive financial policy of the company. The stability thus assured to investors in supplemented by the fact that two half-yearly dividends of six per cent. have been chucked out by shareholders. The large and constantly increasing assets of the company and its strong reserve fund command it to the investing public, while the fair and liberal treatment of borrowers commend the company to those who wish to raise money on equitable and easy terms of loan as well as repayment.

Cut in Two by a Locomotive.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 13.—A terrible accident occurred at Cameron, near this city, last night, in which two beautiful young girls, daughters of William Criswell, a wealthy citizen, lost their lives, one of them while heroically attempting to save the other. Essie and Georgina Criswell, aged 14 and 16 respectively, were walking along the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, and while attempting to cross in front of a westbound train, Essie fell when the engine was almost upon her. Geroginа, seeing her sister's danger, and ignoring the fact that the attempt was almost certain death, rushed to her rescue. She, too, stumbled, and was struck by the locomotive and killed. Essie was cut in two by the wheels.

After the Grip

Convalescence is very slow, and to recover the health tone a good tonic is absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used with wonderful success as a building-up medicine and blood purifier after attacks of the grip, after Typhoid Fever, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia or other prostrating diseases. It possesses just the building-up effect so much needed; it vitalizes and enriches the thin and impoverished blood, and it invigorates the kidneys and stimulates the liver so that they resume regular and healthy action. Thousands of people have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla as a preventive of the grip with success. Thousands have found in it restoration to health and strength after this dreaded complaint. For instance, Mr. Jacob Kemp, of Tipton, Iowa, a well known business man, says he had the grip twice, leaving him very weak and with a bad cough. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave him a splendid appetite, made him feel as strong and well as ever.

Murder no Bar to Insurance.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 12.—In a suit by Mr. Carson to recover $5000 from the American Accident Insurance Company, that being the sum for which Carson's son, who was murdered, was insured, the company held that it was not responsible because the son was killed intentionally. The court overruled that objection and the father will get the money.

The King of Fan Tan Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—The king of fan tan is dead and great is yesterday throughout the Chinese quarter. Sixty-three years was his age; his name was Lee Chung You, though he was better known as Ah You. He was possessed of many thousands of dollars, three wives, three children and interested in various commercial enterprises and gambling ventures. He was prince of Chinese gamblers.

Killed by a Nail in His Shoe.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 12.—Aaron M. Binder, a soldier of the late war and a pensioner, died here this evening, aged 57 years, of traumatic tetanus (lockjaw), resulting from a nail in his shoe penetrating his foot. Deceased was a brother of W. J. Binder, editor of The Pottstown Ledger. He served three years in the late war and was in Sherman's march to the sea.

I AM A MAN

"I have been treated by doctors, who had long lists of so-called cured patients, but they could not reach my case, and hope had been murdered in me by fair promises, but on first application of your magical appliance, hope and confidence came flocking in stronger than the combined powers of the four winds. I knew then that you would cure me, and now that I am a man and well again, I cannot thank you sufficiently for the cure. So again I say, use my name as reference whenever you wish. You nor any one else cannot use words too strong to express my sentiments in favor of so wonderful a treatment as that given by you."

"I was a Stranger and Ye Took Me In."

A Grand Work Being Done in One of Montreal's Noble Institutions.

The Inmates are Joyously Excited Over Recent Events—The Officers Give Testimony.

Montrealers are proud of some of their noble institutions, which are generously supported from year to year by the citizens generally. Many of the educational and charitable institutions are amply provided for; and the public hospitals are conducted in a manner that reflects credit on the metropolitan city.

It is not our intention at this time to write up, in a general way, these public institutions, but merely to call attention to one, which, in a quiet and unostentatious way, is doing a vast amount of good amongst the poor, friendless and aged Protestants of Montreal; we now refer to the Montreal Protestant House of Industry and Refuge, situated at League Point, just on the outskirts of the city. Owing to the hearty and united efforts of the Protestants of Montreal, they are now the possessors of a magnificent building, thoroughly equipped and furnished, and of such dimensions as to fully provide the very best accommodation and care for the poor and indigent Protestants of all denominations. Within the walls of this worthy institution, the deserving and needy are sheltered, fed and clothed; and the sick have the service of some of the best city physicians. The surroundings of the Refuge are all that can be desired; the building is beautifully situated on the banks of the noble St. Lawrence, and has a farm attached, which furnishes considerable produce for the institution.

In such an institution it is natural we should find a certain amount of physical and mental suffering amongst the large number of inmates. Many are received into the place suffering from various ailments and diseases, principally rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and weakness. In many cases the troubles are of long standing—have become chronic, and the sufferers have passed beyond the help of the physician and all ordinary treatment. A short time ago the efficient and worthy superintendent, Mr. David McMillan, thought it wise to have a supply of Paine's Celery Compound brought into the institution, so that the afflicted ones might have a last chance of regaining health and strength.

The proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound were delighted beyond measure to have an opportunity of contributing to the comfort and well being of the suffering people of such a noble charity, and sent a contribution of their remedy, with the fullest confidence that pain would be banished, that joy and hope would take the place of agony and despair, and that the lives of a certain number of men and women would be lengthened out, and their latter days made brighter and happier.

Now it is our pleasing duty to give the people of Canada the result of the trial—to show the good work accomplished by nature's true restorer and vitaliser. The truth is, the results achieved by Paine's Celery Compound far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of sufferers and officials; all were over-joyed and delighted at the wondrous and marvellous curative and healing properties of the popular preparation.

We believe it is safe to assert that other well-governed and well-regulated institutions of the same character in Canada will now find it to the advantage of their sick, weak and rheumatic inmates to use the same precious agency that has been productive of so much good in Montreal. Through the kindness of the president and secretary of the Montreal Protestant House of Industry and Refuge, we are enabled to give to the public of Canada an idea of the worth and value of Paine's Celery Compound and its power over disease. The two following letters should be carefully read:—

Montreal Protestant House of Industry and Refuge,
January 26 th, 1892.

Messrs. Wells & Richardson Co.,

Sirs,—As promised, I went down to the House of Industry and Refuge to ask the old people their opinion of the Celery Compound you so kindly sent them. I have, therefore, much pleasure in telling you that the men and women suffering from rheumatism were high in favour of the virtues of your excellent medicine. I, therefore, have pleasure in testifying as above.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES ALEXANDER,
President.

Montreal Protestant House of Industry and Refuge,
January 28th, 1892.

Messrs. Wells & Richardson Co.,

Dear Sirs:—It is with pleasure that we acknowledge the good that has been done through the use of Paine's Celery Compound in the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge. We have seen its good effects in several cases, and can therefore speak honestly of what we know; and several of our inmates have feelingly expressed their joy and satisfaction, and are delighted with the beneficial result. From what we know, we believe it to be an excellent remedy and worthy of recommendation.

Yours truly,
D. McMILLAN,
Secretary.

No other remedy or medicine, now seeking a place in the homes of Canada, can boast of such letters of approval and recommendation. These letters, written by gentlemen of the highest integrity and standing, are given as an acknowledgement of worth and honesty, and carry more weight and conviction than any volume that could be written on the subject. These two short declarations carry with them a gladsome and joyous message to every heart bowed down by pain, grief and despondency, and point the sufferer to that certain cure—that great agent that restores the afflicted to perfect health and strength, and that gives a promise of a long and happy life.

Mr. McGreevy in the Field.

Mr. Thomas McGreevy, ex-M.P. for Quebec West, has formally announced that he will be a candidate for re-election. As the government did not oppose the re-election of Mr. J. C. Rykert in Lincoln under similar circumstances, it is not likely that they will put a candidate in the field against Mr. McGreevy.

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—O.W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

THE BATTLE OF _____(?)

One of the most remarkable and terrible ever fought. The army of the general whose previous successes had terrified Europe was posted along the ascent with Hougoumont, and the general himself had taken up his stand in a farm house called the "Belle Alliance." The opposing forces were extended over an elevation in the Charleroi Road about two miles from the little village in Belgium which gave its name to the battle. Each commander was thus able to command a view of the whole field. The first general with better equipped and better drilled troops and unable to see the reserve force of the other was over confident. The second commander, supported by the brave old Prussian marshal, divided his troops into two lines and awaited the beginning of the battle. It was between eleven and twelve o'clock on Sunday the 18th of June, 1815, that the actual engagement began. The action opened with a brisk cannonade on the house and wood of Hougoumont which were held by the troops of Nassau. The contest continued here all day with terrible fury, but without being able to expel the .....who, although the building had been set on fire, maintained their post amid the flames. Frightful slaughter and great loss ensued. Terrific and resolute attacks were made by the.....cavalry on the.....centre, and at six in the evening the allied army had lost ten thousand men. Their opponents had suffered still more severely losing fifteen thousand soldiers. Then the great general on seeing the .....sweep the old guards before them exclaimed:

"All is lost for the present," and rode from the field. The battle was over.

QUESTIONS:—1st. Name the battle referred to in above description 2nd. What two nations were principally interested? 3rd. Give names of two principal commanders. 4th. Did defeated commander ever regain his position? 5th. Where did he die?

Toronto, February 2nd, 1892.

To Whom It May Concern:—

This is to certify that we have this day contracted with the publishers of the LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY to ship for them two of the "Heintzman & Co's. Upright Pianos, Style D.," valued at $350.00 each, to the two successful contestants in their Prize History Competition, and have received their order for the same. Respectfully, (Signed) HEINTZMAN & CO.

A Heintzman Upright Piano, valued at $350.00, will be given for the FIRST correct answers to the above questions and a PRIZE valued at from TEN TO TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS will be given for each of the next TEN correct answers received.

All correct answers are numbered and entered on our books as received.

$100.00 in Cash will be given for the correct answers to the above questions which is the MIDDLE one received during the Competition.

And a PRIZE valued at from TEN TO TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS will be given for each of the ten correct answers received next PRECEDING the middle one, DUPLICATE prizes will be given for the ten correct answers received next FOLLOWING the middle one.

A Heintzman Upright Piano, valued at $350.00, will be given for the LAST correct answers received before the close of this Competition.

And a PRIZE valued at from TEN TO TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS will be given for each of the ten correct answers received PRECEDING the last one.

Over $100 Given Away each Day in Special Prizes.

And the names of winners announced each day in the leading daily newspapers of Canada.

A solid gold watch will be given each day during this competition for the first correct answers received and opened at the LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY office upon that day. A handsome rich glass Berry Bowl mounted on an elegant silver stand of the best quadruple plate valued $16.00 will be given to EACH province and state daily for the first correct answers received and opened upon that day.

EXPLANATION:—As the Publishers of the LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY do not consider it advisable that the names of the winners of either of the pianos should be announced until the close of this contest, no daily prize will be awarded for the first correct answers received on THE FIRST DAY; The sender of such necessarily being the winner of the first piano.

In awarding the daily prizes the second correct answers received from the province or state, which have carried off the solid gold watch for that day will be awarded the Berry Bowl mounted on a silver stand, this is to prevent the first recived from that province or state from securing both the watch and berry bowl on that day.

AWARD OF PRIZES:—A committee consisting of a representative from each of the six Toronto daily newspapers will be invited to act in the award of the prizes at the close of this competition. One hundred dollars in cash will be paid for proof of any unfairness or partiality in the award of the prizes.

CONDITIONS:—Answers must be accompanied by one dollar for six months TRIAL subscription to the LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY which will be sent to any address in Canada or United States that contestant desires, decision will be based on the correctness of the answers rather than on the language used in answering. Answers may be mailed any time before May 15th, 1892, as the prizes are equitably divided over entire time competition is open, persons can enter at any time with an equal opportunity of securing one of the leading prizes. No corrections can be made after answers are mailed unless another six months trial subscription to the LADIES PICTORIAL WEEKLY is enclosed with corrections. THE LADIES PICTORIAL CO. is an established and financially responsible publishing concern who offer the above prizes purely as a legitimate manner of attracting attention to their elegant sixteen page illustrated weekly. The purpose is to introduce it (on trial) into every possible home in Canada and the United States. It is intended to make each prize winner a permanent advertisement for the merits of the Weekly. Each daily prize winner is expected to secure from amongst their circle of friends at least two new six months trial subscriptions, and it is expected that every winner of a leading prize will renew their trial subscription for an entire year. By this plan we shall introduce the Weekly into at least ten thousand new homes, it is simply a business plan of increasing our circulation. If you have never seen the Ladies Weekly send three two cent stamps for sample copy. There is no other like it in Canada. Address.

Mr. C. V. Winnie, Albany, N.Y., Commodore of the A.C.A., will arrive in town to-night, and Messrs. Col. H. C. Rogers, Alex. Elliott and R. B. Rogers, the committee appointed by the local canoeists, will look after the entertainment of the commodore while in town. He will be entertained at a supper this evening.

Physicians Often Astray!

In Canada, thousands of men and women have been restored to life through the use of Paine's Celery Compound, when doctors had pronounced their condition hopeless. No other known medicine can show such remarkable success.

Scott Act Fines Paid Over.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, License Inspector for West Peterborough, this morning received from the License Department instructions to issue a cheque on the Ontario Bank in favour of the County Treasurer, for $454.39, this amount representing the county's share of Scott Act fines paid over, in conformity with the terms of a resolution adopted at the late session of the Council, in which the County undertook to indemnify the Government in respect of any claims that might arise. Mr. Cochrane has delivered the cheque to the County Treasurer.

Teaching Temperance in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Kindly allow me through your columns to deny the false charges made in an article entitled "Teaching Temperance in the Schools," contained in your issue of the 11th inst., over the signature "A W. C. T. U. Woman," against the School Board, Inspector and Teachers of the Schools. By a reference to the article above referred to, you may learn these charges, so that I need not repeat them. Temperance and Hygiene is now, and was, during the last three terms, taught to the pupils in all the grades of our schools from the second book to the junior fourth inclusive, and I herewith send you a printed copy of the examination paper set, and written upon at the late promotion examination in December last.

In regard to such an utterly false statement (together with the contemptible insinuation it carries with it), as that of "cramming in the entrance class for a week or two in order to obtain a few additional marks," I must say it cannot be too severely rebuked, and I sincerely hope such a fabrication is not an outward exhibition of the inner heart, of the originator of this falsehood.

I have sole charge, and have taught all the subjects in the entrance class of the public schools of the town of Peterborough for the last six consecutive years (excepting the first term of 1890) and during that time my class never wrote on the subject of Temperance and Hygiene."

The subject is now, and always has been, so far as the Entrance examinations is concerned, optional, and consequently I have never taken it up, as I consider my time can be more profitably employed in teaching subjects which cannot be so well taught by practice in the family circle.

Such utterly false charges (to say nothing of the threatening insinuations accompanying them), made against such a corporation as the School Board, and against the Inspector and Teachers of the Schools, and proceeding from a member of such a Society, is unparalleled, and must certainly reflect discredit on the mental and moral hygiene of such an individual as "A W.C.T.U. woman."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness in allowing me this privilege.

I am, yours very truly,
WM. SMITH,
Principal Public Schools, Peterborough.

After Forty Years.

Celebration of the Fortieth Anniversary of the Nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loch—A Large and Happy Gathering—Cordial Congratulations—A Reminiscence of a Fatherland Wedding.

Last night the handsome residence of Mr. William Loch, at the head of Hunter Street, was gay with the light and sounds of festivity, the occasion being the fortieth anniversary of the marriage of the heads of the house. Forty years ago—on February 12th, 1852—a quiet wedding was celebrated in the pretty little town of Finsterwalde, Germany, when William Loch, Pr. Eylau, was united in marriage to Henriette Kornke, and there they lived for two and a half years. There was born one of the eight living children which crowned their union. In 1854 they came to America, living one year in New York and six in Montreal, before coming to Peterborough, where they have lived the past thirty-one years. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Loch celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding, in their pleasant and happy home. There were present on the occasion all of their eight living children, including husbands and wives of the married ones, except one daughter in New York, and Mr. K. G. Loch, at present ill: nine of the eleven grand children, and between fifty and sixty other invited guests. The spacious house was thrown open to their entertainment. The first part of the evening was spent in giving the "bride and bridegroom" cordial congratulations upon the fortieth recurrence of an event which had been followed with so much prosperity and happiness. Accompanying this was the social enjoyments usual to such occasions, which was followed by an elegant supper about twelve o'clock. Following there was dancing which lasted till about three o'clock, and in which Mr. and Mrs. Loch renewed their youth. There were a large number of splendid presents, presented principally by members of the family. Altogether a delightful celebration of the anniversary was made, and Mr. and Mrs. Loch's hosts of friends they have made during a third of a century's residence in Peterborough, unite in wishing them many more years of wedded happiness.

Young Women's Christian Association.

The regular meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association was held in their rooms, George street, Thursday evening. It was decided to have a formal opening of their rooms next Friday evening, at eight o'clock, in the form of a reception. The arrangements are in the hands of an able committee, and a pleasant time may be expected. The public generally are invited. The rooms will be open to-night,—pleasantly warmed and lighted—and any young woman who may desire to call will be warmly welcomed.

By looking at the quotations of Virginia tobacco markets it will be found that the highest price paid for "fillers"—which is the tobacco which forms the body of the plug—very closely corresponds with the invoiced price of the tobacco leaf imported into Ontario. As over four fifths of all the leaf imported into the Province is for "Myrtle Navy" stock this fact is official proof of the claim that the "Myrtle Navy" is made of the finest Virginia leaf.

THE MAPLE LEAF FOREVER

The Sons of Canada's Successful Carnival.

Their Initial Carnival a Gay Success—A Large Crowd Present—List of Prize Winners and Costumes.

A blaze of brilliancy, sweet strains of music, shouts of laughter and a large crowd of spectators filled the skating rink last night. Every pains had been taken by the Sons of Canada to make their first carnival—and the first of the year—the event of the season, and in this they were not disappointed. The society had the rink tastefully decorated for the occasion, while around the walls of the rink hung the following mottoes: "The Sons of Canada Extend a Greeting to All," "Canada our Home," "Assistance, Brotherhood, Country," "The Sons of Canada Welcome You," "God Save the Queen," "The Maple Leaf Forever," and other mottoes.

As may be expected the cold weather somewhat interfered with the attraction of a larger crowd to the carnival, but notwithstanding the weather, quite a crowd collected and a very satisfactory evening was spent. The ice was in very good condition; thanks to the extra manner in which in which Mr. McIntosh manages the rink.

The music rendered by the Fire Brigade band was superb and everything combined went to make the evening as enjoyable as possible. Following is a list of those in costume:—

GUESSING COMPETITION.

The total number of tickets taken at the door was 775. There were three gentlemen, G. Brown, W. Gillespie and R. Barreau, who guessed the exact number of tickets taken. Their tickets were put in a hat and, after drawing, it was decided that R. Barreau won the prize for gentlemen. Miss A. Downer won the girls' guessing prize, she having guessed 773.

NOTES.

The ice was in splendid condition.

Mr. J. Watt conducted the refreshment stand last night, which was liberally patronized.

The Fire Brigade Band furnished some new music to the audience last night, which was well received by the people present.

The Sons of Canada are highly pleased with the success of their first carnival.

The following members of the society had the management of the carnival in hand:—Messrs. D.S. Harvie, chairman; F. Metheral, treasurer; J. W. Kennedy, secretary; J. Smith, G. Davidson and A. Moore.

Winners of prizes may obtain them by calling at the Peterborough Bookstore.

The carnival committee are to be congratulated upon the successful issue of their efforts to provide a model carnival, involving a thoroughly first-class winter night's entertainment. The Cannocks capture the cake whenever they set themselves about it.

THE CENTRAL CANADA.

Eighth Annual Meeting of the Loan and Savings Company.

A Successful Meeting—A Highly Satisfactory Report Presented—The Officers Elected.

The eighth annual meeting of the Shareholders of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, was held at the head office George street, Peterborough, on Wednesday, Feb. 10th, 1892, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, president, in the chair; Mr. F. G. Cox, Manager, was requested to act as secretary.

After the usual routine of business had been disposed of, the manager read the eighth annual report as follows:—

Eighth Annual Report of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario.

The Directors herewith submit their eighth annual report, together with a statement of assets and liabilities as at the 31st December, 1891, and a statement of the profit and loss account for the year ending at that date duly audited and certified.

Two half-yearly dividends at the usual rate of 6 per cent. per annum, amounting to $48,000, have been paid.

The steady increase in the assets of the company, now amounting to $3,163,873 37; the steady growth of the surplus, now amounting in reserve and contingent funds to $220,000; and the increased earning power of the company, are all satisfactory features in the operations of the past year.

The repayments during the year, both on account of principal and interest, have been highly satisfactory, the amount received on account of interest, being $186,440 10, and the amount repaid on principal, being $349,626 68. New loans have been made during the same period to the extent of $500,839.51.

We have experienced no difficulty in finding satisfactory employment for our funds, but the rate at which choice loans can now be obtained has somewhat reduced the average rate of interest on our investments; that however will be met by the reduced rate at which we are now able to place our debentures; this is no doubt the experience of all money lending institutions and is not to be regretted in the interests of the country generally.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

FRED. G. COX, Manager. GEO. A. COX, President.

THE REPORT APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT in moving the adoption of the report said:—

GENTLEMEN,—It again becomes my pleasant duty to submit for your approval, a report in which it has not been necessary to express any regrets or make any apologies. In short, we have had a successful year's business, and in moving the adoption of the report, I cannot do better than allow the figures that have just been submitted to you, to speak for themselves. Invested Funds of $3,163,873 and Surplus Funds of $220,000 (equal to 27½ per cent. of paid up capital) at the end of the eighth year, must, I think, meet with the approval of the shareholders. The satisfactory nature of the securities held by the Company is indicated by the fact that at the close of the book on the 31st of December, the overdue interest was only a fraction over one per cent. on the amount invested, and in six weeks that have since intervened, a large proportion of these arrears has been paid. It will be known to most, if not all the shareholders, that the borrowing power of the Company is limited to three times the amount of our paid up capital, or in other words to $2,400,000, upon the capital as it at present stands. Our Debentures and Deposits are now getting very close to that amount, and it is necessary that we should either issue new stock or allow those shareholders who hold partially paid stock to pay up the same in full, and as several shareholders have expressed a desire to do this, it is proposed to submit for your consideration, a resolution authorizing any shareholder who desires to pay up the uncalled portion of his stock to do so by paying a premium of 20 per cent. upon the amount so paid. It is anticipated that this will result in an addition to the paid up capital of not less than $200,000, upon which the premium will make a further addition of $40,000 to the Reserve Fund. I shall be glad to furnish any further information that may be desired by any shareholder present, and in the meantime I beg to move the adoption of the report.

J. R. DUNDAS, Esq., said:—It affords me pleasure to second the resolution for the adoption of the report. I congratulate the shareholders, not only upon the present position, but the future prospects of the Company. I only returned from Scotland last week, and while in Glasgow I had a very satisfactory interview with Messrs. Finlayson & Auld, the chief agents of the Company in Great Britain, and I can assure the shareholders, they are ably represented there by a highly respected firm, and I was very much gratified by their expressions of confidence in the Company and by their assurance that they would be able to send us what money we could find safe and profitable investment for on this side.

RICHARD HALL, Esq., said: It is not necessary for me to say anything in support of the resolution; the result of the year's business and the steady growth of the Deposits and Assets of the Company are so satisfactory that they speak for themselves. I quite approve of the proposed addition to the Paid up Capital by permitting the present holders of partially paid stock, to pay the same in full at a premium of 20 per cent. on the amount so paid. I have no doubt it will result in a large addition to the cash capital, and thus increase the borrowing power of the Company and extend its usefulness.

W. CLUXTON, Esq., said:—The proposed plan of increasing the cash capital, by allowing shareholders to pay up stock at 20 per cent. premium, is certainly preferable in my opinion to the issue of new stock; it affords the present holders of partially paid stock an opportunity of making a safe investment at a fairly good rate of interest upon security steadily increasing in value. As a regular attendant at the investment committee meetings, I can vouch for the care and caution with which every loan is considered by that committee; I can also vouch for the ability and attention with which the officers and employees of the company discharge their duties.

The report was adopted.

"German Syrup"

A Farmer at Edom, Texas, Says:

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to everyone suffering with Lung Troubles is—Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where your German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country.

AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY

TO BRING CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS WITHIN 2 1-2 HRS OF EACH OTHER.

A Prospectus Which Reads Like One of Jules Verne's Fairy Tales of Science—A Great Project—The Proposed Line Practically Assured.

In 1893 St. Louis will be within two hours and a half of Chicago. A St. Louis merchant can leave here after breakfast, do six hours' business in the World's Fair City and return in time for a 6 o'clock dinner. The Chicago & St. Louis Electric Railroad Company, the Stockholders of which embrace the leading capitalists of the State of Missouri, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state of Illinois this week, and the prospectus of the proposed electric road reads like a chapter from one of Jules Verne's fairy tales. The road will be a bee line in fact, not in theory, and a ruled line on the map, beginning with St. Louis and ending with Chicago, will show where rails are to be laid. There will be no curves, very few fills and cuts, for the motor will go up hill and down as easily as on a level. The speed will average 150 miles an hour. The road will operate under the system of electric highways patented by Dr. Wellington Adams. It will be operated from one central station near Clinton, Ill., located at the mouth of a coal mine. The mine will be operated by the company by means of electric mining locomotives, electric drills, electric cutters and electric lights, which will greatly cheapen the present cost of mining coal. The waste dust or slack alone, which is always a dead loss to mining companies, will run the engines which develop the power for both mine and road. The road will be divided up into twenty-five sections of ten miles each, which will constitute a complete block system, making it impossible for any two cars to run at a high rate of speed upon any single section at the same time, thus making collisions impossible. There will be a complete block signaling system by means of incandescent electric lights, with telephonic communication between cars upon the same section, whether running or standing still. The road will be illuminated by electric lights for one mile ahead and one mile behind every car while running at night, while all grade crossings, whether wagon or railroad, a red electric light will be displayed and an electric bell rung for two minutes before it is time for the train to pass. It is intended to ultimately construct four tracks, two outside tracks for local traffic and high class freight, while the two inner tracks will be used exclusively for through passenger traffic, mail and high class express. The through cars will not stop anywhere between the two terminal cities. Spurs will be run from Taylorville, Springfield, Decatur, Bloomington and Joliet from the main line, and through cars will be placed on the main line from those cities both for Chicago and St. Louis to run through without stop.

NO NIGHT TRAVEL.

It will be unnecessary to travel a night, owing to the rapidity with which the journey can be made in daylight. Therefore no passenger trains will be run after 9 o'clock in the evening, the tracks being reserved at night for high class freight, express and mail matter. This will do away with the necessity of Pullmans. Farmers can build light switches to their barns and granaries to facilitate transportation of the products of their land. The company will get the road in operation in time for the world's fair. The terminal facilities are already secured. Three lines have been surveyed within six miles of each other and right of way and subsidies secured nearly the entire distance.

The character of the electric carriage or car that will be run upon the road is shown in the accompanying cut. It is a long, low, compact, light, but strong car, having two pairs of driving wheels, each of which are driven by a separate and distinct electric motor. The whole weight of the car with its passengers and of the two electric motors comes upon these two pairs of driving wheels, and is, therefore, all available for traction or adhesion between the rails and the wheels, through the agency of which the car is propelled. The top of the car stands only nine feet from the rail, which is three feet lower than the ordinary street car. This brings the center of gravity very low and near to the track, which decreases immensely the danger of jumping the track. It has a wedge-shaped nose or front for cutting the air, which has the effect of decreasing the resistance, a most important factor in high-speed locomotion and in helping to keep the car down upon the track. The motorman stands immediately back of this wedge-shaped front. Between his department and the rear wheels is the compartment for the accommodation of passengers. In the rear of this is a separate compartment for mail and high-class express. The driving wheels are six feet in diameter and capable of making 500 revolutions per minute. The weight of the entire car, with its motors, is but ten tons. A steam locomotive, to make the same speed, if it were practicable, would have to weigh 100 tons. The cars will be illuminated and heated by the power which propels it, and will contain all the modern appointments for comfort. There will be no conductors and no brakemen. The car can be stopped within half a mile by means of the motors themselves and brakes.

THE INVENTOR OF THE PLAN.

Dr. Arthur Wellington Adams, the patentee, is yet a young man, but his name is familiar to the scientific world as the original projector of propelling cars by electricity generated at a stationary point and transmitted while in motion. In 1885 he organized a company for the building of an electric elevated railroad fifteen miles in length in St. Louis for commercial purposes. After a hard fight the municipal assembly of St. Louis granted the franchise, but the mayor vetoed it. This was the first electric railroad ever projected in the United States. Disheartened and sick, the doctor retired into the country. During his absence the Lindell electric railway was successfully put in operation in St. Louis. The doctor immediately began suit for infringement of patent, and the case is now in the United States courts. It is this Dr. Adams who is the brains of the Chicago and St. Louis Electric Railroad Company, and he is supported by the wealthy Granite Mountain mine owners, who have already spent $30,000,000 in improvements in this city. The building of this road will be of incalculable benefit to the people who own property along the line of the road. To Chicago it will mean several millions of dollars annually in its increase of business for that city. The projectors of the road do not consider Dr. Adams' plans an experiment, for they have put up their money to build the road, and as soon as the right of way is secured it will be constructed, and trains will be running before the great world's fair is opened in 1893.—St. Louis Correspondence.

People who use arsenical preparations for their complexion, do so at the risk of their lives. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is guaranteed free from any injurious drug, and is, therefore, the safest as well as the most powerful blood medicine in the world. It makes the skin clear.

Rheumatism Cured!

SOLDIER'S COVE, N.S., Jan. 30, 1890.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR:—Your Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are the best medicine for rheumatism that I have ever used. Last spring I was troubled greatly with it in my leg; I used one box of Morse's Pills, and was cured.

Yours gratefully,
ALLEN CAMPBELL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4th, 1891.

It is a pleasure for me to say good words in favor of Anti-Dandruff, as its merits cannot be questioned. In my own case, Dandruff not only made itself known by appearance in more than liberal quantities from which I could not obtain relief, but its continued presence and increasing formation caused falling of the hair. My barber spoke highly of Anti Dandruff. I used it, and not only has every trace of Dandruff disappeared but the falling of the hair has stopped. Having full faith in the preparation I not only endorse it for the above but further add that as a fine dressing for the hair nothing equals it.

A RUSSIAN GENERAL KILLED BY NIHILISTS.

Mrs. Osborne Committed for Trial on a Charge of Perjury in Swearing That She Did Not Steal the Hargreave Jewels—General Cable News of a Night.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The debate on the amendment to the Queen's address, moved by Mr. John E. Redmond, the Parnellites' leader, and suggesting amnesty for Irish prisoners convicted of connection with dynamite plots, was resumed yesterday in the House of Commons.

Timothy Harrington said that the prisoners had been convicted of an indictment charging them with a political offence and that it was a gross outrage to treat them like ordinary criminals. Why not extend to them the distinction which all civilized nations usually do with political and other offenders?

Justin McCarthy said that the Fenians were wild and possibly foolish revolutionists, but that dynamite outrages did not form any part of their program.

Home Secretary Matthews aroused cheers and laughter from the Conservative benches by remarking that the speaker, having been once closely connected with Fenianism, ought to have given his valuable assurance as to the omission of outrages from the program to Sir William Vernon Harcourt when that eminent member of the Opposition was engaged upon the subject.

Harcourt Opposes an Amnesty.

Sir William Harcourt arose amid profound silence and was listened to with the gravest attention. He said that he had not shirked the debate. He had listened attentively to the remarks of the honorable members on both sides of the House, but had failed to find therein any reason for changing his previous views. He said that inquiries made with the greatest care since the conviction of the prisoners had confirmed the finding as to their guilt, and no reason to remit their punishment had been alleged. The statement that the convicts were Fenians and that the Fenians had compelled the Liberals to adopt the principle of Home Rule for Ireland was contrary to the fact. The truth of the case was that the Fenians had been the greatest obstacle to Home Rule.

Thomas Sexton said that the fact that the whole of Ireland had a passionate desire for amnesty ought to suffice as a justification for asking the Government to exercise its power of clemency.

Mr. John Dillon said that he would personally vouch for the fact that Daly, as a Fenian, abhorred the use of dynamite. He appealed to both parties to exercise clemency, which, he said, they would never regret.

The motion for an amnesty was rejected by a vote of 168 to 97

The announcement of the figures was greeted with loud cheers by the minority. Thirty-one Liberal members including John Henry Madden, who was recently elected to succeed Lord Hartington as member for the Rossendale division of Lancashire, supported the amendment. Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. John Morley opposed it. The majority consisted mainly of Unionists.

TRADE PROSPECTS.

Bradstreet's Weekly Review of the Business Situation in Canada.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—There is no improvement over last week as to the volume of staples moving from jobbers' to retailers' hands, special telegrams to Bradstreet's from most of the chief distributing centres agreeing that general trade on the whole is only fairly active, with a moderately satisfactory outlook for the near future.

The movement of staples is of moderate proportions in Ontario and Quebec, the feature in the former province being some activity in drygoods, with fair payments on mercantile accounts. A similar report comes from Quebec, where cotton goods mills are said to have done a fair business for the season.

Four cities in the Dominion report total clearings of $18,932,007, a gain of about 12 per cent. on the week.

There were 68 business failures in Canada this week against 34 last week and 38 in this week last year.

The Canadian Cattle Trade.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—The Deputy Minister of Agriculture said to-day in reference to the threatened closing of British ports to Canadian live stock that he had no official information upon the subject, and only knew what he had seen in the newspapers. He did not know of any basis for a renewal of the English attacks upon Canadian cattle exports, for nothing had arisen of late on this side of the Atlantic to give rise to any such crusade. The department here had no knowledge of the existence of any disease among Canadian cattle either in British Columbia or in any other province. In fact the cattle of the Dominion were so far as the department was aware in unusually healthy condition. It might be that the English speculators opposed to the importation of live cattle had taken advantage of the recent scheduling of Danish cattle in consequence of an outbreak of pleuro-pneumonia in King Christian's country to revive the agitation of last year, but he could not believe that it would have any effect upon the Canadian trade. There is no doubt in official circles that if any immediate danger to the Canadian live stock trade were threatened the Government would have received some notification.

TO BRING BACK HIS ASHES.

Cremation For Fitzsimmons, the Brockville Murderer.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13.—Charles H. Fitzsimmons, brother of the dead Pittsburg robber, arrived here late to-night from his home in Brockville, Canada. He drove at once to Chief Gaster's office and had a long interview with him. He was deeply affected by the story of his brother's misdeeds. He said he had seen very little of him for many years. He left home when 18 years old and returned in 1891 to receive his portion of the estate of his deceased father, and he went away with enough money to support him handsomely as long as he lived. He proposes to remain here for several days and will visit the haunts of his dead brother. In due time he will obtain a permit from the Board of Health for the removal of the body. He will send it to Cincinnati to be cremated and thence remove the ashes to Brockville for final interment.

SAVED BY A CONDUCTOR.

Attempted Murder on a Pullman Car on the Canadian Pacific.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 13.—A conductor named James Millican saved the life of Arthur G. Young, a Boston commercial traveler, on the westbound C.P.R. express, near Petitcodiac Station last night by striking down a loaded revolver that Patrick J. Rafferty of New York had just pointed at his head. The bullet passed through the floor of the car. Millican handcuffed Rafferty, and on the arrival of the train in St. John handed him over to the police. En route, Rafferty repeatedly said, "I'll have Young's life yet."

The prisoner told Chief Clarke that he was a New York stenographer, and had landed in Halifax from Europe last week. "On the voyage" he said, "hounds have been following me and suckers trying to play me, and this is one of them," pointing to Young. A Smith & Wesson revolver and a cruel looking bowie knife were taken from him. He has plenty of money, is rather tall, well built, and about 28 years old.

ABOUT SAMOA.

Amendments to the Berlin Treaty Desired.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Feb. 13.—Advice received here from Samoa state that a meeting of citizens has been held at Apia, at which a committee was appointed to suggest changes in the Berlin treaty of 1889. The Samoan Times declares the government cannot be carried on under the terms of the Berlin treaty. The paper advocates a simpler and more effective parliament under a foreign president, to be selected by the treaty powers—Germany, Great Britain and the United States.

VERY STRINGENT.

Chinamen Will Have a Hard Time Getting Into the U. S. Now.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Chinese emigration bill agreed upon by the committee and reported to Congress is that introduced in the House by Mr. Stump, the chairman of the committee with some modifications. The provisions of Mr. Stump's bill have been published. Its provisions are very stringent, making it exceedingly difficult for a Chinese to get into the country and providing adequate and efficient means for his deportation if found here unlawfully. A prominent feature of the bill provides for the registration of all Chinese persons now in the country by the commissioner of internal revenue and requires them to obtain a certificate from him entitling them to remain here. Chairman Stump reported the bill to the House in the afternoon. In the report the committee refers to the urgent necessity for prompt legislation on the subject of Chinese emigration.

The Ice Locomotive Sank.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Feb. 13.—The ice locomotive invented by a New York boiler inspector was shipped from here to New Hamburg and put on the ice there Tuesday. It got away from the man in charge and started for the shore. Men ran after it but could not catch it, and coming to a weak spot it broke through the ice and sank. The trials so far have been very unsatisfactory owing to the soft condition of the ice, but the machine will be raised and other trials made.

Death of an African Traveler.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Col. James Augustus Grant, the African traveler, died at Nairn, Scotland, yesterday, aged 55. He was with the 78th Highlanders under Gen. Havelock at the relief of Lucknow, where he was wounded while in command of two companies of that regiment. In 1860-3, Col. Grant explored the sources of the Nile in company with the late Capt. Speke.

Colborne to Have Electric Lights.

COLBORNE, Ont., Feb. 13.—The bylaw authorizing the issuing of debentures for purchasing electric lights in this town was carried to-day by a majority of 55.

Deceived By the Snow.

IROQUOIS, Ont., Feb. 13.—About 9 o'clock yesterday a young man named Arthur Locke, an operator at the station, went out on the ice for water. The drifting snow extended beyond and obscured the edge of the ice, so that he went too near it and slipped in. He was seen by several parties, but before assistance could reach him he sank and never rose again.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A HUSBAND'S MISSION.

J. Cohen Sees His Faithless Partner For the Last Time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The sensational episode of the day at the morgue yesterday was the appearance of J. Cohen of Toronto, Ont., who came to claim the body of his faithless wife. Mrs. Cohen was living with Louis Levi, a bookmaker, at the Hotel Royal, where they were registered under the assumed name of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis. Both met death in the fire. Mrs. Cohen jumped from a window and fractured her skull. Levi died from suffocation.

Mr. Cohen looked upon his wife's face with tears in his eyes, but kept silent. He passed to the pine box in which lay the body of the man who had destroyed his home and gazed at the features but a moment.

"I recognize him as Louis Levi" he said, and left the morgue.

Undertaker Finkelstone of No. 128 Second-avenue removed Mrs. Cohen's body for burial in Washington Cemetery, on Long Island.

Buried at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Feb. 13.—The body of Louis Levy, the London man who was burned to death in the terrible fire at the Hotel Royal in New York on Sunday morning, was brought here for burial this morning. The funeral took place from Chapman's undertaking establishment this afternoon.

LEFT A NOTE BEHIND.

The Message a London Girl Left Before Suiciding.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 13.—Sadie Renshaw, aged 16, an inmate of the Salvation Army Rescue Home, is believed to have committed suicide. Two months since she came to this city from near Collingwood, having with her a child seven months old, and the Army people sheltered the unfortunate girl. She continued despondent, however, and frequently threatened suicide. Tuesday Sadie left the Home, and from that hour a diligent search has failed to reveal her whereabouts. "You will never see me again," were the words she wrote upon a slip of paper which she left in her room directed to another inmate. She left all her clothes behind.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Head one Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cuticura.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his fingernails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

DEATH AT A CONVENTION

SENSATIONAL INCIDENT AT A TORONTO ASSEMBLY.

Canon Davidson of Colborne Leads the Exercises Up to Noon—An Hour Later He Dies in a Doctor's Office—A Son's Heroism—General Canadian News.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—A painful event, the memory of which will linger long in many hearts, occurred during the convention of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood on Saturday. The session was opened with prayer conducted by Rev. Canon Davidson of Colborne. The rev. gentleman was present during the morning session, taking a keen interest in the proceedings throughout. In the course of the morning he complained of indigestion, and shortly after noon felt so ill that he determined to consult a doctor. He accordingly left the schoolhouse and was driven by a friend, Mr. Lamb, to the office of Dr. Cameron, in Sherbourne-street. The doctor was, however, unable to relieve his sufferings and he expired about 1.30 in the doctor's office.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of Peterborough, son of the deceased, was chairman of the convention in the afternoon, and Mr. N. Ferron Davidson of Toronto, president of the brotherhood, was the opening speaker. While the Rev. Mr. Davidson was presiding and guiding the meeting with an energy and tact seldom seen, a note conveying the sad news was handed to him. Stricken as he was by the information yet he kept on with his duties, and when the conference was over gave his summary of the work done, and then in broken accents announced the sad news to his astonished hearers. He was upborne in his sorrow, he said, by the knowledge that it was a passage from an earthly life to a heavenly one, an event tending not so much to sorrow as to inspiration, dying as he had in the very act of service. Then Mr. Davidson hastily left the room, leaving the brotherhood struck equally with sorrow for the loss sustained and admiration for the heroism of the son.

The remains of the deceased gentleman had been prepared for conveyance to his home, and were forwarded to Colborne on the 8.30 express, accompanied by his three sons and two daughters. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 12 o'clock noon, from Trinity Church Colborne. Referring to the sad event in his sermon at the Church of the Redeemer yesterday morning, Bishop Sullivan spoke of the long life of service and preparation lived by the deceased. Though the call had come so suddenly he was prepared for it "Yesterday," said the preacher, "I saw him sitting in our midst taking an active interest, as was ever his wont, in the Master's work. His eye was beaming with love for the brethren around him, and his father's heart rejoicing in the service which two of his sons, one already in the ministry, were being privileged to render to the Master. His voice, Brothers of St. Andrew, is calling to you to day from the depths of the grave, and the message it brings to us all is, 'Work while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work.'"

The deceased was born at Dumfries, N.B., on December 21, 1831, and had consequently just completed his 60th year. After acting as a term as school inspector in the county of York, N. B., he studied for holy orders, and having taken his M. A. degree at King's College, N.B., in 1853, was ordained a deacon by the bishop of Montreal in 1856, and a priest by the bishop of Quebec the following year. He filled several positions, as incumbent of Westport, where he had a wide parish, Woodbridge, Bondhead, Uxbridge, remaining in the latter place until 1888, when he removed to Holy Trinity, Colborne, the incumbency he was occupying when death so suddenly terminated his career. In 1869 he was appointed a minor canon of St. Alban's the Martyr, Toronto, and for a similar period he has been rural dean of Northumberland. He had, in fact, convened his rural deanery for to-morrow, and had always taken a most active part in all diocesan, diocesan and parochial work. He leaves a family of seven, three sons and four daughters.

DOWN IN AN AMBER MINE

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT REPORTED FROM EAST PRUSSIA.

High Baltic Seas Sweep far Inland Past Their Usual Bounds and, Pouring Down the Mouth of the Mine, Drown the Occupants Like Rats in a Trap.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—A despatch from Koenigsberg, East Prussia, reports a peculiar and fatal accident that has occurred near that place. The Government of Koenigsberg is bounded on the north by the Baltic and along the shores of this sea is obtained a large proportion of the World's supply of amber. This substance is there partly cast up by the sea, partly obtained by means of nets and partly dug out of a bed of bituminous wood. Last night an exceedingly heavy sea was running in the Baltic and the high waves swept far inland past their usual bounds, close to the shore. Near Palmenicken, a small fishing town, is an amber mine, in which a number of men were working. They had no knowledge of the fact that the rising tide was bringing heavy seas in dangerous proximity to the entrance to the mine; in fact such a dangerous condition of affairs was never dreamed of. Suddenly the water began to pour into the mine in a perfect torrent and began to fill the small workings. The men made a wild rush to escape, but six of them found it impossible to breast the storm in which they were engulfed and they were drowned.

M'GREEVY TALKS.

He Says He Was Not The Globe's Informant.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—Mr. Thomas McGreevy, who was in town yesterday, stated that it was untrue that he had met Mr. Farrer of The Globe at Quebec, or that he had given him the information contained in the article recently published by the Liberal organ.

"I do not know Mr. Farrer and I never met him in my life," Mr. McGreevy said. "As to my being in Quebec on the 4th, I was in Montreal on that date and did not arrive in Quebec until the 6th. I not only did not see Mr. Farrer, but I gave him no information or receipts. Those receipts referred to had been out of my hands for some weeks, as during the Parliamentary investigation my counsel had possession of them."

Two Liberals Elected.

HALIFAX, Feb. 15.—The elections Saturday in Digby and King's resulted in the re-election of the two Liberal candidates. F. W. Borden (Liberal) defeated Mr. Jones by a majority of 50 in King's and E. C. Bowers (Liberal) defeated Bill in Digby by 52 majority.

The vacancy in Digby was caused by the unseating of E. C. Bowers, who defeated Herbert L. Jones in March by 73 votes. The election in King's was caused by the unseating of Dr. Borden (Liberal), whose majority in March was 161.

Blake's Duty.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 15.—The Telegraph editorially points to Edward Blake his path of duty. It says: "There is no question that the general feeling of the Liberal party is that Mr. Blake has spoken against the Liberal policy when he might have conscientiously remained silent, but there is a stronger conviction that he has remained silent when he ought to have spoken in tones of thunder against the corrupt and scandalous malversions of the Tory Government. If Mr. Blake possesses the secret of a policy other than that of the Liberal party we submit that it is his duty to speak out and to speak now; if he knows of no policy, if he has no inward light and leading which may help to save the country from the evil which he says have grown up under its present rulers and which he deplores, then he should not be a marplot within the ranks of the party of which he has been the leader."

Montcalm Election.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—Writs were issued yesterday for the holding of a bye-election to fill the vacancy in Montcalm, Que., caused by the unseating of Mr. Dugas, the Conservative member. At the general election in March last the constituency was contested by three Conservatives, and it is not thought likely the Liberals will put a man in the field this time either. Nominations in Montcalm take place on Wednesday, the 24th instant, and polling on Wednesday, the 2nd March.

Two More Petitions Dismissed.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb 15.—Both the Gloucester and King's county petitions were dismissed by the Supreme Court and Mr. Burns and the Minister of Finance thereby retain their seats.

New Brunswick Legislature.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 15.—The New Brunswick Legislature has been called to meet on March 3. The past five sessions have all begun in March, with an average duration of 35 days.

Political Notes.

Hon. John Haggart is campaigning in South Ontario.

Hon. John Costigan is assisting Secretary of State Patterson in West Huron.

Government Appointments.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—An order-in-council has been passed appointing W. D. Jones of Brantford to be Deputy Judge of the County Court of Brant.

R. Abercrombie of Cornwall has been appointed Junior County Judge of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Frank Cole, Excise officer at London, Ont., has been appointed Accountant of the London Inland Revenue Office.

W. T. Graham of Toronto has been appointed third-class Excise officer at that port on probation.

An order-in-council has been passed appointing John Matthews of Simcoe, Ont., to be Collector of Customs at that port.

C. E. A. Webb of London, Ont., has been confirmed as a third-class Excise officer.

Almost Scalded To Death.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 15.—Engineer James Jordan of the Michigan Central Railroad was almost scalded to death last night by the bursting of a flue in the boiler of his engine in the yard here. He is now in the hospital. The flesh is taken off his legs and arms.

Zeal Unappreciated.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.—The fire brigade of Rat Portage has resigned in a body owing to lack of appreciation on the part of the town council and citizens.

British Diplomacy Too Much for French Intrigue—General Booth Greeted with an Ovation—More Rioting at Eastbourne—General Foreign News.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The secretary of the British Embassy in Constantinople had an audience with the Sultan yesterday, and it is semi-officially announced to-day that the firman of investiture of the present Khedive of Egypt has been prepared and that it is worded in the exact terms of the firman investing the late Khedive, Tewfik Pasha. This is regarded as a signal success for English diplomacy, as it defeats the attempts to induce the Sultan to insert in the firman instructions to the Khedive reflecting upon the English supremacy in Egypt.

The Sultan preferred to adhere to the old form in order not to embarrass the Khedive.

A YOUNG GIRL'S MASQUERADE.

A Frisky English Girl who Wanted to See the World.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Miss Kate Evanson, the adventurous girl of Reading who disappeared on Wednesday last on her way to school at Bristol, has been found. It was left for her own brother to trace his wayward sister to Shrewsbury, where he discovered her at an inn in male attire. She was willing enough to accompany him home, and was restored to the arms of her parents. She left the train at Gloucester, went to a clothing store and bought the suit of man's clothes on the plea that she intended to give it to a poor person who had appealed to her for charity. She then went to a barber's and induced the man to cut her hair, on the pretence that she suffered from headaches. She later took the train to Mitcheldean, and while in the compartment of a first-class coach effected a change of clothing, leaving her suit of woman's apparel on the seat. At Mitcheldean she alighted, looking like a bright young boy. From that time she had a series of amusing adventures, managing to deceive everybody and elude pursuit, although the whole country was aroused and searching for her.

HONORING BOOTH.

A Mile-Long Procession of Salvation Army Soldiers Reviewed by Him.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The members of the Salvation Army in London and in all parts of the kingdom took occasion Saturday to show their love and loyalty for Gen. Booth, who has just arrived home in England after a long visit to Australia and India.

The procession which the General reviewed was a mile long, and in it were cars emblematic of his travels in foreign lands. As the procession marched past the place where the General stood, the Salvation Army soldiers gave him a hearty welcome, cheering and shouting without restraint.

Disorders at Eastbourne.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Eastbourne was again to-day the scene of disorder growing out of the hostility continually showing there to members of the Salvation Army. The disturbance, however, was not nearly so marked as that of two weeks ago. The Eastbourne police to-day dispersed the gathering members of the army and prevented their holding their customary Sunday services on the beach or playing on their instruments in the streets. But in spite of the efforts of the police there was much disorder and several fights occurred. These unruly manifestations were witnessed by thousands of persons, including the Duke of Portland and several of the members of the House of Commons.

The Costliest Sealskin Known.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Duchess of Portland has long been celebrated for the beauty of her sealskin cloak, which cost about 5000 guineas, but this has now been thrown completely into the shade by the magnificent cloak which was worn by Lady Alington. It is a gift from her newly made husband, and from the point of view of expense alone, completely overtops the garment which has hitherto been the cynosure of all feminine eyes, for the sable trimming alone cost as much as the cloak of the fair Duchess.

For Cardinal Manning's Position.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—According to reports prevalent in Roman Catholic circles, Doctor Gilbert, Very Rev. Henry Sebastian Bowden and Dr. J. C. Hedley are the three names selected by the Chapter of Westminster, on last Tuesday, for transmission to the Pope. Doctor Gilbert was Cardinal Manning's right-hand man, and Vicar-General Father Bowden is Superior of the Brompton Oratory and a convert to Catholicism, an ex-officer of the Life Guard and a powerful preacher. Dr. Hedley is the Bishop of Newport and the oldest member of the English Benedictine Order.

Lively Times in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—There was a lively scene yesterday in the Reichstag, brought about by the discussion of the railway estimates.

Herr Sturm, Imperialist, supported the Government in dismissing Socialist agitators from state workshops.

Herr Bebel, Socialist, violently denounced Sturm's views and a heated debate followed.

Herr Kardouff demanded that more stringent laws controlling newspapers, clubs and public meetings should be enacted in order, he said, "to prevent the state from falling into the hands of the Socialists."

Herr Barth said it was clear that the members of the Right wanted "to provoke a conflict possibly leading to civil war."

At this juncture the debate was adjourned.

A Newsboy's Shocking Discovery.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 15.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Mallow were found in the kitchen at their home in Van-street last evening by a newsboy. Malloy had sent two bullets through his wife's head and then killed himself. The husband and wife were both over 70 years of age, but Malloy was insanely jealous of his wife and had frequently threatened to kill her.

Death for Theft.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 15.—Last Monday night at Remulus, Tuscaloosa County, two negroes broke open D. S. Robertson's store, robbed and burned it to the ground. They were arrested, tried and committed to jail. On their way to Tuscaloosa a body of masked men took the negroes from the guards and strung them up to the nearest tree.

The Elections.

Mr. Ingram was re-elected in East Elgin yesterday by a very large majority over Dr. Wilson. The result is very much to be deplored, not only for party but for public reasons, as Dr. Wilson had shown the qualities of a good legislator and a useful public man, while Mr. Ingram's principal ambition is to get something for his county and pose as a workingman's friend. Dr. Wilson and his friends and the St. Thomas Journal deserve great credit for the plucky fight they made against great odds. The Tories gained between 300 and 400 votes on the revision of the lists. These lists only came into possession of the Liberals a week before the election, and were then found to be scandalously stuffed. Reports of juggling with the lists come from all quarters, and we expect that when the matter is fully inquired into it will be found that gigantic frauds have been perpetrated. In some cases it is reported that names taken off the lists during the revision are surreptitiously restored and printed. Many of the 1 000 names added by the Tories to the North Victoria lists are said to be bogus. The whole question should be made the subject of a Parliamentary inquiry.

In St. Thomas the Tory majority was increased from 159 to 342. In Pieton, Napanee, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and other towns in the constituencies in which elections have been held the Conservative vote was largely increased, and it is a fact, though we fear the people pay little heed to such facts, that these towns were put in charge of professional Tory boodlers, and that it is their work which is responsible for the increase in the Tory vote. In South Victoria a letter written by Mr. Bowell in December last, when he was acting Minister of Railways, was peddled throughout the riding pledging anew that a subsidy would be voted for a railway to Bobcaygeon, and the result is that Bobcaygeon gave a Tory majority of 102. In Port Stanley, where $5,000 of public money is now being spent, a majority of 21 for Ingram in March last has been increased to 68. It is too true that an Opposition in Canada cannot stand up against the influences which Tory governments use in by-elections. The people do vote for public works. These influences and the open purchase of votes do seem to prevail everywhere. The Conservatives ever since 1878 have carried this country by bribery, and one of these days the whole wretched truth will come out. Let the Liberals fight on. Their cause is sound and just. They struggle against desperate odds. But brave-hearted men never weaken; they fight at their best when the outlook is the darkest. When one thinks of what the Liberals have had to meet—the gerrymander, the Franchise Act, the gazetting frauds, the wholesale entering of petitions with funds got from corrupt sources, the tampering with the lists after final revision, the bribery with public works and railway subsidies, the demoralization of the constituencies with hundreds of thousands of dollars collected from Government contractors and Government manufacturers, the long and too successful conspiracy to beggar Liberal candidates—one can but wonder at the vitality of the party, and marvel that it is so strong after year spent in fighting the resources of the public treasury. But the Liberal party will not be crushed; the remaining constituencies that are open will be fought as desperately as though no reverses had been encountered, and the Liberal representatives will go to Ottawa two weeks hence with undiminished zeal in the public interest, with unbroken courage and unflinching determination to expose to the very bottom the methods of government that have prevailed since 1878 and the means by which the Liberal party has been defeated in successive elections.—Globe.

EAST ELGIN ELECTION.

The Conservative Retain the Seat By An Increased Majority.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 13.—The election in East Elgin yesterday resulted in a signal triumph for the unseated Conservative candidate Andy Ingram, whose majority of 46 of last March was swelled to 494. His opponent yesterday was Dr. J. H. Wilson, whom he defeated in March last and in whose behalf Hon. Edward Blake wrote his pronunciamento a few days ago. East Elgin was carried by the Conservative party in 1878, when Thomas Arkell defeated the previous Liberal member, Colin Macdougall, Q. C. At the general elections of 1882 Dr. Wilson, who had sat in the Ontario Legislative Assembly for the same constituency from 1871 until 1879, defeated Mr. Arkell and was again elected at the general election of 1886 by a majority of 116 over the present Judge Ermatinger. In March last the Conservatives nominated Andrew Ingram, who had previously represented West Elgin in the Legislative Assembly, and he defeated Dr. Wilson by 46 of a majority, but was unseated.

Mr. Ingram is a railway employe and is the only man who ever secured a majority against Wilson in the city of St. Thomas, which is the pivot upon which the result turns. The majorities:

New Style of Street Car Motor.

The Detroit Free Press describes a new style of electric traction locomotive, which consists essentially of a middle rail to which the electric power is transmitted from the power house by an underground wire. On a double-track road this is placed in sections about a car's length apart, and at each end of the car motor is a steel brush. The forward one of these brushes reaches the rail section ahead just as the rear one is leaving the section behind, and thus the circuit is kept complete. On a single track the number of sections is doubled, and only alternate ones are charged. Then at each end of the route is a set of switches, each of which connects in turn one middle rail section with the current as the car passes over it, and thus the motive power is furnished.

The inventor is one Thomas Harris, an Englishman, who came to America in 1887 with Dr. Woodward, inventor of the Woodward storage battery, and is himself the holder of a patent for an improved storage battery. In talking of his latest invention he said:—

"I have been at work at this thing for more than two years, taking such time as I could spare from other work. I claim for my invention that it will do as well in the carrying line as the cable or overhead systems, and at the same time eliminates all the strong objections that have been urged against them. The leakage from the overhead wires through the poles to the ground is on some roads as much as 50 horse power per mile. The leakage from the middle rail is but nominal and scarcely worth noticing. The middle rail is charged, you must remember, only while the car is on it, and is, therefore, absolutely no danger, because the rail is under the car and out of reach. Then the objectionable wires and poles which disfigure the streets are dispensed with. The objections to the cable car are well known, and I need not enumerate them. The objection is also made against the storage battery car that in severe winter weather the ice and snow render it difficult to operate. Now, I claim for my device that in such weather we can run the car all day after the road has been once or twice cleaned by a 50 horse-power car. The connecting brushes on the motor trucks keep the middle rail perfectly clear of debris. In the underground electric system a conduit is required, and underneath that a sewer to carry away the waste and debris. The cost of putting down a road like that would be very expensive. Now, we will suppose my system were adopted for the Jefferson avenue line. The tracks on that street were laid with the expectation of using electricity at some time or other. The extra expense would be less than if the overhead trolley system were to be put in. There would be only the laying of the middle rail, running the wire either under or above ground, and building or equipping the power house. The expense of operating would be about the same as that of the overhead system. A number of Detroit business firms have taken hold of the scheme and will form a stock company for its operation. Our primary intention is to build a road of our own outside the city limits, or inside if we can get in, and operate it with our system."

The Results in Victoria.

Remarks of the "Lindsay Post" on the Subject.

SOUTH VICTORIA.

Mr. Fairbairn has been re-elected in South Victoria by a majority of about 150, a very large increase over the result in the general election, and an advance on his majority a year ago December. The result will be claimed by the ministerialists as a approval by the farming community of the restrictionist and monopolistic policy championed by Mr. Fairbairn. Mr. Fairbairn by his speech in the House and by his vote showed that he would sacrifice the farmers to the monopolists—and if farmers are satisfied, well and good. It will also be claimed as a verdict against reciprocity; and if an agricultural constituency like South Victoria is satisfied with the N.P., and does not want reciprocity, very well again say all of us who hold a different view. We fear, however, that here as elsewhere the operations of the "boodling brigade" had no small share in securing the ministerial majority. The sudden appearance during the early days of this week of over a dozen notorious boodlers—some of them Dominion officials like Webster and Cosgrave—whose trail was apparent everywhere in the "December contest," made it clear that the Abbott government were going to carry the riding at no matter what cost. The "boodlers" were at work in all parts of the riding, and their handiwork is apparent.

Mr. Walters conducted an energetic and spirited canvass, and deserves great credit for his public spirit. He was ably and heartily supported in all parts of the riding. It was difficult to contend against the insidious influences of the railway bribe, and when this was supplemented by the boodle brigade it was evident that the riding would re-elect Fairbairn. It will hardly do for Ontario to point the finger of scorn at Langevinism and McGreevyism in Quebec.

NORTH VICTORIA.

Reports from the North Riding indicate that Mr. Hughes has been elected by about 60. The word went out that John Haggart was to be vindicated at all costs for the part Mr. Barron had taken in investigating his peccadilloes, and several cabinet ministers and grand functionaries of the ministerial camp spent an unusual amount of time in the riding. These were supplemented by an unscrupulous band of boodlers, and a determined effort was put forth to beat Barron at all hazards, and at no matter what cost. These tactics seem to have been successful. Mr. Barron made a successful fight against very heavy odds, and has fallen before the determination of John Haggart to have his revenge.

Mothers, are your daughters pale or sallow? Remember that the period when they are budding into womanhood is most critical; fortify their system for the change with Dr. William's Pink Pills, unsurpassed for the speedy cure of all troubles peculiar to females. A trial of a single box will convince you. Beware of imitations and take no substitute.

MRS. OSBORNE.

Her Husband's Sympathy Throughout—Mrs. Hargreaves' Forgiveness.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Florence Ethel Osborne was yesterday brought from Holloway jail to the Bow-street Police Court, where she was arraigned before Magistrate Sir John Bridge to answer the charge of perjury made against her in connection with the libel suit she brought against Mrs. Hargreave, who had charged her with the theft of a quantity of valuable jewelry. The court room was packed with friends of the Osbornes and Hargreaves and others. Mrs. Osborne was attended by her husband. She was dressed in black, and when she was placed in the prisoners' dock she wept bitterly, bowing her head in her hands.

Capt. Osborne stood beside his wife outside the dock and held one of her hands in his own, and strived to infuse her with courage to face the ordeal before her. C. F. Gill appeared for the Treasury to prosecute the charge. He produced the formal evidence of perjury as shown by the records of the higher court and then called as a witness Mrs. Hargreaves.

Mrs. Hargreaves repeated the evidence she had given in the trial of the libel suit. She stated that the jewelry had been restored to her and that all the costs incurred by her in defending the libel suit had been paid back to her.

The witness was then asked if she had seen Mrs. Osborne since the latter had returned to England and given herself up to the police. With every evidence of deep emotion Mrs. Hargreaves said she had visited her at the jail yesterday.

Mr. Spink, the jewrler, was called to give evidence regarding the purchase of the jewels. He identified Mrs. Osborne as the lady from whom he had bought the jewelry.

After further evidence had been taken the magistrate asked Mrs. Osborne if she had anything to say concerning the charges against her. She answered "no." The prisoner was then committed for trial.

PRETTY BUT NAUGHTY.

A Toronto Young Woman Charged With Altering Dominion Bank Bills.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—A pretty young woman named Catharine Rhodes, appeared in the Police Court yesterday charged with altering and uttering Dominion Bank bills. As bank experts had for some time noticed bills coming into them from three-eighths to half-an-inch shorter than an ordinary bill it was supposed to be an accident until there appeared to be some system in the affair and investigation showed that pieces had been skillfully cut out of the different bills and used to manufacture new ones. Catharine Rhodes is a daughter of a laborer on Wardell-street. She was remanded by the Police Magistrate.

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W.Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

The Commodore Entertained

Commodore A. V. Winnie of the A. C. A. was entertained by the local members of the A.C.A. to a supper in the Palace Restaurant, prepared by Mr. W. Bowman, Saturday evening, which was attended by a large number of canoeists and others. Col. H. C. Rogers acted as chairman, and Mr. E. B. Edwards filled the vice chair. The following canoeists were present from Toronto:—D. B. Jacques, Vice Commodore of Northern Division A.C.A., Geo. R. Baker, Commodore Toronto Canoe Club; H. Tilly, R. Bell, Egle, A. Bell, W. St. Croix, Harry Ford, Thos. Ellis, R. H. McMillan, J. W. Sparrow, and Mr. J. G. Edwards representing the Lindsay A.C.A. The local gentlemen present were Mayor Keadry, G. W. Hatton, R. M. Denistoun, J. H. Barnham, A. Elliott, Dr. Davies, T. A. Hoey, R. B. Rogers, J. W. T. Fairweather, Col. J. Z. Rogers and others. The following toasts were drunk by the canoeists, the first being the "A. C. A.," to which Commodore Winnie responded; "the visiting canoeists," was responded to by Commodore Baker, of Toronto Canoe Club, and J. G. Edwards, of Lindsay Canoe Club. "The Queen," and "President of the United States," was next heartily drunk, after which the happy gathering repaired to the Olympic Club Rooms, where an hour or two was spent in social enjoyment.

Police Court.

MONDAY, Feb. 14th.

At the police court this morning David Graham and Jas. Moore were charged with disturbing the Salvation Army service Saturday evening. The magistrate imposed a fine of $10, each or one month in gaol. They went up on the hill.

A coasting case was next disposed of. Two youths living on Elm street being fined $1. each for coasting on the hill on said street, contrary to bylaw in that behalf.

THE GRANGE-BREALLY CASE.

After many postponements the information of threatening laid against J. J. Brealey by Andrew Young, Wm. Stinton and J. S. Walton, and praying that he be bound over to keep the peace, came up for hearing. Mr. Stone appeared on behalf of the defendant, who was not present being, his counsel said, too ill to attend.

ANDREW YOUNG testified; is a member of Eathen Grange, he had heard threats against members of the Grange. He thought Brealey was an unsafe person to be around. Saw him—Jan. 8th—at Grange hall with Winchester rifle. It was loaded. Brealey came to the door and told members of the Grange to stand back. He thought Brealey was there with the intention of shooting somebody.—One of the members caught the rifle and took it from Brealey. He personally heard no threats from Brealey as to shooting him. He was afraid he would shoot some one. He thought Brealey was serious in his threats. Witness had reason to believe from his threats that Brealey would do him some bodily harm. To Mr. Stone, witness said he was at the hall by appointment. Had made arrangements with Swinton and Walton to be there. There was an agreement among them to thresh Brealey. He took the horsewhip himself with which the threshing was done—a black snake whip not loaded. They took their dinners with them. Swinton and Walton took Brealey's coat off to search him. Walton laid hands on him first. No one struck him with their fists. Witness told them that Brealey had got enough and to stop trashing him. They asked Brealey had he enough and he said "pelt away." The Grange passed a resolution that they would bear costs of prosecuting Brealey. Had no fear of Brealey hurting him outside of Grange Hall.

ANDREW DUNLOP met Brealey on Jan. 18. He spoke of Walter Swinton and Young. He said he had been at the hall, and had his rifle taken from him, and was going to town to get a rifle to shoot the three of them. He thought Brealey would go back and shoot.

J. GRADY, saw Brealey on Jan. 18. He said he was going to the Grange Hall. He said there was going to be a meeting that night, and if any one came he would use the rifle. He had a gun case. He seemed to be determined.

At the conclusion of the evidence the magistrate remarked that there was a way to settle the ownership of the hall without proceeding to unlawful acts. On the evidence it was shown that the law had been violated by both parties, and both should be bound over to keep the peace.

Mr. EDWARDS said they could not bind them over without an information being laid.

J. J. Brealy was bound over, himself in the sum of $500, and two securities of $250 each.

Address and Presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Tebb Remembered by the Charlotte Street Church Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Tebb, who are about to leave town for British Columbia, were presented with an address and a handsome travelling companion by the teachers and officials of the Charlotte street Methodist church Sunday School, Friday evening. Refreshments were served in the school room, after which the pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Edwards, opened the meeting with the usual devotional exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Tebb were then invited forward, and Mrs. A. M. Price read the following address, the presentation being made on behalf of the officers and teachers, by Miss Brandreth:—

MR. AND MRS. A. TEBB,

We have learned with unfeigned regret of your intention to leave this section of our country, thereby severing your connection with us; therefore we avail ourselves of this occasion to express in some degree the esteem with which we regarded you in your official capacity in our Sabbath school and our admiration for your private character. We look back on the period during which we have been associated with you in this work with sincerest pleasure; we recollect your efforts with grateful remembrance, and we learn of your resignation as assistant superintendent and as teacher in our midst with sincere regret. The teachers and officers of this school have requested us to present you with this combined valise and gentleman's companion as a token of the mutual admiration and esteem for yourself and of their gratitude to your unremitting labors for the success of our school. Let it ever be a constant "grip" in your remembrance of us, not recollecting the occasional discussions we have often shared and in which your presence always had a palliating effect, but rather the halcyon days of Christian fellowship and sanctified effort. We hope to have you with us again, but if an all-wise Providence commands it otherwise we commend you to His care and blessing, knowing that your constant prayers shall ever be as a benediction to us who, though separated through our material nature, are one in spirit.

The present referred to in the address was the appropriate one of an elegant combined travelling companion, in leather.

Mr. Tebb after recovering from his surprise made a feeling reply, acknowledging the address and present, and expressing his deep regret at having to sever his connection with the Sunday school. The Pastor and Mr. O. C. Rowe, ex-superintendent of the school also referred, in a few well-timed remarks to the loss the school would sustain by their removal to British Columbia.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

The Young Men's Rally on Saturday night was led by Mr. A. J. Hamilton and was a source of blessing to all.

Sabbath morning Consecration meeting was held as usual in the Association library. Topic, the new covenant, and was fairly well attended.

The four o'clock afternoon meeting was conducted by Mr. James Sutherland who spoke from Exodus 14, 14. The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace. It was a very earnest and practical address.

Mr. Isaac Richardson addressed the Gospel and Song Service in the evening, speaking on 1 at opportunities, taking his text from Gal. 7. 10. The chair was occupied by Mr. Geo. Gilchrist in the absence of Mr. Coville.

Do not forget the grand rally for young men to-morrow evening when Messrs F. J. Fedarb, of Ottawa, and one of Peterborough's old Y.M.C.A. secretary's G. E. Williams, of Kingston, will address the meeting. Come boys and bring another with you.

AUDITORS—Thos. M. Hunter, Robt. Waterman.

CARNIVAL.—The carnival that took place on Tuesday evening last was a decided success. The Millbrook Citizens' Band was in attendance and furnished excellent music during the evening. Mrs. G. E. Elliott, of Smith, R. D. Dundas, T. M. Hunter, and Misses. Laing and Bidgood acted as judges in awarding the prizes. There were a large number of skaters in costume from Peterborough, Millbrook, Fraserville, Ida, Cavanville, together with our local skaters. The ice was in splendid condition and as the evening was everything that could be desired for driving, there was a large attendance from all quarters. The judges succeeded in their selection of those that were entitled to the prizes about nine o'clock, after which the freedom of the rink was given to all. Mr. Tully is to be highly commended for his enterprise in furnishing such an enjoyable source of pleasure to the villagers and people of the community and there is no doubt that it will be an epoch in the history of the village long to be remembered by all. The following are the names of those who were successful in obtaining prizes:—Best dressed gentleman (fancy costume), Joseph Sanderson, Cavan, as Undergraduate; comic costume, Herb. Snowdon, Peterborough, Clown; boy under twelve years, Harry Duncan, Peterborough; ladies' fancy costume, Miss Goodfellow, Fraserville, as Turkish Lady; comic costume, R. Robertson, Cavan, as Indian Woman; girl under twelve years, Miss Annie Baptie, Springville, Little Red Riding Hood. The carnival race was keenly contested by a large number of boys under twelve, the prize being a suit of clothes presented by Gough Bros., of Peterborough, which was won by Russel Goodfellow, of Fraserville. The following is a list of those in costume:—

Louis Hutchinson.....Highlander
F. E. Wilson.....New Orleans' Dude
Joseph Sanderson.....Undergraduate Bert Fitzgerald.....Clown
George Hooten.....Irishman
J. H. Anderson.....Worst Skater on Ice
Alf. Reynolds.....Muldoon, the Fireman

Purify the blood in importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditad and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Sunday Services at St. John's

Reference to the Terribly Sudden Death of Rev. Rural Dean Davidson, Father of Rev. J. G. Davidson, Rector—Reference to the Sad Event in the Evening Sermon—An Example of Devotion to Duty.

Yesterday at St. John's the services were tinged by the sad death of Rev. Canon Davidson, particulars of which appear in another column. At the morning services the hymns selected had special reference to the sad event. At the offertory the organ voluntary was Mendelssohn's "O Rest in the Lord"—Elijah—and the closing voluntary was the "Dead March in Saul."

In the evening, notwithstanding the stormy weather, there was a good congregation. The services were conducted by Rev C. B. Kenrick, who also preached the sermon. He announced as his text a part of the third verse of the second chapter of St. Paul's second epistle to Timothy:—

"A GOOD SOLDIER OF JESUS CHRIST."

The preacher said that according to request of the Rector he would record some of his impressions of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood convention, now being held in Toronto. He had, he said, seen enough at the convention from which he had been compelled to absent himself in order to conduct the services here, to form some idea of the great amount of intense earnestness, devotion and spirituality called forth by this wonderful movement. There had been a marvelous improvement made—greater interest, earnestness, manliness and spirituality. The speaker predicted that this movement would revolutionize the church and make it more like what Christ wished it to be. It was a movement that began in a very humble way in a small Bible class in Chicago a few years ago, but it had since taken root in every diocese in the American Union and in Canada the number of members amounted to 600 and the number of chapters had doubled since the last annual convention The St. Andrew's Brotherhood was destined to take away the reproach of coldness and indifference of the Church of England towards young men and to give them a more cordial welcome, and a more active part in the work of spreading the gospel of Jesus Christ. The convention was referred to as a gathering of met in desperate earnest to do what they could for God and His church and one attending the convention was inspired by the proceedings, the earnest hearty singing of the hymns and the stirring addresses of the bishops who were present, and of the distinguished delegates from the United States Brotherhood. But, the preacher said, though the eloquence of the most able bishop thrilled the convention and though the members were carried away by the speeches after, there was one man that made the most lasting impression of any—the man that ministers to you in spiritual things, the Rector of Peterborough, Rev. Mr Davidson, had been selected, much against his will, to preside at one of the most important conferences of the Convention. Having consented, he went up to Toronto on Thursday, full of zeal for performing the duty assigned him. He had made every arrangement for carrying out the proceedings of the conference in the most complete manner possible. In the morning he was called to the telephone, but as that was not of itself an unusual thing, and as Mr. Davidson said nothing of the cause of his being summoned nothing was thought of it. At 2 o'clock he returned to the convention and made all the necessary arrangements, among other things selecting with the speaker (Rev. Mr. Kenrick) the hymns to be sung, one of which—"Stand Up, Stand Up, for Jesus," would, the preacher said, be sung (as it was) at the close of the service. He then took the chair and conducted the conference of the convention with wonderful energy, tact and foresight, making a clear and forcible summary at the conclusion of the discussion of each subject, and in every way admirably conducting one of the most successful conferences of the convention. At the close of the discussion Rev. Mr. Davidson said that he threw himself upon the consideration of the convention, and went on to say that life was real and earnest and enjoined all present to earnest effort.

"Let us all go heartily into this work. Let us live and work for God while we have time. I have just come from the death bed of my father. He was with us this morning taking part in our meeting, and now he lies dead, still wearing the cross of St. Andrew," (with which he had lately been invested) "and he will wear it to his grave. I have tried to do my duty ——" Here under the crushing pressure of emotion, eluding the sympathy of those around him and, breaking away from those who sought to comfort him, left St. James' school room and was seen no more.

The speaker said the scene was indescribable. The whole convention was deeply impressed and affected—strong men bursting into tears. So great was Rev. Mr. Davidson's sense of duty that, in order not to disarrange the work of the convention, he had not told the sad facts to any person, not even his own brother, and had even taken the forethought to have his sisters, who were present, leave the room before he made the announcement of his father's death. A distinguished delegate from Philadelphia said he had never seen a higher instance of Christian heroism.

The preacher said he had alluded to this circumstance, not from considerations of personal friendship for the rector—not to praise the action, for he knew that Mr. Davidson would, on his own account, have desired no reference to it, but he referred to it as an example of unselfish devotion to Christian duty, as an example of Christian manhood and heroism worthy of the most earnest emulation. The speaker urged the claims of St. Andrew's Brotherhood upon the members of the congregation. Membership in it was not exclusively confined to men young in years, but it was open to all who were young in heart as was the late lamented Canon Davidson, and the speaker added that he could not conclude in a more appropriate manner than by quoting the words of Canon Davidson to a well-known member of St. Andrew's Brotherhood in Peterborough. The night before his death he said to the young men:—

"I am old and can't do much. You young men must work."

"Why, Mr. Davidson, are you ill?"

"Yes, I am ill; and I can't do much more work—you young men must do it."

As the congregation retired the organ pealed forth the notes of Chopin's funeral march.

Successful Anniversary Services

Held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church—The Morning Service to the Children—Rev. Mr. Baker's Pointed and Suitable Address—The Open Meeting in the Afternoon—An Evening Talk to Parents.

The anniversary services in connection with the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Sunday school began in the church yesterday morning, when a large congregation, largely composed of children of the Sunday school, assembled to listen to a sermon by Rev. E. N. Baker, M.A., B.D., Port Hope. After the usual devotional exercises the preacher began his address by saying how cheering it was to see so many bright pleasant faces at church. The ideal congregation was that composed of parents and children. He, the speaker, was a great enthusiast in Sunday school work and thought it was the grandest of the institutions of the church yet he would rather see it abolished than have it take the place of the morning services of the church. The seed sown in youthful hearts in church might and would with God's blessing, bear abundant fruit in after years. The speaker took for his text the fifth commandment—"Honour thy father and mother." Honouring, the speaker explained, involved respect, love, obedience and reverence. Respect meant looking up to fathers and mothers and paying attention to their wishes and commands. The boy that called his father, the "old man," "the boss" or "the governor," though he might say he meant no disrespect, would if the habit were persisted in, think as he spoke, and finally act as he spoke. The girl who respected her mother, would not allow her to do the dirty work in the kitchen, while she, the daughter, idly dawdled in the parlour.

RESPECT ON THE PART OF CHILDREN

begot love from their parents. The secret of a young man or young woman's success was to put their hands in that of God and follow his leading. The story of Joseph as an example of filial respect for his father and its reward was given. Respect, begat love and obedience was one of the fruits of love, the obedience that is prompt and cheerful is the most commendable. Those children who were respectful, loving and obedient, would reverence their parents. Children should yield honour to their parents, because it was God's command. The children, the preacher pointed out, belonged to Jesus, and if we do our duty as parents teachers and preachers, they would grow up and be kept for Christ. Another reason for honouring father and mother was "that thy days may be long in the land" and the speaker digressed to say that Ontario was pre-eminently a land worth living long in, its laws, its respect for the Sabbath day; its financial standing, its thrift and prosperity and material progressiveness constituted reasons why any lad should desire to grow to an old age in such a land. Many children might have parents who acted in such a manner that the child could not respect them, but they could love them, and by persistently loving them, they might win them to a better life. The address throughout was telling in its simplicity very judiciously adapted to the capacity of the children, still many older heads must have learned much from the plain pointed lessons it taught.

The Afternoon Meeting.

At the afternoon children's service the middle seating space of the church was filled with the children of the Sunday school, and there was, besides, a good attendance of the parents and friends of the school. The choir was present and led the spirited singing between the addresses. The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. A. Babcock, assistant superintendent.

Mr. O. C. Rowan, late superintendent, made a brief speech. He said it was indeed a pleasure, after nine weeks' illness, to look upon the bright faces of the children. He referred to the great losses sustained by the school in the death of some of the most efficient teachers and some of the best pupils of the school. He took the word "Sail," and drew lessons from the words whose initial letters it contained. The first word was "Authority" and the lesson of practising what we professed was drawn from it. The next word was "affection," the third "love" and the fourth was "truth." The several lessons suggested by these words were impressed upon the children. Boys who cultivated sincerity, affection, love and truth, would not be found smoking cigarettes or stumps of cigars, and drinking at the bars, and the girls who cultivated the same virtues, would not find their way to progressive euchre and card parties and to carnivals where they play "silly billy," but would make grand earnest helpful women.

Mr. A. McCallum gave a brief address. He emphasized the importance of girls and boys being properly equipped for the battle of life, which he summed up in the admonition — to seek first the Kingdom of Heaven and all things would be added — shunning bad company, bad habits, and seeking to learn from the Scriptures what would comfort and help them in the affairs of life.

Rev. Mr. Baker gave a short address on "What Girls and Boys Think About"—about getting big, and what they will do when they grow big, and how successful they will be; how they will be free from all bad habits, and what good Christians they will be. All these aspirations might be realized, but they must be more than thought of, they must act. They must be good, and pure and true when they were boys. The struggle for success must begin now. The thoroughness with which boys and girls performed their present duties, they would be building up character which would last them through life.

The Evening Service.

In the evening there was again a good congregation, consisting chiefly of adults. After giving a resume of the morning address to children Rev. Mr. Baker took for his text the text:

"Fathers, provoke not your children to wrath."

The address was a complement to the morning sermon, and was addressed to parents, chiefly fathers, pointing out their duty towards their children and the tremendous responsibility that rested upon them in the training of the children committed to their care. Parents could give the best teaching by example. Let them first get in the right way and ask their children to follow them. The address was simple, entirely practical and was full of apt, illustration and incident that served to deeply impress upon his hearers the injunction given. Rev. Mr. Baker has evidently thought out and lived his subject thoroughly, and is pre-eminently qualified to deal with it. His addresses particularly emphasised the fact that sermons in simple language, and in familiar colloquial style are more really effective than are set-stilted discourses. If earnest practical work is needed anywhere it is in the field of Christian work.

TO BE CONTINUED TO NIGHT.

The anniversary celebration will be continued this evening, when Rev. E. N. Baker, M.A., B.D., will deliver his lecture, "Rambles in Rome," being a recital of his personal observations. The admission tickets are placed at 15 cents each—two for 25 cents.

Children's Sunday

At the Murray Street Baptist Church.

Yesterday was children's Sunday at the Baptist church, that is the pastor delivered a special sermon, or rather familiar talk adapted to the capacity and wants of the little folks.

The children occupied the middle seats of the church. Owing however to the severe weather there was not as full an attendance of the children as would have been under more favourable conditions. One of the pleasant features of the service was the bright hearty, stirring singing of Sunday school hymns by the children. The address of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Trotter, was an admirable one. He took for his text the words of the Psalmist, "For we are fearfully and wonderfully made," using his watch as a parable to elucidate his subject. He pointed out to the children the construction of the watch and how intricate and delicate was its internal organization compared to the outer case. In like manner the body and inner spirit of the children were explained. Emphasis was placed upon the absolute importance of keeping the inner part of the watch pure and clean, and it was shown that the same applied to the human being. If the inner force or soul was kept pure and clean then all the functions of life, especially in a moral sense would be effectively performed. If the inner part of a watch were out of order and became deranged it was entrusted to the maker or a man of equivalent skill for repair. If the inner life of a boy or girl became deranged through the fouling effects of sin, the great Maker was the only source from which effective and perfect help could come. The moral lessons were given in a very simple, earnest, direct and practical manner, and the children were much edified and instructed by the important truths which the preacher so clearly and plainly put before them.

1892 VALENTINES

Grotesque and Sentimental Designs for Cupid's Use.

AN ANCIENT CUSTOM.

The Latest Designs—Endless Variety of Artistic Novelties and Bad Verses to Make The Letter Carrier and P.O. Clerk's Life Miserable for Several Days.

AINT VALENTINE'S DAY, the 14th of February, is still looked forward to with great interest by a large number of young people of both sexes. In this practical age it is not invested with its former halo of romance. Nevertheless, several large manufacturers get up new designs every year and sell enormous numbers of valentines to stationers and notion dealers throughout the country. Everywhere the festival has degenerated and it is now only observed in England, Canada and the United States.

St. Valentine, who was a priest of Rome in the third century, had, if history speaks truly, a pretty hard time of it. He met his death by being first beaten with clubs and then being beheaded. It is not very clear why valentines should be so called. It probably arose from the practice at a pagan festival where there was a sort of lottery. The names of young women were put in a box and were drawn by the men. In later years, after the introduction of Christianity, the names of saints were substituted and St. Valentine is supposed to have come into prominence about that period.

This lottery idea was kept up until comparatively recent times in England and Scotland. An equal number of maids and bachelors would draw names and each name was his or her valentine as the case might be. Even without the lottery arrangement it was supposed that the first unmarried person of the other other sex whom one met on St. Valentine's morning was a destined wife for a destined husband.

The ridiculous colored cheap caricatures that persons who wish to hurt the feelings of others send on St. Valentine's Day show little change and variety from year to year, although new occupations call for new comic valentines. This year the indications are that the latter-carriers will have burdens of considerable weight on St. Valentine's Day. The principal manufacturers have prepared a number of handsome and novel designs. One valentine called "Love Laughs at Locksmiths" is a decided novelty and is especially attractive. It is of decorated alligator card-board in variegated tints. It represents a practical hinged door with the figure of Cupid as an illustration.

Another with a decorative alligator cardboard back has a beautifully tinted sky from which the figure of a bird is set off with fine effect. There is, of course, an appropriate motto with the valentine. A third variety is also of alligator cardboard on which is a back ground of sky and foliage. It is entitled "Love in a Cottage." The cottage is a separate piece sprung and attached at bottom with silk cord, giving a very novel and picturesque effect. Among these novelty valentines are "Signs of Love," a rustic sign with a motto and handsome landscape card; "Love's Gateway," which has a hinged gate with a figure of Cupid. The lace valentines, the designs of which are entirely new this season, are very dainty. Most of them have sprung fronts of gold lace paper, with ribbon and other ornaments and easel backs. Other novelties in lace valentines are named "Messengers of Love," "Golden and Silver Gems," "Gems of Love," and "Love's Souvenirs." The sachet valentines are highly perfumed. One manufacturer offers a valentine, comic, pointed, and satirical, but at the same time free from all coarseness and vulgarity. These are styled "Elite Card Comics." The names given by valentine manufacturers to some of their varieties are quite amusing, such as "Sharp Darts," "Hit 'Em Hards," "Fault Finders," and "Long Jokers."

Valentines that are likely to be very popular are of silver sheet mounted upon a second silver sheet or satin design—the whole upon a gold sheet foundation. Then there is another of white lace paper on engraved lithograph lift mounted on colored or gold ground. An endless variety of what are called "specialty" valentines will be popular this season. These include some rich designs, the retail price of which will be $5. Those of fan-shaped plush and painted satin, with movable center and a painted ivorine piece with a rich silk and ribbon border. Among these more expensive articles there are large shirred satin hearts with shirred satin corners; hand-painted boat filled with roses; fringed satin banner with shirred satin folds; emblematic form of letter V and horseshoe, painted; portiere effect with satin drapery and diamond pins; silk and plush butterfly, jewel eyes, painted, and a rich banner with painted ivorine feld with jeweled center.

"LOVE LAUGHS AT LOCKSMITHS."

There are valentine cards also, such as "Beauty's Eyes," "Rose Softly Blooming," "Queen of My Heart," "An Old Garden,"

LOVE IN A COTTAGE.

"My Lady's Bower;" to say nothing of "Sweet Memories," "This My Love Assures," "Love's Kingdom" and "Love's Rhapsodies."

The love-sick swain or maiden will certainly have an extensive variety of valentines to choose from this year. The pleasant custom will live for many years to come, although the poetry of the valentine is deteriorating since Drayton, a poet of Shakespeare's time, sung:

Muse bid the morn awake,
Sad Winter now declines;
Each bird doth choose a mate
This day's St. Valentine's.

Gay, the author of a "Beggar's Opera," who wrote a poem on Valentine's Day, refers very pointedly to the tradition which is the basis of the ancient custom:

Thee first I spied and the first swain we see
In spite of fortune shall our true-love be.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,

"August Flower"

What is It For?

This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

VOYAGES TO THE MOON.

THESE NOVEL EXPEDITIONS MADE POSSIBLE AND EASY.

The Famous, Instructive, and Entertaining Exhibitions of the Urania Scientific Theater of Berlin to Be Reproduced and Presented in New York.

HAT is not possible in these days?

All aboard for a trip to the moon!

Such is the opportunity that will, says the New York Herald, within a few weeks, be offered to every adventurous New Yorker. Such, too, has been the recent development of science that the voyage is now within the possibilities, and it will be performed, too, without serious inconvenience or unnecessary hardship.

Unlike those unfortunates of Jules Verne's narrative—who made the first authentic attempt to reach the silver disk—the present expedition will not start off from this sphere with a big bang. The discovery amounts to nothing short of bringing the huge planet down to earth.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN FROM THE MOON.

Carnegie Music Hall is to be the locality where this later day marvel will transpire. This has been figured to a mathematical nicety by Mr. Morris Reno, president of the Music Hall Company, assisted by the eminent scientist, Dr. Wilhelm Meyer, of the Urania Scientific Theater, of Berlin, and Mr. Wilhelm Kranz, the artistic director of the same theater. There is no chance of a miscalculation. The trips will be given with as unfailing a regularity as eclipses and transits of Venus are foretold.

As described by Mr. Reno, the plan is an attempt to popularize science and to explain lucidly some of the simple and ordinary but to the people at large perplexing phenomena of nature.

FULLY EXPLAINED.

The display will be accompanied by a lecture of explanation. This is simple and exceedingly entertaining. The exhibition itself is divided into three acts and ten separate and distinct scenes, all of which are much more elaborate and costly than those used in Berlin.

The first scene presented to the audience represents the solar eclipse which occurred in the vicinity of Berlin in August, 1877. The landscape reproduced is that near the German capital. The hour is just before sunrise, and the opening scene is enshrouded in gloom that gradually lightens. The effects of the eclipse are introduced in detail from the first moment to the last, including the solar corona, only visible during the moment of a total eclipse, and the tongues of flames, or protuberances.

The second scene represents the same phenomena, a solar eclipse as seen from a sub-terrestial point of view. The audience is transported to a point about eighty thousand miles distant from the earth in this scene, which pictures a starry sky, profoundly dark. The phenomena of the eclipse as presented from this point in space is such that any one can understand the ruling conditions.

Scene three represents an eclipse of the moon as seen in space. By this time the voyagers are one hundred and twenty thousand miles from the earth, which appears as a full globe upon which the continents and oceans are yet clearly distinguishable. The moon also is in sight, and upon each the suns rays fall. In the fourth scene the moon is represented at a distance of but 4,800 miles.

TO THE MOON AT LAST.

Scene five introduces the second act of the marvellous trip, and represents a lunar landscape a few miles from the surface of the moon in the vicinity of the two ring mountains Aristarchus and Herodotus. The surface is reached a few minutes later, and many novelties are introduced to the traveller, including bleak deserts and lifeless wildernesses of mountains, lit by a singular light. Blinding light rests upon the mountain walls turned toward the sun, while the valleys are enshrouded in pitchy darkness, showing that the moon lacks an atmosphere.

A solar eclipse of the moon is next represented. The disc of the earth appears hanging darkened in a starry sky, showing only a narrow crescent near the horizon. The stars rise gradually upon the landscape and finally the sun appears from behind the earth. The final scenes of this most interesting exhibition are represented from the earth to which the travellers have returned.

THE RISING EARTH.

One of these is a lunar eclipse as observed from the Scottish Highlands. This shows the after glow that follows the setting sun in the high latitudes and altitudes. Following this the moon rises and the eclipse follows.

The concluding scene of all represents a sun-set in the Indian Ocean from the volcanic island of St. Paul. The instructive entertainment, therefore, follows the sun from its rising to its rest, with all the attendant phenomena.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past 30 years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed."—T. P. Bonner, Chester, Pa. Ayer's Pills are sold by all druggists.

Cure for A Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package. dw

A Wonderful Change.

GENTLEMEN,—For twenty years I suffered from rheumatism, dyspepsia, poor appetite, etc., and received no benefit from the many medicines I tried, but after taking five bottles of B. B. B. I can eat heartily of any food, and am strong and smart. It is a grand medicine and has made a wonderful change in my health.

THE CLERGY TAKE A HAND

Important Utterances by Montreal Priests Regarding the Elections.

MONTREAL, Feb. 15.—The only development in the slate political during the past week took place yesterday, when in all the English and French Catholic churches throughout the city a mandement was read signed by all bishops of the province, denouncing political corruption and threatening excommunication against all who either gave or accepted bribes, whether in the shape of money or liquor. All persons are forbidden, under pain of anathema, from buying or selling liquor, not only on election day, but for three days before and after the contest. As the great majority of the liquor men in Montreal are Catholics, this means a practical closing of the saloons for a week.

TO AWE THE KHEDIVE.

England and Her Allies to Go France and Russia Several Better.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—There is something portentious in the simultaneous assembling in the Levant of the fleets of the great powers since it became known that the French and Russian squadrons in the Mediterranaan are going to Alexandria. Orders have been sent to the Austrian Admiral Rohrschedit, now at Symnra, to sail with his fine warship for the Pirus, where his squadron will be joined by two Italian ironclads and a division of the German squadron. Within a fortnight the united squadrons of the Dreibund will be within operating distance of the English fleet at Alexandria. If France's design is to impress the Khedive by a naval demonstration, England and her allies are ready to make a more impressive demonstration.

PARIS GOURMANDS.

Fillet of Horse or Donkey Ten Pence Per Pound.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The rise in the price of beef and mutton caused by the new tariff has led to an enormous demand for horseflesh in Paris. According to a report of the police prefecture the horses, mules and asses now slaughtered represent over one-third of the whole quantity of meat consumed. Prices current (retail):

Fillet of horse or donkey, 10 pence per pound.

Steak, 7 pence per pound.

Inferior parts, 2 pence per pound.

Worn-out animals are rising in value and are being bought everywhere within a radius of 300 miles of Paris.

Davitt Makes a Speech.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Michael Davitt in a speech at Middleton yesterday, said it was generally known that Irish properties were not mortgaged to English bankers and others to the extent of £100,000,000.

He announced that he would not run for Parliament again befor the general elections.

Civil War in Khartoum.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—According to advices from Egypt, civil war is raging in Khartoum and vicinity.

Cherif, the claimant of the Whaliphat, is said to have been victorious in some battles against Abdallah, chief of the Baggara tribe.

Kassala is reported depopulated.

Robbery and Flight With a Woman.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—A sensation has been caused here by the disappearance of a prominent jeweler, who, it is alleged stole 875,000 francs from the safe of the firm of which his deceased father was a member, and decamped. It is said he had fled to England in company of a woman.

In the Nation of Traders.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—It is announced that two "drawing rooms" will be held in May, and two levees after Easter. The Times comments upon what it terms "the Queen's kindly sacrifice of private feelings for the sake of London tradesmen."

Settled by a Compromise.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The coal porters strike is over. A compromise was arranged.

The German Anarchists.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—The enquiry into the status of the Berlin Anarchists shows that they are formed in 11 groups, numbering 254 persons in all, with connections throughout Germany. They have met in secrecy in garrets and cellars. Meetings with an attendance as large as 200 have been held unknown to the police. Their finances are slender, only 90 marks monthly being received. It has been agreed to employ counsel to defend the Anarchists recently arrested.

Lost With Her Crew of 38 Men.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The identity of the ship seen burning on Jan. 16 about 1200 miles southwest of Cape Clear, Ireland, or nearly in mid-ocean, has been established. She was the Nova Scotian clipper Loodiana, which left this port with a large cargo of refined petroleum in cases Dec. 31. She was commanded by Capt. Boyd and carried a crew of 38 men. She is the only oil ship overdue at a European port and there is no doubt she was the vessel that the steamship Egyptian Monarch passed Jan. 16.

A Pastoral from Pope Leo of Interest to Roman Catholics.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—In all the Catholic churches of Ottawa archdiocese a pastoral was read yesterday announcing that Pope Leo, owing to the prevalence of grip, had decided to countermand Lenten regulations and also to permit the faithful to partake of flesh meat on Fridays until farther notice.

WILL SHORTLY BE BUILT.

That Electric Road From Queenston to the Falls and Fort Erie.

NIAGARA FALLS, Feb. 15.—Considerable interest has been manifested here regarding the proposed electric railway to be built along the Canadian bank of the Niagara River under the name of the Niagara Falls & River Railway Company, from Queenston through Victoria Park to Chippewa. The survey has been made, the line located and a large amount of rails, ties and material is already on the ground. Yesterday James Ross went over the entire proposed line. Mr. Ross was chief engineer of the Mountain division of the Canadian Pacific and made himself famous by the construction of that line through the Rocky Mountains in 1883 and 1884. Messrs. Kingsmill and Hammond of Toronto and Mr. Hendrie of Hamilton, together with Engineer Jennings, also went over the proposed electric line. The party departed via the New York Central and Grand Trunk for Toronto.

THE END IS NOT YET.

The Dominion Commissioners Still Conferring at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Canadian Reciprocity Commissioners, accompanied by Secretaries Blaine and Elkins and Sir Julian Pauncefote, called at the White House Saturday and were formally presented to the President. They met at Secretary Blaine's house at 11 o'clock, and their call lasted about half an hour. The visit was merely for the purpose of paying respects, and there was no discussion of the essential question under consideration.

At the close of yesterday's meeting at the State Department, it was decided to hold the next session on Monday, when the negotiations will be continued. There is no means of ascertaining at present how much longer the conference will be continued.

It is rumored that the adjournment until Monday was taken in order that the cables might be utilized towards obtaining from the Government at London some official expression giving the present negotiations the color of authority. At all events, it would appear from that adjournment that the proceedings are not quite closed as yet.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

HAVE LEFT WASHINGTON

THE RECIPROCITY COMMISSIONERS RETURN HOME.

The Associated Press Reports that No Treaty Has Been Concluded Owing to the Fact that the Commissioners Had No Power to Act.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Canadian reciprocity negotiations came to an end today. There was a session of about 2½ hours at the State Department, attended by Secretary Blaine and General Foster on the side of the United States and Sir Julian Pauncefote and the Canadian Commissioners on behalf of the applicants for reciprocal trade relations.

At the end of the meeting it was announced that negotiations were concluded and that the visitors would leave here for Canada to-night.

The State Department officials refuse to make known the result of the conference, but it is believed that the visitors were unsuccessful in their mission, principally because of their alleged failure to satisfy representatives of this Government that they were authorized to conclude a commercial treaty independent of the direct interests of Great Britain.

The proposition of the Canadians, so it is understood, was that a treaty be concluded on the following basis:

1. A renewal of reciprocity treaty of 1854, with the modifications required by the altered circumstances of both countries.

2. A reconsideration of the treaty of 1888 with respect to the Atlantic fisheries, with the aim of securing the free admission into the United States markets of Canadian fishery products in return for facilities to be granted to United States fishermen to buy bait and supplies and to tranship their cargoes in Canada, all such privileges to be mutual.

3. The protection of mackerel and other fisheries on the Atlantic ocean and in the inland waters also.

4. The relaxation of the seaboard coasting laws of the two countries.

5. Of the coasting laws and inland waters dividing Canada from the United States.

6. Mutual salvage and saving of wrecked vessels.

7. Arrangements for settling the boundaries between Canada and Alaska.

BURNED THE CHURCH.

A Grecian Mob Maltreat Protestant Clergymen and Worshippers.

ATHENS, Feb. 16.—During the service at the Protestant Church at Piræus yesterday a mob of men forced their way to the interior of the building and severely maltreated the ministers and the audience. They stole everything of value in the church and then set fire to it.

A detachment of troops was sent to the scene and they succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until the inside of the church had been burned beyond repair.

Many members of the mob were arrested.

An Heir To Millions Killed in the Hunting Field.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Thomas Freake, the eldest son of Sir Thomas Freake, Bart., was thrown from his horse and killed while hunting with the Vale of White Horse, Cricklade, hounds, near Swindon. He was heir to an enormous fortune amassed by his grandfather, Sir Charles Freake. There is another son, Frederick, a lad of 11, who now becomes heir to the baronetcy. Sir Charles Freake left $4,000,000 in cash, besides much real estate.

The Queensland Government to Admit Polynesians as Plantation Laborers.

BRISBANE, Feb. 16.—A remarkable manifesto on the colored labor question, signed by the Premier, the Hon. Sir Samuel Walker Griffith, K.C.M.G., was published this morning. It begins by stating that the attention of the Government has been repeatedly directed to the very unsatisfactory condition of the sugar industry, through the difficulty of obtaining suitable labor, and states the intention of the Government to resume the admission of Polynesians as plantation laborers for a period of 10 years.

Short Bull, the leading medicine man of the Brule Sioux, who after the death of Sitting Bull became the principal figure in the Indian complications, is lying at the point of death in Glasgow, where he is with the Wild West show.

In the British House of Commons last night Mr. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, stated that the whole sum of £10,000,000 assigned for the purchase of land in Ireland under the Ashbourne Act had been absorbed. The pending application for advances, he added, amounted to £301,584 above the sum provided by the act.

Mrs. Amelia Alice Morrison, aged 83, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. William Antisdel, Gananoque, sat down in a rocking chair to rest. Mrs. Antisdel went down into the cellar and had just reached the cellar when she heard a fall. Coming up she found her mother dead on the floor.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

A DEBATE ON THE ANNEXATION MOVE.

Mr. Meredith Repudiates Sol. White of Essex, and the Latter Replies in His Defence, Claiming That it is Not a Political Question.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—The debate on the address at the Legislature yesterday afternoon was about the tamest circus that has been in town since incorporation, the only points that relieved it from criminal dulness being the allusion by the mover of the address to Mr. Sol. White's annexation propaganda, Mr. Meredith's repudiation on behalf of himself and his followers of any share in Mr. White's sentiments and Mr. White's subsequent defence of his position.

The House got at the consideration of the address about 3.30.

Mr. W. H. Biggar, West Hastings, opened by saying that he was not disappointed at the meagreness of the measures outlined in the speech from the throne because it was a surprise to him that after 20 years' of the Hon. Oliver's administration there was anything that required improvement. The reference in the speech from the throne to the death of the Duke of Clarence drew from Mr. Biggar the remark that there appeared to be certain persons in the country who were dissatisfied with their lot and would like to change their allegiance. There were no representatives of this class on his (Mr. Biggar's) side of the House, but there were on the other. He gave Mr. Meredith credit for having no sympathy with the sentiments of Mr. Sol. White, but they were of the same political stripe and it was only a confirmation of the old adage that misery makes strange bedfellows. Mr. Biggar comes from a county rich in mines, and it was therefore natural that he should have paid some attention to the mineral question.

The county of Hastings was rich in both gold and iron, but not much development had taken place, he said, because those working the mines were inclined to be extravagant. He expected a boom in the iron mining in view of the fact that recent discoveries had made it an easy task to eliminate the objectionable ingredients that were present in most Canadian irons. In connection with the Parliament buildings it caused Mr. Biggar a flash of pleasure that no boodling had ever taken place in connection with them.

To Mr. W. T. Lockhart fell the task of seconding the address. He thought the paragraph in the speech respecting a forest reservation and park in the Mattawa River meant the establishment of a provincial park similar to those in the various states in the American Union. He alluded to the rumors that were rife some time ago, that Mr. Meredith was to enter the Dominion Cabinet. There seemed to be some hitch in that program, however, and if the result would be to leave Mr. Meredith in his present post, he for one could not regret it. He freely admitted that gentleman's great ability, untiring industry and wholesome vigilance over the legislation of that House. Moreover, he was free from the taint of disloyalty that appertained to his political friend, Mr. White. Mr. Lockhart concluded with an expression of his satisfaction that the province was free from the boodling which had been disclosed in Ottawa and Quebec.

Mr. Meredith lost no time in preliminaries but at once challenged the good taste and propriety of the two gentlemen who had preceded him, but especially that of the mover, Mr. Biggar, in dragging in Dominion politics to that House. Mr. Biggar's halting admission that the Conservative party was probably loyal was not needed. The Conservative party in that House required no sponsor for its loyalty. He (Mr. Meredith) stated unhesitatingly that both parties in that House were loyal to the Crown. While stating so he felt that it scarcely lay in the mouth of a member of the party whose policy the foremost man of the Liberal party, Hon. Edward Blake, declared made for annexation to express his doubts of the loyalty of others.

Mr. Meredith went on to say that he regretted the stand taken by the member for North Essex (Mr. White), and on behalf of the Conservative party he utterly repudiated the sentiments which Mr. White had thought fit, from time to time, to express. Coming to Mr. Lockhart's allusion to corruption in Quebec, he wondered that he would have the hardihood to mention that when it was considered who was the author of the corruption. Did they forget that the compact of '87 was still unrepudiated? Mr. Lockhart's friends would hardly thank him for dragging in that unfortunate allusion and re-establishing their connection with the disgraced and dishonored Quebec politician. He regretted having to refer to these matters, but they had been forced on him by the remarks of the member for North Hastings.

With respect to farmers' institutes, which were mentioned in the speech from the throne, he could see a variety of useful work for them to perform if they were freed from the attempts that were being made to make them political clubs. In regard to the mineral policy of the Government he was anxious to ascertain what had been the effect of the policy adopted last session.

He was glad that the new Parliament Buildings were approaching completion, because at length they might possibly discover what they cost. He admitted freely that they promised to be a handsome pile of buildings, but they would remain chiefly as a monument to the astuteness of the Minister of Public Works, who had inveigled the representatives of the people into undertaking their construction in the belief that they would not cost more than half a million dollars. If they did not cost more than three times as much the province might consider itself fortunate.

Dealing with the reference in the Speech to the fee evil, Mr. Meredith expressed his fear that the Government's treatment of it would be very superficial. They would not go to the root of it. The system was full of scandals. In his own city of London the registry office had been without a head for three years, while they heard of officials enjoying incomes of thousands of dollars yearly who did not spend an hour a day in their offices.

The Premier Was Prompt.

When the leader of the Opposition sat down Mr. Mowat leaped to his feet with remarkable briskness. He at once took up Mr. Meredith's complaint about the introduction of Dominion politics into that House. Who had been the first to introduce Dominion politics there? The Opposition, to be sure. He listened with pleasure to his hon. friend's remarks with respect to loyalty. He believed that the great mass of the people, with individual exceptions here and there, were unreservedly loyal. During the long time he had been a member of that House he had never heard a disloyal word uttered. Passing from that he touched lightly on other points in the Speech and on Mr. Meredith's criticism. The Parliament buildings, he said, would not cost more than a million and a quarter. He defended the fee system of paying public officers. It was the most equitable. A man then was paid just for the work he did. The case cited by Mr. Meredith had no weight. The people were not suffering. The deputy registrar in London had done the work. It was not unusual for public offices to remain for a long time unfilled. The collectorship of Toronto had remained unfilled for two or three years. He concluded by hoping they would have an active session of useful work.

Sol Defends Himself.

There was a pause after Mr. Mowat sat down and it looked as if the address was going to go through without further criticism. Just when Mr. Speaker was thinking of rising Mr. Sol. White, on whom all eyes were centered, rose slowly and apparently quite unembarrassed. He would not, he said, have offered any observations at this juncture had he not been attacked by the mover of the address. He had accepted an invitation to deliver a lecture at Woodstock on the destiny of the country. He went there as a son of Canada with a right to discuss her future. He was born in this country. He was a British subject. He had always been loyal to Canada's interests, and it was in studying those interests that he had engaged in the enquiry what was best for the future of this country. This, however, was not a political question and should not be discussed in the House.

Several members said "Oh, oh!" and retorting Sol. said: "If the real private opinions of those gentlemen who say 'oh, oh!' could be scrutinised it would perhaps be found that their views are not so unlike my own after all." Proceeding he said that Mr. Mowat stood just where he stood on this vital question. Mr. Mowat was in favor of British connection; so was he. Mr. Mowat thinks that unrestricted reciprocity will avert political union. The speaker did not think it would. Mr. Mowat declares in favor of independence by and by, and profiting by this declaration of their representative the men who were formerly annexationists in South Oxford now described themselves as independence men. He had no doubt the gentlemen on both sides were loyal, but it was not disloyal to discuss the destiny of the country.

Mr. Mowat's program meant separation by independence rather than by political union. Mr. Laurier at Boston had stated that he was in favor of unrestricted reciprocity and the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Laurier was thus inviting the Americans to enforce the Monroe doctrine. Unrestricted reciprocity would lead inevitably to annexation. The speaker preferred to adopt a course with his eyes open rather than be led up to it blindly. Premier Mowat did not bow to the lise on the question of British connection. He assents to discrimination against Britain and ultimately contemplates separation. We can get no trade treaty from the United States that does not mean annexation. He repeated again that his views should not concern the House. He was responsible to his constituents alone. They knew before the election what his views were. He had never repudiated them, yet he was elected by a large majority. It was not a subject germane to their duties as legislators and he would prefer that it had never been mentioned.

Balfour's Indignation.

Mr. Balfour, probably feeling that the reputation of Essex county was involved in the question, proceeded to drag down his colleague for the other half in proper style. He indignantly asked the House what it thought of a man who could tell them that this was not a political question. He declared that Mr. White had not always had the courage of his convictions. Before the last election he solemnly repudiated all his alleged convictions.

Mr. White: I deny that.

Mr. Balfour went on to say that it was enough to make Colonel Prince, the old Conservative representative of the riding, turn in his grave to have it represented by its present member. Mr. White had stated that he was an independent member at last election. Yes, he was an independent member because the policy of his leader was so unpopular in his riding that it meant political extinction to father it. This independent member was nominated by Secretary of State Patterson and seconded by the Tory Senator Casgrain. Mr. White would have them believe that his constituency approved of his annexation sentiment. Why, the County Council had condemned it by unanimous voice. If Mr. Meredith would put before the House a resolution condemnatory of Mr. White and his sentiments it would be voted for by every man on the Reform side.

Mr. White: Is the advice free?

Mr. Balfour: The advice may be taken as freely as it is given. He ended by prophesying that when the electors of North Essex again got a chance of expressing an opinion of Mr. White they would snuff him out forever.

The motion for a reply to the address was then put and carried.

A committee was appointed to draft an address of condolence with Her Majesty.

Mr. Laurier in Toronto.

The eighth annual banquet of the Young Men's Liberal Club, held last evening in the Walker House, was a great success. It was graced by the appearance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who spoke eloquent words of encouragement. The Hon. David Mills was also present. Robert Jaffray declared himself in favor of open rebellion if such a course could rid the country of the present Government.

In the course of his address Mr. Laurier said he was on his way west to help his friend, M. C. Cameron, in West Huron.

The Liberal party, he admitted, had met with several reverses during the past week, but French as he was, he had still that characteristic possessed by all true Englishmen the faculty of never knowing when one is beaten.

Some had averred that the Conservative Government at Ottawa would have a majority of 50 in the next Parliament, but he did not care whether that number were doubled, yet would he be as buoyant and hopeful as when victory was attendant upon the Liberal banner; yet would he and his colleagues vigilantly guard the interests and rights of Canada.

Death of Dr. Pirrette.

In the death of Rev. William Pirritte, D.D., which took place at the parsonage, Davenport, last night, the Methodist Church has lost the services of a man whose whole career has been one continuous vindication of the faith in which he sincerely believed.

Mr. Pirritte was born at Kingston, where his father was an officer in the 79th Highlanders, in July, 1826.

Dr. Pirritte was an eloquent and forceful preacher. There will be sincere grief in many Methodist circles throughout Canada when the news of his death is known.

Profitable Nature of the Sales of Public Land Recently Held

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—In all 15,023 acres were disposed of at auction during the recent series of sales of Government lands in Manitoba, realizing the sum of $421,486, or an average price of $7.96 per acre. This was, therefore, the most profitable sale of school lands ever held in the province, as in the sale of 1888, when 20,000 acres were disposed of, the average price obtained was a little under $7 per acre. In many instances this year's school lands brought as high as $10 per acre, while none were sold at less than the upset price of $5 per acre, which was fixed by the experts who valued the lands before they were advertised for sale. The highest average was $9.32 per acre, realized by the Glenboro sale. In all cases the lands were sold to actual settlers for purposes of cultivation.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1892.

"CANADIANS are undoubtedly proud," says the Militia Gazette, "of the Royal Military College and the work it has done and is doing. It must not be forgotten, however, that the work is being done at very heavy expense to the community, and that each gentleman cadet maintained at the college last year cost the community nearly $850. If money can be found so readily for the education of the classes, it ought certainly to be obtainable for the instruction of the masses, and there ought to be sufficient left in the treasury to drill annually the militia force of the Dominion."

THE trade returns show that our total exports last year were $98,000,000, or precisely the same as they were ten years ago, and the total imports $119,967,000, or over $3,000,000 less than they were in 1875. Our aggregate trade with the United States last year is represented by $94,894,008, an increase over 1890 of $2,000,000. Our aggregate trade with Great Britain was $91,328,000, a decrease of nearly $500,000. The duty collected on imports from Great Britain was $1,313,000 in excess of the duty levied on imports from the United States, although the imports from the States were $11,000,000 more than from Great Britain.

Bye-Elections in the East.

The bye-elections held on Saturday in Digby, N. S., and King's, N. S., resulted in the re-election of Mr. Bowers and Dr. Borden, the Liberal members. The majority in Digby was increased by over 200, and in King's reduced by about 100. On the whole the Liberals have done exceedingly well in Nova Scotia. The unseated members on both sides have been re-elected, but in almost every case the Liberals have gained in the popular vote; in Halifax the gain was nearly 700. Money was doubtless spent freely, and the Halifax Herald waved the old flag as lustily and shrieked treason and disloyalty in as high a note as the Toronto Empire. The Liberals would have done still better if the courts had not aided their opponents by dismissing the petitions against two Ministers and several Tory members upon the most flimsy and technical grounds. If the judges acted fairly, and if their law was good, it is plain that the fault was in the election law, and that amendment is called for. The Tories have had equally good luck in the courts of New Brunswick. A technicality has enabled Mr. Foster to hold a seat of which his tenure was considered so precarious that the Tories offered to abandon the petitions against three Liberal members if the Minister of Finance were left unmolested. Mr. Baird, who received a minority of the votes in Queens, N. B., in 1887, and was elected by the returning officer, was again beaten at the polls in 1891, and a few days ago was elected by the court. To minds less rabbit than those of New Brunswick lawyers, the proceeding looks like an outrageous travesty of justice. Mr. King was elected by a majority of 29. Mr. Baird protested the election and claimed the seat. Before the trial an arrangement was made by which Mr. King admitted 30 cases of bribery, but charged that bribery had also been committed by his opponents agents. The court was to strike off a vote for every case of bribery proved, and the candidate who, after this deduction, had the greatest number of votes was to take the seat. The court first struck off the 30 votes admitted by Mr. King to be bad, leaving him a minority of one. But when Mr. King proceeded to attack the votes of his opponent he was told that he had not given the necessary notice, and the seat was awarded to Mr. Baird.

North Victoria.

It may be interesting to know that the Government attribute their victory in North Victoria to the revision of the voters' lists, done when Mr. Barron was attending to his Parliamentary duties at Ottawa last session. Mr. Haggart, through a confidante, stated two days ago that he was certain of a majority for Hughes of 350. The Ministers of Railways had a personal feeling against Mr. Barron, and took a particular interest in the election. A thoughtful public man, speaking to-day of the bye-elections, said:—"The influence of the Federal Government in elections is very great, backed up as it is by the control of our railways and public works with offices and contracts to bestow. What was once said of the influence of the Crown in England may be said of the Federal power in our affairs, that it has increased, it is increasing and ought to be diminished. But great as is that power in a general election, it is more formidable in a bye-election, when its influence can be concentrated upon a point. At such a time all who are looking for Government favors of any sort know that the fate of the Government is not at stake, and, though they might desire a change of Ministry and would both hope and and work for it at a general election, at a bye-election would support the Ministerial candidate."

Bonusing Factories.

An attack will be made in the Legislature on the system of bonusing factories. Mr. Wood, of Brant, has already given notice of a bill to repeal the bonus clause of the municipal Act. This will throw the whole question before the Legislature, and an interesting discussion may be expected. If this privilege is withdrawn the municipalities will have themselves to blame for abusing it.

The Number Still Remains at 36—Another Application to Pole the Streets for Electric Wires—Reports of Various Committees.

The council met on Monday night in special session. Present—Mayor Kendry, in the chair, and Messrs. Cahill, Hunt, Winch, Kelly, Young, Bradburn, Dawson, Ferguson, Donnelgan and Mulhern.

After routine the following

were presented :—

From A. J. Payton, asking for more time in which to pay taxes, he having been unable to work from illness.—Court of Revision.

From J. D. Craig, captain of the Fire Brigade, asking that some alterations be made in the sleeping apartments of the brigade. At present there were two double beds in the rooms and the brigade would like them changed to four single beds, as the double beds were inconvenient and badly in need of repair. The brigade also called attention to the manner in which the janitress attended to the rooms.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From Terrance Smith, asking the town to allow him an extra man for three months, there being so much work needed on the sidewalks and so much wood to be drawn. With his present available help there was delay in cleaning the sidewalks.—Fire, Water and Light Committee, with power to act.

From R. N. Roddy, asking the council to give their recommendation to the license commissioners to grant him a license for a new hotel he intends building near the market square, with ample shed room for the rigs of farmers.—License Committee.

From J. H. Yelland, secretary of the Fire Brigade, asking the council for a new outfit of rubber clothing, cape, cap, coat and boots.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From A. Covey, asking remission of dog tax.—Court of Revision.

From E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, inclosing a letter from Messrs. Dumble & Leonard, from which it appears that they accept the judgment in the case of Leonard vs. Peterborough, at the same time suggesting the advisability of the limit of the street being staked out so as to prevent any trouble in the future.—Street and Bridge Committee.

From Wm. Duncan, asking remission of taxes as he was unable to work.—Court of Revision.

PROPOSED ELECTRIC ENTERPRISE.

From Dumble & Leonard, as follows :—

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough :

GENTLEMEN,—We understand that the parties who contemplate the construction of an electric railway, have made application for leave to put on the streets, poles for wires supplying light and power. We are instructed by Mr. Geo. Hilliard to notify you that he proposes putting in machinery for supplying light and power, and will ask from the town accomodation for the wires and right to put in the necessary poles.

We therefore suggest that equal facilities be provided for all, and that no exclusive right be granted to any.

Mr. Hilliard, as an old citizen, will expect from his townsmen an equal right, especially as the public interests demand that there shall be no monopoly. We are, sirs,

Your obedient servants,
DUMBLE & LEONARD.

LICENSES TO REMAIN UNCHANGED.

MR. MULHERN, chairman, presented the report of the License Committee as follows : To the Mayor and Council of the town of Peterborough :

GENTLEMEN,—Your License Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the prayer of the petitioners for the reduction of the existing number of tavern and shop licenses and the forbidding of the issue of licenses for billiard tables, &c., to any holder of a liquor license, be not granted, but that the number of (tavern and shop) liquor licenses and the amount of the fees to be charged therefor, shall for the year 1892 be and remain the same as stated in the bylaw passed in 1890.

In regard to the application of the billiard license holders, and John Baggart for reduction of existing license fees, your committee recommend that their request be not granted.

With reference to the petition of the confectioners and eating house keepers, your committee recommend that the license fee at present charged for eating houses be not cancelled, but that all persons who put up stands and tables and booths in the public streets for the purpose of furnishing refreshments shall be charged $10 per day for such privilege.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. A. MULHERN,
Chairman.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Young, that the report be adopted.

Mr. MULHERN said that the petition for the reduction of licenses was signed by a large number of citizens and deserved attention. The petition prayed that the license be limited to one for every 700 of population. As a matter of fact taking our population at 10,000 the number of licenses was one to every 460, the largest number to the population of any town in Ontario, Hamilton coming next with one license to every 540. The petition also prayed for the separation of liquor shops from the grocer shops. He was not in favour of separating the billiard tables from hotels ; it would be thought serve no good purpose. The committee were under the impression that they could put a stop to the ruinous competition of transient traders. These could sell their goods by paying a license of $50 or by consigning their goods to local auctioneers. As to the petition he thought 16 hotels for the town were enough.

MR. MCILWAIN was the of the same opinion and he moved that some of the petitioners present be heard.

MR. G. M. ROGER addressed the council and said the petition was made in the public interest to decrease an evil by reducing the number of licenses. The same license revenue could be secured by issuing fewer licenses at larger fees. He reminded the councillors that they were sworn to consult the interests of the citizens at large. He said that there were $2,500 spent in charity last year in the town, and 104 convictions for drunkenness and 44 for vagrancy. He said the character of our hotels was good, and the many good hotel keepers should be protected from those who would not obey the law. The requests of the 1200 ratepayers who signed the petition should be respected as well as those of the hotel keepers.

MR. YOUNG asked if the 1,200 were ratepayers.

MR. ROGER—I said, or meant to say, 1,200 citizens—about half of them ratepayers.

DR. FEE said, speaking on behalf of the petitioners, that the reduction asked would leave more than enough hotels. He pointed out the necessity of more stringent enforcement of the law as to shops. The reduction of the number of licenses would please the great bulk of the people.

MR. DENNISTOUN, though not a member of the license committee, thought that in view of his position he should explain why he should vote for the adoption of the report. He would not allow the question of $800 or $900 to interfere, but if we reduced the licenses from 23 to 16 we should deprive six men of a calling they had carried on under protection of the law. The town of Peterborough was four licenses short of the maximum allowed by law. We could consider the question more on its merits if the petitioners had pointed out the particular licenses they wished to have curtailed. He did not believe it just to put a number of men to the loss of their investments they had made on the authority of this council.

MR. MCILWAIN—Do all the hotels have the necessary accommodations ?

MR. DENNISTOUN—That is something the council has no power to deal with.

MR. YOUNG thought no legislative body had a right to dictate as what a man should put into his stomach. He did not think reduction of licenses would lessen drinking—men who wanted a drink would have it. It would not be wise to deprive five or six hotel keepers of a living and drive them from town. He did not think that the reduction of the number of drinking places would promote temperance. He held that the use of liquor shops with groceries added respectability to the business. He would vote for the motion for the reasons he had adduced. If he believed that the reduction of licenses would promote sobriety he would support the reduction.

Cure for A Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package. dw

The Blood is the Life,

Good health without pure blood is simply impossible, and to secure pure blood in short before absolutely necessary, especially in spring when bad blood is very prevalent. Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy, without an equal in the world of medicine. It drives out all poisonous humours of the blood from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore. dw

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes : "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G. W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

Self Application of Electricity

BY THE

DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.

ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliances. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCY, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world ; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not claim this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and moss with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM ; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit, get a Dorenwend Belt.

McKay, one of Cornwall's most estimable young ladies, was married to Frederick O'Brien, of Marcellus, N.Y., formerly a resident of Cornwall. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Corbett in the presence of a large number of friends. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss McKay, while M. J. Murphy supported the groom. Afterwards the party assembled at the residence of T. McGarity, the bride's uncle, where the wedding breakfast was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien took the noon train for their honeymoon trip to Western Ontario, a number of friends gathering at the station to see them off. The bride was the recipient of any number of useful and ornamental gifts."

Rambles Through Rome.

Rev. G. M. Baker Takes a Charlotte Street Church Audience Through the Eternal City.

In conjunction of the celebration of the Sunday school anniversary, there was a good audience present at the Charlotte Street Methodist Church last night to hear Rev. Mr. Baker, of Port Hope, deliver his celebrated lecture on "Rambles Through Rome." After the singing of the 108 hymn, and a short prayer, and a vocal duet by two members of the choir, Rev. Mr. Edwards in a few words introduced the speaker.

Rev. Mr. Baker said it had been the dream of his life from boyhood day's to cross the sea, and, above all, to see the Eternal City. And when his sister, who was studying in Paris, wrote to him one winter and invited him to take a trip through a portion of Europe, he wrote back and accepted the invitation.

When he alighted from the train, on the arrival of his party at Rome, the speaker said the past came up before him; myth gave place to history; ancient Rome with all its glory was pictured before him. The party was hailed by a cabman, and they drove through boulevarded streets containing fine buildings, to their hotel, where everything was modern. After some hours rest they called a guide and STARTED OUT TO VISIT THE CITY.

Rev. Mr. Baker being the youngest of the party, seated himself with the driver and gave directions where to go. He enquired of the guide where the seven hills of Rome were, but he was told that time had wrought so many changes that the hills and valleys of Rome were no more. He next visited the Tiber, expecting to find a mighty river, but was disappointed to find only a low dirty stream, and he asked himself, Is this the Tiber to whom the ancient Romans prayed? The next place visited was the Pantheon, which although robbed of all its brass by the popes to ornament their churches, and exposed to fire and flood, was still perfect to-day. It is used by the Roman Catholic church as a place of worship, and contains the tomb of Raphael and Victor Emmanuel, the father of modern Rome. There are no windows in it; the dome in the centre is 28 feet in diameter. The party next visited the Colliseum in its ruinous perfection, where gladiators fought and Christians suffered martyrdom to the delight of the Roman population of days gone by. It is best seen and appreciated by moonlight. The next place touched upon was the Forum, where nobler battles were fought, which did credit to the Romans. As you look at it you see nothing, but in its walls were delivered the funeral orations of Rome's greatest men. It was here that Mark Anthony's celebrated funeral oration over Cæsar was given, and near by where Virginus took the farewell kiss from his fair daughter Virginia, before thrusting the sword in her side, rather than allow her to be the slave and toy of Claudius. The Mamertine prison was then visited. This is the prison in which St. Paul, the aged, wrote his second letter to Timothy—"I have fought the good fight," etc., and where tradition says St. Peter's face is imprinted on the wall. After leaving the Mamertime Prison the party or sacred road to the Arch of Titus, which was erected to commemorate his taking of Jerusalem. A little farther on is the arch of Constantine, erected in honor of his acceptance of Christianity in the third century. This Via Sacra or Appian way is the finest road in the world, built twenty centuries ago, and is as good as new to-day. Before going into the catacombs, they visited St. Sebastian's church and the church Lateran, which was built by Constantine, partly by his own hand. The Catacomb's underground where the Christians buried their dead in the third century was next visited and described. They next gazed on the Scala Sancta or sacred stairs which are believed to be the identical steps that our Lord went down when he appeared before Pilate. There are twenty-eight steps in all. St. Peter's, the glory of Rome, the monument, the speaker said, of the folly of Rome, was next described. There was nothing attractive, he said, from the outside, it looked like an immense bank, but you have only to gaze on the interior in order to be overwhelmed with its grandeur and sublimity. The scene is beyond description. The speaker described the interior of the building and the celebrated picture of St. Paul. The next place touched upon was the Vatican with eight grand staircases and two hundred small ones; with its twenty courts and, ten hundred rooms. The Sistine chapel in connection with the Vatican, contained Michael Angelo's celebrated masterpiece. In closing his interesting lecture he described the monument to Giordino Bruno, which had raised so much indignation in the Roman Catholic church. The speaker said that monument was erected by students who applied to the government, which was then composed of sympathizers with the Pope, and they would not allow it to be erected. But next election when the erection of this monument was an issue at the polls the Government was swept away, and the monument was placed on its pedestal. This would prove to the world that the Pope would never regain his temporal power.

GO DOWN THE VIA SACRA,

The meeting was closed by the singing of the doxology.

Lansdowne Lodge Notes.

At the last meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, Mr. Mayor Kendry was made a member.

A pleasing event in the meeting was the presentation of an elegant Past President's jewel to Past President Warren. The presentation was made by Bro. Gosby new president. Bro. Warren made a suitable reply. After the presentation refreshments were served by Mr. Thos. Hooper, followed by toasts, songs and speeches and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Feb. 16th.

At the police court this morning George Greene, who was brought up on remand, charged with indecent exposure, was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison. The magistrate remarked that he had enquired of his character elsewhere, and he had learned nothing good of him.

A wife beating case was settled out of court, the wife withdrawing the charge.

NOTE.—In our police court items of yesterday's issue in reference to the disturbance of the Salvation Army worship, we were led to believe that the parties found guilty went to gaol. We have since learned that they paid their fine.

We notice that Adam Hall is selling best Canadian oil at 10 cents per imperial gallon. This is exceedingly low and we are assured that it is a superior quality, being safer, purer and higher fire test than any other in the market. Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 99 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

Petition Presented.

Among the petitions presented to the Ontario Legislature on Monday was one by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.PP., from Local Assembly 6,952, Peterborough, for the abolition of the contract system on public works, that the entire electorate may have power to vote on money bylaws, that the contractor for public works may be compelled to pay the rate of wages prevailing in such trade in each municipality, etc.

Shinney vs. Hockey.

A few employees of the Edison Company, having recollection of the days of their youth, when shinney was the delight of children, and still hopeful of what they could do, if they only had the chance, have begged persistently for an opportunity to give the Edison Hockey Club a few points. Consequently a match will take place on next Wednesday evening at the rink. As in days of shinney, in the bloody arena, probably much blood will be shed. Medical men are particularly requested to be present, and will be admitted free of charge.

Ladies' Auxiliary.

A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's South Ward Mission School was held last night. There was a large attendance and much interest shown in the work of the auxiliary. The following officers were elected:—

President—Miss Chamberlain,
Vice President—Miss Edith Hynes,
Secretary—Miss M. Barlee,
Treasurer—Miss Hattie White.

A resolution of condolence with Rev. J. C. Davidson and the family in their sad bereavement was passed. The organization of the auxiliary is another step in the gratifying and steady progress of Church interests in connection with the South Ward Mission.

Cut Nail Men Meet.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 16.—A meeting of the cut nail manufacturers of Canada has been held in the parlors of the Royal Hotel the past three days. All the manufacturers in Canada were represented, with combined interests equalling about $4,000,000. The cut nail business was fully discussed in all its different phases, and resulted in a union of the eastern and western associations and the adoption of a uniform card list of extras which now obtains all over the continent, with the exception that the base price is much higher than the American base price. A firm agreement has been made between all the makers for one year—and is bound by a large deposit—which means a uniform price all over, and does away with the continual cutting which has been so ruinous the past two years. A slight advance over present prices was made.

Driven Upon the Rocks.

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 16.—The Prince Edward Island schooner Avenger was driven on the rocks 20 miles from St. John's Saturday in a blinding snow storm. The lifeboat swamped and Murdock Gillies, a seaman, volunteered to swim ashore with a life line. After a terrible struggle with the waves, he managed to insert his hands in a hole in one of the precipitous rocks which lined the shore. He drew himself up, and by catching points of rock he succeeded in climbing to a spot on which he could fasten a line. Then he drew ashore a larger line and by means of this the captain and crew all got safely to the shore.

Another Coasting Fatality.

Galt, Feb. 12.—Andrew Scott is dead, as the result of injuries received in Queen-street hill by his horse taking fright at some coasters and throwing Mr. Scott from the rig.

DESCENDED ON THE GANG.

Berlin Police Interrupt a Fiery Orator in a Heartless Manner.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—Pursuant to a call secretly circulated during the week a well attended meeting of Anarchists was held yesterday. Despite the secrecy observed by the participants the police learned of the meeting and in strong force burst into the hall while one of the orators was firing the hearts of his hearers with fierce denunciations of the government and dire threats against its officials.

The appearance of the police severed the thread of oratory and caused a mad rush for the doors. Many managed to escape, but the police succeeded in capturing 50 followers of the red flag and marched them through the Charlottenstrasse to the police station amid the jeers and groans of the crowds which congregated on the sidewalks.

The Largest Opal Ever Found.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—The largest opal ever found in the world is on exhibition here. It is 11 inches long, 5 wide and 1½ inches thick, and came from Guerrero, Mexico. It is the property of Juan Goldman of 1000 Van Ness-avenue, who is interested in the mine from which it came. The value of the specimen, according to the owner, is $10,000.

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH.

A Motion to This End Will Be Introduced in Parliament.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—F. N. Gisbourne, superintendent of Government telegraph lines, states that it is probable a motion will be made next session for the Government to acquire the telegraph lines and operate them in connection with the postal service as in England. He has prepared an elaborate report on the subject, which will be presented. He claims that a large amount of interest can be made on the first cost, and that the amount of matter telegraphed would be materially increased.

Farewell! Oh, Cigarette.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The Ways and Means Committee of the House will be petitioned to prepare a bill invoking the paternal condemnation of the Government upon the cigaret habit. Representatives Cochrane, Cummings and Stapleucker of New York all have in their possession bills which they have been petitioned to introduce providing for the suppression of cigaret manufacture by imposing an internal revenue tax of $10 per 1000 on all imported or domestic cigarets sold in this county.

Accompanying the memorial is a statement which says, "clippings taken from papers throughout the United States show that during the past year there have been about 100 deaths of young men, mostly under 16 years of age, from the effects of smoking paper-wrapped cigarets. In some cases there has been an analysis of the stomach and in most instances has been found phosphorous and arsenic which is largely used in the manufacture of cigaret paper. About 100 men have also been consigned to insane asylums from the same cause.

To Examine Toronto's System.

Winnipeg, Feb. 15.—Chief Code of the fire brigade here has left for Ontario and Quebec to examine systems for fire protection in big eastern cities.

A Call to Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Feb. 15.—Rev. W. G. Henderson of Perth, Ont., has formally accepted the vacant pulpit of Zion Church here.

Another Gold Cure Victim.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 15.—The death of young Fair is attributed by his doctors directly to the bi-chloride of gold treatment. "Jimmy" Fair was among the first to try it. He declared it had effected a cure but his friends doubted his assertions. The doctors say strychnine, which enters largely into the bi-chloride treatment, affected his heart. Several similar cases have occurred here. The dead boy's father is the wealthiest man in San Francisco, being probably worth $20,000,000.

Leaped to His Death.

Cincinnati, Feb. 15.—Meredith Stanley, the bridge-jumper, made what in all probability will prove a fatal leap yesterday from the Cincinnati and Cokington bridge, a distance of over 100 feet, into the Ohio River. Only a few weeks ago Stanley and his wife made a successful double leap from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway bridge. Since then they have been on exhibition at a dime museum in this city.

Sisters Burned to Death.

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Gregory, a widow, was making soap at Welford, S.C., yesterday when her clothing caught fire. Mrs. Gregory's sister went to her assistance and both women were burned to death.

ROYALTY IN SWEDEN.

KING OSCAR, A MONARCH WHOM HIS PEOPLE LOVE AND TRUST.

His Illness a Matter of Public Sorrow—The Words and Deeds That Have Made Sweden's Ruler One of the Most Popular of Men—His Efforts to Relieve the Poor.

The overshadowing topic anxiously and gravely discussed at Stockholm, Sweden, both by the press and public is King Oscar's health, the bulletins are eagerly scanned, and the slightest change noted and commented upon. The State Council has decided that the Crown Prince shall take provisional charge of the government. The King, through the neglect of a slight cold, is suffering from an attack of acute influenza, and there are doubts of his recovery. Expressions of sincerest solicitude for the stricken monarch have been received, not alone from every part of Sweden, but also from all foreign courts. Even the Shah of Persia telegraphed his sympathy and made inquiries of the King's condition. Should he succumb to the disease from which he is suffering Sweden, and all Europe for that matter, would sustain an irreparable loss. Sweden's loss would be twofold; first, because in him they have a clear-headed and broad-minded monarch, whose foremost interests have always been those of his people and country; second, on account of his management of the strained relations now existing between Sweden and Norway, relations which have most always been favorably influenced through his conciliatory policy. His versatility in adapting himself to circumstances, and the thorough knowledge he evinces when discussing almost any topic, are really remarkable.

QUEEN SOPHIA.

An instance of this was given quite recently. A large number of men out of employment, after having tried in vain to obtain work, individually resolved to organize themselves into a union, to see if by such means they would be more successful. This union, at one of their late meetings, decided to appeal to the King. A committee was then appointed, which waited on King Oscar and presented to him a petition as King that immediate steps be taken which would in some measure relieve the prevalent distress among the multitudes of unemployed laboring men. They received audience, and after their Chairman, H. O. Havander, had as briefly as possible reviewed the situation the King addressed them. His remarks are worthy of serious consideration since he clearly acknowledges his comparatively little power to act independently, showing how harassed he is on account of a lot of circumlocutionary, nonsensical red-tape. He also proclaims himself a free-trader as to food products and believes in the abolishment of all tariff on the necessaries of life. The King spoke as follows:

PRINCE EUGENE, Duke of Nerike.

I know that misery and lack of employment are great, and it grieves me deeply. But what can I do? Had I the power I could do a great deal. You may rest assured of my good will. I have done and shall do all in my power. I am not so hard and heartless as newspapers paint me. My power is far from being so great as they would have you to believe. Were I an autocrat, though this, considering other circumstances, would be far from desirable, I could possibly help you. I would then prevent Stockholm from being overcrowded with unemployed workmen. Under present conditions this is extremely hard, because the liberty of this community—a liberty which commands respect and appreciation—permits any one to live or seek his livelihood wherever he chooses, though this results in the lack of employment consequent upon an overcrowding of the labor markets. If I were an autocrat I should appropriate funds for the immediate commencement of public improvements and other work which will eventually have to be done at no distant date, but the Senate, the Cabinet, the Board of Aldermen, and private owners must first meet, debate, refer, and resolve, etc., etc. This is too slow, and in the meantime you might starve to death! Had I the power I would abolish all tariff on grain and food products of any kind, though I do not believe that the protective tariff is particularly to blame for the present miserable condition of the unemployed workingmen.

CROWN PRINCESS VICTORIA.

I am myself a free-trader, but when my country, through its legal representatives, accepted protection, I did not deem it in my province to oppose this movement. My power is, as I have said, hedged about by laws in the interests of liberty, which I have taken oath to sustain. But since you come to me you surely believe that I wish your welfare. This confidence is mutual, and I shall do all in my power to assist the "people" who above all classes need protection the most.

I have written to the provincial authorities for the purpose of ascertaining where workmen are needed, but the reports have been that though several employers need more men they prefer not to have them from Stockholm because of their socialistic tendencies. I have and furthermore shall do everything I can to hasten the action of the authorities in charge of public works and other enterprises needing the employment of workmen, to do what they can for you. I have notified contractors and parties concerned to send in their estimates for the projected works on Skeppsholmen; I expect an answer to-day and hope that through this there will be an opportunity for work for some of you. I have privately arranged for work on Djurgarden. I have contributed money and will ask private parties as well as charitable societies that means be taken for the alleviation in some degree of this misery.

Once more, I will do everything within my power, to assist you and relieve your deplorable condition. God be with you.

That he effectually kept his word may be seen from the healthy tone of activity that has been infused into the Department of Public Works, where formerly a go-as-you-please system was the order of the day.

King Oscar was born Jan. 21, 1829, and before he reached his majority had won respect for his varied talents. He is esteemed as a scholar and an orator, not alone by every court in Europe, but his name is held in highest appreciation by learned men of all nationalities. He is a remarkably fine oriental scholar and the President of the International Oriental Congress. The King was 43 years old when he ascended the throne, and had occupied important positions in the army and navy. He had received his education at the famous University of Upsala under the tuition of Carlson, the celebrated Swedish historian. He was fond of travelling, and being a keen observer, gathered much information on his travels which he afterwards used with great benefit in the developing of his country's resources. Immediately after his accession to the throne he reorganized the army, attracted foreign capital to build railroads, and introduced a new system of public instruction. Educational matters have always been one of his favorite subjects, and as Crown Prince he founded his first school at Gothenburg, called "Prince Oscar's School." Here he put to a practical test his new theories, which were crowned with complete success. Sweden to-day stands foremost in popular education, all owing to King Oscar. He has been active in the literary field; among his works may be noted the translations of Herder's "Cid" and Goethe's "Torguato" and "Faust," for which last work he was made a member of the Academy of Sciences of Berlin.

Under the nom de plume of Oscar Frederick, he published a volume of poems: "Leaflets from My Journal"; these have been translated into English and German.

The fourth volume of the edition de luxe of King Oscar's works has just appeared. It contains among other interesting things the speeches of his Majesty prior to his accession to the throne, speeches in English and French delivered in London and Paris, and a number of speeches by the King on various occasions, both in Sweden and in Norway. A particularly interesting feature is the collection of speeches made by him in his capacity of President of the Royal Academy of Music, an institution which he specially favors with his attention. There are several speeches upon naval and military matters in general, delivered before the military society of which one or two are of an argumentative nature; they treat of the armor-plate question and the monitor, with regard to which question the then Prince Oscar was at a difference with the late John Ericsson. A fifth volume of King Oscar's works is expected some time this year. It will contain his Majesty's speeches from the throne. The prior three volumes published embrace smaller poems, translations and essays in prose, "Memories of the Swedish Fleet," besides his drama, "Some Hours at the Castle of Kronborg." This has been produced with great success at several theatres on the continent. King Oscar's works are stamped by a literary talent of the highest order and show a mind of utmost culture and a genius of infinite variety. King Oscar was married in 1857 to the Princess Sophia of Nassau, daughter of the late Duke of Nassau. She was born in 1836. They have four sons—Gustaf, Duke of Wermland (now Prince Regent); Oscar, Duke of Gotland, who in marrying Miss Ebba Munck forfeited his right to the Swedish throne, and now is known as Prince Bernadotte; Carl, Duke of Westergotland; and Eugene, Duke of Nerike.

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, ONT., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: full and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

DEAR SIR,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills.

"German Syrup"

Asthma. "I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Picton, Ontario."

Gentle, Refreshing Sleep.

NO LICENSE REDUCTION.

Mr. MULHERN—Does Mr. Young propose to say that if there were only the Oriental hotel in town there be as much liquor sold?

Mr. YOUNG—Yes; if there were only one hotel there would be an increase of bottle drinking. If the ladies who promoted temperance stayed at home and brought up their sons to temperance principles, more good would be done than by the reduction of licenses.

Mr. KELLY said the principal point was to carry out the law we have. If it were properly observed, affairs in respect to drinking would be improved, and there was no necessity of reducing the number of hotels. He would like to see the law strictly enforced. At the time of the Scott Act hotel-keepers said that if they had a license fee they would keep it to the letter, and they should be kept to their promise. The matter of the separation of shop licenses lay wholly with the commissioners.

Mr. MULHERN said, in answer to Mr. Kelly, that it was hard to get hotel-keepers to keep the law.

Mr. KELLY rejoined that they could be made to keep the law as well as he kept it.

The motion to adopt the report was carried, Mr. Mellwain and Mr. Mulhern voting nay.

STREET AND BRIDGES.

Mr. CARELL, chairman, presented the report of the Street and Bridge Committee as follows:

To the Mayor and Town Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report.

That they have awarded to the Dickson Company the contract for supplying the corporation with pine and hemlock plank for the current year at $11.90 and $7 15, respectively.

Also the contract for supplying square cedar and cedar scantling to Alfred McDonald at $9 and $7 90 respectively.

Your committee recommend that a quantity of stone, say 50 to 75 cords be procured and broken for street purposes.

Your committee had the Smith Street Bridge thoroughly examined and find that the probable cost of putting the same in repair would be upwards of $2 000. Your committee are of opinion that it would not be judicious to expend so large a sum on the bridge as they believe it would not even then last for any great length of time.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. CARELL,
Chairman.

Report adopted.

SANITARY SUBJECTS.

Mr. Dawson presented the report of the Health Committee.

To the Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your committee beg leave to report and recommend that a contract be entered into with Charles Kitney for the supply of a dumping ground for 1892 at the price of $60, and that Thos. Williams be offered the sum of $50 in full settlement of all claims he may have against the town in respect of claims under his contract during the year 1891, the offer to be made without prejudice.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ADAM DAWSON, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

CHARITY.

Mr. WINCH, chairman, presented the following report of the Charity Committee:—

To the Mayor and Council of the town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Charity Committee beg leave to report that they have, pursuant to instructions from the council, advertised for 100 cords of wood for charity purposes. Your committee met and received the tenders of the following firms for the quantities and at the prices named:

Wm. Charlton, 50 cords of dry tamarac at $2.30 per cord.

G. A. Reid, 20 cords of dry mixed wood at $2.25 per cord.

W. J. Hall, 25 cords of dry mixed wood at $2 25 per cord.

Your committee would also recommend that in future the Charity Committee report to the council monthly, the amount of charity distributed together with the names of the parties receiving the same and the amounts received.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. C. WINCH,
Chairman.

After a brief discussion the report was adopted.

TRANSIENT TRADERS.

Mr. MALDRUM introduced a bylaw to regulate transient traders. The bylaw provided, that outsiders should be required to pay a license fee of $50, and was duly passed.

STREET RAILWAY.

Mr DENNISTOUN said he had an amendment in reference to the street railway contract, which made a change in the last clause in the resolution submitted at the last meeting of the council. The last clause required the street railway company should be disposed to construct by the first of July, and if not, the entire line of railway, excepting the crossing of the C.P.R. track, provided they are delayed, and that all due diligence and effort were made by the street railway company. It was moved and seconded that the corporate seal be attached to the resolution to give it the force of a by law.

MARKET AMENDMENT.

Mr. YOUNG gave notice of motion to amend the market by-law.

Mr. DENNISTOUN called the attention of the Street Committee to the fact that the North Ward had not been treated fairly in the matter of the snow from the mains.

Mr. MELLWAIN endorsed what Mr. Dennistoun said.

Mr. CARELL said he would look after the matter.

The council adjourned.

Imperial Penny Postage.

Imperial penny postage, which is being warmly advocated in England, has an able champion in the Liverpool Journal of Commerce. The loss the reform would entail to the revenue is estimated by the Postoffice Department at £75,000 a year, and by the supporters of the movement at £12,000. In a few years it is believed the increased facilities for business which Imperial penny postage ought to afford would more than make up the monetary loss in the revenue. It is calculated that at present each colonist writes home about once in three years, but it is thought that when the rate is reduced the passage of letters will be more frequent. The advantages of penny postage to Canada would be enormous, but is the Dominion in the position financially to reciprocate?

The Torrens Land Transfer System.

One of the matters to come before the Legislature is the desirability of taking steps in the direction of making the Torrens system of land transfer generally applicable to the province. Several of the County Councils will petition to that effect, and other representations will be laid before the Assembly. The success of the system where it has been adopted in the province, and also in Manitoba, where it is in general, appears to have been pretty well demonstrated. The great advantages of the Torrens system are that it combines security and simplicity in the transfer of land titles.

Mothers, are your daughters pale or sallow? Remember that the period when they are budding into womanhood is most critical; fortify their system for the change with Dr. William's Pink Pills, unsurpassed for the speedy cure of all troubles peculiar to females. A trial of a single box will convince you. Beware of imitations and take no substitute.

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are enemies greatly to be feared. With B. B. B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results. dw

From the Jaws of Death.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston, Ont. LONDON, Feb. 16.—Replying to a question put to the Government in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the oppression of the Stundists by the Russian Government,

James Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, said the Government did not intend to remonstrate with Russia against her treatment of religious sects unless the people oppressed were British subjects.

In the debate this evening on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne Thomas Sexton, member for West Belfast, moved an amendment declaring that a majority of the Irish people and their representatives in Parliament are convinced of the inability of the Imperial Parliament to legislate for Ireland in the manner required by the distinctive interests of that country and that this conviction has been intensified by the manifest failure of the land purchase act to afford a basis for an extension of the class of occupying tenants.

Mr. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, replied that Mr. Sexton's criticism of the land act were premature. The act had been in operation only a few months. Special causes accounted for the small amounts of business yet done under the act. When tenants had time to appreciate the value of the land stock that stock would find a ready market.

Mr. Sexton's amendment was rejected by the close vote of 179 to 158. The announcement of the figures was received with prolonged opposition and Irish cheers.

The address in reply to the speech from the throne was then formally adopted.

To Mr. Sexton's query whether the Local Government bill for Ireland would be introduced on Thursday Mr. Balfour nodded in affirmative.

ENDED BY MORPHINE.

The Inexpressibly Sad Romance of Two Young French People.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—Some 10 years ago there lived at Vernon, 50 miles from this city, on the left bank of the Seine, Michel W. Sabatier, an apprentice to a cabinet maker, an industrious lad, who made love to Jeanne Quentin, the pretty daughter of the landord of the Grand Cerf Hotel.

Jeanne's father turned him away in a rage and Michel started out for London to make a fortune. Years passed and an invention of a metal varnish secured the young man a competence.

He returned to Vernon a few days ago only to learn that the hostelry of the Grand Cerf had ceased to exist, the host and hostess being dead, and Jeanne had gone to Paris, where she was reported to be living with an aunt.

Michel came to this city and found Mme. Mouloton, the girl's aunt, and also learned that she conducted a questionable house and that Jeanne was an inmate. She consented to leave the den of vice and accompanied her lover. Taking the train last Wednesday morning they reached Vernon about noon, and at once took the road to the Chateau of Bizy, once the property of Louis Philippe, and a favorite walk in their happier days. Arrived at the chateau they partook of a slight lunch and at some time during the afternoon must have swallowed the morphine they had purchased in Paris. They were never seen alive again, but their bodies were found in a sequestered nook early the next morning by a rural constable.

WILLING TO DIE.

Having Confessed His Crime, a Parricide Will Carry a Clear Conscience to Prison.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 16.—William Coulter, the religious fanatic, who, after acquittal for the murder of his aged father, confessed in a revival meeting that he had committed the crime and had perjured himself on the stand in the trial, was today sentenced to State's prison for 10 years for perjury, to which he pleaded guilty on Thursday.

When brought into the court room for sentence he fell upon his knees and cried loudly:

"Oh God, oh Saviour! I await thy coming," and similar phrases.

He was finally quieted down and remained silent until after sentence had been passed, when he exclaimed loudly:

"I care not for human punishment. God and I have balanced our accounts and I am all safe."

Frozen to Death.

HAMILTON, Feb. 16.—A man named Bush was found frozen to death on Saturday morning last on the mountain between Beamsville and Smithville. It is supposed he was under the influence of liquor and fell out of his cutter and lay at the side of the road all night. The horse went on home, but was not discovered by the family until the morning. A search was instituted, but too late. The body was frozen stiff when found.

An Inventor Shoots Himself.

ANNEMSTRONG, Feb. 16.—Edward F. Rosume, 60 years of age, an inventor, during a fit of insanity brought on by la grippe, shot himself to-day with suicidal intent. His recovery is doubtful.

A LEVEE IN PRISON.

Mrs. Osborne in Prison the Lion of the Hour.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Osborne, in Holloway Jail, is the lioness of the hour. She probably doesn't think so. She doesn't know it. It's a fact, all the same.

Why, society women are simply frantic to see her. Mrs. Hargreaves' kiss and Mrs. Osborne's tears in Bow-street Police Court have stirred up the West End to a woman.

How can the purloining and selling of a few pear-shaped pearls be a crime with such a person—even if they are "worth a king's ransom"?

The scene in front of the jail reminded one of the rush and excitement near St. George's, Hanover Square, when some particularly swell wedding is in progress.

Magnificent equipages, bearing aristocratic coats-of-arms and attended by coachmen, footmen and outriders, lined the street near the jail on both sides a distance of three blocks. Two policemen stood at the gate to regulate the traffic. As the carriages drove up the doors of the vehicles were opened by an obsequious flunkey in gray and red and gold, and the smiling and chatting occupants were politely escorted within the grim corridors, which as a rule would only produce a shudder to such gorgeously-dressed, high-toned visitors. It was like a vast swell reception.

Under the rules of the prison, untried offenders may receive a limited number of visitors. There seemed no limit to-day. Mrs. Osborne and her gallant husband had been ushered into the chief warden's private apartments, where from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. they received a perfect stream of callers.

Peeresses, novelists, nuns, Salvation Army Hallelujah lassies, psychologists and clergymen passed in, shook hands, had a few words of sympathy or of curiosity and then passed out again.

The Spanish Anarchists.

ROME, Feb. 15.—The trial of Signor Cipriani and the other May Day rioters was marked yesterday by continued disorders. One of the lawyers for the prisoners declared a certain police witness was "a scandalous liar." The spectators in the court, nearly all of whom were friends of the prisoners, loudly applauded this remark. An uproar arose, the prisoners shouting wildly and menacing the witnesses. The noise and confusion became so great that the president of the court suspended the sitting. When the trial was resumed the scenes of disorder were repeated.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

YESTERDAY WAS A DULL DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. Harcourt's Budget Speech Due on Thursday — Paupers Who Object to Contribute to Anatomical Studies — Physicians Who Have Been Driven Out of the Union.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—The House had a very brief session yesterday. The chief features were the submission and adoption of the address of condolence with Her Majesty in the recent affliction that has befallen the Royal house. The document was in the usual terms and Messrs. Mowat and Meredith, the mover and seconder, performed their duty very briefly and in good taste.

A number of bills were introduced in blank and read a first time.

A great grist of petitions were presented, the general tenor of a great number of them, it is well to notice, being dissatisfaction with methods of assessment and taxation. Petitions squinting at single tax are common, and they are not all from urban socialists either, but a proportion bore the earmarks of quiet country places. The supply of those protesting against the contract system and the presence of unwelcome saloons in temperance polling sub-divisions has not yet run out. The Torrens system was also able to produce an able-bodied petition or two in its favor.

Waterloo, however, had the honor of the most ghastly prayer. The municipality has erected an industrial home, but it has been impossible to coax a few paupers to come in and give it a house-warming. Their objection is that when they shuffle off the ghoulish inspector of anatomy will pounce on the remains.

Rattle his bones over the stones,
He is a pauper whom nobody owns.

Waterloo wants the Anatomy Act amended so that it may be allowed to keep its own skeletons.

An equally painful subject was contained in the plaint of a number of physicians who object to paying the annual fee imposed by the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. The council is treating those who have refused to pay their fees as "rats" and won't let them practice their profession. They are proceeded against as if they had never studied or taken a diploma. They ask for relief.

Mr. Gibson presented a whole stock of reports and returns.

From the Gallery.

Mr. Fraser's seat is filled by Mr. Hardy.

Mr. Balfour, who looks very pale, wears a rakish black sombrero. The custom of wearing hats in the House is more honored in the breach than in the observance.

A return brought down yesterday showed that the total receipts from liquor licenses in this city last year were $70,957, of which the province got $11,278 and the city $53,256. The inspectors' salaries amounted to $7423.

Mr. Mowat announced that the public accounts would be laid on the table to-morrow and that Mr. Harcourt would deliver the budget on Thursday.

A London deputation with Mayor Spencer in its forefront descended on the Ontario Cabinet yesterday afternoon in Mr. Mowat's lair. Besides the mayor there were Hon. David Mills, John Cameron, Ald. Heaman, Shaw and Moule, Dr. Campbell, Messrs. Craig, Love, Carson, Merchant, T. H. Purdom, Q.C., and Thomas Hobbs. The ministers present were Messrs. Mowat, Ross, Hardy, Harcourt and Gibson. The object of the visit of the Western Cockneys was to impress on the Government the desirability of establishing a third normal school, and, secondly, to draw the attention of the ministers to the fact that nature and geography had selected London as the site of said building. Messrs. Mills and Cameron dwelt on the geographical and statistical aspects of it. It was evident from their statement that London resembles in some respects Duluth, as portrayed by J. Proctor Knott. Messrs. Merchant and Carson took the opportunity of criticising pretty severely the inefficacy of the present Normal School system.

LUNATIC ASYLUM BURNED.

Set on Fire by an Inmate, Who is Burned to Death.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 17.—The four-story main building of the State Asylum was set on fire yesterday by an inmate named J. D. Brown, who had escaped and was recaptured yesterday. There were 600 inmates, all of whom it is thought were rescued, except Brown, who perished.

From Camera to Horse Stealing.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17.—A. J. Ross, formerly a prominent Winnipeg photographer, has been arrested at Calgary for horse stealing.

Grand Trunk Dividend.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Grand Trunk dividend statement was issued yesterday. It shows that the gross receipts for the half year were £2,140,200, net revenue £596,200, total net receipts £633,800, balance for dividend £144,100, allowing 2 3-4 per cent. on 4 per cents guaranteed, making 3 1-4 for the year, compared with a full dividend the previous year. The first preference last year received 1 1-2 per cent.

THE POLITICAL SLATE.

THE CONTEST IN WEST HURON WAXES WARM.

Nominations in a Number of Constituencies Yesterday—Speeches at Goderich by the Leader of the Opposition and Several Cabinet Ministers — General Political.

GODERICH, Feb. 17.—Hon. J. C. Patterson, Secretary of State, and M. C. Cameron were nominated for West Huron to day.

After the nominations addresses were made by Hon. John Costigan, J. S. Larke of Oshawa and Mr. Patterson.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier arrived to-day and was accorded an enthusiastic reception. A procession was formed and he was escorted to the opera house, where he was presented with an address. In the evening he addressed a mass meeting.

A lively contest is being waged in the riding, three or four meetings being held daily.

IN THE SURPEME COURT.

Twelve Election Appeals—Members Confirmed in Their Seats.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The Supreme Court met to-day, all the judges being on the bench, except Judge Fournier, when some 12 election appeals were taken into consideration. Haldimand and North Waterloo were dismissed, having been settled out of court. The result of this is that Mr. Bowman and Dr. Montague are confirmed in their seats.

The Bellechasse election case—Amyot v. Labrique—was next taken up. The court held that the petitioners should have, according to the statute, proved that the petitioners were bona fide electors, and accordingly allowed the appeal with costs and dismissed the petition with costs. This confirmed Mr. Amyot in his seat.

The next case was the Argenteuil case. Dr. Christie, the sitting member, appealed from the judgment of the court below on a preliminary objection that the deposit made by the petitioners was insufficient by reason of the receipt stating that $1000 had been deposited in bills of the Dominion Bank of Canada. The appeal was dismissed with costs. Dr. Christie will retain his seat for the session.

The next case was the Laprairie case, Gilbert v. Pelletier. In the Laprairie election case the court allowed the appeal and remitted the whole case against Mr. Pelletier, Conservative, for trial to the court below.

The Prescott appeal was dismissed and the judgment of the court below unseating Mr. Proulx was confirmed.

In the West Northumberland case, Mr. Hargraft, M.P., Liberal, did not appear to press his appeal against the decision unseating him, consequently the appeal was dismissed.

The North Perth appeal was dismissed. This confirms Mr. Grieve, Liberal, in his seat.

Political Notes.

W. M. Drennan and William Harty were nominated for the Local at Kingston yesterday.

S. Fisher, ex-M.P., has been nominated in Brome by the Liberals to oppose Mr. Dyer, Conservative.

Henry Barr and James Findlay, both Liberals, were nominated for the Ontario Legislature in North Renfrew yesterday.

Sir A. P. Caron gives a most emphatic denial to the story of L'Electeur that the $25,000 which he paid to Mr. McGreevy for election purposes was procured from the promoters of the Lake St. John Railway.

Mr. W. Morton, who did such valiant service in North Victoria, left yesterday for East Simcoe and if possible to repeat there victory for Mr. Bennett, the Conservative candidate.

Hon. John Haggart has decided not to take part in the election in South Ontario. He remains in Ottawa at the request of the Prime Minister, who is very much indisposed. The latter's condition is beginning to cause uneasiness amongst his friends.

In L'Assomption county, Que., Mr. Gauthier, the unseated Liberal member, is in the field for re-election. Ald. Jeannotte of Montreal will be the Conservative standard-bearer. Mr. Gauthier's majority in March was 78.

In Montcalm Mr. Dugas, the late member, will again be a candidate for election to the House of Commons as a Conservative. Mr. Therien, whom Mr. Dugas, in a three-cornered fight, beat by 41 votes in March, will also present himself. Mr. Therien is also an old representative of the county and a Conservative.

AVENGED HER BOY.

A Mother Takes Up the Cause of Her Son Who Was Libelled.

VIENNA, Feb. 17.—Nine months ago a popular actress, the wife of a comic actor named Pauly, committed suicide and a newspaper published an account of the private life of the couple, alleging that the unfortunate woman shot herself in sheer despair at the ill-treatment she had received at her husband's hands.

Copies of the article were laid on the grave of Mme. Pauly and were there found by her husband. He brought an action for defamation of character against the owner of the newspaper, but before the case came up for trial M. Pauly, through grief, committed suicide by shooting himself.

His mother, anxious to clear his memory from any suspicion of stain, asked permission to carry on the case in the place of her deceased son, and the editor had to defend himself against accusations which were practically raised by a man who has been dead for several months.

He was found guilty and sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

The Joke May Cost Her Life.

SEA ISLE CITY, N.J., Feb. 17.—Miss Flora Springer, the daughter of Jesse Springer of Goshen is hiccoughing herself to death.

About three weeks ago she laughed violently at a joke cracked by a friend in the drygoods store of Partridge & Richardson, in Philadelphia, where she was employed. The laughing brought on an attack of hiccoughs, which has continued ever since. She was brought home Saturday in a critical condition.

The Owner Burned to Death.

ST. CESAIRE, Que., Feb. 17.—Fire broke out early this morning in the house of Cleophas Benoit, and was not got under control until the house was totally destroyed and the owner burned to death. The damage is about $500.

TRAGIC SUICIDE OF A COUNTESS AT NICE.

M. De Lesseps, the Famous Engineer, Now Lying at the Point of Death—The Oxford Scandals Terminate in the Conviction of the Alleged Defrauder.

NICE, Feb. 17.—A most sensational suicide has taken place—that of the Countess of Meck, a fashionable young lady of 30, belonging to the Russian colony. Her husband is the owner of a railway and a very rich man. The Countess has been far from happy in her life of complete retirement in the Villa Montevello, which his condition rendered necessary.

On Wednesday morning she was found lead in her bed with a number of phials lying on a table near by, which were found to have contained poison. The greatest secrecy is maintained by the police and no information can be obtained. The medical men called in by the authorities have examined the intestines of the unfortunate young woman, but refuse to make any public report. An order has been given for the embalming of the remains for the purpose of transportation to Russia.

Gladstone's Son at Monte Carlo.

It has just leaked out that Mr and Mrs. Gladstone went last Wednesday to see their son Herbert, who is staying at Beaulieu with his friend, Sir Julius Kitson, the Gladstonian of Leeds.

The Grand Old Man and his devoted wife drove to the Hotel Des Anglais, at Beaulieu, and found to their consternation that Herbert had gone to Monte Carlo. The truant came back by the last train, after losing a hundred francs, and the "People's William" is not pleased with his youngest born.

NOBS BLACKMAILED.

A Tutor at Oxford Catches Some Undergraduates in His Net.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—At the Bow-street Police Court yesterday, M. F. Moreland, the private tutor of Oxford, who was arrested on Saturday, charged with blackmailing a number of wealthy undergraduates of the University, was brought up for preliminary examination, and remanded until Tuesday next.

The alleged blackmailing schemes of Mr. Moreland, it is said, were worked upon some of the most distinguished members of the nobility now studying at Oxford.

Mr. Moreland, who is 65 years of age, has been in the habit of luring the noble and wealthy students into correspondence with a mysterious widow, and, when he had sufficient documentary evidence in his possession, he would make a demand, accompanied by a threat of exposure, for a round sum in cash.

The victims in some cases paid the sum demanded, but in time the matter was exposed.

SERVIA EXPELS A CORRESPONDENT.

The Fall in Her Securities Attributed to His Telegrams to Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—The Voss Gazette publishes a despatch from Semla announcing that its correspondent at Belgrave was compelled to leave Servia to-day by order of the Servian Minister of the Interior. The reason given for his expulsion is that his telegrams to Berlin had caused a fall in Servian securities:

The correspondent had transmitted the news that the Servian Government was about to contract a new loan. In answer to the declaration of the Servian Government that this was pure invention, the correspondent replies:

"The Skuptschina at a secret sitting authorized the Minister of War to order eight field batteries of 36 heavy guns and 150,000 rounds of ammunition, together with 125,000 rifles. Inasmuch as the loan of a million of francs, advanced by the Handelsgesellschaft, had been exhausted, more funds were required to pay for these armaments, but the Berlin financiers notified the Servian Government that they would only be prepared to make further advances on condition that the orders for new arms and ammunition were given to German manufactories.

"The united influence of Russia and France was exerted to secure order for a French firm, and French financial houses offered to take 10,000,000 francs in Servian bonds if the order was given to France. A contract to that effect was to have been signed on Monday, but a remonstrance against this step reached Belgrave from an influential quarter in Berlin. As further showing the serious consequences of such a decision the representatives in Belgrave of an important Berlin institution received the following telegram:

"'In consequence of the mischievous dealings of the Belgrave Government with French contractors the price of Servian rentes can no longer be kept up.'"

The Gazette says it is evident that the Servian Government is alone to blame for the fall in its securities, which it falsely attributes to the correspondent of the paper, who simply did his duty in sending the news complained of.

No Further Crofter Settlement.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Crofter Colonization Commission decided to make no further settlement in Canada this season from Scotland or Ireland. What work the commission does will be preparing for 1893.

FOUND DEAD IN THEIR CABIN.

A Kansas Family Supposed to Have Been Murdered By Robbers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 14.—Henry Buller, a farmer, who lives south of Hope, Kan., his wife and his mother were found dead in their cabin yesterday. Their bodies were partially decomposed.

The house had been apparently ransacked, and it is believed that robbers murdered the inmates. The family lived isolated from their neighbors, and though nothing had been seen of them for a week little attention had been paid to the fact.

Nearing His End.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Count Ferdinand D Lesseps, the world-famed diplomat and promoter of colossal feats of engineering, is dangerously ill. He is perfectly conscious of his critical condition and to-night expressed his desire that the last sacrament of the church be administered to him. M DeLesseps was born Nov. 19, 1804, and entered the consular service of France at the age of 23 in the capacity of attache to the French consulate at Lisbon. His fame is based principally upon the scheme to pierce the isthmus of Suez by means of a canal which originated with him, and his complete success in carrying it out.

THE Conservatives and restrictionists oppose unrestricted reciprocity on the ground that it involves discrimination against Great Britain. Yet the Dominion Government by the present tariff discriminates strongly against the mother country, and the latter makes no complaint. Last year we collected $1,313,000 more of taxes on goods imported from Great Britain than on $11,000,000 more goods imported from the United States, showing conclusively that the rate of taxation is higher on British than on American goods.

The Seats Still Vacant.

The writ for the election in Montcalm was issued on Friday. Polling will take place on March 3 Mr. Dugas, the unseated Conservative member, will again be a candidate, and is likely to be opposed by Mr. Therien, the former representative of the county. There are now fourteen constituencies for which writs have not been issued, viz: West Northumberland, North Perth, Welland, Prescott, Brome, Bagot, Montmorency, Renville, Maskinonge, Montmagny, Pontiac, and Monck. Of these the first four have already been inscribed for hearing on appeal to the Supreme court, and it is probable that a majority of the others will also be carried to the same tribunals. Mr. Burns, M.P. for Gloucester, N.B., has been confirmed in his seat.

The Bye Elections

Two bye-elections are on the lists for this week. They will take place on Saturday in East Hastings and South Ontario. Politicians are casting anxious eyes on these constituencies, as they are both of the uncertain kind. The elections now pending are as follows:—

East Hastings	Feb. 20
South Ontario	Feb. 20
West Huron	Feb. 23
London	Feb. 26
Quebec West	Feb 26

Montcalm	March 3

A Distinguished Canadian.

Sir Provo William Parry Wallis lived to a ripe old age. His death recalls the celebration last year of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of "the Father of the Royal Navy"—as Sir Provo was called. That this country should have given to England a man who took so prominent a place in the Imperial navy is an honour Canadians may well regard with pride. In 1805 William Parry Wallis began his career as an able-bodied seaman. During the famous fight between the Shannon and the Chesapeake he was Lieutenant Wallis, and at the conclusion of the engagement by the death of the captain he assumed command of the Shannon. Having served under Nelson, Sir Provo Wallis occupied a unique position towards the navy, and the close of his career covers a remarkable link between the past and the present.

A Combine Collapses.

The Wholesale Grocers' Guild Broken and Defeated—The Sugar Combination Dissolved After Five Years of Vigorous Fighting.

It is now nearly five years since the wholesale grocers of this Dominion combined as one man, their wealth, ability, and influence to extract from the retail merchants and consumers enormous profits on granulated sugar, an article used by every household in the country, and were it not that one wholesale grocer of Toronto, in the person of Jas. Lumbers, had the courage, pluck, and ability to oppose this wealthy combination, the public would still be wondering how our American friends were able to procure this staple article at one-half cent per pound less than it could be purchased for in Canada. The fight has been a long and tedious one, Mr. Lumbers standing alone with the cause of right on his side, supported by the retail merchants, has been opposed by all the wholesale grocers of Canada. They have boycotted him on all sides, have prevented him from purchasing his sugars direct from the refineries at the figures at which they were buying, have used their influence with the manufacturers not to sell him their goods, and attempted to corner him on every occasion. Mr. Lumbers in return has kept his eye open, has used his ability to defeat their combination, has kept the merchants posted in prices by means of circulars, has carried on his business without the aid of travellers, has undersold Guild members where profits would admit of it, and, in short, has occasioned so much dissatisfaction that the wholesale grocers have thrown up the sponge and cried for quarter.

This is the first instance of a large and wealthy combine being defeated by the exertions of one man.—Mail.

The Conference Ended,

Canadian Ministers Fail in Their Mission —The Offer They Made—One The Washington Government Could not Accept —The Canal Question Considered—The Report Our Ministers are Expected to Make.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(Special).—The Dominion Ministers have ended the conference on reciprocity and will soon leave for Ottawa. The negotiations have amounted to nothing, which was the expected result. No other result could have been anticipated by the commissioners themselves. But they have accomplished one of their objects, namely, the making a demonstration by which they hoped to deceive the people of Canada into the belief that they had been invited to Washington to consider the subject of reciprocity, and that there was a prospect that they would be successful. The Canadian people, if they had chosen to believe trustworthy information, must know by this time that the Tory Ministers sent out from Canada a false statement. At the outset of the conference the Canadian commissioners submitted a proposition for complete reciprocity in natural products only. This proposition was immediately rejected by the United States in a most summary manner. The Canadians were informed by the Secretary of State that it would be useless to waste time if they had nothing else to propose. Thereupon the commissioners of Canada stated that they had prepared a partial list of manufactured articles. This was submitted later, with the distinct statement by them, however, that none of the articles upon this list would be admitted from the United States at a lower rate than they would be admitted from Great Britain, although the rates from the United States might be lower than from Portugal, Spain, or other countries. The items in this list are not as yet furnished for publication. But it is known that the list does not contain any of the articles which receive protection in Canada. A very brief consideration of this list was sufficient to convince the Secretary of State and Mr. J. W. Foster, who is his assistant in reciprocity matters, that it did not contain a single manufactured article which the manufacturers of the United States would desire to send to Canada. It is composed mainly of articles which are and which never will be manufactured there because of the great cost of the plant, the capital, the scientific apparatus necessary and for like reasons. The Canadians were duly notified that a proposition of that sort could not be considered, as it did not afford anything that would be regarded as reciprocal by the American people. It was a plan as jug-handled as was the treaty of 1856. The proposition involved no sacrifice on the part of the Canadians, but it would have compelled large sacrifices on the part of the United States.

It was at this point that the question was asked by the United States whether the Dominion Ministers had any authority to make the propositionn which they had submitted, and whether they were before the United States Government in the capacity of authorized negotiators. The question, while it might not have been unexpected, is said to have startled the Ottawa Cabinet. It is understood that there were cables sent by Sir Julian Pauncefote to Lord Salisbury to ascertain whether the desired permission could be had. But it was evident to the commissioners that they had nothing to expect from the United States from any permission which they would be likely to obtain from Lord Salisbury. The United States would not consent to any arrangement which would be in the interests of Great Britian and not to the benefit of the commerce of the American continent. The United Stated insisted that if any reciprocal relations were to be entered into between the adjacent countries on this continent they were to be shaped in accordance with the interests of the people here and in Canada and not with a view only to the interests of the Government of Great Britian. It became evident last Saturday that it would not be possible to come to any basis of an agreement as to reciprocity; and the Canadian commissioners abandoned that part of their mission. The next subject which came up for consideration was that of

THE CANALS.

The Canadian Government wishes to have the unobstructed use of the canals of the United States, notably the Erie Canal, and has maintained that, under existing treaties, it has the right to use the canals, because it does not discriminate against the United States in the Welland Canal. At the outset of the discussion, however, the Dominion commissioners were met with this question. It was shown to them by the United States that, notwithstanding the official utterances of the Dominion Government at Ottawa that there was no discrimination against American vessels through the Canadian canals, the contrary is the fact, that discrimination is marked and oppressive to American vessels, and that, until these discriminations shall be removed, the Dominion Government is in no position to ask for reciprocity in the use of canals. It was urged on the Dominion commissioners that Canadian vessels proceeded without interruption and without paying of tolls, while the American vessels are delayed and are mulcted by the payment of heavy tolls. To this the Canadian commissioners could not make any answer which would be satisfactory to the United States Government. So that the mission was a failure.

If the Canadian commissioners shall return to Canada and make false statements as to their present mission here, as did Sir Charles Tupper on a former occasion, the probability is that the Administration will not permit the false statements to go uncontradicted, but will publish

ACTUALLY WHAT DID OCCUR.

It is understood that the statements of the Dominion commissioners were reduced to writing. The President and Secretary Blaine seem to feel that they have twice been used to affect a Tory and anti-American purpose in Canada. There are some intimations that if the Dominion commissioners shall not omit the courtesy of calling upon the President to take leave, the latter may avail himself of the occasion of announcing in a speech how much his government feels that it has been trifled with. It is said that Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister, is not altogether comfortable, that he has been made a catspaw for the second time by the Dominion Government for purposes of its own, and that he feels very much embarrassed in his relations with the Administration that he should have introduced the Dominion Cabinet officers to the Secretary of State and the President here knowing that the United States officials presumed at least that the Canadian commissioners had some authority in the premises. But, however indignant the President and the Secretary of State may be that the Canadian commissioners should have come to Washington on what appears to have been strictly a political errand and to affect the Canadian voters in the bye-elections, the Dominion ministers are undoubted to be very exultant privately at the success of their diplomatic ruse. They will return to Canada very soon to be ready for the opening of Parliament, and it is said that their explanation of their visit here has already been outlined. It will probably be something like this:—That they came to Washington to discover whether or not, if they should obtain credentials from Great Britain, it would be practicable to propose the negotiation of a full treaty of reciprocity, that they have found that it would be practicable to do so, and that they have returned to Canada while awaiting for fuller authority from Great Britain to negotiate the desired treaty for which they have applied and which in due time they expect to receive. Such a statement would be untrue. There will be no treaty made by the present Administration with the Tory Government at Ottawa. That is one of the results which is made clear by the masquerade here of the last week. The cause of reciprocity, which the Tory Cabinet falsely pretend to have so much at heart, has been seriously injured by their campaign here of false pretences.

What the Granger's Want.

The Dominion Grange, in session at London, passed a series of resolutions detailing their desires. They want the government to reduce the postage on letters from 3 to 2 cents; they want binder twine placed on the free list; and they are anxious that the duty on coal oil shall be reduced from 7 and one fifth cents to 3 cents per imperial gallon. They took advantage of their meeting to unreservedly condemn the "salary grab" of last session, when the members voted $500 additional indemnity to themselves.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past 30 years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed."—T. P. Bonner, Chester, Pa. Ayer's Pills are sold by all druggists.

Life Grip Best of All Grips.

Had such bad attack of grip could not shake off its deadly hold until I got a barrel of St. Leon Mineral Water, of which I indulged freely, and glad to say it soon freed me from the deadly grip, and soon filled me with the grip of fine, vigorous health, and I am 67 years of age; St. Leon is great; try it everybody. WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

Self Application of Electricity

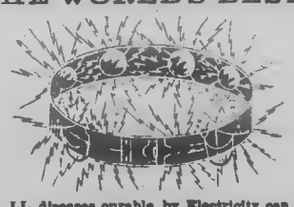
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and mats with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Funeral Notice.

Everybody specially invited to attend the funeral of the Edison Hockey Club this evening at the rink. The shop team have at great expense and considerable trouble secured the services of a well known orchestra, which will, during the first half of the match play "We'll plant them to-morrow," and at the latter part of the second half will play in solemn tones "The Dead March in Saul." Please attend the parade and help to pay funeral expenses. Doctors, hospital nurses, undertakers, grave-diggers and clergymen free.

Profit Sharing.

Profit-sharing between employers and employes, which has been successfully adopted in the United States and many European countries, is now being tried for the first time in Canada under a comprehensive scale. Messrs S. T. Simms & Co., of St. John, N. B., inaugurated the system at the beginning of this year among their eighty employes. The arrangement was voluntarily made by the firm, and is an exceedingly liberal one. For the capital invested there will be allowed interest at six per cent. per annum. A salary will be paid for management. A percentage will be paid for depreciation in plant; a small percentage will be allowed for a sinking fund and for an invalid fund. The profits will be shared in an equal share between capital, salary for management and wages. This will apply only to those who have been in the employ of the firm at least ten months when the profits are divided. The effect of the arrangement should be to stimulate an interest in the business among the employes which must result beneficially to all concerned.

Mr. Young and the Reduction of Licenses.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Allow me through the columns of your paper to draw the attention of the ratepayers to the ridiculous arguments against the reduction of liquor licenses put forth by Mr. A. V. R. Young, who shows himself to be very ignorant of the right vested in the government of this country, when he says "that he does not think that any legislative body has the right to dictate what a man should take into his stomach." Let Mr. Young attempt to take poison into his stomach without a doctor's permit and see how quickly the arm of the law will be upon him, or let him bring tainted meat onto the market and he will find out that there is some legislative body has the power to stop him from selling it, thereby preventing other people from taking it into their stomachs. Mr. Young goes on to say that he does not think it would be wise to take the licenses from five or six hotel-keepers, and thus deprive them of the means of gaining a livelihood, and consequently drive them out of town. Now, Mr. Editor, statistics go to show that it takes the net earnings of at least fifteen labouring men to support one hotel-keeper; and in the face of these facts, the authenticity of which cannot be disputed, Mr. Young makes the statements as above. I would like to ask Mr. Young if it would not be better to lose five or six hotel-keepers and the revenue derived from them, than for the corporation to keep from seventy-five to ninety families, who are in destitute circumstances on account of these five or six hotels, making a total of about 400 persons who are deprived of the comforts of this life, to allow these five or six hotel-keepers to drive fast horses and wear fur coats. Mr. Young goes on to say, "That he held that the use of liquor shops in connection with groceries added respectability to the business." A high compliment, indeed, to the liquor business, when it has to take into partnership the necessaries of life to make it respectable. At the close of his address he says "that if the ladies who promoted temperance stayed at home and brought up their sons to temperance principles more good would be done than by the reduction of licenses." It is a pity Mr. Young did not follow the temperance principles, no doubt taught him when he was a child, which if he had done, there would have been no need of this letter.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space thus occupied, and hoping that the electors of No. Two Ward now see that they have elected a not very intelligent councillor, and one who places his opinion before nearly 1,500 citizens of the town who signed the petition, I remain,

Yours, etc.,

Temperance in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed in your columns the other day a communication from Mr. William Smith, Principal of the Public Schools, in reply to a letter that had previously appeared, stating that Temperance was not taught in our schools. Mr. Smith gave a "W. T. C. U. Woman" a flat and severe contradiction, and I have as yet not noticed a reply from the W. C. T. U. Was the inference drawn from Mr. Smith's letter "that she did not know what she was talking about" correct, or was the statement gratuitously incorrect? I would like the W. C. T. U. woman to explain or own up, as circumstances require.

Yours truly,
A READER.

Questions for Citizens.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

1. Ought a man to be taxed for improving his property, and thereby improving the town?
2. Does not idle land mean idle men?
3. Is it better to tax producers for making goods abundant and giving employment to labour, or to tax speculators for making land scarce and keeping men idle?
4. Do not the many vacant lots increase the cost of roads, sewers and other services to reach the people who have been forced to the outskirts?
5. Why not seek our taxes where the speculator gathers his riches—namely, from land values?
6. When a man gets a million dollars by land speculation, who has got to pay it?
7. Public improvements add nothing to the value of houses, goods or labour. Then why should these things be taxed to pay for public improvements?
8. Public improvements raise the values of land. Then should not the values of land pay for public improvements?
9. Would industry and commerce have to pay toll to land speculators if taxes were confined to land values?
10. Do you know that if you tax houses and goods you make them dearer and harder to get?
11. Do you know that if you tax land values you make land cheaper and easier to get?
12. If taxing whiskey makes whiskey harder to get, what is the effect of taxing houses and goods?
13. Land is the only thing which is cheaper and easier to get when it is taxed heavily.
14. Why should a man who uses land beneficially be taxed more than the man who holds it idle?
15. Is not the value of every lot in Peterborough caused by the whole population of Peterborough?
16. Increased population requires increased taxation. Increased population causes increased land values. Is not the increased land value in every way suited to satisfy the increased demand for taxes?
17. Do you favor reducing taxation on buildings and increasing it on land values?

Yours truly,
A RATEPAYER.

The Late Canon Davidson.

The funeral of the late Canon Davidson, who died under such painful circumstances in Toronto on Saturday last, took place at Colborne yesterday, and the large attendance gave evidence of the respect and veneration in which the late clergyman was held. Those present from Peterborough were Rev. Messrs. Kenrick and Loucks, and Messrs. Harry Rush and G. A. Smith, church wardens of St. John's.

The body of the late incumbent was laid in the church yard directly in front of the church building, the members of the Colborne Chapter of the Brotherhood acting as pall-bearers.

That his loss was felt as a public calamity, and this feeling intensified by the pathetic circumstances attending his demise was shown on Tuesday, when the Church of Trinity was unable to accommodate half of those who came to pay their last tribute to his worth. The body, in charge of the local chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, was taken to the church at 10 30 a. m., and from that hour until nearly 12 a stream of sorrowing friends took their last look at his familiar features. The church was decorated with flowers, Easter texts and purple hangings by the ladies of the congregation, and the coffin was almost hidden by floral offerings, which testified the love and sympathy of a wide circle of mourners, including a large anchor from the congregation of St. John's Church, Peterborough; a red St. Andrew's cross within a circle from the local chapter of the brotherhood, and two others from the members of the Canadian council and the Peterborough chapter. At noon the holy communion was administered to a large congregation, Rev. Canon Dumoulin being celebrant, assisted by Archdeacon Allen, of Millbrook, Rev. Canon Spragge of Cobourg, Rev. J. E. Cooper of Hastings, and Rev. John Gibson of Norwood. At one o'clock the solemn and impressive burial service of the church was said, two hymns and the "Nunc Dimittis" sung, and the service was over. The services throughout were most solemn and impressive. The family of the deceased, who have been most active and efficient co-workers with him in his ministrations in the parish, have the deepest sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. Besides the clergy mentioned above there were present:—Prof Duvernet, of Wycliffe College, Toronto; Rev. G. Warren, Lakefield; Rev. W. B. Magnan, Brighton; Rev. S. Daniel, Port Hope; also the churchwardens of St. John's (Peterborough), Cobourg, Brighton, Uxbridge and Grafton, and Messrs. E Henderson and A. Campbell of Toronto.

Here it is proper to correct an error which was made by the Toronto daily papers in recording the incidents of Rev. Canon Davidson's death. It is not true, as stated by them, that Rev. J. C. Davidson left his father in the throes of death to attend the convention. Rev. Canon Davidson passed away at about half past one o'clock, and it was only when the father was beyond human help and comfort that the son, recalled by the claims of duty, went to the convention at two o'clock.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

Last evening a large number of our young men assembled to greet Mr. F. J. Fedarb, general secretary Ottawa association, and a very pleasant and profitable evening was spent. Mr. Fedarb gave an interesting account of the world's convention, which he attended, held last year at Amsterdam, showing the great work which is being done in all lands through the Y.M.C.A., also impressions of the London convention, and in a practical and helpful way showed the needs of this special work. Many questions were asked and helpful answers given on the best way to do the work, and this profitable meeting was closed by a consecration service led by Mr. Fedarb, which was powerful in its effects and will bring blessing in the lives of all, and our work will receive an impetus by this meeting. Hearty thanks were given to Mr. Fedarb for remaining over to give us these valuable hints on the work.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

It had run away from his son, and had been stopped by these young men on its road to Bridgenorth.

Sunday School Tea.

The annual tea to the scholars, teachers and officials of the Charlotte street Sunday school was given Tuesday evening in the school room of the church. Tea was served to the children from six until eight o'clock, after which Mr. R. M. Roy gave an illustrated lecture in the church, which was well filled with Sunday school pupils and friends. Mr. Roy took his audience around the world, showing some of the places mentioned in Rev. Mr. Baker's address the evening before, on his trip through Rome. Mr. Roy also showed a number of humorous views, and pictures of Rev. Mr. Shorey, former pastor of the church, and of Mr. Rowse, late superintendent of the Sunday school. The pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Edwards, was also present and entered into the enjoyment afforded.

Lakevale Presbyterian Church.

The Annual Tea and Entertainment a Great Success.

The annual tea and entertainment in connection with the Lakevale Presbyterian church, Emily, took place Tuesday night in Temperance Hall, Smith, this hall being more suitable for an entertainment and tea than the church.

The attendance was very large; the hall was packed in spite of the heavy state of the country roads, and everybody united to make the evening's entertainment the great success it was. The tea was the first item on the programme, and the good ladies of the congregation must have expected a siege or preparation for a small army, judging by the abundant supply of excellent and well prepared viands they provided. After the tea the meeting was organized and called to order by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., taking the chair. After a few opening remarks, and prayer by Rev. Mr. Ewing, pastor, he called upon the Omemee choir, for the opening selection of the musical programme. During the evening this choir (or members) sang several pieces, duets, quartettes, and choruses in a most praiseworthy manner. Mr. Robertson, headmaster of the Omemee high school, Rev. Mr. Hoogh, Bridgenorth, Rev. Mr. Ewing and Mr. Wm. Graham, delivered addresses suitable to the occasion. Mr. W. J. Drope, Peterborough, rendered during the evening two vocal solos with great acceptability. He was loudly encored on both occasions and very obligingly responded and made a decided hit, pleasing the people greatly by his fine singing, as well as by his willingness to come so far to contribute, as he did, to their enjoyment.

Mr. Parsons, of Omemee, also rendered a solo and kindly responded to the encore warmly demanded.

The entertainment, which was a decidedly pleasant and profitable success, concluded about eleven o'clock, with the usual votes of thanks to all who had assisted in the entertainment, and the singing of the doxology.

An Explanation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The Hastings Star of a late date says the exports of Canadian products to other parts of the Empire in 1891 exceeded our exports to foreign countries by fourteen million dollars. "This is fair proof as to the location of Canada's natural market."

The Star has here fallen into the error of comparing our exports to Britain with those to the States in order to find out which is the better market. Did it not occur to the Star to ask itself the question why are the people seeking reciprocity? It is not to rid themselves of the high tariff which prevents us from exporting to the United States. That is the object of the tariff to keep Canadian products out of the United States market, and that it has fulfilled its effect is evident. The Star forgets that in Britain we have a free market while before we can get to the United States market we must climb a high tariff wall. It merely requires to be mentioned to be seen how unfair is the comparison between the United States and English markets and how absurd the conclusion that because we export more to a free market than to one that is not free, therefore the former is our natural market.

With regard to exports the Star will bear in mind that those to England include the articles we send her in payment of the interest on her investment and loans. These payments are constantly growing for we are constantly borrowing fresh capital from her. But we pay no interest tribute to the Americans; all our dealings with them, therefore, represent so much actual exchange.

Golden Wedding Celebration.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

One of those happy social events which seldom occur, took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McFee of the Township of Dummer, on Monday the 8th inst., when they celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their married life, in company with their family, including one daughter living with them, a son and a daughter married and living near them, and three sons, James and wife, Andrew and David who came from Iowa, U.S. to be present on the occasion, and a number of other friends and relatives, amongst whom were John and James McFee, brothers of Mr. McFee, and William and Robert Tully, of Peterborough, brothers of Mrs. McFee. The aged couple were the recipients of many beautiful and valuable presents. The following address will show the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. McFee are held in a community where they have lived for considerably more than half a century.

TO MR. AND MRS. HUGH MCFEE:

Allow us as friends and neighbours here assembled, on this the 50th anniversary of your wedding day, to present to you these presents as a small token of the respect in which we hold you in this neighborhood. And we ask you now as friends and neighbors to accept these presents, not for their intrinsic value, but as a mark of esteem in which you are held in this community. Wishing you both many happy years to enjoy them.

Signed on behalf of friends,
WALTER JOHN KIDD,
WILLIAM BURGESS.

TALKS FOR THE FARMER.

SOUTHERN EXPERIENCE ABOUT THE TIME TO BREED FOALS.

It Amounts to This: They Should be Raised as Late in the Season as Possible—Watering Hens in Winter—Interesting Farm Topics.

As a mule is incomparably the best plow and wagon animal, it would not be advisable to raise plow horses to any extent. There is some demand for these on the part of small farmers who keep but a single horse for all purposes, but the demand is light. When a real fast trotter can be raised it pays well, but the raising of this class is very largely speculative, there being so much uncertainty about it. One can never be certain of getting a first-class trotter when both sire and dam are first-class—so much depends upon the proper mating of animals. The roadster we regard as the best stock to raise. The demand for this is almost unlimited and the prices good for first-class stock.

It is better to have them come in autumn, for more reasons than one. In the first place, a colt's stomach is not fitted for coarse food until it is several months old. If foaled in May or June it cannot be weaned and put on pasture until quite late in summer or in autumn, virtually loses the first summer's pasturing, and its early feeding through autumn and winter has to be on dry and rough material.

If foaled late in autumn, on the contrary, it is supported by its mother's milk until the early spring pastures, rye, barley, etc., are ready, and thus gets the benefit of the whole summer run at pasture. By autumn its stomach will be better prepared to digest dry food. Again, spring work is the heaviest on the farm, and mares in foal, if worked, would do their hardest work when far advanced in pregnancy, and would drop out of work when most needed.

A stallion when from 6 to 12 years old is at his best, but sometimes 4 and 5 years old are desirable. For instance, when one wishes to breed an old mare it is best to couple her with a young stallion, and sometimes an old stallion will bring a good colt from a young mare. A stallion when servicing mares should be well fed, oats and bran preferable to corn, though a little of the latter is allowable, as it is important to vary the ration.

In the intervals between seasons he should be moderately worked, not kept too fat, and in no sense pampered. When not convenient to work him he should be allowed to take exercise in the open air in a large well-fenced enclosure, out of sight of other horses, and mares particularly. A mare in foal is better off for being moderately worked, provided she is well fed.

Work should continue up to a week or ten days of her time, and when work is stopped should have gentle exercise up to foaling. But she should never be strained or put to great speed, for the pressure of the enlarged womb interferes both with respiration and circulation of the blood. Moderate exercise improves both of these. A colt should be confined to its dam almost exclusively until three months old, and the supply of milk be not stinted.

When 1 month old, however, a little of the finest hay and a handful of clean threshed oats may be given it, that it may gradually learn to eat ordinary food. Its stomach will not bear much of these, however, until it is some 4 months. At this latter age regular feeding may begin.

A well-grown colt may be worked very lightly and for short periods. When it is 2 years old it may be ridden by a very light-weight rider, or driven in a light buggy, but its back and joints should never be strained.—Southern Farm.

Watering the Hens in Winter.

Unless the hens can have plenty of it, they cannot produce eggs. In the winter season, when the drinking vessels become frozen up with ice and are liable to crack from cold, the matter of providing water becomes a difficulty. We all know that a cold draught of water in winter chills the body, as it must be warmed by the body after it is drank; consequently, ice-water causes a loss of bodily heat. As the heat is produced from the food, all losses of heat are losses of food. Now, it is just as easy to water the hens at regular hours as it is to water the large stock, and the best mode of so doing is to use wooden troughs long enough to allow all the hens to drink at the same time. Early in the morning, at noon and before night fill the troughs with warm water, allow the hens to drink until all are satisfied, and then throw out the water that remains. In this manner the troughs will be kept clean, the hens will learn to drink at regular periods, and the warm water will invigorate them. In fact, nothing is so invigorating, or will assist in warding off the cold when the hens comes off the roost in the morning, with the thermometer below zero, than a drink of warm water.—Farm and Fireside.

What Other Papers Say.

In Cuba and Mexico the cows are driven up and milked in the city streets.

Instead of keeping cows, the people in many of the warmer parts of South America use canned milk imported from Europe.

The inhabitants of the North American nations to the south of us use very little butter, but great quantities of lard.

Science says that vegetable matter (humus) must be included, else any manure will be "found wanting" in part.

Stables, barns and all shelters for stock should have as much winter sunlight as it is practicable to secure.—New York Tribune.

Economy and neatness may be combined in cleaning the hogpen by loading the manure on the wagon or sleigh and drawing directly to the field.

Farm Notes.

When a cow is two years old a wrinkle begins to form at the base of her horns. At three years this wrinkle is fully developed. When she is five years old another will form and after that one will come each year. Thus her age can be known.

No farm should ever become poorer. The true farmer aims to make his land richer each year, without regard to the cost, as any outlay to improve the soil is sure to return more than its equivalent sooner or later. A poor farm is unprofitable and it pays to improve it. Agriculture does not reimburse its devotees immediately, but there will be a gradual increase of wealth to him who aims to make his farm pay in the future.

Mutton and Wool.

Professor Henry Stewart thinks the most effective means of improving the wool is to produce good mutton. Even the Merino may be made a mutton sheep. The fine French Rambouillet sheep is as good a mutton animal as could be desired, and the Delaine sheep in parts of New York and Ohio is equally good for its carcass. But without roots for the winter feeding and better pastures, it is vain to expect excellent mutton, and this brings us to remark that root-growing must be the basis of excellent wool.

CALLED FORTH THE EVIL ONE.

How a Convivial Company Rid Itself of an Objectionable Member.

One night not long ago a group of kindred spirits were gathered in an upper room at the house of one of the number, the women of the household being absent for the evening. The tide of merriment was flowing genially when they were joined by an undesirable young man who may be called Brown, as that was not his name. They cast about among themselves as to how they could get rid of him without giving offense, and one of the number suddenly bethought himself of a masquerade costume he had constructed, with much labor and thought, to represent the Father of Darkness. Hastily whispering his plan to his friends, continues the New York Tribune, he quietly slipped away from the house, and hurrying home donned the suit and returned. Knocking at the door, he inquired of the person who answered the summons if "Brown" was within.

"Yes; step up stairs and you will find him," was the reply. With much clanking of chains and clattering of hoofs he slowly mounted the stairs and entered the room where the company was gathered, inquiring for Brown. There was a scene of indescribable confusion, the well-simulated terror of the rest rendering the uninitiated young man almost helpless from fright; all he was able to do was to roll under the table. At last the others made a rush for the window and, one by one, dropped to the ground below. As the last one climbed through the window, Brown, who did not desire to be left alone with his satanic majesty, made a dash at him, caught him in his arms, and with the strength of terror drew him back and flung him across the room. Then leaping himself from the window he started for home at a rate of speed which a sprinter might well envy. At every stride he would cry out until his voice was lost in the distance:

"Please, Mr. Satan, don't take me yet; please don't take me just yet!"

The jokers returned to the room weak with laughter, and they have never since been troubled by a call from Brown, who still persists that the evil one in person had sought him on that occasion.

George's Ardor.—Belle—"George says he loves the ground I tread upon." Blanche—"That's unfortunate, for your father will be certain to insist on your moving right after the wedding."—New York Herald.

Lord Devoid—"Have you ever been presented at court, Mrs. Lakeside?" Mrs. Lakeside—"Oh, lots of times! There isn't a judge in Chicago that doesn't know me. I've been divorced three times."—Epoch.

Lightning-rod agent—"Hullo, Bub! Do you think your father would like to have his house rodded?" Bub (with repressed sobs)—"I shouldn't wonder. He's just rodded me."—Kate Field's Washington.

It is not theory but fact—that Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the weak strong. A fair trial will convince you of its merit.

The Head Surgeon

Of the Lubon Medical Company is now at Toronto, Canada, and may be consulted either in person or by letter on all chronic diseases peculiar to men. Men, young, old or middle-aged, who find themselves nervous, weak and exhausted, who are broken down from excess or overwork, resulting in many of the following symptoms: Mental depression, premature old age, loss of memory, bad dreams, dimness of sight, palpitation of the heart, emissions, lack of energy, pain in the kidneys, headache, pimples on the face or body, itching or peculiar sensations about the scrotum, wasting of the organs, dizziness, specks before the eyes, twitching of the muscles, eyelids and elsewhere, bashfulness, deposits in the urine, loss of will power, tenderness of the scalp and spine, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep, failure to be rested by sleep, constipation, dullness of hearing, loss of voice, desire for solitude, excitability of temper, sunken eyes surrounded with leaden circle, oily looking skin, etc., are all symptoms of nervous debility that lead to insanity and death unless cured. The spring or vital force having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequences. Those who through abuse committed in ignorance may be permanently cured. Send your address for book on all diseases peculiar to man. Books sent free sealed. Heart disease, the symptoms of which are faint spells, purple lips, numbness, palpitation, skip beats, hot flashes, rush of blood to the head, dull pain in the heart with beats strong, rapid and irregular, the second heart beat quicker than the first, pain about the breast bone, etc., can positively be cured. No cure, no pay. Send for book. Address M. V. Lubon, 24 Macdonell ave., Toronto, Canada.

Cure for A Constipation and Headache

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents package. dw

A Crying Evil.

Every crying evil should be promptly removed. Sick headache is a crying evil affecting thousands of Canadians, which can easily be removed by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, the best known stomach, liver and bowel regulator and cure for sick headache from whatever cause arising. dw

Worms cause serious sickness. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup destroys and expels all kinds of worms quickly and surely.

Greatly Benefited.

Dear Sirs,—I have been using B. B. B. for cancer of the breast during the last two years and four months, both externally and internally, and have been greatly benefited. Have had cancer over seven years, and no medicine ever did me as much good as B.B.B. I feel sure that sufferers from cancer can obtain relief or even cure from B.B.B., and will be pleased to answer any questions as to the use and benefit received from this remedy. Mrs A. Elliot, Waterdown, Ont.

VERY MANY SUCH.

RHEUMATISM.—Col. DAVID WYLIE, Brockville, Ont., says: "I suffered intensely with rheumatism in my ankles. Could not stand; rubbed them with St. Jacobs Oil. In the morning I walked without pain."

NEURALCIA.—Mr. JAMES BONNER, 158 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont., writes: "St. Jacobs Oil is the only remedy that relieved me of neuralgia, and it effectually cured me."

BACKACHE.—"I can highly recommend St. Jacobs Oil as being the best medicine in existence; it promptly cured me of severe lumbago." G. N. BOYER, Carillon, Quebec.

SPRAINS.—"My mother received a very severe sprain and bruise by falling down stairs. St. Jacobs Oil cured her in a couple of days." R. BURNAND, 124 Tecumseth St., Toronto, Ont.

BRUISES.—Mr. AITCHISON, Hamilton, Ont., Fire Department, says he met with a serious accident and his back and shoulders were terribly bruised, but by the use of St. Jacobs Oil he was completely restored.

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS

Keep the Works in good order.

Norman, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. Comstock, Brockville, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. Atwell.

Dear Sir,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills. Yours, &c.,

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken "sick, and suffered as no one but a "dyspeptic can. I then began taking August Flower. At that time "I was a great sufferer. Every-"thing I ate distressed me so that I "had to throw it up. Then in a "few moments that horrid distress "would come on and I would have "to eat and suffer "again. I took a "little of your med-"icine, and felt much "better, and after "taking a little more "August Flower my "Dyspepsia disap-"peared, and since that time I "have never had the first sign of it. "I can eat anything without the "least fear of distress. I wish all "that are afflicted with that terrible "disease or the troubles caused by "it would try August Flower, as I "am satisfied there is no medicine "equal to it."

For that Horrid Stomach Feeling.

The Miser.

The human heart I have surveyed,
The rich, the poor in every shade,
I think the smallest God has made,
Is the low groveling miser.

He owns a soul—if soul it be—
In size not larger than a pea;
Close as the bark upon the tree
Is the mean soul of the miser.

No fellow-feeling reaches him,
Philanthropy, he calls a whim,
Real charity, an ice-bound stream
In the heart of that old miser.

Oh, wretched man, with heart that would Deny the body proper food,
Living on husks, if but he could
Store up wealth—hungered miser.

On earth he ill deserves a spot,
He gathers but he scatters not,
His heart is cold, his brain is hot,
Gold fever strikes the miser.

Crouched in his dingy room he sits
Fingering each piece and cent he gets,
If he could learn the bills to split,
Would please the greedy miser.

At times elated, then distressed,
His penurious soul can find no rest,
Pressing his treasures to his breast—
The chief idol of the miser.

His midnight dreams, his noonday thought
How much riches can be got,
For mines of gold his fancy float—
Go dig it up you miser.

On troubled waves of conscience tossed,
He must have gold at any cost,
Though worldly peace and soul be lost,
Give me gold, calls the miser.

Wealth is a blessing—nothing worse—
If man with man shares out his purse;
But it is an everlasting curse
To that gold-grabbing miser.

His wealth-bound soul is dead and cold
To everything but bills and gold;
His ruling passion grasp and hold—
A vice-hand has the miser.

No praise of men, no world's bright ray
Shines on that worthless piece of clay;
His purpose here is but to lay
Up treasures like a miser.

No love for man—of God no fear—
Mammon's gold-God he worships here
Until God's voice sounds in his ear,
Prepare to die you miser.

His eyes grow dim, his feet feel cold—
Before him lies his piles of gold;
With his death-grasp he strives to hold
The treasures of a miser.

He holds them with a death-stamped face—
He holds them unto death's embrace;
They will not purchase him a place
In heaven—There dwells no miser.

Friends wrench it from his death-closed hands,
And burst the life-bound hoarder's bands,
Use his wealth as God's law demands;
but do not be a miser.

He gained no good from all his store—
It could not open heaven's door;
All he owns now is six by four—
The best place for a miser.

Were Used by Confidence Men.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—"Heath's Infallible Counterfeit Detector," a book ostensibly containing directions for detecting spurious money, has come to grief, the Secret Service officials having suppressed its sale.

The "Detector" was published by Laban Heath of Boston, who sold the book in enormous quantities. The books contained cuts of Treasury notes of any denomination from $1 to $500. Many complaints were received at the Treasury Department that the books were being used by "bunco" steerers and confidence men. The sharpers, it was discovered, would cut the pictures of the Treasury notes out of the book and pass them on the unwary.

Lord Avonmore, who married a Canadian lady a few months ago, has just sailed for Canada, where he intends taking up his residence for five or six years. He owns a fine ancestral mansion at Belleisle on the River Shannon, close to the town of Portumna. By his wife he inherits very large estates in Canada, and it is on one of these that the young pair intend residing for a few years.

Among the prisoners convicted some years ago at the Cork Assizes for complicity in the Crossmolina, County Mayo, murder conspiracy was a prominent member of the Land League named McAuley. He was sentenced to a term of imprisonment that would have expired in 1894, but yesterday, by order of the Government, he was released.

Mothers, are your daughters pale or sallow? Remember that the period when they are budding into womanhood is most critical; fortify their system for the change with Dr. William's Pink Pills, unsurpassed for the speedy cure of all troubles peculiar to females. A trial of a single box will convince you. Beware of imitations and take no substitute.

Dr. Low's Sulphur Soap is a delight shampoo. It cleanses the scalp and darkens grey hair.

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Small Sugar-coated Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They are mild and effectual.

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are enemies greatly to be feared. With B. B. B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results. dw

From the Jaws of Death.

Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston, Ont. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at Peterborough Drug Stores. dw

Harassing headaches make many lives miserable, needlessly so, when a prompt cure like Burdock Blood Bitters is obtainable.

A missing debenture has added a new interest to the Heslop tragedy. The debenture was for $1000 and was sold by the late John Riddel to Treasurer Heslop of Ancaster in July, 1888. The debenture was No. 200 and registered by the Landed Banking and Loan Company. It is thought that the debenture must have been stolen from the township treasurer's house on the night he was murdered.

As a protest against the imposition of fuel tax the inhabitants of Potenza, a fortified town on the eastern declivity of the Apennines, invaded the Town Hall in body and proceeded to sack the building. During the course of the rioting which followed several were killed.

A MOSQUITO'S BITE FATAL.

It Made a Surgical Operation Necessary and Under It the Boy Died.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17.—Harry Randolph Daley, aged 9 years, died last night at the John Hopkins Hospital from the effects of a mosquito bite. He was bitten on the foot by a mosquito last summer while in Talbot county. The bite caused a slight swelling but no special inconvenience at the time.

About a week afterwards the boy complained of a pain in his foot. This was followed by a swelling, which extended up the leg. Soon the leg became affected and a swelling made its appearance, which grew slowly but surely.

Three weeks ago the boy's parents brought him to the hospital, and the surgeon in charge concluded that an operation was necessary. It was too late, however. The boy, weakened with pain, could not withstand the shock and died immediately afterwards. It is the first case of the kind ever reported here.

MURDERED OR DROWNED.

All Hope Abandoned of Recovering the Bodies of Orton's Party of Miners.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Feb. 17.—Advices from Alaska concerning the fate of Morris Orton and party of ten miners indicate that they have been murdered by Indians or lost in the sea trying to cross from Cross Sound to Yukilata. Searching parties have hunted six weeks for the missing miners without success, and the hope of recovering their bodies has been abandoned.

Norton's party left Lityua Bay for Juneau in November, but were never heard from again. Citizens of Sitka organized and besought Commander Maynard of the war ship Pinto to go to the rescue, it being thought that the men were lost in the woods and in danger of starvation. Maynard refused to go. He said that his ship was unseaworthy and that the trip would only endanger the lives of his crew of 50 men. He considered the missing men beyond human aid.

Searching parties were organized, however, and a sailing vessel was sent to search for the lost miners, but no traces were found. Recent hostile acts of the Indians in the neighborhood confirm the fears that the men were killed and robbed by Indians and their bodies thrown unto the sea.

KILLED BY WILD DOGS.

John Pratt and His Daughter the Victims of Ferocious Brutes.

WICHITA, Kas., Feb. 17.—John Pratt and his 7-year-old daughter, living near Leonard, Sherman county, were killed last night by wild dogs, which infest the extreme northwestern corner of the State.

Pratt and his child left Leonard late yesterday afternoon for home. This morning their mangled remains were found about a mile from home, and the carcasses of several dogs showed that a horrible battle had been waged before Pratt was overcome.

RETURNED TO BROCKVILLE.

Fitzsimmons' Body to Remain in New Orleans for a Year.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17.—Fitzsimmons' brother, who arrived here several days ago to claim the body of the murderer, left this evening for his home in Brockville, Ont., without the body. After telegraphic consultation with the family, it was decided to let the body remain where it is until a year had passed.

WAS SHE BURIED ALIVE.

It Appears Now That Mrs. Wilson Was Buried at Any Rate.

CARTHAGE, Ill., Feb. 14.—Many believe that Mrs. Jay Wilson, whose alleged resuscitation in her coffin, 12 miles south of Warsaw, on last Tuesday was buried alive after all. The report received here at the time said that she had recovered, but it is now learned that she was buried.

It was stated that while the watchers were placing the body in the coffin the woman threw up her arms and grasped the wrists of one of the attendants with a vise-like grip; that various well-known tests were applied, such as pinching the ears and holding a mirror over the mouth, and that she was finally resuscitated and became able to relate her frightful experiences. It appears now that she never regained consciousness, although signs of life were so manifest that a physician was sent for, but that the messenger could not find one.

The pinching and mirror tests were again tried, and it is said the woman's ear turned red and moisture was noticed on the mirror. Nevertheless it was decided that the woman was dead, and she was accordingly buried.

THE WEDDING PARTY IN THE CELLAR

Guests, Refreshments and Gifts Disappeared Through the Floor.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Feb. 17.—Rabbi Santos had just married Bernhard Greenberg and Rosalie King at the home of the bride's mother this afternoon and the guests were crowding around the happy couple tendering congratulations when the floor gave way with a sudden crash and the entire party were dumped in a heap into the cellar, a distance of six feet. After them came the table on which were the wedding refreshments and presents.

The exclamations of the men and screams of the women brought the neighbors to the spot and all were quickly extricated. With the exception of slight bruises and torn garments little damage was done and the wedding festivities were soon resumed in another room.

DOWN BELOW ZERO.

A Touch of Bitter Cold Weather in the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 17.—Last night was the most trying one of the winter here. The mercury was 19 degrees below zero and there was a bitter northwest wind. All over the Northwest clear up to Medicine Hat and Qu'Appelle the cold is still intense and the sky clear. The remarkable borealic display of Saturday was followed last night by a phenomenal lunar halo, which disappeared after the moon had risen 30 degrees.

At 7 o'clock this morning the mercury was 18 below zero, at 9 o'clock 11 below and at noon at the zero point. In the suburbs the mercury went down to 25 below.

At Duluth the report of the weather station at 7 o'clock last evening placed the mercury at 6 below zero and growing rapidly colder. The lake is frozen over.

The thermometer at Minto, N.D., registered 28 degrees below zero at 6 a.m. yesterday.

HE HAD THE WHOLE CAR.

Passengers and Trainmen Fled Before a Madman With a Revolver.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—Several weeks ago the friends of William Royce, a well-attorney of this city, noticed that his mind was failing and he was sent to a private hospital at Oxford, O., for treatment. Last night he escaped and boarded a Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton train for home.

Just before the train reached Hamilton, Royse went into the sleeping car and flourishing a revolver drove the porter and passengers out. The conductor and trainmen made an effort to capture the maniac, but were deterred by his threats to kill the first person that advanced upon him.

The police of this city were notified of the state of affairs by wire and Royse was taken in charge at the depot. This afternoon he was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum.

Several houses at Kanturk, county Cork were attacked last night by moonlighters who fired a number of shots at the door and windows. The moonlighters afterwards raided some neighboring farms, seizing all the firearms they could find. Nobody was injured.

The funeral of the late Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of Colborne, whose sudden death at Toronto on Saturday last while attending the convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew has already been announced, took place at Colborne yesterday

ITCHING AND SCALY

Skin Disease 9 Years. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured by Cuticura for $4.75.

I feel it is my duty to tell you my experience with your CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled for over nine years with a dreadful skin disease. When I first felt it, there appeared a few small red spots on my breast, and it kept on spreading slowly. It started the same on my back, between my shoulders. A few days after the spots turned gray, and began itching. Small scales would fall off, so it continued spreading all over my body. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, or get hold of. I also consulted doctors. Yes, they would cure me in a short time, but they always failed. Then I gave it all up, thinking there was no cure for me. Some few months ago, I noticed your advertisement in the Tacoma Morning Globe; thought I would try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, not thinking it would do me much good, but to my surprise, three boxes of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT cured me entirely. My skin is now as white and pure as that of a child. I send my photograph. I have many friends in Chicago, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

THE MINORITY REPORT.

JUDGE JETTE DEFENDS COUNT MERCIER.

The Ex-Premier Was Not Himself Guilty of Bondling but was the Victim of Pacaud, Armstrong and Others—An Interesting Document from the Chief of the Commission.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The great Baie des Chaleur commission has completed its task, and the two reports, that by Judges Baby and Davidson, and the minority one by Chief Justice Jette, have both been submitted to the public. The majority report is one sweeping denunciation and condemnation of Mercier, Langelier, Pacaud, Robidoux and the other ministers, but in a lesser degree.

The document bears on it the impress of care and study.

The Jette or minority report on the other hand is diametrically opposed to the findings of the majority one, and exonerates not only Mercier, but his whole crowd, except Pacaud and Armstrong. The closing findings of the Jette reports are as follows: Summing up the facts concerning Mr. Mercier, I find as follows:

1. The note signed by Pacaud and endorsed by Mercier and other political friends for electoral purposes and contestations of elections were paid out of the $100,000 received by Pacaud from Armstrong, but the repayment was made in Mercier's absence without his consent and knowledge, and the responsibility can in no wise be imputed to him. 2. The $5000 sent to Mercier on May 15 were on deposit for that purpose with Pacaud at that date and were not taken, as far as Mr. Mercier was concerned, from the Baie des Chaleurs money. 3. The sum of $5000 sent to Mr. Mercier July 3 was advanced by Pacaud out of the funds arising from a source quite foreign to the Baie Des Chaleurs affair. As far as Mr. Mercier was concerned it ought to have been raised by means of the signed blanks given to Pacaud by Senator Pelletier, and it was in fact subsequently covered by a note written on this blank form when Mr. Pacaud judged proper to have it discounted. Messrs. Turgeon, Carrier, Pinault, Deschenes, Desmarais, Tessier and Lemieux—the names of these gentlemen, who are all members of the Legislative Assembly, have been mentioned during the enquiry in connection with certain sums received by them from Mr. Pacaud. It is only just to say that none of the facts concerning them can justify the slightest suspicion against them.

Taking the evidence on the whole I find the following facts to be established:

1. The Pacaud-Armstrong agreement is proved and even admitted, but it was solely between Mr. Armstrong and Pacaud and neither Mr. Thom nor Mr. Cooper knew anything about it.

2. There is no proof that any of the ministers know of this agreement prior to revelations made before the committee of the Senate.

3. None of the Ministers except Mr. Charles Langelier profited in any way from Mr. Armstrong's money.

4. Mr. Langelier does not seem to have known the source of the money that he received from Mr. Pacaud.

As Strong the Other Way.

The Baby-Davidson report takes issue completely with the Jette findings and is just as pronounced in the opposite direction.

In a carefully worded editorial to-day The Star, while not exactly condemning Judge Jette for his findings, inclines to the opinion that his deductions are wrong in principal and fact. It says:

The most astonishing feature of Judge Jette's report is the admission that the suggestion of an interim report first came from him. Months ago Judges Baby and Davidson were publicly accused of taking advantage of the illness of their colleague to make an interim report to the Lieutenant-Governor, and for months those two learned judges have been subjected to almost daily abuse for so doing. That Judge Jette could keep silent under such circumstances is, to say the least, remarkable. That Judges Baby and Davidson have also kept silent speaks volumes for their patience and dignity. The feeling in political circles here, both Liberal and Conservative, is one of intense astonishment at the Jette report. While it was generally believed that it would be a little favorable to Mercier, yet it was not expected that it would give the coat of whitewash it did.

The Conservatives are feeling sure of carrying the province as things look at present and are conceding about 25 seats only to Mercier. It is by no means certain that he will be able to carry his own county of Bonaventure.

THE SCOTCHED STAKE.

Frightful Injury to a Farmer Near Sault Ste. Marie.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., Feb. 18.—Pere Johnson, a farmer of Tarentorus township, 65 years of age, was drawing hay from a neighbor's loft. As soon as sufficient hay had been thrown down to fill the weighsling Johnson slid down upon it and assisted in weighing it. The sleigh was fitted with an ordinary cordwood rack, the stakes being sharpened to a keen point to admit a free passage through the hay. In making his descent from the loft to the load Johnson slipped and fell on the sleigh. One of the stakes entering the inner part of his thigh passed up through his body and out again in front of the abdomen. McGill was paralyzed with horror and bereft of strength for a time, but, recovering his self-control, he lifted Johnson off the stake. Doctors think the man may recover.

MAY BE A MURDER

SHOCKING TRAGEDY IN AN ORILLIA BARROOM.

A Shooting Gallery Proprietor While on a Spree Lodges a Bullet in the Lung of a Companion During a Wrestling Bout —The Victim May Die.

ORILLIA, Ont., Feb. 18.—The barroom of the Queen's Hotel was the scene of a shooting tragedy, by which A. B. Tudhope nearly lost his life, and William Hood lies in the lockup under a charge that may yet be murder. Hood, who came to Orillia last spring, from Streetsville, and erected a shooting gallery near the lake, was a hard drinker, and for three days prior to this evening had not drawn a sober breath. He was in the Queen's bar about 7 o'clock, when Tudhope came in and began chaffing him, ultimately in play throwing Hood on the floor and sitting on him. Hood suddenly turned over, whisked a 32-calibre revolver from his hip pocket, and pointing it at Tudhope's heart sent the ball on its errand.

Tudhope was carried into the sitting-room and medical aid at once summoned. The ball entered the body immediately below the heart from the back, and it is presumed lodged in the lung. To-night the wounded man is resting fairly easily and has a chance, though a slight one, for his life.

Hood was placed under arrest.

THE IMPERIAL COMMONS.

Mr. Sexton Promises the Government a Lively Time.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—In the House of Commons yesterday the bill introduced by Thos. J. Condon, M.P. for East Tipperary, extending the municipal franchise in Ireland so that municipal authorities in that country will have powers similar to the same class of officials in England, passed its second reading.

The Government did not oppose the measure.

Mr. Sexton expressed regret for the absence of W. L. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, during the discussion of the first Irish bill of the session, and said Mr. Balfour's Irish Local Government bill would not be received without contest when it is introduced. He promised the Government a lively night.

John P. Nolan (member for North Galway) moved the second reading of the bill to enlarge Irish laborers' allotments and to empower local authorities to purchase land for the erection of laborers' houses.

In making the motion Mr. Nolan said the bill would enable the laborers to improve their position as they had done in the colonies and the United States.

Mr. Balfour opposed the motion. He said the bill would take the money provided by his own (Balfour's) Irish Land Purchase Act for the creation of small holdings in order to purchase cottages a very little cheaper than they could otherwise be obtained.

Mr. Balfour denied that his land act was a failure and declared that it was yet too soon to judge of its operation.

Mr. Sexton said he did not see why a small portion of the land act funds should not be devoted to the present scheme.

Mr. John E. Redmond demanded the application of the cloture, but the Speaker refused to close the debate.

The First Lord of the Treasury Addresses the Constitutional Club.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Constitutional Club gave a banquet to-night in honor of Mr. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury.

Mr. Balfour, in a speech, said that besides their inability to define their Irish policy the Gladstonians were in a dilemma.

They had made one set of promises to the English electors and another to the Irish electors. The question was: Who would be elected? Who would be the dupes? He believed that the general election would show that the patience of the English electors had been exhausted. If the Home Rule bill was carried the Irish members would be so many soldiers of fortune supporting any government willing to extend the already undue limits granted by the bill to an Irish Parliament. The Gladstonians brought no pressure upon the Government to dissolve Parliament. In fact they dreaded nothing more than a return to power with a majority dependent on the Irish party.

A Suit for a Pound of Flesh.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—At Frankfort a professional nurse allowed a piece of flesh to be severed from her arm by a surgeon and transplanted into an open wound on the body of a wealthy patient. She now claims that the surgeon cut too much away, and she is suing him for damages on the ground of unnecessary injury to herself.

Death of the Man Who Shot at Bismarck.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Kulmann, the journeyman cooper, who shot at Prince Bismarck, July 13, 1874, at Kissingen, slightly wounding him, died last night in the penitentiary at Arneburg in Prussian Saxony.

He had been sentenced originally to 14 years' penal servitude, but his term had been several times increased as a punishment for his unruly conduct while in prison.

Europe's Horrible Weather.

VIENNA, Feb. 18.—Terrible snowstorms are raging in Galicia. The snow is piled up in immense drifts, and traffic on the railways is almost wholly suspended. Wagon roads are also badly blocked.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Snowstorms have again set in in Wales and the Highlands of Scotland.

To Be Hanged for a Lottery Ticket.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—Samuel T. Wilson was to-day sentenced to be hanged March 18 for the murder of Clementime Manning, his mistress. Wilson learned that the woman had a lottery ticket which had won $5000, and tried to coax her to give it to him. Failing, he shot her, stole the ticket and fled, but was caught, tried and convicted.

A Cowardly Murder.

GALLATIN, Tenn., Feb. 18.—William Carter, eldest son of John T. Carter, a well-known farmer and blooded horse dealer, was shot and killed last evening by Edward B. Turpin. The killing is regarded as one of the most cowardly murders that ever took place in this county.

Struck by a Train.

NEWARK, N.J., Feb. 18.—A surface car was struck by a train of the Morris and Essex Road last night. John Galligan, the driver of the car was mortally injured. Several passengers were slightly injured.

WHERE IS REV. MARTI

A CHATHAM MINISTER MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS.

He Had Engaged Himself to Three Members of His Congregation and Monday Was Fixed Upon as the Wedding Day, But When the Day Arrived the Bridegroom Was Missing.

CHATHAM, Feb. 18.—"Good-bye, Mrs. Dolsen, till I see you again." That was one solitary adieu spoken by Rev. N. H. Martin of Christ Church, Chatham, ere he shook the dust of the town from his feet forever and fled from a community in which no man or woman who knew him but was his admirer and friend. It was spoken to the caretaker of the parsonage on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and was accompanied by a warm handshake and a $1 bill on account of balance of wages due her.

"All I have, Mrs. Dolsen," he added as he passed over the money, "but I'll give you the rest in a few days."

Mr. Martin has left the community and fled the country. He was to have been married to Miss Delmage of North Chatham on Monday, the 15th. It appears he was also engaged to Miss Kitchen, and the marriage was fixed for Tuesday, the 16th.

Miss Sarah Bonet, a farmer's daughter, also holds the following document written in Mr. Martin's handwriting, which speaks for itself:

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 10, 1892.—I do hereby promise to marry Sarah Bonet on Monday, Feb. 15, 1892, and I further give her full possession and ownership of all the furniture and other contents of my house. (Signed), N. H. MARTIN.

All preparations for the wedding were made at Miss Delmage's home; also by Miss Kitchen's friends for her marriage, but the reverend gentleman never turned up and has not since been seen in Chatham.

Rev. Mr. Martin had been rector of Christ Church for 15 years. He was a fluent speaker, a genial gentleman and a bachelor. His church soon became the most popular one of the place, and his reputation extended throughout Western Ontario. He is a prominent society man and one of the past grands of the I.O.O.F. His congregation was the most aristocratic one of the place, and when it was announced a few weeks ago that Mr. Martin was shortly to wed a prominent member of his flock there was but little surprise expressed.

But as soon as he departed Saturday the news of his engagement to the other young ladies became public. He had arranged with Miss Delmage that the marriage should be secret, as he did not wish it to become known.

THE COMMISSIONERS SPEAK.

A Different Account of the Result of the Mission to Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Sir John Thompson, Hon. George E. Foster and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, the Canadian delegates to Washington, reached here this afternoon.

Sir John Thompson, being seen, declined to speak as to results, but said the accounts of their mission published in the United States papers were far from true.

Hon. George E. Foster said their trip had been delightful. As to the statements of press correspondents at Washington, they were in the main unreliable and seemed to have been written in a narrow and ungenerous spirit. He was glad to be able to add that they found none of that spirit in their interviews with the United States Ministers.

Secretary Blaine was most courteous, and both he and his assistant-general showed them every attention. They arrived on Tuesday and their first interview took place on Wednesday, the interviews being continued day by day until Monday, when they were concluded. The whole of the questions laid down in the order-in-council last year were thoroughly and frankly discussed. He could not give the results until Parliament meets, but could state that good results would arise. There had been no cross-cabling as to the authority of the Canadian delegates between the United States Government and the Home Government. They were received as gentlemen and representatives of a great country and in a spirit that left nothing to be desired.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell said the delegates had had a reception which was all that heart could desire, but he could not say anything about results.

The Ministers called on Premier Abbott this afternoon.

What Wiman Thinks of It.

WONSOCKET, R.I., Feb. 18.—Erastus Wiman of New York addressed the business men's association here this evening. He said in part that the complete collapse of the recent negotiations respecting Canadian reciprocity again enforced the lesson that so long as diplomacy was controlled by Great Britain on the one hand and dictated by Canadian manufacturers on the other there would be no free market towards the north for American goods. The Tory party in control in Canada, he said, owed its power to the manufacturers of that country, many of whom with the timidity born of excessive protection failed to see the great advantages which an open market in the United States would afford. If diplomacy must continuously fail to obliterate the barrier that now divides the English-speaking people on this continent legislation, Mr. Wiman added, could easily accomplish their practical union. A resolution offering unrestricted trade with Canada by Congress and the appointment of a commission to treat with Parliamentary representatives for the obliteration of the custom line between the two countries could not be resisted by any Parliament in Canada without the certainty of its being repudiated by the people. Legislation originating in the needs and wants of the people of this continent was the one thing essential for a practical union as against diplomacy originated in Great Britain and shaped by men whose only desire was to stand well with the authorities in another world 3000 miles away.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1892.

THE St. Thomas Journal, commenting on the result in East Elgin, says:—"There are 39 polling subdivisions in the riding. A gain of eleven votes in each would account for the increase in the Conservative majority. That proportion was almost exactly carried out in St. Thomas, and very nearly in the rural portion of the riding. In almost every subdivision it can be shown that the gain of these eleven votes was due to the wrongful omissions from and additions to the lists."

How Fields Were Won.

The Ministers cannot plead ignorance of the fact that enormous sums of money are being used in the bye-elections now being held. Mr. Abbott and Sir John Thompson seem to have begun the compaign with virtuous intentions. The Montreal Gazette told the electors of Richelieu that they need not look for the expenditure of public money as the price of their support of the Government. The result of this attitude was the election of the Liberal candidate. The virtuous policy did not pay and it was speedily abandoned for the old methods. Money and promises of public expenditure were lavishly distributed in the Ontario constituencies. The grossest corruption prevailed in Prince Edward, in East Elgin and in Victoria. In the two Victoria ridings especially there was a perfect carnival of bribery. We are speaking by the mark, and with a knowledge of the facts. In houses in South Victoria five dollar bills were found enclosed in envelopes in which were slips with the words "Vote for Fairbairn." In some cases money was left not only for the voter but for members of his family. A well-known professional boodler was watched so closely that two or three days before the election he was obliged to resort to the ruse of buying a ticket for Toronto, leaving a train at a country station and returning surreptitiously to continue his nefarious work. The most extravagant promises of Government expenditure were made. The promise of a subsidy of $150,000 to the Ponsypool, Lindsay & Bobcaygeon Railway, which did duty in two previous elections in South Victoria, was used again with good effect. The Tory majority in Bobcaygeon alone was 102, and the ward in Lindsay which gave Fairbairn his large majority would be directly affected by the railway. Mr. Hughes promises an extension of the railway fourteen miles to Kinmount, and also advocated the gigantic project of connecting the County of Victoria with the C. P. R. at Mattawa, and a road from Kinmount to Orillia was also suggested. It would take $400,000 in railway subsidies to redeem the promises made in the Victorias. —Globe.

A.O.U.W. Progress.

At the annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, now in session at Ottawa, the Grand Master reported, among other things, as follows:—

We, as an order, have much reason to return thanks to Almighty God for his protecting care over us. We have been enabled to pay all our death claims, with only thirteen assessments, and even with the extra $1.50 relief call we have carried our insurance for the small sum of $7 25 per $1 000. Although with sorrow we record that 151 of our brethren have been called to their eternal home, yet it is a great satisfaction to us to know that the families of these brethren have been the recipients of such a sum as placed them in comfortable circumstances. The prayers of the widows and orphans have ascended to heaven and every quarter of our jurisdiction for the success of our noble order.

There have been 23 new lodges organised during the year 1891, of which 11 are in Ontario, 7 in Manitoba and the North-West Territories and 5 in Quebec.

The Ontario Crown Lands Department.

Sketch of the Assistant Commissioner—Tribute to the Efficient Management of Hon. A. S. Hardy.

The Canadian Lumberman in its last issue, publishes a portrait of Mr. Aubrey White, Assistant Commissioner of the Crown Lands Department with a short sketch of his connection with the Department. The Lumberman says:—

"Mr. White was engaged by the Department of Crown Lands to estimate certain timber berths offered for sale in 1877, and on completing that work was placed on the staff of forest rangers, having supervision of Muskoka district. In 1878 he was appointed Crown Lands and Free Grant agent at Bracebridge, which position he acceptably filled, being familiar with every township in the agency. In 1880 he was brought to headquarters, at Toronto, as clerk in charge of forest rangers and the collection of timber returns in the woods and forests branch of the department. Mr. White spent most of his first winter going through the Ottawa country so as to be as familiar with that region as he was with the western part of the province. In 1883, when the boundary dispute assumed an acute form, he was sent to the Rat Portage country to represent the Department in timber matters, which gave him a knowledge of the resources of that region. In 1887 the late Assistant Commissioner, Mr. Thomas H. Johnson, died, and the Hon. Mr. Pardee, the predecessor of Hon. A. S. Hardy, offered the position to Mr. White, believing his outside experience, with what he had acquired in the inside service, made him the strongest available man.

A TRIBUTE TO HON. MR. HARDY.

The Crown Lands is the most important department of the Provincial Government. Within its jurisdiction is embraced the management of the immense timber and mining resources that add so largely to the wealth of the leading Province of Confederation. The country is fortunate in having at the head of this department a man of the strength of character and intellect, and practical ability, of Hon. A. S. Hardy. The very extent of the department, however, emphasizes the necessity of the minister's assistant being a man of special training and experience and undoubted competency. Necessarily is so large a department a considerable share of the work will fall on the minister's deputy, and we have yet to learn that Mr. White has failed to discharge those duties in a manner other than to gain the respect and esteem of all having business to transact with the Department."

A Celebrated Nerve Doctor.

He Speaks of Truth—Chooses the Path of Wisdom.

The celebrated German neurologist, Adolphe Selligmuller, says that excessive, exhausting and too long-continued work, and deprivation of the right amount of sleep, are some of the main causes for the increase of nerve troubles in our day. This well-known writer also asserts that severe mental application should not be continued more than three or four hours at a time; and that night work should be avoided altogether as the excitement is apt to interfere with sleep. Sleep, he contends, is the principal agent of reinperation He dwells on the fact that sooner or later, insomnia wreaks its vengeance on all offenders; and he forcibly asserts that nerve troubles first develop into disease when joined with sleeplessness.

It cannot be denied that overwork of body and brain, with nervousness and sleeplessness, is causing widespread trouble and disaster in our land to-day. The worker of the nineteenth century works beyond his strength, and in order to keep it up he resorts to stimulants, which produce a supernaturalitation of all the nerves, and to overcome this he resorts to narcotics—all of them deadly in effect.

The medical men of Canada know well that they are too often called on to attend such serious cases, and they are cognizant of the fact that these terribly dangerous and fatal troubles are on the increase. The great majority of doctors would much prefer to treat the ordinary ailments of life in which they are most successful. These subtle nerve diseases are complicated and difficult to reach by the ordinary methods now employed. but few sufferers are ever cured.

Science, ever mighty when properly cultivated, has given to true and honest searchers mighty agents for the benefit of mankind. Perhaps the most remarkable and wonderful of these discoveries of the nineteenth century has been Paine's Celery Compound, an agent that has accomplished more good in the field of nerve diseases than all the combined efforts of physicians.

The nervous, sleepless, broken-down, worn-out, dyspeptic and rheumatic, through the healing powers of Paine's Celery Compound, have found a new life, a fresh existence and new joys that no other earthly remedy or power could give them. Amongst the true and honest members of the medical profession Paine's Celery Compound is the favorite, accepted and acknowledged remedy for nerve disorders, and is prescribed every day.

The Imperial Parliament.

The British Government is not only doing badly in the bye-elections, but is unable to keep its followers together in the House of Commons. Mr. Sexton's amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, declaring that the Imperial Government had shown itself unequal to the task of legislating for Ireland was defeated by a majority on only 21. The Conservatives are reported to be much dispirited. An early dissolution is talked of, but it looks as if the feeling of the country could never be worse for the Government then it is now, and it may be that they will pursue the policy of delaying the election in the hope that something may turn up.

North Monaghan.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The local Board of Health met on Tuesday evening at the residence of the clerk. There were present the reeve, secretary, and Messrs. Newton Meyhee, George Moy and James Davidson, sanitary inspector. The chief business done was to instruct the inspector to prosecute any infraction of the by-laws that might come under or be brought to his notice.

The prostration after the Grip is entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It really does make the weak strong.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good. dw

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are enemies greatly to be feared. With B. B. B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results. dw

Asylum Population.

According to a report submitted to the Legislature there were ten less patients in the asylums of Ontario at the close of the past year than during the the preceding twelve months. The total for 1890 was 3,898, and for 1891 it was 3,888. Deaths and discharges removed 526 lunatics from the charge of the Government, and six escaped. One patient was discharged from the Hamilton asylum because he was not insane. It would be interesting to know how he got there if that was the case, but upon that subject the report is silent.

The Cost of Legislation.

The cost of legislation for the Dominion for a year is $932,187, and of civil government $1,308,846. In Ontario legislation costs $121,475, and civil government $219,563. In Quebec the figures for these services are $231,763 and $224 544. The cost of government and legislation in the smaller Provinces must aggregate nearly half a million a year, making the total cost of the machinery of government in Canada nearly three and a half millions.

Prompt and Business-Like.

The public accounts and other departmental reports for the Province of Ontario have been brought down with commendable promptness, and the financial statement will be made at an unusually early period of the session. Prompt, methodical and business-like habits characterize the Ontario Government in small things as well as in great.—Mail.

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

WHY COUGH,

WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this world-renowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W. Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, became quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."—Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

Self Application of Electricity
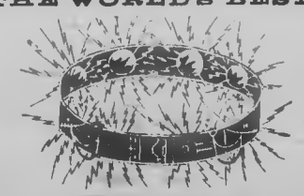
BY THE
DORENWEND
ELECTRIC BELT
And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—168 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and meta with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

License Reduction.

Campbellford council by unanimous resolution, has reduced the number of hotel licenses from five to four, the two shops remaining as before. The license fee has been advanced from $160 to $175. The loss of revenue involved is therefore $100.

We notice that Adam Hall is selling best Canadian oil at 10 cents per imperial gallon. This is exceedingly low and we are assured that it is a superior quality, being safer, purer and higher fire test than any other in the market. —Dr. McKay of West Victoria, presented a petition from the county council re the boundary (and of course the bridges) between this county and Victoria, to the Legislature on Wednesday.

—On Tuesday morning last a young couple from the rural district west of Campbellford, drove into that town with their attendants, were made one, and off again in about fifteen minutes.

—Lumbering operations have been favoured with faultless weather and a proper amount of snow in the woods, a blessing for a large number of men who would have little to do during the winter months were it not for the employment they find in the shanties.

Personal.

Mr. H. D. Phalen, town, is visiting friends in Hastings for a few days.

Mr. John B. Green, travelling agent Parisian Steam Laundry, Toronto, London and Detroit, is in town to-day looking after the interests of his company. Any person not acquainted with the working of such a vast commercial enterprise as his, would do well to call and gain full particulars at their large, new and commodious premises, 235 George street, "Graham & Co." managers. Mr. Green will be in town for the next few days. 1d

Mr. F. S Spence, Secretary Dominion Alliance, and President of the Temperance Reformation Society, Toronto, was in town last night visiting his sister, Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, College street. He was on his way to Campbellford, where the Local Option by-law is being worked up. This is the twenty-eighth corporation to vote on it. Twenty have carried the law. It is regarded as the best available means for the regulating of the liquor traffic. It means local prohibition. The Dominion Alliance cordially commend it to the public.

Harvey Council.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Harvey council met at the residence of Thomas Flynn, Feb. 15th, 1892, pursuant to adjournment, members all present. Minutes read and approved. Communications read from county clerk re grant of fifty dollars towards repairs on Sandy Lake road. H. J. LeFevre re taxes and statute labour for 1891. Petition read from Mathew Warram and others requesting the council to unite school sections number six and seven and form one section as formerly. Auditors' report read and adopted; the clerk was instructed to procure one hundred printed copies of the same for distribution. Also read minutes of special school meetings duly held in school sections numbers six and seven stating that a majority of the ratepayers assembled voted to have the said sections united. A by-law was passed, signed and sealed, to unite school sections six and seven into one section, to be numbered six, and take effect December 25th, 1892. A by-law was passed appointing overseers of highways, fence viewers, pound-keepers, and deputy returning officers for the current year. The clerk was instructed to notify James Purdy and Noxon Harris to remove their fences encroaching on the side line road allowance between 20 and 21, concessions 17 and 18. Order drawn on the treasurer in favor of Allen Irwin for the sum of $1 for repairing crossing. The council decided to grant $50 to be expended on the Sandy Lake road, provided the county grant $50 and the Ontario Government grants $100 for the same purpose. On motion the council adjourned to meet at the clerk's office on Monday the 21st March, next.

Hockey vs. Shinney.

The Edison Club Defeat the Shinney Players.

There were bartels of fun at the rink on Wednesday night. The Edison Hockey Club and a number of the employees of the Edison works who in their youthful days took pleasure in shinney, and never heard of its modern parody—hockey—played a memorable game. About nine o'clock the shinney players "shied their castors into the ring," anxious for the fray, with their hockey sticks, which they held as dexterously as a bachelor holds a baby, in hand. A short while after the blasts of trumpets announced that the hockey club was on its march to victory. They appeared on the ice followed by a well-equipped ambulance corps, composed of C. Legrand and George Collins, in charge of the ambulance, R. E. Layfield, custodian of the shin plaster, and Lee Dunsford of the arnica. Mr. P. Roper tooted the trumpet and enlivened the proceedings with martial airs. Mr. A Langton undertook the difficult task of refereeing the game. Both teams lined up, the "puck" was faced, and the fun started. The Edisons forced the playing end in a short time had a number of games taken. The shinney players were handicapped in the use of the hockey sticks, as this was the first time they ever had them in their hands, but towards the close of the game they picked up points and appeared to be holding their own, and showed the hockey club that they knew a thing or two. The "puck" pendulumed alternately between either goal, and each player put in his best swipes—or at least tried to. The Edisons scored game after game in rapid succession, and when the shinney players won their single game the rink echoed with the cheers of the spectators. At the close of the match it was found that the Edison club had scored 9 games and the shinney players one. After calling the roll to see if any players were missing, three cheers were given for the respective teams. The following are the teams:

Edison Club.		Shinney Players.
Heathcotte	goal	F White
R. M. C Barnes	point	H. Guerin
W. J. Wiggett	cover point	D. Bolin
J. F. Taylor	centre	C. A. Holland
R. A. Ross	forwards	W. Balknap
S. Foster	forwards	A. Pomfret
D Elliott	forwards	R. Hunter
G. W. Parks	umpire	C. E. Legrand

This is a victory for "Hockey as she is played." Now to make a fair test of the agility of the teams that struggled last night on the glacial arena, a shinney match could be played. The shinney players last night had the usual experience in trying "to beat a man at his own game," and an opportunity should be presented the hockey players to show if they could play shinney as well as they do the more modern and high-toned hockey. Let us have fair play. One swallow does not make summer, and one game of hockey does not show that the electrical athletes can beat all comers at the time-honoured game of shinney. Give us another match by all means—by the hockey-pokey we want encore of the immense fun of last night.

Friends of the Edison Hockey Club will be pleased to hear that the funeral of the above organization has been indefinitely postponed owing to the inability of several members of the shinney club to attend, they being confined to their beds as one of the results of last night's match. They are expected, by the help of the most skilful medical attendance, abundant arnical ablutions, careful nursing and perfect quiet, to be out again in about a week to take their places in the grand stand, with the rest of the I-told-you-so's, where hockey is much easier to play than on the ice. Members of the shinney club have some good points that were not visibly brought out in last night's play—they can feel them to-day—the only thing that troubles them is their inability to tell which is the sorest. The hockey club will be happy to meet them again.—[COM.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

New County Sunday School Conventions.

Acting upon suggestions made by the Rev. J. McEwen in his address here lately, says the Campbellford Herald, a joint committee of committees appointed by the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist Sunday schools, including the three pastors, Rev. Messrs. Scott, Parker and Bulletin, met at Mr. Richmond's studio on Friday morning last to take the initiative in the formation of a county Sunday school convention. These conventions will be held three or four times a year in the principal places in the county—Cobourg, Colborne, Brighton, Warkworth and Campbellford, and it is anticipated that great good will arise from an interchange of thought on the work of Sunday schools.

The Peterborough Central Exhibition.

The Board of Directors met at the Morgan House yesterday to revise the prize list and appoint officers. Mr. W. Collins and Mr. C. McGill were appointed secretary and treasurer respectively. They revised the prize list from Class 1 to 35 inclusive, making some additions thereto. A committee of ladies was appointed to revise Classes 36 and 37—ladies' work. Mr. John Garbutt tendered his resignation on account of ill health which, in view of Mr. Garbutt's past valuable services to the society, was reluctantly accepted. The following resolution was carried unanimously: Moved by Mr. Vance, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that this board of directors, having heard with regret that Mr. John Garbutt has found it necessary, owing to ill health, to resign his seat on this board, on which he has always been a zealous and useful director, we hope that he may in the near future be restored to his usual health and able to resume his place on the board; and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Garbutt by the secretary. Mr. Thos. Hall was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Garbutt. The date of the next meeting of directors is Wednesday, 23rd of March.

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Branch in St. Paul's—Statements and Reports Presented—The Contributions in Excess of Last Year—Rev. Mr. Milligan's Clever Address.

There was only a fair attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society, held in St. Paul's church last night.

Sheriff Hall occupied the chair, and on the platform were Rev. G. M. Mulligan, St. Andrew's, Toronto, Rev. A. McWilliams, St. Andrew's, town, and Rev. Mr. Torrance, who opened the meeting with prayer, after the singing of a hymn by the choir.

The chairman in the absence of the secretary and treasurer presented the following statements:—

AN EXPLANATION.

Mr. HALL explained that at the meeting of the committee it was decided not to nominate officers at present nor appoint the collectors, but to call a meeting at an early date for these purposes. He added that though there had been an increase in the contributions of this year over that of last year of $14, yet the contributions of the present year were far short of what they had been when the town had one-third less population than at present. In the early sixties the annual contributions had been about $200, and the contributions were larger in 1856 7 than for the last few years. This, he said, was not creditable, though perhaps it admitted of explanation, had the committee dealt with this portion of the matter.

REV. MR. MILLIGAN'S ADDRESS.

Rev. Mr. Milligan of St. Andrews' church Toronto, after referring to the accident of his involuntary disappointment of the meeting in failing to be present last year—said that there was no book around which centred such discussion at the present day as the Bible. As a result of this discussion the Bible would be more read in 20 or 30 years than it had ever been before. The Bible was an essentially human book, because it was written in the interests of mankind. On the other hand it was an unique book, with something in it to be explained. It was a book that required a study of all the conditions that accompanied its narratives and their writing. To get the best out of the Bible we must study it and it would be valuable in proportion to the thoroughness with which we searched the Scriptures. We should devote all possible study and diligence in discovering the fullness of its truths. The great danger to the Bible and truth were reading of the scriptures. The Bible was a book in one sense; in another it was a literature—composed of several books, yet there was a unity of purpose, that held all together. In regarding the Bible in its doctrinal unity, the old and new testaments formed one great record. The great feature of the old testament was the impression of the ministration of condemnation—to convince the world of the sinfulness of sin—and per contra of God's holiness—his aloofness from sin. The holy of holies could be only entered by one man once a year. The high priest was the ideal man—the forerunner of the one man that combined the human and divine Christ in Gethsemane was finishing the ministration of condemnation. When men were convinced that they were in the wrong they were in a position to be set right. The great aim of the Bible was to put man out of conceit of themselves and then to point them to the great remedy provided.

SUPERFICIAL AND PERFUNCTORY

THE BIBLE IS A HISTORY

of God's dealings with man—a history of the most important interests of man. The speaker said that if historical inaccuracies and scientific contradictions could be found in the Bible he would still value it as testifying of Christ—whose uniqueness of character proved that He was not of the earth—not simply a man among men, but the representative of all men. But, in addition to all that, He rose from the dead, and upon that fact hinged the whole of His ministry. The speaker preferred to speak of the Bible more as a revelation than an inspired book. It was the unveiling of the living face of God—the words of the inspired writers were the earthen vessels which held the heavenly treasure. The heathen writers of Greece held man as the centre, while the Bible taught that God was the centre. The Bible gave a new system of ideas—self explicatory—and its value did not depend upon verbal constructions or translations, but the eternal ideas it enshrined. There was a mistaken devotion to the mere material of the Bible, and the speaker related incidents to show this peculiarity. One old lady in his flock had told him with suspicious sanctimoniousness that when her house took fire the first thing she sought to save was the Bible, "when she could have bought a new one for ten cents," and on a journey he had travelled with a man who extolled the principles of the Orange Order, as the guardian of the Bible, and dilated on the grandeur of carrying it through the streets, when, the speaker said, that some who did so did not read the Bible once a year. Its spiritual contents were

THE GREAT FEATURE OF THE BIBLE.

Positive teaching of divine truths was what was best for the young. Men should be well grounded in the truth before critical study of the Bible could be safely indulged in. The Bible was a perfect book, though some parts of it were more important than others, as some members of the body were more important than others. There was, the speaker said, no need of being afraid for the Bible; its essential truths have so much of solidarity that it did not depend on mere verbiage and verbal criticism.

Rev. Mr. LOCKE, of the George street Methodist church, deplored the lack of interest shown in the work of the society, and said the best way of stimulating that interest was to circulate the literature of the society, to show people what a great work was being done by the Bible Society, than which there was no more important agency in spreading the truth. He had the greatest pleasure in moving a cordial vote of thanks to the Rev. Mr. Mulligan, for the assistance given at the meeting.

Rev. Mr. TORRANCE in seconding the motion, said the best way to increase the contributions to the funds of the secretary, was to make a thorough canvass of the town, and he called for volunteers to undertake this work. He had already two volunteers among the ladies of St. Paul's.

After the singing of an appropriate hymn the meeting closed with the benediction, pronounced by Rev. A. McWilliams.

High School Maintenance.

The Law as to Grants from County Councils.

Following are the sub-sections of section 31 of the High Schools' Act relating to county grants for maintenance of high schools in cities or towns separated from the county, and under which the Board of Education will appeal to the county judge:

(2) Where the trustees of any high school situated in a city or town separated from the county notify the county clerk that the high school is open to county pupils on the same terms as high schools in the municipalities not separated from the county, the county council shall in all such cases pay the proportionate cost of the maintenance of county pupils at such high schools subject to the provisions of this Act.

(3) The trustees of a high school and the county council may by mutual agreement settle the proportionate amount to be paid by the county for the maintenance of county pupils under this section, but in the event of their inability to agree with respect to such amount, either party may refer the matter in dispute to the county judge, who shall have power to settle the same. Where the county judge is a member of the high school board, or where he is unable for any reason to act as referee, the junior county judge, if not a member of the high school board, shall act as referee, or if the junior judge is unable for any reason to act, or if there be no junior judge, the senior judge of the adjoining county with the greatest population according to the last Dominion census shall act as referee. Any reward made by the referee shall be binding on the parties thereto for the period of three years.

(4) In all cases of dispute the trustees of the high school shall submit a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditure of their high school for maintenance for each of the preceding years under consideration, such statements to be certified by the auditors authorized under this Act to audit high school accounts; and also a statement of the names, residence and attendance of resident, non-resident and county pupils for the same time each year of a like period, such last mentioned statement to be certified by the chairman of the board. The chairman shall also certify as to the amount of the legislative grant received for the time under consideration and the referee shall deduct the amount so certified from the whole cost of maintenance of each high school, in determining the liability of the county for the maintenance of county pupils.

(5) The costs of reference to the county judge shall be paid by the municipal council of the county and the trustees of the high school concerned, in the proportion which the county pupils bear to all the pupils enrolled in such high school.

In the 5th sub-section of the first section "county pupils are defined to mean pupils whose parents or guardians reside in the county in which the high school attended by such pupils is situated, but not within the limits of any high school district of such county.

THE "SUN LIFE"
ASSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, - - - - MONTREAL.

The year 1891 has been the Banner Year in the History of the Sun Life.

The Gross Applications for the year in the Life Department amounted to the enormous total of $5,901,000.00, an amount greatly exceeding that touched by the Company in any previous year, and it is believed no other Canadian Company has ever totaled a like amount in any one year.

THE SURPLUS PROFITS

have increased to even a greater extent than the new business, thus plainly indicating that the unbounded confidence placed in this great Financial Institution by the Canadian public, has not been misplaced.

THE KINGDOM OF WOMEN

A PERTINENT QUERY: HAS A WOMAN TIME TO READ?

How One Mother Satisfactorily Decided the Question for Herself and Family—A Physician's Advice About Girls' Eating—The Useful Basket.

They were talking over the teacups. "But," said the little mother, "I get so tired that I haven't the heart, let alone the head, to read."

"Do you know," said the doctor brusquely, turning upon the shrinking little woman and setting her teacup down on one side of her saucer, "women have no earthly or heavenly business to get so tired."

"I know they haven't," she answered meekly, "but then they do."

There was a look of assent among the other four. There were six of them, all mothers and housekeepers. The doctor was young, acute, enthusiastic, and a little severe.

"It is a question of time, even more than strength," said the eldest of the group. "I am sure we women all want to read and keep our wits shining, but the days come in full of promise and go out in postponement."

"But you have all the time there is," began the doctor argumentatively.

"No, we don't," spoke up the black-haired woman; "there is all the time there is, but we don't have it. The children, and the butcher, and the casual caller get it. We have no share in it at all."

"Let me tell you," said a soft voice, with a southern accent. "A good many years ago I found myself slipping away behind in the world of books I had always lived in. I was a conscientious housekeeper, and thought I must let no little point escape me, and so the blessed leisure that made me free of the world of literature was frittered away. One day I sat down and thought it out. I made a little review of how I passed my time. This was about the way the days ran. I rose at 7 o'clock and we breakfasted at 8. That was as far as my method carried me. After that I did various things, got the children off to school, dusted and set the rooms right. Often I did a share of the chamber work. At any rate there was always something. If it wasn't active housework it was sewing. And then there was fancy work. And then there were calls and callers, and the entertainments that no woman ought to miss, because they do brighten and hearten her so. And these things filled each day to the brim, and made up the weeks and the months and the years. And now I was getting shabby intellectually. It would not do.

"Something had to go, and I didn't know what it could be. 'It can't be the children,' I said, half in fun, half in hysterics, 'nor Tom, and so long as they're here, they'll have to be clothed and fed and washed; hence, what pertains to them can't go. As for myself I haven't any time consuming comforts in life to give up. I haven't——'

"'Household linen!' said something in my ear, quite like a box on that useful member. I sat up stiff. Yards of accusing embroidery danced before me. I had a perfect mania for bed linen and table linen, hemstitched and monogramed and stitched full of ornamentation. It was the pride of my soul and the torment of my nerves, for I have kept myself in a bad temper half the time stitching away at the big pieces, and the little pieces, and the useful pieces and the useless ones.

"There were scores of monograms and hundreds of hours sewed into those things. I thought about it a while longer. I really couldn't see that I had slept any better for my hemstitched sheets, or eaten better for my embroidered napkins and doilies, and I certainly wasn't richer in purse or health or brains.

"'Thank you, sir,' I said at last, as I got up to the something that had whispered the idea to me. 'I'm not so old and stupid but I can learn.' From that day to this I've never set another stitch in fancy work. It's pretty and it's tempting, and it's worth having. But—I get a solid hour a day for reading and I'm not ashamed to talk with my betters, and my husband has more respect for my opinions and so have I. And as between having embroidered linen or having intelligent ideas I don't see any choice."—New York Sun.

The Useful Basket.

Save your cold tea; it is excellent for cleaning grained wood.

When suffering from overstrained and tired eyes bathe them in hot water several times a day.

Fine shavings from soft pine wood make a pleasant pillow. They have special curative virtues for coughs and lung troubles.

In trimming lamps with broad wicks clip the ends a little lower than along the middle and thus avoid a smoked or cracked lamp.

To tell good eggs, put them in water; if the large ends turn up they are not fresh. This is an infallible rule to distinguish a good egg from a bad one.

If the feet become frost-bitten, soak them for one half-hour in a strong hot solution of alum water, and if one application is not enough two will be a cure.

Never bite or pass sewing-silk through the lips, as lead-poisoning has been known to result from such a habit, as it is soaked in acetate of lead, to make it weigh heavier.

As an inhalation turpentine has proved of great service in bronchitis, pneumonia, pleurisy and other throat and lung affections. If you have a cough sprinkle a little on a handkerchief and hold it to your mouth and nose for a few moments, breathing the vapor, and note the relief.—New York Morning Journal.

To Girls About Eating.

A physician in writing about the health of girls, tells them to eat good, but plain, wholesome, nutritious food, and above all to eat a hearty breakfast. Too many young women have grown up to regard it as vulgar to indulge the appetite at the morning meal, and have been allowed to cultivate the habit of "mincing" and "sipping" at a few dainty dishes, or have been permitted to go without breakfast altogether. He thinks nothing in modern life is more pernicious to the health than this dawdling over the much-needed though often unseaten breakfast.—Home Queen.

"There was a mistake in that last order that Sellers sent in from the road," said the proprietor, scowling at one of the clerks.

"Was there?" asked the clerk carelessly.

"Yes, sir, there was, and it wasn't corrected."

"No?" said the clerk pleasantly.

"No. You shipped the goods according to that blamed fool order."

"Why, of course. I suppose that Sellers ——"

"You've no right to suppose anything of the sort!" exclaimed the proprietor. "He makes more mistakes than any man on the road."

"He does?" asked the clerk.

"Certainly he does. He's one of the most careless men I ever knew."

"And I'm supposed to correct them?" inquired the clerk.

"Of course you are."

"I'm supposed to be absolutely accurate?" The clerk was getting excited.

"Certainly."

"And know all about his business?"

"You should detect his errors."

"Well, why don't you pay me for it?"

"What?"

The clerk dropped his pen in his excitement.

"Look here!" he said. "You hold me responsible for his errors, and you pay him more for making them than you do me for correcting them. Good day!"

He left without waiting to be discharged.

Current Notes.

Put a sinner where he can't hide, and that's where hell begins.

Princess Sawdoffski—"Why did the Emperor send the Grand Duke Petrovna to Siberia?" Prince Sawdoffski—"The Duke casually alluded to his Majesty as an old Czardine."

Jessie—"You must be a hard worker, Mr. Chapley." Chapley—"What makes you think that, Miss Jessie?" Jessie—"George told me yesterday that you made him tired."

Mr. De Peyster—"Why it's almost 11 by that clock on the mantel. I had no idea it was so late. Are you sure that clock is going?" Miss Rosebud—"Yes, the clock is."

Jamison—"What is the matter, old man? You look as though you had struck luck." Jenkins—"I should say I have. My landlady has just warned me that I must pay up before I can leave."

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he often coughs enough to make him sick at his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS CULLED FROM VARIOUS FIELDS.

Heating By Electricity—How Furs Ought to be Sewed—Vegetable Flannel—Dry Ditches Put to Use—The Kind of Knowledge That is Power.

One of the most interesting developments in the application of electricity, which has, perhaps, the widest promise of general domestic utility and benefit of all the multiplicity of applications of electric energy, is that of electric heating. Electricians are talking of wonderful things in that line as possibilities of the near future. They assert confidently that before long houses, offices, and stores, street cars and railroad cars will be heated as well as lighted by electricity. Not only that, but all cooking may be done by the same agency, and the heat, dust, grime, and smoke of the cook stove and the heating furnace will be nightmares of memory. The coal cellar is to be abolished, and the heat to warm the house and prepare the meals is to be brought in on wire and distributed to do any service at any time in response to the pressing of a button or the turning of a switch.

It is asserted that the electric heater is so nearly developed on a thoroughly practical basis that it can be available at a slight increase in cost over present methods, an increase which the electricians say should be more than made up for in the superiority in cleanliness and convenience.

In the broiling and wilting July days of the near future the housewife in her cool kitchen may press a button and have the strongest, hottest fire she needs at a moment's notice. The cooking done, a touch of another button will set the same power that has cooked the dinner to work on the electric fans. On the winter mornings the fire may be started by a touch on a button beside the pillow and the domestic infelicities caused by discussions as to whose duty it is to get up and start the fire will be avoided.

The March of Mankind.

It is stated that over 3,000,000 acres of land in Europe are devoted to beet sugar cultivation, which, with an average of twelve tons of beets to the acre, would give about 7,300,000,000 pounds of sugar.

It is stated that a number of furnace owners in the Shenango and Mahoning valleys have decided to manufacture their own coke, owing to the refusal of the railroads to grant lower freight rates on the coke now purchased.

At Lyons, Kansas, nearly five hundred feet below the surface of the prairies, is an inexhaustible deposit of rich salt, the drills having penetrated it to the depth of about four hundred feet. The salt is almost pure, and is removed by quarrying.

The additions to the British navy last year were greater than for a number of previous years. The total vessels launched numbered nineteen, aggregating 107,985 tons, and representing an expenditure in their completed state of nearly $30,000,000.

It is stated that Phil Armour, the provision packer, of Chicago, carries on the heaviest individual business of any man in the world. During the past year his Chicago jobbing business amounted to $66,000,000 and his elevator business to $9,000,000, making a total of $75,000,000.

The report of the building operations of Chicago during 1891 shows a total cost of a little over $34,000,000, which is an increase of fourteen per cent. on the work of 1890, and seventy per cent. on that of 1889. The frontage of the buildings constructed last year is stated to have been equal to about fifty-four miles.

The use of crude oil for fuel in Chicago has grown to such an extent that the insurance companies have been compelled to recognize its employment in industrial works. The Chicago Fire Underwriters' Association have fought against the use of this fuel for some time, but they have been compelled to accept the situation, and have promulgated a set of rules to govern its use.

The ingenious electrical device that was patented a short time ago for giving an alarm when a ship deviates from her course is now being adopted on a number of American vessels. In this arrangement the compass cord carries a light wire connected with a metallic cup containing mecurry, so that if the ship departs from the set course an electrical contact is made which rings a bell in the captain's room.

Vegetable Flannel.

Vegetable flannel is a material much manufactured in Germany. The fibre is spun, tricoted and woven into outer garments and stuffs of different kinds. There are two establishments near Breslau in which pine leaves are converted into wool and flannels. Blankets made of these materials are exclusively employed in the hospitals, barracks and prisons of Vienna and Breslau. One of their principal advantages is that no vermin can lodge in them. When spun and woven the thread resembles hemp, and is made into jackets, spencers, drawers, flannel shirts, blankets, tricots, etc. These articles keep the body comfortably warm and are very solid. The workshops in which these goods are made are lighted with gas prepared from the waste thrown off in the course of the manufacture.

An Expert on Apples.

Mr. John Craig, Horticulturist to Dominion Experimental Farms, Ottawa, before the Agricultural Committee of the House of Commons said:—"In large fruits we are making a test of varieties running along two lines; first with the standard varieties chosen from the nursery men's catalogues of to-day. These are the product of the first introductions by the early settlers, as modified by selection and cultivation, and now called the American varieties. These varieties have mostly come to us from the western and moister parts of Europe as our settlers came from that region. The French colonists when they first came here brought with them the best fruits of their native locality; the English settlers followed and brought their favourites; and the Scotch, Irish and Welsh did the same with theirs; so that to begin with, as I have already stated, we had the fruits of western and the milder portions of Europe. I might say this class then, composes one side of the varietal test. Secondly, the other class is made up of East European orts which you have frequently heard referred to as the "Russian apples," and I will draw attention to them quite often in the course of my remarks, as we are testing this class extensively. In order to give you an idea as to the causes which led to their introduction for trial into this country, touching upon the early history of the movement, I will relate briefly a few facts relating thereto, upon which hinged the beginning of the work.

Ever since the introduction of the Duchess of Oldenburg from Russia, by way of England, about 40 years ago, there has been a growing interest in the fruits of that cold climate. The first large importation was made in 1870 by the United States Department of Agriculture. This comprised 252 varieties, but owing to the very crude state of Russian pomology, evidenced by the many synonyms afterwards found in the collection, and coupled with long unpronounceable names, the work of sifting the good from the bad in this cumbersome list has been laborious and slow. Without going into details in regard to their merits and demerits, I may say that already a sufficient number of valuable varieties have been found to repay all expenses incurred in the work of introduction and trial; and when we look at the possible advantages to be derived from these foreigners by uniting them with our native varieties, thus obtaining hardiness on the one side and possibly quality on the other, the benefits likely to accrue are inestimable. I have said the first importation was made by the United States Department of Agriculture, but the credit of bringing this work to a practical and successful issue is due to a Canadian—one now departed—I refer to the late Chas. Gibb, of Abbotsford, Quebec. At great personal expense in company with Prof. Budd, of Iowa, he undertook the arduous task of visiting the various localities in which these fruits were grown, making notes on condition and quality of tree and fruit. The result of those investigations—a fair and unvarnished statement of facts was published and is now the foundation of our knowledge of the Russian fruits.

As far as we know at present any apple tree not up to the grade of hardiness of Duchess, Tetofsky, Wealthy or Pewaukee is of doubtful usefulness for planting in the district of Ottawa or similar latitudes. I have referred to the work in apples. Experiments of a like nature have been carried on with pears, cherries and plums.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

A Short Session of the Legislature Yesterday—The Public Accounts.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—The public accounts of the province were distributed to the members and to the press yesterday. They show that the expenditure for the year amounted to $4,183,381.07.

The following shows the total expenditures for the last four years:

	Expenditure.
1888	$3,536,248
1889	3,553,305
1890	3,896,324
1891	4,183,563

The following are the details of the expenditure:

For Civil Government	$ 221,126 28
" Legislation	123,601 08
" Administration of Justice	398,968 79
" Education	645,115 23
" Public Institutions Maintenance	820,516 68
" Immigration	6,622 94
" Agriculture	149,535 42
" Hospitals and Charities	154,992 89
" Houses of Refuge	32,750 00
" Repairs and Maintenance, Public Buildings	59,667 39
" Locks, Dams, etc	13,060 12
" Surveys, Inspections, etc	458 58
" Colonization Roads	98,812 31
" Crown Lands	197,898 50
" Miscellaneous	87,916 07
	$2,990,538 23

The expenditure on provincial buildings, railway aid, etc., totalled up $1,173,024.84, which, added to the above sum makes the total expenditure. Among the larger items in the sum of $1,173,024.84 are new parliament buildings, $208,348; aid to railways, $252,179; University of Toronto, $100,000.

The Speaker's dinner, held last evening in the Legislative Assembly, was pre-eminently successful. The attendance was large and distinguished; the repast was of the most recherche description, and no untoward event transpired to mar the harmony of this pleasing affair.

The following were the invited guests: Sir Casimir Gzowski, Chief Justice Hagarty, Sir Thomas Galt, Justice Maclennan, Hon. J. Beverley Robinson, Hon. E. Blake, Hon. T. W. Anglin, Hon. A. M. Ross, Hon. S. C. Wood, Hon. Frank Smith, Hon. G. W. Allan, Sir W. P. Howland, Hon. David Mills, Prof. Goldwin Smith, Archbishop Walsh, Bishop O'Mahony, Bishop Sweatman, Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, Rev. Manly Benson, C. H. Ritchie, Q.C., B. B. Osler, Q. C., Robert Jaffray, Peter Ryan, James Scott, Mayor Fleming, Sheriff Mowat, A. Manning, Major Delamere, C. W. Bunting, W. F. Maclean, A. C. Campbell, J. Ross Robertson, J. S. Willison, D. Creighton, Col. Clarke and Sergeant-at-Arms Glackmeyer.

The following members of the Legislature were also invited: Hon. O. Mowat, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. R. Harcourt, Hon. John Dryden, Hon. E. H. Bronson, W. R. Meredith, H. P. O'Connor, J. T. Garrow, Charles McKenzie, W. H. Biggar, H. E. Clarke, E. F. Clarke, W. T. Lockhart, A. F. Wood, Dr. A. McKay, N. Awrey, J. T. Whitney, G. W. Monk, James Clancy, Thomas Gibson, Dr. Baxter, Dr. Willoughby, D. Guthrie, W. C. Caldwell, Dr. McMahon, G. B. Smith, Dr. Gilmour and S. White.

The House did not open up till 3.45 and was adjourned by 4.

In answer to a question of Mr. Clancy's Mr. Harcourt stated that the gross receipts from liquor licenses in this province were as follows: 1890, $602,560; 1891, $680,298, which were divided almost evenly between the province and municipalities, the former, however, having a little the best of it.

The estimates were not laid on the table yesterday and accordingly Mr. Harcourt's financial statement will not be made until Friday afternoon.

The Government will meet a deputation of mining men on Friday afternoon, Feb. 19, in the reception room after the House rises.

Suicide of Matthew Arnold's Nephew.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 18.—Dr. Howard Arnold, the nephew of Matthew Arnold, has committed suicide while temporarily insane from the effects of influenza and insomnia by taking prussic acid.

Recovered the Boodle.

PETROLIA, Ont., Feb. 18.—All the property stolen from Township Collector Steadman on a G.T.R. train has been recovered.

It is believed a number of vessels bound to or from European ports were lost in the storm that prevailed yesterday and the night before last, and that their loss will be only positively known when they are posted at the various maritime headquarters. Some fishermen report that they passed at sea the body of a woman on which was a life buoy.

Another popular idol fell to the ground and was smashed to-day. Miss Daisy Hopkins, the "Cambridge heroine," was sentenced to seven days' imprisonment for being drunk and disorderly and for using obscene language and assaulting the police. Daisy Hopkins will be remembered as the heroine of the Cambridge "Spinning House" outrage.

An Oklahoma Lynching.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Feb. 18.—It is reported from Chandler that Henry A. Redmond has been lynched by an infuriated mob. Redmond was acquitted a few days ago of the charge of murdering his wife. As soon as he was released his 15-year-old daughter had him arrested, charged with having accomplished her ruin. The citizens at once decided to arrest him.

A Well-Known Turfman Dead.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—Capt. William Conner, the well-known turfman, died to-day, aged 60 years. He was formerly proprietor of the St. James Hotel, New York, and the author of several articles on turf matters. He was also at one time manager for John McCullough and Lawrence Barrett.

A DECLARATION OF THE POPE.

He Says Many Pleasant Things About France.

PARIS, Feb. 18.—The Petit Journal publishes a declaration of the Pope. It is the substance of a statement made to M. Jadet, the ex-deputy, as follows: "My desire and wish of the church is that France should be happy. She is a nation whose pious mind and generous character, though they may not always keep her fast in the straight path which is best suited to her interests, soon repair all faults and show her the clear truth. I pray (and in accordance with my prayer) that despite all resistence there may come an end to the dissensions and the sterile quarrels which weaken her. All her citizens should meet upon the ground of liberty. Each individual may cherish his own preferences. The republic is as legitimate a form of government as any other. I have just received a communication from the president of the committee of the Chicago World's Fair, asking the holy see to take part in that great American undertaking. And the United States, which constitutes a republic, grows greater each day, despite the drawbacks incidental to their boundless liberty. There too the Catholic church develops without clashing with the state. The two powers act in perfect harmony, as they should in all lands when neither infringes upon the right of the other. Liberty is indeed the base and foundation of religion. Between civil power and religious conscience the church aspires before all to liberty. May my voice, which speaks with authority, be heard and may my aims and attitude no longer be distorted by unfounded attacks. What suits the United States is still more suited to Republican France. To all Frenchmen who visit me I speak the same language. I wish that language to be known by all. I regret that certain persons in high places should not dare to proclaim publicly, as they should, the efforts that I make for the peace and prosperity of your noble nation, which I regard ever as the eldest daughter of the church. The church should keep to its true mission. It should reform souls, inculcate the spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion. The church should take an interest in the condition of the work. My assertion of the right of workingmen should facilitate and hasten the restoration of internal peace and diminish the insignificant minority which strives to disturb the public mind and prevent union in your country—a union indispensable to the fulfilment of its highest dignity. Thanks to the strong constitution, France will rise to her old greatness in spite of her foes. I learn with joy that though she boasts such abundant military resources and such valiant sons France has not faltered in her prudence and patience. If she will but free herself from the directions that check her development and paralyze her influence; if she will but abstain from vain harassing and prosecuting she will soon regain the conspicuous place and glorious rank in the world which by right belong to her."

This language of the Pope will make a great impression in France, where the adhesion of His Holiness to the republican cause will spread satisfaction.

MONTT'S LIFE IN DANGER.

The Chilian President Has a Close Call—Likewise Gen. Canto.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The Herald's Valparaiso despatch says: Plots to kill President Montt and Gen. Canto have been discovered and thwarted. The attempt on President Montt's life took place on Sunday night. The miscreants engaged in it removed the rails three kilometres north of Mule Station. Their intention was to wreck the train which Montt was announced to take. Fortunately Montt stopped off at Chilicon. Moreover, the removal of the rails was discovered by the railroad officials before any damage was done. When the Santiago express for this city arrived at Llallis Monday Gen. Canto, who was one of the passengers, left his seat in the Pullman car to take breakfast. Upon returning he found his seat saturated with kerosene. Burned matches were discovered near by. There was no clue to the perpetrators.

A Wasted Life.

HAMILTON, Feb. 17.—Thomas Easton died this morning at the city hospital. About a dozen years ago he came to Hamilton from England, an admirable specimen of an aristocratic young Englishman—highly educated, refined, good-looking, with plenty of money, but with no aim in life and without ability or desire to help himself. His business was sport. For some years he lived well; money came to him copiously from "home," and he spent it freely. Then the remittances suddenly stopped, and from that time poor Easton sank lower and lower in the social scale. Until lately he eked out a wretched existence by peddling fish and paper boxes. His decline was partly owing to intemperance. St. George's Society will bury him.

Will Not Secede.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—The United Workmen this evening discussed at great length the proposal to secede from the Supreme Court of the United States. The feeling of the convention was opposed to any such severance and the proposition rejected by 20,685 votes against 2660. This settles the question for the next 10 years.

Judge Mathieu's Successor.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—Hon. Simon Pagnuelo, Judge of the Superior Court, has been appointed successor to Judge Mathieu in the Royal Commission appointed to investigate the Mercier letters of credit and the Whalen charge.

HE MAY RETURN.

The Liabilities of the Ottawa Broker are Reported to be Very Small.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Mr. R. Machray, stock broker, the closing of whose office in Sparks-street yesterday was reported, was written to by his manager here, Mr. W. H. Cooper, and advised to return at once. The liabilities to depositors and all others do not reach $3000, and the assets exceed that sum, consisting chiefly of notes, most of which, however, are not likely ever to pan out very well. No disposition has been shown on the part of any of the creditors to make trouble, and if Mr. Machray returns it is expected he will have no difficulty in effecting a settlement and going on again.

Since he was attacked with the grip he suffered a good deal with head trouble, and as brokerage business fell off in sympathy with the general stagnation which has prevailed he became more and more unsettled, until at last he suddenly left for New York on Monday. His business was confined almost exclusively to wheat, and he operated chiefly through Chicago houses. He did very little comparatively with New York in stocks. Mr. Cooper says he suffered some rather heavy losses with customers who were unable to meet their margins, for which he was held responsible.

Will Be Changed to Van Horne.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18.—A petition signed by over 600 residents of Rat Portage has been presented to the Town Council asking that the name of the town be changed. Two-thirds of the petitioners want the name of Van Horne and this will probably be adopted.

C.P.R. Double Tracking.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18.—It is officially announced that the Canadian Pacific will be made a double track line between Winnipeg and Fort William at an early date. The improvements to be made entail an enormous amount of work and expenditure.

A Market Gardener Burned Out.

BARRIE, Feb 18.—William Taylor, market gardener, Allandale, was burnt out this morning. The property destroyed included dwelling, outbuildings and three large warehouses. Loss $6000; no insurance.

Another Emetic.

NAPLES, Feb. 18.—Mount Vesuvius is again in a state of eruption. A stream of lava issues from the base of the Great Cone and flows into the Atrio del Cavallo.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

THE MISSING CURATE.

REV. MR MARTIN WAS INDEED A GAY DECEIVER.

The Secret of the Departure of the Curate of Christ Church, Chatham, Beginning to Crop Out—Why He Failed to Marry the Young Ladies to Whom He Was Engaged.

CHATHAM, Feb. 19.—The developments in the case of Rev. N. H. Martin, curate of Christ Church, who so mysteriously disappeared on Monday morning last, serve to show that the charitable construction placed upon his departure was misplaced, and that as long ago as six or seven years he had taken advantage of one of the three women to whom he was engaged to be married and that it was to avoid the exposure of his sin that he so suddenly decamped.

It will be recollected that one of the women to whom he was engaged was Miss Sarah Bonet, and it was to this young lady he gave the extraordinary note published yesterday agreeing to marry her on Feb. 15 and giving her full possession and ownership of all the furniture and contents of his house.

How the Singular Deed Was Made.

A sister of Miss Bonet, Mrs. George Rudling, who resides in Princess-street, let the cat out of the bag. When interviewed she explained that Rev. Mr. Martin had repeatedly promised to marry her sister. The wedding was fixed upon originally for Feb. 8, and the supper was prepared and everything in shape for the wedding, but Martin failed to show up. In a day or two he was hunted up, and in the presence of the girl, her sister and the latter's husband said he was sorry he had been obliged to disappoint Sarah Monday, but would marry her for sure on the 15th.

Mrs. Rudling continued: "Give us a writing about the stuff in the house if it belongs to Sarah," said my husband. And Mr. Martin said, "Certainly, and also that I'll marry Sarah." He then sat down and wrote the paper you talk of. No, there is no truth that she ever got a writ for damages for seduction against him. I will admit that she had a baby seven or eight years ago, but who to of course I don't know. But I know for a good while she has been true to Mr. Martin, feeling he would marry her.

Other Matrimonial Engagements.

The other young ladies to whom the curate engaged himself were Miss E. Kitchen and Miss Delmage, and in the houses of the parents of both these estimable young ladies every preparation had been made for the wedding, the date arranged with Miss Kitchen being Feb. 16 and with Miss Delmage Feb. 15.

What the Pastor Left.

Christ Church paid Rev. N. H. Martin a salary of $1500 a year. His parsonage rent he paid himself. Mr. Martin came to Christ Church some 13 years ago from Walkerville. He has been a devoted and hardworking pastor. Archdeacon Sandys is the rector of Christ Church, although Mr. Martin has undertaken to largely discharge the duties of the principal office. He was liked by his people and was carrying on his pastoral work energetically and successfully.

A COLUMN OF POLITICS.

THE ELECTION CASES BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

Judgment Reserved in the Grand Trunk Ticket Affair—Mr. German Has the Man Who Had Him Disqualified Arrested for Perjury—Mercier Holds a Monster Meeting.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—Mercier held a monster rally in Bonsecours Hall last night, fully 1000 people being present.

Mercier devoted himself in great part to an attack on Ontario. He charged that his present position was owing to the malevolence of the Toronto Orangemen and bigots, who were seeking to destroy the champion of Quebec nationalism.

"But," he said, "I am a child of the people, a child of the soil, and never while there is blood in me will I fail to shed it in defence of my country and my race."

Several times he was asked about the Baie des Chaleur scandal and the letters of credit, but only deigned an answer to one questioner, replying that the whole series of charges was a fabrication of servants of Ontario and Orange tools.

It is expected that if not next Sunday at least on the following Sunday the bishops will issue another fulmination more directly condemnatory of Mercier than they have hitherto done.

Mercier Interviewed.

In an interview with a reporter yesterday Mercier expressed the utmost jubilation at the findings of the Jette minority report. Among other things he said: "There is no doubt but that if this report of Judge Jette's had been given with the interim report of his two colleagues, Mr. Angers would not have dared to dismiss me and, therefore, if Mr. Angers had waited, as it was his duty, for the report we would have avoided the actual crisis, the actual elections and the immense expense that they are going to bring on the province. The three commissioners were imposed upon me by Mr. Angers. There was no choice, and he would not listen to any objection that I made at the time against Mr. Davidson. He himself [Mr. Angers] appointed the president, Mr. Jette, thinking justly, I believe, that he was the proper party to preside over the tribunal, though Judge Baby of the Queen's Bench, and therefore of a superior court to that of Mr. Jette, was in the commission. These facts, coupled with the general respect and consideration enjoyed by Mr. Jette, and the fact that he has been out of politics for nearly 15 years, and that when in politics he was considered a very moderate and impartial politician, must give to his report great weight and settle forever, in a manner satisfactory to my friends and myself, this pretended scandal of the Baie des Chaleurs Railway invented by my opponents in the Senate to kill politically my party and myself.

Wants British Fair Play.

"I hope that my friends will be more encouraged than ever to favor further the triumph of our cause, and that my opponents, who are not my personal enemies but only political opponents, will admit that I am the victim of an unfair and unjust conspiracy, and that on the whole I have not received that British fair play to which I was entitled and that I never refused to any of my opponents."

Richelieu Protested.

SOREL, Que., Feb. 19.—Mr. E. A. D. Morgan has contested the return of A. A. Bruneau, recently elected in Richelieu. The papers and deposit were filed yesterday.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—In the Supreme Court this morning W. R. Riddell, Cobourg, who appeared on behalf of Mr. Hargraft, Liberal M.P. for West Northumberland, made a motion to have the appeal of Mr. Hargraft restored to the list. It will be remembered that on Tuesday last this appeal, which is made by Mr. Hargraft against the lower court unseating him, was dismissed by the Supreme Court owing to the counsel for Mr. Hargraft not being present in the court when the appeal was called.

Mr Osler objected to reinstating the case.

Chief Justice Ritchie: As far as I am concerned, and I speak for myself only, I refuse to reinstate the case on the list. "You had a right (addressing counsel) to be here to attend to your case. I have propounded from my seat here that it is a great contempt to the court for counsel to be absent when their cases are called, and the other day I positively refused, notwithstanding that we had frequently done so in the past, to restore a case similarly treated as this one has been."

The other justices agreed with the chief justice, and therefore the judgment dismissing the appeal with costs, already given, was allowed to stand

This unseats Mr. Hargraft and declares West Northumberland vacant, as provided by the judgment of the lower court.

Mr. Garrow, Q.C., concluded his argument in behalf of Mr. Grieve, M.P., North Perth.

Mr. Osler, Q.C., replied for Mr. Campbell, who appeals against the judgment of the court below, giving the seat to Grieve.

Judgment was reserved.

The appeal of William German, ex-M.P. for Welland, against his disqualification was not proceeded with. Mr. Cassels, Q.C., appeared for Mr. German and Mr. Blackstock for M. Rothrey, the respondent.

The argument was concluded and judgment reserved.

The case of Peers v. Elliott, the first case on the Maritime Province list, was afterwards argued.

WELLAND, Feb. 19.—Joe B. Woods of Niagara Falls was yesterday arrested on a charge of perjury and brought here this afternoon.

The charge is laid in connection with evidence given by Woods at the late election protest trial here, it being mainly on his evidence that Mr. German was disqualified.

Up to a late hour no bail had been secured and Woods will probably be committed to jail.

Her Heart on the Wrong Side.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—A post-mortem examination upon the boby of Annie Musson, who committed suicide Sunday night because her lover had jilted her, showed that her heart was on the right side of her body, while all the other members of the viscera were as much out of place.

Unitt, Toronto, Grand Overseer; J. M. Carder, St. Thomas, Grand Recorder; S. Godwin, Ottawa, Grand Guard. The delegates waited on Lord Stanley this afternoon.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE IRISH LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL INTRODUCED.

The French Cabinet Resign in a Body—A Husband Avenges His Honor by Deliberately Shooting Down His Wife's Betrayer—General Cable News.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Irish Local Government Bill was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday by Mr. Balfour amid the cheers of the Government supporters.

Mr. Balfour said ever since the formation of the present Government and even before the extension of local government to every part of the United Kingdom had been a cardinal point of the Conservative policy. That intention had been constantly adhered to and reiterated since by the Government. They had introduced local government bills for England and Scotland. If they had not done the same for Ireland it must have been because great specific and obvious dangers attended such a course.

The present bill was not merely a county councils bill, but it was what in England would be described as a district and counties' bill.

Baronial Councils.

By its provisions administrative duties will be given to Baronial Councils, leaving wholly untouched the judicial duties now entrusted to the grand jury. The members of the County and Baronial Councils will be elected every three years.

The Government proposed following the Scotch rather than English measure in the matter of aldermen. There undoubtedly existed a large body of people in Ireland who dreaded a measure of this kind. It was only due to those persons to examine the fear they entertained. They feared the new system would result in extravagance, possibly corruption. They were afraid they would be plundered and oppressed by the new bodies. Mr. Balfour did not think there was any weight to these arguments which would not stand the brunt of hostile criticism.

In the first county councils there would be four ex-officio members—the lord-lieutenant of the county, the sheriff, a nominee of the grand jury and a nominee of the presentment session.

The qualifications of voters for county councilmen and baronial councilmen would be identical. The persons entitled to vote for both sets of officers would be the same as those having the right to vote for members of Parliament, except that the former would include also women and peers. [Laughter.]

Illiterate persons and persons who did not pay county taxes would have no vote.

Regeneration Not Guaranteed.

Mr. Balfour spoke for one hour and 40 minutes. He said in conclusion that he did not pretend the bill would regenerate Ireland, but he sincerely thought the Irish ratepayer had a right to claim the same measure as was granted to the ratepayer in England and Scotland. He therefore recommended the bill to the favorable attention of the House.

John Morley (Liberal) strongly objected to the bill and asked the Government to go to the country on the measure.

John E. Redmond (Parnellite) and Justin McCarthy opposed the bill.

The Chronicle, in an article on Balfour's speech at the Constitutional Club's banquet last night, appeals to Gladstone to give decisive utterance as to whether he intends to sustain Irish representation at Westminster as part of his Irish policy. If he does so this portion of the Irish program, in the opinion of The Chronicle, although it may result in a temporary revolt on the part of the Irish members of Parliament, will practically unite his party, and take the sting out of the attacks of the Unionists.

Only a Rotten Reed.

John Morley characterized the bill as "the rottenest reed the Irish minority had ever leant on for the retention of privileges." He declared that the measure was framed in absolute distrust of the Irish people. In fact on the assumption that they were "debased helots."

The whole opposition broke forth into cheers when Mr. Morley called on the Government to go before the country on the measure.

John Redmond protested against the measure as a "sham bill."

Justin McCarthy in the course of his remarks advised the Government to burn the bill declaring that the Nationalists would reject it as an "unclean thing."

Mr. Healy said he never knew of a more contemptible bill. It was an absolute failure, he said, and died in the mouth of its proposer.

Harcourt Calls it an Insult.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said that a bill mor insulting to the Irish he could not conceive of. It bore the stamp of Mr. Chamberlain, who was the "mother" of the bill. Sir William ridiculed the idea of a county council of tried judges. Mr. Balfour denied that the bill was insulting to Ireland. The Opposition speeches, he said, showed the insincerity of the cry for local government for Ireland. If, owing to obstruction the present bill should not be passed, local government for Ireland would be indefinitely postponed. The only reason why the Irish parties should obstruct the bill was that it contained machinery to stop corruption and oppression. The only inference was that they desired to make something out of the councils.

At this the whole Opposition joined in crying "Shame, shame!" while the Conservatives cheered.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain denied that he had assisted in the work of framing the bill. He said that he approved of the manner in which the Government had redeemed its pledges. The safeguards introduced in the bill in regard to corruption were those that the Americans, the most democratic people in the world, had introduced into their constitution.

The bill passed the first reading and Mr. Balfour fixed the second reading for March 8.

A STRIKING CONTRAST.

The Conservative News of Toronto says:—"Another instance showing the impartiality with which the Ontario Government distributes important reports was given yesterday when independent papers received the public accounts in advance even of the Liberal organ. As a striking contrast to this take the case of the distribution of the trade and navigation returns by the Dominion Government, These returns were in the possession of the Empire a fortnight ago, while Liberal and Independent papers have been unable to secure a copy to the present day. Premier Abbott cannot too soon copy the good example set him by the People's Oliver in the matter of giving out information intended for the public."

The Laprairie Protest.

The Laprairie election trial promises to outshine the North Perth case in general interest. Mr. Choquette, who is a law partner of Mr. Mercier, and who appeared for the appellant in the Supreme Court Wednesday, expected to be able to go on with the trial in the lower court, to which the case has been remitted by the Supreme Court, in a few days. "The case," Mr. Choquette said, "will create a stir in political circles. The bill of particulars which I have filed says that there was a committee established in the Montreal district by the Conservative party for the purpose of carrying the counties in that section, there being about 30 ridings in all. A fund amounting to about $200,000 was raised to carry these constituencies. Of this amount $10,000 was spent in the County of Laprairie. Moreover, I have filed particulars which say that the Hon. J. A. Chapleau, the day before polling last general election, hired a special train to carry voters to the counties of Laprairie, Chateauguay and Missisquoi, and that he paid to the Grand Trunk authorities a little more than $100 for the same. At all events he gave his I.O.U. for the amount. The election was undoubtedly carried by the distribution of the $10,000 in the county, as Mr. Pelletier's majority was about 400 over Mr. Doyon. We can easily carry the constituency. The chances are that Mr. Pelletier will at once admit corruption on the part of agents and resign, but whether he does or not I intend pressing for disqualification. I am also going to show that Mr. Chapleau had several trains to bring voters from a distance to the polls."

Electric Railways Feasible.

The electric railway in Ottawa was not inconvenienced by the fall of 12 inches of snow recently which delayed the trains on the steam railways. Sweeping machines were run during the storm, and after it was over the streets of Ottawa were in as good a condition as before. The practicability of the electric railway is now pretty well demonstrated.

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

Candian Press Association.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Press Association will be held in the Railway Committee rooms, Ottawa, March 3rd and 4th. The meeting promises to be one of the largest and most interesting in the history of the association. An excellent programme is being prepared. The Ottawa journalists are sparing no pains to make the visit of their confreres to the capital a pleasant one. They have arranged for a banquet Friday night, and a visit to the points of interest about Ottawa. The Governor-General will give an "At Home" Thursday, which will be an informal reception at Rideau Hall and an outdoor fete in the illuminated grounds. Lord Stanley will attend the banquet, also members of the Cabinet and of the House. The business programme will be the most interesting and important in the history of the C. P. A. It is expected that almost the entire membership of the association will attend this year.

In Honour of the "Workmen."

For the first time since last session Parliament buildings were thrown open Wednesday evening, and the Commons Chamber, the Senate Chamber, and the library were lighted for the benefit of the five hundred delegates now in the city in attendance at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of the A.O.U.W.—Ottawa Exchange.

To the question, What is your favorite poem? there may be a great variety of answers; but when asked, which is your favorite blood-purifier? there can be only one reply—Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because it is the purest, safest, and most economical.

Of the bard who lately lingered
In our country village scenes,
Might we think an act less kindly
Than to recognise his theme?

Should another eve's enticing
Hither woo his ancient frame,
We shall stimulate his musing
Down the course that heeds no rein;

As romance a guest we treated
Down the quick descending slide,
"Are you ready?' Yes, I'm ready,"
And we left the standers by.

Down the slide—a dash, a quiver—
Far out on the silent lake;
In a sense of queer collection
There we gather up our shape—

Where the summer ripples sparkled,
Where the fishes jumped in play,
Where the wood's extending shadow
Stayed each passing boat that way.

In a mood of wild amusement
Stood his giddy gaze askance,
Up among the trees in mantle
Drooping in the moonbeams' dance.

Up among the trees that sparkle,
High ascends the polished track,
Steeped in mystic sweet sensation:
That parades you wending back.

Slow each step was most reluctant,
For his fixed eye held him mute,
And he hears the cry of warning,
"Going! going! clear the schute!"

From the sky in repetition,
Glowing eye and streaming hair;
With each sled fleets headless on,
Like flashing meteors through the air.

In the frosty night and spangled
'Neath a peerless living sky,
Where the night birds song is cancelled,
For the ringing of the slide.

Genial bard come hither won't you?
Come and study up our play,
E'er the southern breezes whisper,
E'er the white woods cease to sway.

A Ghost Story.

A Stirring Holiday Experience.

(Written for the Examiner.)

A few years ago two young men were spending some holidays at the town of Welland, on the Welland canal. As this story is true and they are both alive at the present day it will not do to give their names in full so we will call them Charlie and Ned. Like all young fellows attending a university they were of an enquiring turn of mind but disposed to be sceptical until practical proof was afforded. Charlie was a good natured, jovial sort of a fellow, ready for any lark while his companion, Ned, was more reserved, but none the less ready to enjoy himself.

It was the first time they had seen the big ditch that connects Lakes Erie and Ontario, and they were delighted with the fine bridges that spanned it and the noble masonry that adorned the locks and viaducts. Taking a horse and carriage they followed the banks of the canal from Welland to Port Colborne, the entrance from Lake Erie. The shore here faces the west and is low and sandy getting the full sweep of the west winds. A little over two miles to the right along the shore stands that curious mound of earth known as "Sugar-loaf hill." Who that has been at Port Colborne has not paid a visit to this freak of nature? The young gentleman in question were not exceptions to the rule.

They might have driven the horse and carriage along the sandy shore but they preferred walking especially as the wind was high and the air was balmy and the walk would be invigorating.

About half way across they came to an old fashioned wooden residence. Some trees had been planted about it, no doubt for the sake of protection from the wind. They were now quite old looking and though of considerable size and strength were gnarled, twisted and scarred from a hundred battles with wind and storm. What remained of them was even now bending and tossing in the wind. As our young friends drew near they saw what appeared to be the whole family huddled together on a bank of sand about a hundred yards from the house. When their approach was observed, a young lad of about twelve years of age hastened towards them, and with every mark of terror in his face exclaimed:

"Please sir, daddy is away and there's a ghost in the house, and we can't get in."

"A what?" asked Ned, incredulously.

"A ghost," repeated the lad.

"Ha! ha!" laughed Charlie, "that's a good one. A ghost and in broad day light! Come Ned, and let us lay the rascal."

They followed the boy over to where a woman and three or four children were cowering together, and their tear stained faces left no doubt on the minds of the young men as to the genuineness of their alarm.

"Never mind," said Charlie, "we'll soon fix the ghost. Where is he?'

"In the cellar of course," interrupted Ned, "where else would you expect to find him?"

But no, they all agreed that the ghost was upstairs. "And the noise he makes is just awful," said the boy who first informed them.

"We're not afraid of a little noise," said Ned, "just show us the way."

The boy led them a little way towards the house but soon hesitated and finally stopped altogether at a respectable distance from the haunted premises.

"You just go in the front door and you will see another door with a couple of steps at the foot of it. That's the stairway" he directed.

They found the front door wide open and entered. Every blast of the wind caused the rickety house to creak and shake in every joint. The wind whistling through the old trees added to the confused sounds. The stairway door as described stood before them. Suddenly Charlie who had already mounted the steps at the foot and had his hand on the latch turned to his companion and said.

"What if this should be a trap to rob and murder us. It might easily be done in this dismal old place and nobody would be the wiser."

"I don't think they were pretending" somewhat doubtfully answered Ned, referring to the family out on the sand bank. "It's best to make sure however" he continued and putting his hand into an inner pocket drew from thence a pistol he had brought with him for sport. Then he advanced and cautiously opened the door,

It was a queer old-fashioned winding stairway. The light from below revealed a few bare steps, the boards of which were almost worn through with the tramp of rough boots for years. But beyond these steps all was darkness and you might as well have been ascending a hidden passage in the catacombs of Rome.

There was no unseemly haste in venturing on the domain of the ghost. Step by step they carefully advanced, straining their eyes into the gloom

"It isn't that I believe in ghosts," said Ned to his companion, evidently thinking that such caution required some explanation, "but there is no saying who may be hiding up there."

They were just about half way up as Ned was speaking. The wind, which came in gusts, had suddenly increased. But above the creaking of the house above the wailing of the wind came the most appalling sounds they had ever listened to. First there was a terrific crash, which made the old place quiver to its foundations. Then came a rattling, rattling noise, as of some heavy body moving over a rough surface, every motion of which, however, still shook the house like an earthquake. It died away at length in a creaking, groaning sound, that almost reached a shriek. To make the whole more terrifying to our heroes, Ned's pistol, which he had been carrying at full cock, went off. They waited no longer, but both tumbled down stairs and out into daylight.

"What did you shoot at?" asked Charlie.

"I—I didn't shoot," answered Ned, "the confounded thing went off."

"It was in that north-west corner; let us walk around outside and look at it," suggested Charlie.

They had no sooner done so than Charlie began to laugh—laughed until he had to sit down on the ground, and Ned, though somewhat sheepishly at first, joined in. The ghost was discovered,

A huge limb had been partly broken by the storm. The tough wood had not broken off but splintered in such a way as to let the heavy limb hang lower than usual. When a gust of wind came this great branch swung round, lighted on the roof with a force that threatened destruction and went clattering up the shingles at length, sliding back again with the sound above described.

It is needless to say that the evicted family were soon comfortably settled again and our young friends on their way, laughing over their first ghost.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A meeting of the village council as a committee of the whole was held in the clerk's office on Monday evening, the object being to look over the correspondence in regard to advertising the advantages of the village for manufacturing purposes, the proposed fire alarm, and some minor improvements. A couple of hours were spent discussing the various subjects, and it was decided to meet again next week, in the meantime the clerk to obtain further information. The sub-committee having the purchase of a fire alarm in charge was instructed to urge on its labours so as to have a definite decision to lay before the council at the next meeting, and have it placed in position as early as possible.

For the past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which upon the application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not only thoroughly cleansed, but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have, and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Sufferers

FROM Stomach and Liver derangements—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick-Headache, and Constipation—find a safe and certain relief in Ayer's Pills. In all cases where a cathartic is needed, these Pills are recommended by leading physicians.

Dr. T. E. Hastings, of Baltimore, says: "Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic and aperient within the reach of my profession."

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oceana, W. Va., writes: "I have prescribed Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. I urge their general use in families."

"For a number of years I was afflicted with biliousness which almost destroyed my health. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills."—G. S. Wanderlich, Scranton, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since."—T. P. Brown, Chester, Pa.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these Pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"Ayer's Pills have been used in my family upwards of twenty years, and have completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afforded me greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—Thomas F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES

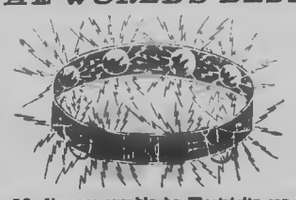
BY THE

DORENWEND
ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—168 Yonge St., Toronto.

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Grateful Acknowledgments.

The Rev. J. C. Davidson desires to express the warm gratitude of himself and of all the members of the late Canon Davidson's family for the numerous telegrams and letters of condolence which have been received from friends in Peterborough. Particular acknowledgement is made of the expressions of sympathy from the St John's Sunday school, from the Chancel Guild, from the South Ward Women's Auxiliary, and from the Girls' Guild. The family have been much touched by the exquisite floral off rings brought by the churchwardens from the congregation of St. John's, and from the Peterborough Chapter of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood. These have each brought messages of comfort in the hour of sorrow.

Mr. Davidson expects to return to his work on Monday.

The Late Mr. Huffman.

In the death of Mr. T. A. Huffman, who died at his late residence on Albert street on Wednesday, one of the pioneer settlers and a veteran of 1837, the town loses a citizen who has been a respected resident of the town and county for forty years. He was one of the first to introduce the brick making industry into this county. Mr. Huffman was highly respected by all who knew him The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A Birthday Presentation.

Thursday evening a number of the young friends of Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., assembled at his residence, George street, to celebrate his twenty-first birthday. The evening was spent in social enjoyment by the number of young people present. Among the list of birthday presents Mr. Turner received was an elegant gold watch from his father and mother, the presentation being made by Mr. Frank Packenham. A very enjoyable evening was spent and his friends congratulated Mr. Turner and wished him many years of happiness.

Norwood Winter Races.

The Norwood winter races are to be held on Monday and Tuesday, 22nd and 23rd of February. The purse of $225 will be offered in prizes. On Monday, the first day, a green race for a purse of $30, open to all green horses in this county who have not started for money, will be run off; also a three minute trot for a purse of $75, open to all horses who have never been beaten three times. On Tuesday there will be a named race for a purse of $50, and an open trot for a purse of $100. Mr. H. Calcutt, Ashburnham, is one of the judges.

A Young Lady Chased.

Last evening a few minutes past ten o'clock a young lady who resides in the upper part of the town was proceeding up George street on her way home. A character well known around the town who was standing on the corner of Smith and George streets waited until she had passed and then gave chase. The young lady screamed and ran and the distance being short she managed to reach home in safety. The vagabond, finding his chase of no avail slunk away. Complaints of this character have in the past been numerous, and such wretches should receive some attention at the hands of the police.

Good News for the Ladies.

Ladies who are specially interested in the newest novelties for spring millinery, will be pleased to learn that Miss Delaney has brought home with her from her extended tour through New York, Chicago, St. Louis, and the principal cities of the Eastern States, a very fine selection of the very newest ideas in American fashions. Miss Delaney was present at a number of the magnificent spring millinery openings held during the past few weeks in some of the great centres of fashion in the United States, and has had the advantage of securing ahead for her own customers the choice of some of the newest novelties just out. In veilings, flowers and new shapes, especially, ladies will be delighted with the handsome exhibition now open for their inspection. Please call early and see the goods. 1d

Entertainment at Zion.

Thursday night Court Zion of Foresters held an entertainment and tea in their hall, Zion. An excellent tea was served early in the evening in the hall by the lodge, which was partaken of by a large number of friends of the order. At eight o'clock the hall was crowded to the door. A large number of Foresters from town members of the different courts, among them being Mr. H. Nesbitt, D.D.H.C.R., drove out from town besides a large number of young people bent on having an evening's amusement. Mr. Wm Kindred, C.R., of Court Zion, occupied the chair, and an interesting programme of readings, recitations, dialogues, and vocal and instrumental music was presented, a number of the members of Court Lenston taking part in the programme. The programme was successfully carried out, and the concert and tea were most successful in every respect.

—A mass meeting in favour of local option was held at Campbellford last night.

A Fine Entertainment.

The Reports of the South Ward Baptist Sunday School Show Progress During the Year.

The annual entertainment and social in connection with the South Ward Baptist Mission Sunday school was held in the school room, Dalhousie street, last evening, and was a most successful and enjoyable event. The chair was taken by the superintendent, Mr. Harry Grandy. The following programme was well rendered evidencing the labour and care bestowed in the preparation of the different pieces. The song "Now I lay me down to sleep" by Nellie Pilling, Ethel Barrie, and Mary Davidson, and the song by Miss Mann's class, were especially well received. Mr. Edwin Elcome made the opening prayer, and Mr. R. J. Colville was among those who gave addresses.

Hear Both Sides.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As there has been some correspondence in the EXAMINER and Lakefield Chronicle on the subject of the civility and otherwise, of the teamsters and drivers on the roads between Peterborough and Lakefield. My daughter (Mrs. Tate) and myself, are very glad to avail ourselves of this opportunity of personally thanking all the teamsters and drivers, who have for the last twenty odd years, invariably shown us the most unfailing civility and kind attention.

Anyone driving a single sleigh would be most unreasonable to expect a heavy laden sleigh to leave the road, and I have always found in any difficulty, the most prompt and efficient assistance from the driver.

I have been prevented by illness from writing sooner, in acknowledgement of the kindness and attention we have ever received, and for which we cannot have a better opportunity of returning our thanks, than through the columns of your valuable paper. I remain

Yours, &c.,

Local Petitions Presented.

On Thursday Mr. Stratton presented to the Ontario Legislature a petition from the town council of Peterborough, praying that all personal property be relieved from taxation, and that the municipal revenue be derived from taxation levied on land values only; also a petition to the same effect signed by Mr. James Stevenson, M.P. and 217 others. Mr. Stratton also presented yesterday to the Legislature a petition from the county council of Peterborough, praying that milk inspectors be appointed in cheese making districts.

A Slight Blaze.

An alarm of fire was sounded last night a few minutes after ten o'clock. The scene of the fire proved to be the large woollen mills on Hunter street, occupied by Mr. Robert Mann. Henry Lahey, nightwatchman, had placed a ladder against the shafting at the top of the bottom story. He was holding a lamp in one hand and endeavoring to fix a pulley with the other. The ladder being rather short, the force of his weight upon it soon caused it to jolt. Mr. Lahey threw up his hands in order to prevent himself from being thrown off. In doing so he dropped the lamp which fell to the floor and ignited some yarn which lay near. Mr. Lahey stamped the incipient blaze, as he thought, out, and went out to the boiler house. He returned in a few moments and went up stairs but saw no sign of fire. When upstairs he was surprised to hear "fire" shouted by some half dozen voices who noticed through the windows that a small blaze was springing up. The alarm was sounded and the firemen were quickly on hand. By their promptness a great conflagration was averted, but not before some damage was sustained. The casing of a large gig used for raising a nap on cloth was burnt. The fire also spread in a large box containing several hundred skeins of prepared woollen yarn, completely damaging it all. The loss will be about $75. It was a narrow escape and reminded many of the blaze which swept the mill out of existence some three years since.

Peterborough Shuts out Belleville in the Tankard Competition—But Falls before the Granites—Two Curlers Defeated at Port Hope.

Peterborough was defeated in her efforts with the Granites, of Toronto, to win the Tankard Thursday afternoon. The only cause that can be attributed to the defeat was the sloppy condition of the ice on the Victoria Rink. The home team has been accustomed to play on first-class ice on the home rink. During the progress of the game the ice was covered with water, but the play throughout was of a high order, and that of the Peterboroughs elicited loud applause from the spectators. In the morning Peterborough made very short work of the Belleville club, shutting them out by 18 shots. The Globe in its account of the Granite-Peterborough match says:—Peterborough and the Granites were thus left in for the final match, and they were two very strong teams. Peterborough had never got so far in a Tankard competition, but the Granites had been in the last games three times, being once victorious, and their was a big turn out of spectators. The weather was quite mild, and by the afternoon the ice began to get soft and wet. Before the close there was quite a bit of water on it, and the game called for the exercise of much strength to get the stone to the opposite tee. The galleries were crowded with enthusiasts, and the visitors had a large share of support. The game was nip-and-tuck, and the excitement ran very high. Not until the last end on the Mathews-Ferguson rink was halfway through, was it settled that the Toronto men would win, and then brooms and bonnets went into the air, and the great rink rang with the cheers for the victors and their plucky opponents.

The following are the scores of the different games in which Peterborough took part yesterday.

Markham won the Miller cup from Stouffville yesterday by 12 shots.

In the speeches after the match in the smoking room of the rink, Dr. Wright, president of the rink said that Peterborough might well have deserved the victory, for the Peterborough men were grand curlers and most hospitable entertainers for any club that visited them.

Mr. Davidson replied for the Peterborough's, and said they would be glad to tackle the Granites again when they visited Peterborough next Friday.

The winners of the Tankard are to receive in addition to the banner, gold medals and the Peterborough's silver medals.

Skip Tom Rutherford, the Empire says, is undoubtedly one of the finest curlers that ever stood on ice.

McGreevy's Papers.

L'Electeur has a despatch from Ottawa stating that all of Mr. McGreevy's papers have been submitted to Mr. Edward Blake, that gentleman having been retained for the defence of Mr. McGreevy in the coming trial at the Carleton assizes. It seems also that these documents, which include receipts for money paid out for political purposes, are to become famous in the approaching parliamentary session. It is to be charged that Mr. McGreevy was more sinned against than sinning.—Mail.

Police Court.

FRIDAY, Feb. 18th.

At the police court this morning John Powers was charged with being drunk in a public place on Thursday. He pleaded guilty and said that he would never be caught drunk again. The magistrate remarked that if he was arrested again, Central Prison would be his abode for a while. He discharged the man.

A young man Sofais was brought up on remand this morning, charged with being drunk. The magistrate told the young man that he had his life and prospects in his own hands, and that he should endeavour to leave the poison alone, or the result would be disastrous. He was discharged.

John Gonya was charged by Eugene Enno with quarrelling with Camille Enno. The magistrate warned the prisoner and then discharged him.

GREAT BRITAIN'S HOLD

ON THE WINDWARD ISLES OF THE NEW WORLD.

St. Lucia to be the Headquarters of Her Army and Navy in That Part of the West Indies—It Will be Strongly Fortified.

The special correspondent of the New York Herald at Port Castries, St. Lucia, writes that this island (St. Lucia), after having undergone many vicissitudes, having been alternately in the possession of France and England eight different times, is finally destined to become the headquarters of the British troops in the Windward Islands.

St. Lucia is an island about twenty-three miles long and twelve miles wide, lying in about 14 degrees north latitude and 61 degrees west longitude. Like nearly all the group of the Windward Islands, it is of volcanic organ, and is in consequence very mountainous and broken up by ravines and water courses. Its highest peak, Piton Morne Gimie, rises to a height of 3,145 feet above the level of the sea, and in clear weather can be easily seen at a distance of fifty miles. Peaks of two thousand feet and more are not uncommon.

It was first settled by the French in 1685, and eventually, after the changes previously mentioned, it in 1830 came into the possession of the English, who have succeeded in retaining their hold of it ever since.

Port Castries is one of the best harbors in the Windward Islands, and it quite equals, if it does not surpass, that of St. Thomas in the security it affords vessels seeking shelter from storms, the readiness with which it can be defended in case of an attack by a hostile force and the numerous and advantageous positions the surrounding hills offer for the construction of forts and batteries. St. Thomas harbor is, however, about twice as large in area as St. Lucia.

THE ISLAND OF ST. LUCIA.

MAKING IT IMPREGNABLE.

The British, who are by no means slow to perceive the advantages the place affords from a strategic point of view, are bending all their energies to make this port as impregnable as forts, guns and torpedoes can make it. Already on the peninsula forming the northern side of the harbor, which is called the Vigie, they have located one battery that is finished and three forts in the process of building. These have a complete command and thoroughly cover not only the approach to the harbor but the harbor itself.

Back of the south shore of the harbor is Morne Fortune, 845 feet high, on which is already built Fort Charlotte, which commands the approach to the harbor, and which would be exceedingly useful in case an enemy should obtain possession of the Vigie. Barracks are also being rapidly erected on the Morne, and these, when finished, are intended to accommodate the fifteen hundred troops that will be concentrated here in the near future.

The section of Port Castries situated between the harbor and the Morne is known as the "Cocoanuts." It is hilly, and for the most part rises abruptly from the water's edge, and varies in height from fifty to four hundred feet and more. It is proposed to build several batteries here also, locating them in the most prominent and effective positions. Their number and exact positions, however, have not as yet been definitely decided upon.

TWO SHOALS IN THE HARBOR.

On the north side of the harbor is a shoal called the Vieille Ville, having a depth of water on it varying from four to seventeen feet. There is also a corresponding shoal the opposite (south) side, covered by a depth of from two to twenty feet.

It was originally intended to dredge the first named to a uniform depth of twenty-seven feet, and thereby increase the available area of the harbor to a considerable extent. But in the hurricane of August last, which caused such sad havoc in Martinique, only forty miles to the northward, and which destroyed so much life and property, it was found that the shoals referred to acted as two sub-surface breakwaters, modifying considerably the force of the immense seas that broke upon them and virtually saving the town at the head of the harbor from destruction. The utility and value of these shoals as a safeguard to Port Castries were thus practically demonstrated, and the idea of dredging the Vieille Ville was at once abandoned. It has since dawned on the minds of the "powers that be" that, inasmuch as the two shoals practically narrow the available channel into the inner harbor to three hundred or four hundred yards, it renders it a very simple and easy process to plant it thoroughly with torpedoes and in that way make it impassable for hostile ships.

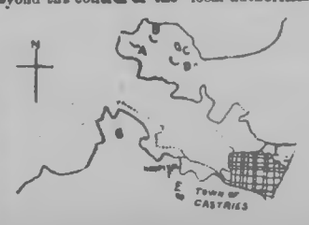
SOME OF THE GUNS IN POSITION.

The battery on the Vigie is at present armed with two 6-inch rapid fire guns and two or three 9-inch muzzle loading rifles of the old pattern. The Morne has one of the former and two of the latter, while on the jetty at the landing there are three more 9-inch rifles that are destined for the batteries to be constructed on the "Cocoanuts." It is proposed to arm all the forts now building with rapid fire guns of different calibres, varying from one inch to six inches, with a few of the large sized muzzle loading rifles for heavy work.

As already remarked, St. Lucia will be the headquarters of all the British troops quartered in this part of the world. At present there are stationed on the Vigie, the Twenty-third western division of the Royal Artillery, consisting of one hundred white troops; on the Cocoanuts are quartered the First battalion of the West India regiment, consisting of one hundred colored troops and on the Morne, the Second battalion of the same regiment, comprising the same number of men.

The British authorities contend that in time of war 100 troops here and a few more or less at some other place—in short, scattered as they have been in the past in such small detachments among the many British possessions of the West Indies—would be of no service in preventing their respective stations from falling into the hands of a numerous and determined enemy.

They further hold that in these days of the telegraph, cable and rapid ocean communications, should an emergency arise beyond the control of the local authorities aided by their constabulary, any number of troops could be forwarded at short notice to any point where their presence was deemed necessary.



LOCATION OF THE BATTERIES.

A—Fort under construction at an elevation of 166 feet above the level of the sea.

B—Fort under construction at an elevation of about 250 feet.

C—Battery finished construction at an elevation of about 200 feet.

D—Fort under construction at an elevation of about 180 feet.

E—Old government house at an elevation of about 437 feet.

F—Morne's Fortune, on which is Fort Charlotte, and where new barracks are going up at an elevation of 845 feet.

G—Section of Port Castries, called the "Cocoanuts," varying in height from 50 to 400 feet, on which it is proposed to erect several batteries.

CONCENTRATING THE TROOPS.

In pursuance of this policy the troops formerly stationed at Demerara, Trinidad and St. Vincent have all been removed and are now quartered here permanently. Barbadoes is now the only island to windward, with the exception of St. Lucia, that has British troops, and it is at the former place that the headquarters are at present situated.

Major-General Tongue, the General in command, was here the other day on a visit of inspection and at the same time to make the necessary arrangements for the transfer of "headquarters" and the reminder of the troops in the Windward Islands to this place.

When the scheme is completed there will be 1,500 troops in and around Port Castries; and in the future there will be but two grand depots in the entire West Indies for British troops. One will be stationed here at St. Lucia and the other at Kingston, Jamaica.

It is a curious fact that, notwithstanding the island has been in the possession of the English uninterruptedly for nearly ninety years, the names of all the places here, mountains, rivers, bays, etc., are all French, as originally named.

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1890.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

"August Flower"

The Hon. J. W. Fennimore is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my own use, and found it does me more good than any other remedy. I have been troubled with what I call Sick Headache. A pain comes in the back part of my head first, and then soon a general headache until I become sick and vomit. At times, too, I have a fullness after eating, a pressure after eating at the pit of the stomach, and sourness, when food seemed to rise up in my throat and mouth. When I feel this coming on if I take a little August Flower it relieves me, and is the best remedy I have ever taken for it. For this reason I take it and recommend it to others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."

BARON DE HIRSCH.

The Greatest Living Philanthropist—Some of His Magnificent Charities.

The name of Baron Maurice de Hirsch has become famous throughout the world, not by reason of its distinguished owner's wealth or position, but on account of his philanthropic principles. Baron Hirsch is the son of a banker of Ausberg in Bavaria, and the grandson of a Jewish army contractor, who became enormously wealthy during the Napoleonic wars. Baron Hirsch gave £2,000,000 to Jewish charities in Austria. His great interest in the Russian Jews on account of their persecutions has led him to interest himself largely in their behalf, and he has done this in the most practical way possible, by giving them large amounts of money, much of which has been expended in assisting the Russian Jewish emigrants. It is a fact that Russia treated her Jewish population with tolerance until the discovery was made that they were everywhere becoming Russia's best citizens. The Russian peasant could not be trusted to sell liquor to his fellows; the temperate Jew was employed in his place and gave entire satisfaction. It was so in other branches of the trade. Then the temporal power of the Greek Church, M. Pobiedonotzeff, suggested to the Czar that the Jewish people would make good Russians if they could be induced to relinquish their religion for that of the Greek Church and intermarry with Russian families; the Czar consented, and then began that series of unbearable persecutions which were only worthy of the inquisition. The £5,000,000 which were sent to Russia by Baron Hirsch for the purpose of building free public schools for Jewish children was taken charge of by the Russian Government; the schools were furnished, but the same iron rule was made by which Russian children were allowed to exclude the Jews who paid taxes and were debarred from the privileges intended for them alone.

Besides the large amounts sent to Russia direct, Baron Hirsch has given large sums to establish schools in Jerusalem, Bagdad, Napoli, Algiers, Paris, Berlin, London and New York. In the last named metropolis he has established free baths, and has assisted in establishing manual training schools all over the country.

Baron Hirsch is a member of the Jewish Alliance Society, which has for years cared for the ancient people of God in every known part of the world. Whatever funds are lacking in carrying out their benevolent projects are supplied by the baron.

Baron Hirsch is a handsome man, a little past 50. He lives in Paris, where he has large landed interests. He has carried on successful financial operations on a large scale in Eastern Europe, and does little now beyond expending, in munificent charities, his superfluous wealth. His name is a synonym for all that is good and generous not alone in regard to his chosen people, but to all who suffer and are oppressed.

A Mysterious Question.

Algy—"Oh, I say, Weggie, Miss Budd asked after you last evening."
Weggie—"The divine cweature! What did she say?"
Algy—"She wanted to know who was your chaperwone. I've been wondering all day what she meant."

Dry Ditches Put to Use.

A very useful thing for a farmer to know how to utilize a dry ditch, and in California they have an excellent way of doing it. After the water is turned out in early summer, instead of allowing the bank to become a swamp of weeds, to his own detriment and the undoing of those below, the farmer plows the banks and the bottoms of the ditch and plants pumpkins therein. Supposing his ditch runs, say, for three-quarters of a mile, he raises from fifty to one hundred wagon loads of pumpkins of the largest kind. After they are gathered in the fall and the vines are dry he dumps them into the ditch and sets fire to them. The result is a ditch as clean as a garden walk.

He Expected It.

"Your proposal is so unexpected, Mr. Spoonamore," said the young woman, blushingly, "that I hardly know what to say. You must give me time to think it over."

"Certainly, Miss Jaggers," said the young man, accommodatingly. "That's the way I've—er—always been in the habit of doing in cases like this."

Want the Duty Off Coal Oil, Etc.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The Patrons of Industry have supplemented the notice of their intention to seek incorporation by a number of petitions to the House, one of which reached the Department of Agriculture yesterday. It demands the amelioration of the disadvantage under which the agricultural classes live, and the removal of the duties on coal oil, binder twine and iron.

RECIPROCITY CONFERENCE.

The Washington Negotiations Made the Subject of an Enquiry in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Mr. Jennings, member for Stockport, asked in the House of Commons yesterday if the Government had any information concerning a conference at Washington between Mr. Blaine and the Canadian commissioners to arrange a basis for a reciprocity agreement whether they had arrived at an agreement, and if it was true that Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister at Washington, had assured the commissioners that Lord Salisbury would favorably consider any reasonable request of the commissioners.

Mr. Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, in reply said that such a meeting had occurred. Mr. Blaine had previously stipulated that the meeting should be informal. Mr. Lowther had no reason to suppose that Sir Julian Pauncefote had given the commissioners the assurance Mr. Jennings had referred to.

In conclusion, Mr. Lowther said he did not know whether or not an agreement had been arrived at.

Mr. Tooley will interrogate the Government whether they intend to take any action in the case of William Yorke of London, who was recently fined for dehorning cattle.

Thirteen petitions praying for legislation to protect game and fur-bearing animals were presented.

The session lasted about an hour, half of which time was consumed in waiting for an order from the Lieutenant-Governor.

A DOMESTIC'S REVENGE.

Young Girl Sent to the Mercer for Burning Her Employer's Barn.

WHITBY, Feb. 19.—Before Judge Dartnell a girl of 14 years named Eliza Ann Berry was charged with incendiarism. This girl was taken from an industrial home in Toronto by a farmer near Vroomanton, Brock, named Obed E. Bagshaw. She was to remain an inmate of his house during her minority. A few days ago Mrs. Bagshaw scolded the girl for some misconduct and shortly afterwards the latter slipped out with some matches and set Mr. Bagshaw's barn on fire. In the conflagration which ensued about $6000 worth of property was lost, including among other things 56 head of cattle. The girl admitted having committed the crime and appeared to be quite hardened. The judge sentenced her to two years in the Mercer Reformatory.

BOB FORD SHOT.

The Murderer of Jesse James Killed in a Colorado Mining Town.

PUEBLO, Feb. 19.—Bob Ford was shot dead in a saloon at the new mining town of Creede, Col.

Bob and Charley Ford, under the direction of Gov. Crittenden of Missouri, shot and killed Jesse James on April 16, 1882. They had been implicated in a train robbery and fled to Nashville, where they lived with Jesse James for several months.

The Fords appeared in a dime museum for several months after the tragedy, but eventually drifted West, where Charley Ford two years ago died of consumption. Bob went to the mining town of Creede, Col., where he to-day met his death.

George Grumbling of Mineveh, Pa., crazed with grip, jumped from his bed and going to a window broke a pane of glass. Then placing his neck and throat through the hole he deliberately sawed his throat over the roughened edges of the glass. He soon died.

In the United States Senate yesterday Mr. Dolph moved to take from the calendar and to pass the bill extending for 10 years laws preventing the introduction of Chinese into the United States. The motion was enlarged.

AVENGED HIS FAMILY HONOR.

A Husband Shoots His Wife's Betrayer Dead.

CANNES, Feb. 19. — Edward Parker Deacon, a native of the United States and a prominent member of the American colony, last night shot and killed a Frenchman named Abeille, and thus avenged to the death the disgrace and infamy brought upon him and his children by his wife and her lover.

Mr. Deacon and his wife have been sojourning for some little time past at Hotel Splendide, one of the fashionable hotels of this watering place. With them were their four children.

A Wife's Dishonor.

Deacon suspected that his wife was unduly intimate with M. Abeille, who was connected with the French diplomatic service, and he kept a close though unobserved watch upon her actions.

At midnight last night Deacon, who was in his room, heard a peculiar noise in his wife's room, which was immediately beneath his own. His suspicions were at once awakened and he descended the stairs and listened at the door of his wife's room. He heard her talking and then he heard the voice of a man replying to her. In a moment suspicion became a certainty, and Mr. Deacon realized that his wife had betrayed and disgraced him.

He dashed up the stairs to his room and procured a loaded revolver. Then, with a feeling of pathetic misery, he bent over the bed wherein were sleeping his innocent little children and impressed upon their foreheads the last kiss of his happy days. The sight of them steeled him in his determination to avenge the wrong that their mother had placed upon him and them.

The Act of Vengeance.

Leaving his children asleep, Deacon aroused the secretary of the hotel and the two proceeded to Mrs. Deacon's room and forced the door. Mrs. Deacon was alone and appeared surprised at the visit.

Entering an adjoining room Deacon discovered Abeille crouched behind an armchair, attempting to hide.

Deacon levelled his revolver at the shrinking and thoroughly frightened man and taking deliberate aim fired three shots at him.

Two of the bullets struck Abeille, one taking effect in his arm and the other in his chest.

The noise of the shots alarmed the people in the house and for a time the greatest excitement prevailed. The wounded man was carried to his own room and doctors were summoned. They, however, could do nothing for him except to alleviate his pain, and at 11 o'clock this morning he died.

Mr. Deacon was at once placed under arrest, but it is the general opinion among the American residents here that he did "just the right thing."

Belonged to Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—But little is known here of Edward Parker Deacon, who shot his wife's paramour in Cannes, France, today. His father, Edward Deacon, was many years ago a wealthy citizen of Boston, and his grandfather was Commodore Deacon of the U.S. Navy.

FRENCH MINISTRY RESIGN.

President Carnot Has the Resignations of All His Confreres.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—All the members of the French Ministry have handed their resignations to President Carnot.

The cause of the resignation of the ministry was the action of the Chamber of Deputies in connection with the bill dealing with associations. This afternoon M. Hubbard demanded urgency for the bill as a reply to the attitude of the French bishops. M. De Cassagnac described the bill as an iniquitous measure.

Premier De Freycinet denied that the measure was intended as an act of persecution of the church or that it need be regarded as a precursor of the separation of church and state. He warmly commended the conciliatory spirit of the Pope, who, he said, often gave evidence of sympathetic sentiments toward France. He continued, "We will doubtless be called upon some day to treat with the Vatican on the religious question. A portion of the clergy may possibly refuse to enter upon the path pointed out to them, but universal suffrage will judge between the two policies."

In conclusion M. DeFreycinet gave his assent to the demand for urgency, though he said that he would not give the measure the significance that M. Hubbard desired.

An excited discussion ensued on M. Hubbard's motion. Finally M. De Freycinet again arose and demanded that an order of the day be moved indicating the views of the chamber on the subject.

In accordance with Premier's demand M. Boisserin moved that the Government be required to continue its republican policy.

M. De Freycinet accepted the motion and intimated that he considered it a Cabinet question.

The vote of the chamber being taken, M. Boisserin's motion was rejected by 304 to 202.

The ministers recognizing their defeat immediately left the House in a body.

The chamber then rejected the urgency motion by a vote of 286 to 246.

The crisis which was completely unforseen when the Chamber met was brought about by a coalition of Radicals and members of the Right. The division revealed a Radical strength of 191 votes, which will not suffice to constitute a government majority. Hence it is agreed on all sides that the formation of a new ministry will be a most difficult task.

Horrible Story from Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—A horrible story of a private crematory comes to light in St. Cunegonde, a suburb of Montreal. A spike-maker named Adolphe Lawse recently lost three children and burned their bodies in a cooking stove to save funeral expenses.

The magistrates have been applied to, but they hold that he acted within his rights.

Rev. Father Seguin was notified and he called upon the man. Lawse said he had lived both in France and cities in the United States. In both places he had heard of dead people being burned in big ovens. Such being the case, he thought he was justified in so burning his own young child after its death in his own cooking stove. He also held the opinion that he had a perfect right to bury his children in his back yard or in his cellar, which he also appears to have done. He contended that he had known such things to have been done by people whom he was personally acquainted with in Paris.

Death Followed Tooth Extraction.

QUEBEC, Feb. 19. — A woman named Giroux died suddenly here lately of heart disease, accelerated by her having a tooth pulled.

BANGOR, Me., Feb. 18.—Vesta M. Mardro, aged 15 of Newburg, had a tooth extracted on Monday. The bleeding could not be stopped and she died this morning.

He Took Laudanum.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—About 6 o'clock last evening P. C. Bell saw a man acting in a rather peculiar manner in the Esplanade and in order to remove him from harm's way had him conveyed to Headquarters. Here he gave his name as John Henderson. On his person was found a ticket from Parkdale to Belleville and a bottle of laudanum, a small portion of which had been consumed. He was taken to the hospital and may recover.

Death of Inspector Griffin.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Mr. Gilbert Elliott Griffin died yesterday in Rosedale from an attack of typhoid fever. The deceased, who was in his 72nd year, was postoffice inspector of the London district for over 40 years. He was afterward removed to Kingston in a similar capacity. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. The interment will take place at Kingston

Well-Known Captain Dead.

ORILLIA, Feb. 19.—Captain Archie Kerr died to-day of pneumonia. For 40 years he sailed on the lakes and was well known in every port from Kingston to Midland.

Mayor Sleeman.

GUELPH, Feb. 19.—The Mayor's chair being made vacant by the death of the late mayor, Thomas Goldie, Mr. George Sleeman was elected mayor this morning by acclamation.

The Victim May Recover.

ORILLIA, Feb. 19.—Ab. Tudhope, the victim of the shooting yesterday, is still alive and the hope of his recovery grows every hour. Hood was brought before the mayor to day and remanded, pending the result of Tadhope's struggle for life.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE BUDGET SPEECH DELIVERED YESTERDAY.

Mr. Harcourt Makes a Very Creditable Showing from His Point of View, While Mr. Clancy Criticizes the Figures—The Debate Still in Progress.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—The presentation of the state of the provincial finances by Treasurer Harcourt yesterday afternoon was done in a very interesting manner. The Treasurer not only succeeded in exhibiting a very roseate view of the provincial finances, but managed to clothe the dry skeleton of the figures with a garment of rhetorical ornamentation that did credit to his skill in that direction. Mr. Clancy appeared in the role of the Opposition critic and performed his vicarious task in a fairly satisfactory manner. The following are the important passages in Mr. Harcourt's speech.

I will first speak very briefly of our receipts. We estimated to receive during the year from ordinary sources $3,298,822. We actually received $3,327,570, so that we have an excess of receipts over our estimate to the amount of $28,248.

The subsidy, of course, remains the same. It represents 80 cents per head of our population according to the census of 1861. According to our present population it represents only 57 cents per head. If we were to receive 80 cents, based on the last census, our subsidy would be increased by about $375,000 a year. An increase of population adds to our expenditure, to our cost of government, while on the contrary it brings, because of the increased consumption of dutiable goods, additional revenue to the Federal Treasury. Our receipts from Crown lands exceed our estimate by the considerable sum of $59,682.

Since 1872, the year when our honored leader became Premier, the gross receipts from the Crown Lands Department have amounted to $17,253,250, or an average for the 20 years, including 1891, of $862,662 per year.

Let us now notice to what uses this large sum has been devoted. During the same period, that is from 1872 to 1891, we have spent on

Public buildings	$ 5,096,208
Railways	6,655,478
Public works	2,334,811
And on colonization roads	2,146,792
Making in all	$15,233,274

We have therefore invested during the period of 20 years in public buildings, railways, public works and colonization roads $3,016,231 more than the amount we have received from the Crown Lands Department from sales of lands and timber.

A word of explanation may be permitted as to the item of receipts, appearing under the head of "Annuities." Last year, having several very large, exceptional expenditures to provide for, in order to meet the railway certificates falling due we issued annuities to the amount of $14,000 per annum.

The amount realized by their sale, as appears by the schedule of receipts, was $269,000, that is to say, we received $1,921.43 for every $100 of annuity. The purchaser realizes on his investment interest at the rate of a little less than 4¼ per cent. per annum.

We have, I am delighted to say, arrived at the time when our railway aid expenditures will rapidly become noticeably less. This year our payment will be $141,318 as against the payment last year of $252,179, or a saving of more than $110,000 in a single year. At the end of five years the payment will be again reduced by a large amount, while for the next five years there will be annual reductions most welcome to our ratepayers.

Last year we made payments in aid to 20 railways; this year the list is reduced to 14. In 1896 there will be only eight, while in 1904, only 12 years from now, the solitary survivors of this long and honored list of provincial pensions will be the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western Railway and the Parry Sound Colonization Railway.

Further, these early obligations are, be it remembered, as far as we are concerned, the post obits of the first Parliament of Ontario, handed down by it for its successors to discharge.

The last item of our receipts, to which I will refer, namely $500,000, received from the Dominion Government calls for some special remark. Our expenditure for the year included, as I have said, some very large items, special and exceptional in their character. We paid, for example, $100,000 to Toronto University, being part of the $160,000 unanimously voted to it by the House to assist in restoring the building, which was partially destroyed by fire. We also paid $47,115 to the municipalities on account of the land improvement fund and $32,750 to county houses of refuge. We loaned $63,000 to different municipalities on drainage debentures.

Our receipts for the year from liquor license fees amounted to $296,184. Our estimate was $300,000. The number of licenses issued during the last license year was 21 less than that issued during the previous year, and in all probability there will be a somewhat greater reduction during the current year. The province took to itself control of liquor licenses in 1876. Since that date it has received as net revenue from licenses $2,630,515, or $164,407 per year. It has paid to the municipalities during the same period $3,695,928, or $230,870 per year. The municipalities have therefore during the last 16 years received on an average $76,443 more per year than the province from this source.

Mr. Clancy: But you took more from the municipalities.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt: I am speaking of the fact as it is found—of the record as I find it. The temperance people, I would say to my friend, have time and again expressed their belief that it would be better for all concerned if the municipalities got nothing from licenses. [Applause.]

In answer to some press criticisms arising out of complaints made by a few municipalities as to their share of the license fees, I last year pointed out that the municipal revenue from licenses had during recent years been steadily increasing; also that their percentage of increase had been more than double that of the province.

Without question, in our larger cities, licenses have become much more valuable to the holders year by year, and it may be that the time has now come when we should consider the propriety of raising the fee and thereby increasing our revenue.

If the liquor traffic is only one-half as responsible for the serious cost incident to the administration of justice as some allege it to be, then these license duties which we are discussing might be measurably increased.

I will now, sir, briefly comment on the expenditures of 1891. The Legislature voted for the year's supply $3,622,427. Our ordinary expenditure under the Supply Bill was $3,429,731, so that of the money voted to us for the year there remains unexpended $193,696.

We have, therefore, kept within the grants wherever possible, and have in no instance abused the liberality of the Legislature.

We spent last year on the construction of new Parliament buildings $208,348, the largest sum spent any single year for that service, although thus far we have spent on these buildings $802,297.

Certain lands were set apart to form the Parliament Building Construction Fund. The lands so set apart were, (1) the site we now occupy, containing more than 9¾ acres, having a frontage of 954 feet in Front street, and a like frontage in Wellington-street; and (2) a block of 80 acres, extending to the westerly limits of the city and lying north of the Grand Trunk Railway, reserving, however, the six acres used by the Mercer Reformatory. Now, what have we sold? In 1886 and 1887 we placed upon the market, selling it by tender after careful advertisement, parts of this block of 80 acres. We sold 52 acres of it at prices then contidered very satisfactory, realising $167,105.

These two properties, worth $450,000 and $75,000, must be placed to our credit by anyone who would fairly pronounce upon our financial operations for the last five years.

If, then, we have diminished our cash surplus to the extent of $500,000, we have in its place unquestionably a full equivalent in these two properties. We have voted for the construction of the new buildings $1,360,000. I am in a position to be able confidently to say that the total cost of the building will be less than the amount we have voted, the expenditure on education as a growing expenditure. The same remark applies to other expenditures. Take for example that on hospitals and charities.

In 1882 we spent on hospitals and charities $78,095 and in 1891 $167,742. We have more than doubled the expenditure in a single decade. No one proposes to reduce the grants.

Another growing expenditure is that in connection with our asylums. We have good reason to be proud of our care of the insane. We have spent, and are now spending, large sums in the erection of cottages specially designed and in every way suitable for asylum needs.

The increasing number of the insane compels us to make immediate provision for still further accommodation.

We have provided in the new cottages at Orillia and Mimico beds for 950.

In leaving this branch of my subject I will remind the House that these increased grants to education, hospitals and asylums, public institutions and agriculture are substantially grants to the municipalities in relief of their local taxation.

At the commencement of the year we had at our credit in the banks $44,792. We received from all sources during the year $4,140,089. Our total expenditure was $4,165,003, and at the end of the year we had on hand in the banks $19,878. When it is remembered that we expended $620,591 in public buildings alone, thus adding that large sum to our permanent capital investments, that we gave $100,000 to the university, that we spent $98,312 on colonization roads, that we loaned $62,887 to some municipalities for purposes of drainage, and advanced $47,111 to other municipalities on account of Land Improvement Fund, that $311,000 went for railway aid, that our receipts exceeded our estimate and that we expended less than the House authorized us to expend, it will be admitted that the general result is exceedingly satisfactory.

A word as to the assets of the province. These are so well known and have been the subject of such frequent debate that they require but little explanation. We still have the Dominion 5 per cent. bonds to the amount of $900,000. These mature in March, 1893. We have added during the year nearly $7000 to our drainage investments, which now aggregate $524,156. The trust funds, the nature and origin of which have been so often explained, remain unchanged in amount and the Common School Fund, the particulars of which we are all familiar with, is slightly increased because of the fact that it is this year divided on the basis of the recent census. The amount of the balance of unpaid subsidy and other credits, as appears in the schedule in our hands, viz., $1,590,519, remains as it was last year. All told these assets amount to $5,303,077. From this sum we deduct certain small balances due to the municipalities on account of the Land Improvement Fund, as also Quebec's share of our collections on account of common school lands for two years past, in all $17,560. We had in hand bank balances to the amount of $19,878, so that our surplus at the end of the year, after deducting all liabilities now payable, amounted to $5,285,515.

The reality of this surplus can be no longer seriously questioned. It was at one time contended that, while we could expect to receive interest from these trust funds, we could never get possession of them or control them.

They have always yielded a rich return by way of interest, and there was no good reason why we should ask to have them handed over to us. And yet the suggestion came from the Finance Minister at Ottawa two years ago that the requisite legislation should be had in order that the Dominion might hand them, or an important part of them, over to us, so that this contention can no longer be maintained.

A few weeks ago, acting for once, at least, on his suggestion, we asked for and promptly received a check for $500,000 of it.

If we look about us a glance at the finances of the sister provinces will give us additional cause for thankfulness that we have persistently adhered to a policy of rigid economy. The Treasurer of more than one of these provinces each year laments his inability to see a way of escape from the "gloomy grove of annual deficits." The large and constantly-increasing debt of Quebec is, from an Ontario point of view, alarming, and all parties there seem to take it for granted that sooner or later the Federal Government must come to the rescue. Prince Edward Island has drawn upon capital account and is still behind. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have incurred large debts, and they are once more agitating for better terms. Nova Scotia urgently asks the Dominion to relieve her of liabilities to the amount of a million and a half of dollars. New Brunswick, with a population of only 321,294, had at the close of last year a bonded debt of $2,342,000. And where, sir, we may well ask is this to end? With an aggregate population of only 880,905, or two-fifths that of Ontario alone, maintain separate Legislatures, each of them having a second chamber, and that because of this the administrative work is trebled and the expenditures on education, administration of justice and public works is very much larger than would otherwise be necessary. At the same time, we may well, nay we must insist, that any settlement of these difficulties, as concerns the future, I do not speak of existing obligations, whether by means of increased annual grants to each of the provinces, having strict regard to population, or otherwise should be a comprehensive settlement arrived at after a careful study of the whole situation, altered as it is in so many regards since Confederation, that it should be an absolutely final settlement, made so by Imperial enactment, that not another dollar of the Federal Treasury should thereafter be spent in "special grants" or "better terms," and that it should be in all regards fair, we ask no more, to our own provinces. If we cannot get an exact measure of justice, we must accept that settlement which will most nearly approach to it.

Every province save our own has profited by this departure from safe and sound principles, and each occasion of profit to them means corresponding loss to us.

What is wanted now is to get back to first principles, and firmly to take the position to which when Confederation was brought about all parties were pledged. Those who guided public opinion at that time stated confidently that in their scheme they had provided the necessary safeguards. Has time fulfilled their promises? The difficulties then predicted, as well as others unforeseen, have confronted us, and the promised safeguards have proved shadowy and unreal.

Had the wise policy outlined at Confederation been rigidly adhered to the finances of the provinces and of the Dominion as well would now be in a far more satisfactory condition.

Our estimate for the year's expenditure is $3,472,237, a decrease as compared with last year's estimated expenditure of about $20,000. It will be found to be a very liberal estimate.

The most noticeable feature in the estimated expenditure is that connected with the proposed addition to our asylum accommodation. We intend to ask the House to grant an appropriation for the erection of an asylum at or near Brockville. The Provincial Secretary will at an early day fully justify our proposed action in this direction.

Mr. Harcourt concluded with an eloquent peroration, in which he paid a high tribute to Mr. Mowat.

Mr. Clancy is Critic.

When the Treasurer took his seat Mr. Clancy, from the front row of the Opposition benches, rose. He began by expressing his regret that the infirm health of Mr. H. E. Clarke, one of the members for Toronto, on whom the duty of criticising the budget speech usually fell, would prevent his doing so on that occasion. Mr. Clancy opened his observations by a picture of the state of the province when the Reform Administration came to power. The province had a cash surplus of $4,000,000 and not a cent of debt. It had now held power for 20 years, and what a change had come! Instead of a surplus of $4,000,000 the treasury was empty. Instead of being able to meet the annual obligations we were compelled to go to the money markets of the world. Then the various municipalities received a large part of the revenues which were their due, revenues which were now seized by the province. The license fund in those days was an important part of the municipal revenue, now on the shallow pretence that it was working in the interest of temperance the Province had set a gang of officials over the municipalities and seized the lion's share of the revenues. Even as late as 1881 the province's share of the receipts of liquor licenses was a small fraction, now it amounted to more than one-half. Not that alone but of that class of expenses which intemperance was said to be largely instrumental in creating, such as jails, lockups, police courts, and police force, the municipalities bore the whole burden.

He thought it would be rather difficult to demonstrate that it was in the interest of temperance that the province should seize the lion's share of these returns from the issue of licenses. The retort had been made that if the municipalities desired to increase their revenue from the liquor traffic they had it in their power to increase the license fee. Well, there was not much inducement to increase the fee when the Province seized the greater part of it. The municipalities refused to burden their people with taxes that went to the province, and over the administration of which they had no control. If there was any virtue in increasing the license fee, therefore, it would be some time before its virtues would be put to the test under the present system. The normal revenues of the province were every year exceeded by hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the deficit was drawn from the capital of the province. The public accounts for last year showed that the timber wealth of the province had been drawn on to the extent of $1,146,036 and the Provincial capital to the extent of $500,000 to meet the extravagant expenditures of the Government. The task of administering the finances under the system pursued by the gentlemen opposite was very easy. The Treasurer did not require to make any fine estimates, because at a pinch he could always call upon his friend, the Minister of Crown Lands, to come to his aid with another slice of timber limits.

They could not afford to express much sympathy with their sister provinces, as our own province, it was very evident, could not meet its obligations without having recourse to the federal strong-box. Mr. Clancy went on to show that the redemption of the railway certificates was not met out of the consolidated fund. The success of the Dominion was wrapped up in the success of the provinces. It was not an encouraging sign, therefore, to see a demand being made on the Dominion Government by Mercier, in whose ranks the Attorney-General was a full private. He (Mr. Clancy) however hoped and believed that the hon. gentleman had reached a stage when he was ashamed of the part he had taken in that projected raid. The speaker went over the various important items that were not in the estimates, but which would have to be met, and figured that the deficit next year would be $800,000. Where was this sum to be obtained? By another draft on capital in the shape of timber limits or provincial capital in the hands of the Dominion Government. The surplus spoken of by the Treasurer was fictitious. The capital they were now drawing on they did not create, but they would undoubtedly dissipate it.

Burglarized the House.

MILTON, Feb. 20.—John Erwin has been in charge of the residence of the late Judge Miller ever since Mrs. Miller went to Toronto, and has visited it daily to see that all was right. On going there Thursday he found that someone had broken into the house, taken out a breech-loading shotgun and a number of small articles.

An Actor Injured.

GALT, Feb. 20.—Sidney Leslie, an actor recently connected with the Rosina Vokes company, alighted from a C.P.R. train in search of a friend. While walking along Ainslie-street he slipped and fell, receiving an injury to his spine, which paralyzed his lower limbs. He is now in the hospital, but not out of danger.

The Question of License Reduction.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The action of the town council last Monday night on the liquor license question demonstrates the fact that the liquor interest—and the worst element of it at that—rules the town.

No reason was given or suggested by those opposing the reduction, why Peterborough should, as now, issue about three times as many licenses, in proportion to population, as Toronto, and more than Hamilton, Ottawa, Guelph, Brockville, Berlin, Woodstock, etc., etc.

Of the nine councillors, Messrs. Cahill, Best, Winch, Kelly, Bradburn, Young, Dawson, Ferguson and Dennistoun, who, out of a council of eleven, opposed the reduction, not one ventured to justify his position on the ground of public policy.

How they reconcile their action with their oath of office: to "truly, faithfully, and impartially, to the best of their knowlege and ability, execute the office of councillor, etc.," it would be interesting to know, and I challenge them to show that in voting as they did they were acting in the public interest. Indeed, Messrs. Dennistoun and Young the only two who had the courage to give reasons for their vote publicly avowed their intention of voting in the liquor interest, Mr. Dennistoun giving as his reason, the injury it would be to those who lost their license by the reduction, and Mr. Young giving as his the expense it would entail upon the liquor grocers if they had to rent and fit out separate premises for their liquor business. In either case the private interests of the individual are of more importance in the mind of the speakers than the public good.

But is it in the interest of liquor dealers that so many licenses should be issued? Hotel men tell me that they dislike breaking the law, but are forced into it by the struggle and competition between themselves. Would there not be less struggle and competition, a better and more lawabiding class of hotels—would not the hotel men themselves be better off—if the business were distributed between 15 or 16 hotels instead of 22?

There are hotel men in this town who kept the law last year and there are others who as deliberately defied it. Is it fair to the former that the latter should be put in competition with them? Is it to the interest of the law-keeping men, that licenses should be issued to law breakers? or do the council represent the law breaking section of the liquor dealers only? Councillors are very fond of taking refuge behind the plea that they are not responsible for who gets the licenses, but they are responsible to the extent of the influence they can exercise. There are only 22 hotels in town and if the council, knowing that the proprietors of some half dozen of these violated the law, some of them repeatedly, again authorize the issue of 22 licenses, are they not responsible?

Had the council reduced the number of licenses by the number of license holders who were last year convicted of breaches of the License Act, and passed a resolution asking the commissioners to withhold licenses from such persons, then they might have claimed freedom from responsibility and would have done honest hotelmen and the general public a material service.

Let them still pass such a resolution and rid themselves of the imputation which their actions naturally cast upon them.

Yours truly,
G. M. ROGER.

The Provincial Estimates.

The same regard for economy which marked the Provincial expenditure in 1891 appears to have governed the preparation of the estimates for 1892. A little more will be spent on the ordinary services this year than last, but a good deal less is set apart for capital account, the result being that the total outgo, if the estimated is realized, will be over half a million less than in 1891.

For expenses connected with popular education an increase of $10,000 is provided for; in the cost of maintaining public institutions an addition of $14,000 is expected; immigration goes up by a little over $3,000; in the agricultural department an additional $14,000 is asked, of which $8,700 is for the extra assistance promised the local agricultural societies; and for hospitals and charities, provision is made for $17,000 over and above the expenditure of the year gone by.

These figures all indicate careful pruning, and show that there is little to be gained by the Opposition in criticising the financial record of the Government. Some other ground of attack will have to be found if success is to be hoped for.—Toronto (Tory) News.

WOMEN'S WORK FOR WOMEN

New Young Women's Christian Association Hall.

General Description of the New Rooms — Origin of the Organization — A Most Successful Opening Last Night.

A large company of ladies assembled in the Young Women's Christian Association Hall last evening to take part in the opening proceedings. The gentlemen were conspicuous by their absence. The evening's events opened by the singing of the doxology, after which the chairman, Rev. A. McWilliams, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, led in prayer. Mr. McWilliams in his opening address expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present on such auspicious occasion. He facetiously remarked that if such associations had existed in his day, he and the Rev. Mr. Torrance would not now be single-handed. The opening of such an association meant simply setting it apart for instruction in household duties and the teaching of God's word and religious truths. It was his sincere wish that many through its influence would be led into the fold. He understood that a gentleman had kindly offered to furnish one of the electric lights if the Association would defray the expenses of the others. He again wished the new organization all success and prosperity.

Mrs. Hunter sang in fine voice and method a solo entitled "Hannah's at the window binding shoes," Mrs. R. E. Wood, accompanist.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present and said with the workings of the association. He presumed the work of the Y.W.C.A was along the very same line as the Y.M.C.A. He spoke of the many benefits and advantages of the Young Men's Association and he had no doubt that the same beneficial results would attend the present Association. It brought together women of all denominations, recognizing in all that Christ was their common master. Young women were subjected to as many temptations as young men, and he implored the richest blessing of heaven upon the Association and its work.

HE WAS HEARTILY IN SYMPATHY

Rev. Mr. McWilliams stated that shorthand, cooking and other subjects would be taken up. The lines would be exactly the same as the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Vair then sang a solo very effectively and was followed by a quartette contributed by Misses Crane and Cameron, Messrs. Nelson and Crane—"Row, Boatman, Row," Miss Annie Cameron, accompanist. Their rendition was loudly applauded.

Rev. Jas. Thom, pastor of Mark St. Methodist church said, one object of the association was the raising up of down fallen women mentally, morally and socially. We often meet ingratitude where it should not come, and another object of the association was to create some mutual understanding between all classes of womankind. He hoped the motives of the associations would not be impugned and that He who giveth all good and perfect gifts would greatly prosper and bless the association and that all might receive much benefit from it.

A few minutes recess intervened, after which Miss Sophie Cameron sang a rare old Scotch song.

Miss Owens and Miss Hagerman also rendered vocal solos which were well received.

"God be with you till we meet again" was sung after which the Rev. Mr. Thom pronounced the benediction, bringing to a close a most successful evening's enjoyment and inauguration of active work.

For some time the organization of a Young Women's Christian Association in Peterborough has been under serious consideration by a large number of ladies. The need of such an organization in our midst has been felt, and it was in December last that the scheme was first mooted. Several ladies who had the work thoroughly at heart, brought to the town Mrs. Hervie, of Toronto, who delivered interesting and instructive addresses in the Murray street Baptist church upon the aims and objects of such an organization and its work. The interest in the work deepened and more became interested. In January an association was formed, and the following efficient officers elected:—

PRESIDENT.—Mrs. J. R. Fairbairn.

FIRST VICE PRESIDENT.—Mrs. (Rev.) Thom.

SECOND VICE PRESIDENT—Mrs. Pearse.

TREASURER—Mrs. R. W. Bell.

SECRETARY—Mrs. J. McKee.

A suitable location for rooms was looked for and the officers selected a fine suite of apartments on the second story of Mr. H. Long's block over Simons & Co's. tailoring establishment and OPPOSITE THE EXAMINER OFFICE.

The necessary painting, papering and renovating have been busily going on for the past few weeks until the whole work has been successfully completed. The entrance to the rooms is made by a flight of stairs between Mr. Long's and Simons & Co's. shops. The stairs have been covered with carpeting, and the walls of the hall newly painted and papered. To the left is a large room, extending the whole depth of the block, and about twenty feet in width. The walls and ceiling have been elegantly papered, and the wood work nicely painted a warm, home-like brown. New flooring has been laid in the room. There are two large windows to the front and rear respectively, which give plenty of light. These are tastefully curtained. The room is divided into three apartments, each separated by pairs of oriental curtains strung across the room on poles. When the curtains are drawn the whole is converted into one large, airy and cheerful room. The front apartment is to be used as a parlour. This floor is covered with tapestry carpet while the walls are decked with numerous pictures and paintings. A fine upright piano is placed in one corner, presented to the association by the young women's W.C.T.U. on the former assuming the latter's liabilities.

The middle room the one in which the visitor enters first is to be utilized as a reading room. Here all will be place on fyle, together with all the popular magazines, journals and periodicals of the present day. The rear room will be known as the cloak room. Here Miss Code's Bible class will meet every week and also all classes which may subsequently be organized. Attached to this room is the "kitchen," which will be used to good advantage on such occasions as re unions, at homes, tea meetings and other gatherings of a social nature. The merchants of the town have contributed many useful and fancy articles for which the ladies of the Association desire to tender their sincere thanks. The rates of membership has been placed at the nominal fee of fifty cents a year. The sustaining membership fee is two dollars per year. At the urgent request of a large number of gentlemen, the stronger sex have, by the consent of the Association's officers, the privilege of becoming honorary members by paying one dollar a year. The association is strictly undenominational and non-sectarian in its character and management, all classes and ranks being made welcome. Until the purse of the newly formed association is plethoric enough to satisfy the demands of a general secretary, the rooms will be in charge of individual members of the organization. Several have kindly volunteered their services gratuitously to aid further the association, its work, character and influence.

NOTES.

Miss Code's Bible class will meet every Tuesday evening until further notice.

The rooms of the association will be opened to the public next week.

The rooms are lighted throughout with electric light.

The walls are gaily and artistically decorated with brackets, and opposite the entrance is strung a large red banner with the word "Welcome" applied in large white letters.

Ramming With an Iron Ram.

It is a tremendous moment on board a ram when the officer gives the word of command to prepare for ramming. Each man flings himself flat on his stomach, his elbows squared, his face buried in his hands, his head towards the ram. It is a moment of fearful tension. The great iron-clad has been signalled to go at full speed, and as the immense pressure is forced upon her, she vibrates like a thing of life, darting forward by giant leaps. Every man is at his post. Every muscle is braced, and brave hearts beat chokingly for the few seconds that elapse between the order to ram and the awful crash—to many the crash of doom.—Once a Week.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to R.S.O., 1887, Chapter 110, that all parties having claims against the estate of the said JOHN STIRLING, who died on or about the 19th day of January, 1892, are hereby required to deliver, or send by post, to Messrs. Stratton & Hall, of the Town of Peterborough, Solicitors for Eliza Francisia Stirling, Executrix of the last will and testament of said deceased, on or before the 8th day of March, A.D., 1892, their Christian and Surnames, addresses, description and full particulars of their claims and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them; and that after the said 8th day of March the said executors will proceed to distribute the estate of the said deceased among those entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice, and that they will not be liable for the estate of said deceased, or any part thereof, to any person of whose claim they shall not have received notice at said date.

STRATTON & HALL,
Solicitors for said Executrix.

Dated this 8th February, 1892.

Sufferers

FROM Stomach and Liver derangements—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick-Headache, and Constipation—find a safe and certain relief in Ayer's Pills. In all cases where a cathartic is needed, these Pills are recommended by leading physicians.

Dr. T. E. Hastings, of Baltimore, says: "Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic and aperient within the reach of my profession."

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oceana, W. Va., writes: "I have prescribed Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. I urge their general use in families."

"For a number of years I was afflicted with biliousness which almost destroyed my health. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills."—G. S. Wanderlich, Scranton, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since."—T. P. Brown, Chester, Pa.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these Pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"Ayer's Pills have been used in my family upwards of twenty years, and have completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afforded me greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—Thomas F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

Be Careful and Watchful!

Fast living, excesses and intemperance are productive of exhaustion, nervousness, sleeplessness, morbidness and paralysis. Thousands die yearly from these terrible diseases. If you feel any of these evils coming on, use Paine's Celery Compound.

We notice that Adam Hall is selling best Canadian oil at 10 cents per imperial gallon. This is exceedingly low and we are assured that it is a superior quality, being safer, purer and higher fire test than any other in the market. Customers should take advantage of this and have their cans filled early and often.

Teachers' Association.

The Teachers' Association of the town of Peterborough will hold its next meeting in the assembly room of the Collegiate Institute on Saturday morning, Feb. 27. Interesting papers will be read. A cordial invitation is extended to members of the profession generally, in Peterborough and Ashburnham.

The room in which a number of friends pass the evening smoking either cigars or inferior tobacco will have an unpleasant odor next morning. Let the same friends smoke only "Myrtle Navy" and they will find quite a difference in the room next morning. If it is reasonably ventilated, as with a fire place for instance, no unpleasantness whatever will be found. The purity and fine quality of the leaf used is the reason of this. w8

Petitions From the Physicians.

Mr. Stratton presented to the Ontario Legislature on Friday, a petition from the medical practitioners of Peterborough, praying for the repeal of clause 27 of the Ontario Medical Act, which permits the council to collect an annual fee from practising physicians, and in default of payment to deprive them of the power of practising, as well as imposing other penalties.

Bankrupt Stock of Harness &c.

Having purchased the bankrupt stock of harness and saddlery of the estate of Wm. Medcalf, Hunter street, I am prepared to offer the whole stock for sale at unusual reductions on original prices at my store, sign of the big horse, George street. This is a splendid opportunity for farmers and all horse owners to secure bargains in everything in the harness line. Special reductions will also be made during the next month on all regular lines in stock, to make room for spring arrivals.

Heavy Shipment of High Class Horse Flesh.

Lowlands Stock Farm Sends 16 Clydesdales, Stallions and Mares to Dakota —A Splendid Car Load of Horse Flesh —Lowlands Stock Farm. Present and Future.

Dundas & Grandy, proprietors of the Lowlands Stock Farm, which is beautifully situated near Springville, are gaining a reputation of more than local or provincial character, and every every year they are meeting with greater success, and every year adding to their facilities for catering to the wants of the farmers among whom their heavy stock is becoming increasingly popular. Lowland's stock farm has become an established institution of which not only this district but also Ontario may be proud. Encouraged by past success Messrs. Dundas & Grandy intend pushing their business with more energy, if possible than ever. No effort will be spared to keep their splendid stud of heavy horses up to the mark and large fresh importations from time to time take the place of the stock, sold to appreciative horse fanciers—as for instance the large number of sixteen which left their stables yesterday, and were shipped last night.

The purchase comprised the celebrated thoroughbred imported Clydesdale stallion General Arthur (6780) and Mr. Hugh Clarke Ayres, of Hunter, Dakota, is the lucky purchaser. General Arthur is a full brother of the famous Scotch Clydesdale, General Neil, the foremost horse of his class in Scotland. General Arthur is a splendid horse of his class, with practically perfect points, and solid as a mountain. He weighs 1980 lbs. in winter condition. But General Arthur's great merit, aside from his perfect form, is his stock-getting qualities. During the last years' show season his colts won fifteen first-class prizes, six second-class prizes, and one third prize in competition with the best heavy horses the Province can produce.

In this shipment was the thoroughbred imported three-year-old stallion, "Argentine," Vol. 13, Scotch Clydesdale register, a noble animal purchased by Mr. Robert Grandy, of Bathgate, Dakota, also fourteen imported high grade crosses with imported stallions. In this list is found the magnificent yearling filly, "Lowland Peggy" (1770), pronounced by competent judges to be the best Canadian bred filly in Canada. Peggy turns the scale at 1,300 pounds. There are in the lot seven imported mares, "Jessie Ray" (654); "Royal Nellie, (Scotch Register); "Forest Queen" (657); "Bishopton Maid" (Scotch Register); "Lothian Gem," (Scotch Register), and "Mary of Frazerville," (1768); "Lowland Peggy," (1770); "Lady Erskine," (Scotch Register); and "Lady Lynn," (Scotch Register.)

Police Court.

SATURDAY, Feb. 20th.

Fred Baker was brought before the magistrate this morning charged with the larceny of a seal and otter cap belonging to Arthur Strickland, from the Snowden House on the 27th ult. The prisoner elected to be tried summarily and pleaded guilty. The magistrate remanded him a week for sentence in order to make further inquiries into the case. Baker, who claims to have been drunk when the felony was committed, skipped the town. He was arrested on Thursday by Chief Wm. Rankins of Cobourg. He was working in Hamilton Township for a farmer named Wm. Ferguson. Chief Rossel brought the prisoner to town yesterday, from Cobourg.

Fred A. Wood, of Norwood, was arrested yesterday afternoon, by officer McGinty, charged with furious driving up and down George street. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and costs ($6.50 in all), in default, ten days in gaol. Wood came to town yesterday with one of Ferguson's livery rigs from Norwood. He brought another horse along for Mr. Otto Brennan. When arrested the shaft of the cutter was broken, and the prisoner was under the influence of liquor.

Personal.

Miss B. McNamara left town this morning to visit friends in Orillia.

Mr. John Hall, brother of Mrs. John Walton, is seriously ill.

Mrs. J. H. Ames, of Toronto, is in town visiting with her sister, Mrs. A. L. Davis.

At the A.O.U.W. Grand Lodge Mr. Jos. McClelland, Peterborough, was appointed D.D.G.M. for the Durham district.

The many friends of Mrs. John Walton, town, will be glad to hear that her condition to-day shows marked improvement, and there are better hopes for her recovery.

Mrs. R. Anderson, Water street, has been confined to her bed since last Sunday with a severe attack of la grippe. She is a little better to-day which her many friends will be glad to hear.

Miss Henry, Sherbrooke street, returned home last night after a five months visit in a warmer climate west of Chicago, for her health. Her friends will be glad to notice that she has received much benefit from her visit.

In another column appears the advertisement of Mr. F. Bartlett, architect, who has opened an office on Murray street, 141 Metheral's Terrace, and who will be pleased to receive an early call from parties intending to build next summer.

Purity of the blood is of the first importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditied and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. Your nothing is more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the Blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

Why Buy Cheap Tea?

A good cup of tea whether green or black, is one of the most refreshing beverages known, but the idea of people putting into their stomachs the trash sold as tea at six or seven pounds for a dollar is simply beyond understanding; far better leave it alone. Kirk, Ashburnham, Ontario telephone, No. 6, Bell Telephone, No. 312.

Double Trouble.

Yesterday a lumberman and a land surveyor left town for the north for the survey of some timber lands. About three miles from Lakefield they struck a tremendous pitch hole, and in the sudden strain of the horse to draw the cutter out of the depths, the cross bar broke, and the horse jerking the lines out of the heavily gloved hands of the driver, got clear and galloped on to Lakefield, leaving the vehicle and its occupants in a hole—literally. The two men dismounted, and the lumberman got into the shafts, while his trigonometrical partner in distress, pushed sturdily from behind. When near Lakefield they met a good Samaritan returning with their horse, and their resentment at his desertion was swallowed up in joy at his recovery, for they were dropping with fatigue and bathed with perspiration under their big fur coats and their unwonted exertion. When they reached Lakefield a new contretemps confronted them—the surveyor had left his instruments at home and the two had to wait in Lakefield till the necessary instruments were forwarded from Peterborough.

The Telephone Companies.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed in the Toronto Empire that the Bell Telephone Company had made application to the council of the city of Hamilton for the exclusive right to supply the telephone service required for that city for ten years, rental for instruments to be in dwellings $30, in places of business $45, and for such exclusive privileges they were prepared to pay over to the city annually $1,500

As a resident of Peterborough and interested in the success of any enterprise taken hold of by the business men of our town, I felt somewhat curious to know how the Ontario Telephone Company, a local telephone company established in Peterborough in the year 1891, was progressing, in view of the very low rates charged by this company, and to this end called upon one of the Directors with whom I conversed on the subject very freely. The substance of his remarks were simply as follows:—The Ontario Telephone Company was established under the conviction that the line could be built and an efficient service maintained and reasonable profits made, at just half the price Peterborough was then paying to the Bell Telephone Company, viz, that instead of paying $30.00 for single instruments the charge should be $15 00, and in cases where two were taken, instead of $25 00 a piece $12 50 each, and it was thought that, while at that time there was something less than two hundred subscribers to telephones in Peterborough, that at the proposed low rates there would be no difficulty in procuring three hundred subscribers, which is and has been the number of subscribers for some months back. At present the Peterborough Company is receiving a little over $4000 00 a year from rentals. For the same instruments the Bell Company would have charged over $8000 00, so that the citizens of Peterborough are now saving what is equivalent to a bonus of $4000 00 a year. So far as remuneration to the stock holders is concerned we have found after a years' experience that the company will pay a reasonable dividend at the rates charged by the Peterborough company, that during the past year a very considerable surplus has been accumulated, notwithstanding the fact that this is the first year of the company's operations, and that preliminary expenses were involved which will not necessarily occur again. It is anticipated that during the present fiscal year such arrangements will be made as will not only strengthen the company financially but materially increase its earning power. At any rate the company is largely mutual; there are a large number of stock holders and the amount of stock held by any one individual is for a comparatively small amount, so that it matters little to any individual shareholder whether a dividend is paid or whether the profit is held as a reserve, for as a matter of fact, nearly all stockholders are receiving a good dividend on account of the difference between the reduced rates charged by the Peterborough company as compared with the high rates of the Bell company. Then again the people of Peterborough have stood by the local company and every indication points to the fact that it is their intension to continue to do so, which is evidenced by the prompt manner in which the accounts are paid and by the large number of telephones which are subscribed.

Peterborough feels no anxiety for the future, for although the Bell Telephone Company have endeavored to swamp the local company by supplying free telephones for the past sixteen months, which they no doubt expected would have the effect of establishing their old rates, and probably higher, as was the case in Montreal, yet the number of subscribers to the local company has steadily increased so that at present the entire capacity of the switch board is reached and the goal aimed at has been gained, so that no matter what policy may be pursued by the opponents of the local company there is enough snap and loyalty in the citizens of our town to guarantee its future success.

Now, Mr. Editor, all I can say is that it seems strange that cities like Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton, would leave it to citizens of Peterborough to discover that the telephone service can be supplied at about one-third the price the Bell Telephone Company are charging in these places, which, however, is all in keeping with the enterprise and thrift of Peterborough citizens.

Yours truly,
JOHN BROWN,
Peterborough, Feb. 19th, 1892.

The sale takes place at the town council chamber at 3 o'clock, on Monday, the 22nd inst. 6d38-1w7

Here is a Pointer.

Mr. James J. Sheehy informs us that from this date until March 1st he will offer exceptionally good value in three or four lines of goods. White blankets will go at mill prices. Just a few pairs left and they MUST be sold. Boys' heavy ribbed knickerbocker hose also will be placed on the bargain table. These goods are made of the finest Saxony yarn and should sell at sight. Remnants of mantle cloth, just the thing for little girls' cloaks, will be cleared out regardless. A few pieces of hemp, wool and tapestry carpets, left after clearing sale, will also be sacrificed, and, finally, ten pieces of heavy all-wool dress goods, without doubt the best value in town at their original price—25c.—now selling at 15c. per yard.

Southward the Star of Progress Takes its Way.

New Business Enterprises in the South Ward.

Since the establishment of the Edison Company's works, there has been a lively building and business boom in the South Ward. Among the former the fine new block of Mr. Wm. VanEvery, next south of his handsome new residence, corner Dalhousie and Rubidge streets, gives shelter to three new and promising business enterprises. Mr. Thomas L. Williams has opened a grocery, bakery and confectionery, in one of the elegantly appointed shops, the corner one, and enters into the business with an energy that promises success. The shop is well stocked with a fresh supply of groceries, provisions, cakes and confectionery, sufficient in variety and extent to meet every demand. In the bake shop adjoining, Mr. Williams intends to conduct a first-class bakery. The shop is especially equipped to permit of his carrying out this intention. It is provided with a patent improved oven—the "Canada" oven. It is heated with coal, and is claimed to be the most perfect oven in town. Thus equipped, with Mr. Douglass Baptie, well known in town as the former conductor of the Vienna Bakery, Charlotte street, as baker, Mr. Williams will make a first class quality of bread. The oven has improved dampers for controlling the heat and economizing fuel. It is claimed that there is nothing to equal it this side of Toronto.

In the shop next north Mr. J. Jamieson carries on a butcher shop in all its branches, and between the two tenants of the new block the people of the vicinity will be well supplied with, at least, bread and meat. Both shops are fitted up with considerable taste, and Mr. VanEvery deserves credit for the fine appearing block that adorns the corner of Rubidge and Dalhousie streets, which out of compliment to the sturdy artizans, who largely compose the population of this part of the town, he has named the "Mechanic's Block," and this title will be blazoned on a large shield placed on the Dalhousie st. elevation of the building.

Temperance in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I do not believe in, and wish to avoid, newspaper controversy. I did not reply to Mr. Smith's contradiction of the "false charges" contained in my former letter, but out of respect to the request of "A Reader," I will just say that I never meant to state that temperance is not taught by any teacher in our schools, as I know it is by a few whose hearts are in the work. But I am a mother, with children attending the public school, and they have not been taught, and I leave the public to infer how thoroughly and systematically it must be taught when the Principal himself admits he does not teach it if he "considers his time more profitably employed" in teaching other subjects. He is not likely to require other teachers to waste their time on this subject, which can be "taught by practice in the home circle." If it were always so taught at home, we would not trouble our teachers, but as a matter of fact it is not.

As to the statement I made re "cramming in the entrance class for a week or two." I will withdraw that, as I have since been most positively informed by Mr. Smith's pupils that they received only one lesson, and that, on the last day of school. If that was not "for the sake of additional marks," will Mr. Smith kindly explain what it was for, and also why the class did not write on the subject after receiving one whole lesson on it. I may have been misinformed on some point, but am unable to see where I have made "false charges," or "originated a falsehood." As to threats, I made none, but simply showed what could be done under the law.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I would earnestly request all parents to take neither Mr. Smith's word nor mine, but to investigate for themselves. Thanking you sir, for this space

I am, yours truly,
A W. C. T. U. WOMAN.

High Court of Justice.

Collegiate Division—Important Trial—A Test Case—A Pomological Larceny Case Disposed of.

After the work of the day was concluded at the Collegiate Institute yesterday, a sitting of the High Court of Justice was held. Chief Justice Drope occupied the bench.

The first case called was that of the Queen vs. Kelly, larceny. The indictment charged Patrick Kelly with the larceny of apples from the grocery shop of Deacon Sandsugar, on the evening of January, 32nd. Mr. Harold Fife, Q.C., County Attorney looked after the Crown interests and Mr. T. Dodds, Q.C., ably defended the accused. Three witness for the Crown and three for the defence were examined. After eloquent speeches by the counsel and a dignified and impartial summing up by the judge the jury retired and after a few minutes absence, returned an unanimous verdict of "not guilty." The judge addressing the 12 year old prisoner, said he heartily concurred in the verdict and had much pleasure in discharging him without a stain on his character. The prisoner left the dock, and head in hand with his little sister who, all through the trial had stood with tear filled eyes, beside her brother, strengthening him with her presence and sympathy, left the court.

It is said that Mr. Kelly is in consultation with his solicitor with a view of bringing an action for false imprisonment against Chief of Police Tighe, who instituted the charges, laying damages at $19,000. The rumour that Constable Tighe has offered $7.13 to have case withdrawn, is not confirmed.

A Lady this Time!

Her Statements Create Surprise—She Thinks of the Past with Feelings of Horror.

Professor Johnston, in alluding to the custom of converting the human body into a frightful-looking mummy, or by attempting by various artificial processes to arrest its natural course of decomposition into kindred elements, remarks as beautifully as truly:—"Embalm the loved bodies and swathe them as the old Egyptians did in resinous cerements, and you but preserve them a little longer that some wretched, plundering Arab may desecrate and scatter to the winds the residual dust. Or jealously, in regal tombs and pyramids, preserve the forms of venerated emperors or beauteous queens; still some future conqueror, or more humble Bedouin, will rifle the most secure resting place."

Many intelligent and thoughtful men and women of our time are often shocked and pained to see the suffering bodies of near and dear friends filled, day after day and week after week, with nauseous and worthless drugs and remedies. These drugs and patent remedies are generally administered in good faith; but in every case there is a terrible depth of ignorance as to the results. The great majority of the Christian world—men and women—are slaves to the dictates of the medical profession. The medical word of command has gone forth as follows: "Swallow all that your physician prescribes and ask no questions." Strange to say, these imperative commands are most humbly obeyed, although no two physicians will prescribe alike for the same malady.

We have, therefore, two agencies constantly at work, vainly endeavouring to prolong human life with remedies in the form of liquids and pills—many of them highly poisonous and deleterious in their effects.

Our homes are constantly deluged with a class of poisoned literature bearing on the secret ills of both sexes, resulting from criminal and improper living. The literature with its arrows of terror, is the lever that is expected to sell—to move off the vile and trashy nostrums, which are as numerous in our country as flies around the putrid body of a dead animal in the heat of summer. This nitro glycerine literature meets the eyes of our boys and girls on the public streets and in the press, and is usually warranted to cure from a pin-prick to consumption, and sufficiently powerful to enable the Ethiopian to change his skin and the leopard his spots. All this can be accomplished if we credit the statements of the majority of the manufacturers of Bitters, Nervines, Sarsaparillas, and of White, Black, Pink and Green Pills for green people.

We hold that it is a greater folly to charge the living body with the concoctions and preparations referred to, than it is to decently and carefully embalm the dead bodies of our friends. In the former case, disease is assisted in its work of destruction; in the latter, the dead body is for a time preserved from decay and putrefaction.

Fortunately science, with its true and mighty hand, has stepped into the breach to supply the needs of those who found neither relief or cure from doctors or from the ordinary patent medicines. This true and noble science has culled from the lap of nature all its elements of cure; it has drawn from the herbs of the field and the trees of the forest those healing agencies which, in a concentrated form, are given in Paine's Celery Compound, nature's great restorer and builder.

The following recent testimonial is but another proof of the mighty curative power of Celery Compound; and shows conclusively that, when doctors fail, and the common advertised drugs and pills prove useless to arrest and eradicate disease, Paine's Celery Compound will, if taken hold of, restore the sick one to new life and perfect strength:—

DEAR SIRS:—After serious consideration, I think it my duty to acknowledge the great good that I have derived from Paine's Celery Compound. No living mortal can imagine the terrible sufferings that I endured for four years, owing to liver and kidney troubles, headaches and sore back. To give you, but more especially the thousands of my own sex, an idea of my condition and sufferings, before I found relief through your precious remedy—Celery Compound—I may say that, in addition to the dangerous ailments just mentioned, I was continually sick at my stomach, with a sour taste and mouth all furred and coated; I had an ill-smelling breath and could not relish food, although I always had a craving for it. If I did eat anything, I was sure to be annoyed by a heavy weight on the stomach, and became so bad that I was obliged to apply mustard poultices to get relief.

I became very down-hearted and morose, and though I tried hard to keep up courage, I always felt I would have to give up. When I sat down to read or sew I would get sleepy, with a heavy feeling, and my feet would get very cold; and at such times piles would trouble. I often felt these terrible bearing-down pains while standing or walking, and I was in a most dangerous condition. I at various times tried many patent medicines, and was under the treatment of doctors, but obtained no relief of any consequence, and the old troubles would return worse than ever before. I thank God for having read of some wonderful cures through your Celery Compound. I thought when others received good that I also would be benefited, and I at once procured your medicine and used it, and am happy to state that I have experienced a great change. No other remedy has ever give me such wonderful results in so short a time, and I now feel myself a new woman. I can now sleep well, enjoy my food, and I am gaining strength fast. God has certainly put in my hands the best remedy ever given to any suffering woman; and I feel that all should know what it is able to do in building up the broken down system. I am sure no soul need despair while Paine's Celery Compound can be procured. I will always speak well of it, and recommend it when I have the opportunity; and I trust that all who are suffering, as I once did, will commence without delay to use this surest and best of all remedies.

Yours very truly,
MRS. J. CURRIE.
289 Delaware Ave., Toronto.

We, the undersigned, gladly testify to the facts contained in Mr. J. Currie's testimonial.
MRS. A. WILLIAMSON,
MRS. S. SOMERVILLE.

The above is an honest and strong testimonial from a well known and most estimable lady. Remember, reader, this is only one out of thousands that can be published. People who have used Paine's Celery Compound are obliged to speak truly as Mrs. Currie has done, because the remedy is an honest one, a strong one, a mighty one—one that always cures. Our Canadian people have made it their friend; they value it highly as a precious gift from a good and bountiful Providence. No other remedy has ever received such testimonials, and no other remedy has ever published so many honest testimonials for the benefit of sufferers. It does not touch the strings of one testimonial and harp on it from year to year; its testimony is always new, fresh and crisp, and comes from every quarter.

In conclusion we would ask each sufferer; "Are you satisfied with the proof that Paine's Celery Compound will do for you what it has done for others?" If you are, delay not its use, as time is short and precious, and you know not what a day may bring forth.

THE BEST FAMILY PILL IN USE

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS

Keep the Works in good order.

NORMAN, ONT., January 15, 1890.
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills" are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait you; as the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleaning the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve vigor and vitality.
Yours faithfully,
H. F. ATWELL.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—For many years, I have been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills." Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills. Yours, &c.,

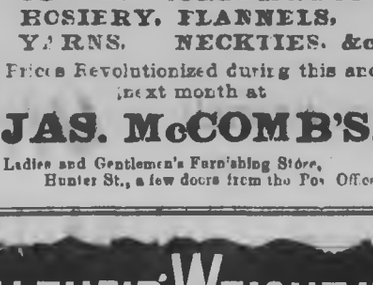
W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.
DEAR SIR,—This is to certify that I deal in Patent Medicines, including various kinds of Pills. I sell more of the Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills than of all the others combined. Their sales I find are still increasing. Yours, &c.,
N. L. NICHOLSON.



We are daily turning out of our work rooms SABLE COLLARS in the newest shapes. The latest shape is the new "Van Dyke Collar," which has met with such favor in New York. Now is the time to leave your order for Christmas Furs.

"German Syrup"

A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as childrens' troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine. ❶

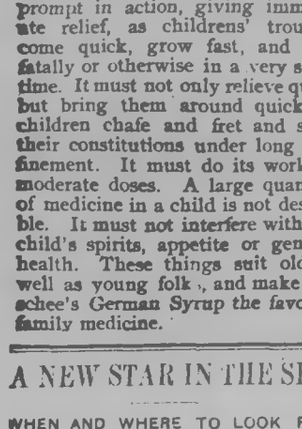
A NEW STAR IN THE SKY

WHEN AND WHERE TO LOOK FOR THE BRIGHT TWINKLER.

The Position of the New Orb Recently Discovered by Dr. Copeland, a Scotch Astronomer, and Caught by Harvard's Transit Photometer.

A new star is twinkling and blazing with a flame of the fifth magnitude. It is only a few millions miles away, but can be seen about 8.10 to-night.

The new star was first noticed by Dr. Copeland, a Scotch astronomer, according to the dispatch sent to Prof. Pickering, of Harvard College Observatory, February 1. Dr. Copeland was scanning the constellation of Auriga when he found the bright orb glittering two degrees south of the star Chi. An unknown Scottish astronomer first informed him of its presence among the group of small luminaries within the same degree.



POSITION OF THE NEW STAR.

When Dr. Copeland's dispatch was received at Harvard, Prof. Pickering examined carefully the photographic star plates owned by the University. Eighteen photographs had been taken of the constellation of Auriga from November, 1881, to November, 1885. None of these showed the new star. Nothing of the new star was registered either by the Harvard transit photometer December 1, but nine days later it was caught by the photometer. Its brilliancy was apparently at its height on January 20, but since then it has been gradually decreasing.

Preparations have been made at Harvard to photograph the spectrum of the new comer. New York World of Sunday.

THE QUEEN PUDAMUK.

A South African Animal Ugly Enough to Stop the Sun.

Rev. Adam Kidder, a native of Philadelphia, now a missionary at Unzinyati Station, South Africa, has sent the zoo of that city an exceedingly queer animal. In sending it, he says: "It was my good fortune to capture this specimen near the head-waters of the Unzinyati River, in the Quathlamba Mountains, while engaged in missionary work among the natives. I have learned that it is rare, and never found outside of what is known as the Bungaleed District, a marshy tract on the Unzinyati River about twenty miles square. I had the strange animal transported to the station, and placed in a high enclosure where I had an opportunity to study its habits. As near as I can judge it belongs to the genus Ornithorynchus. I found it necessary to keep the animal's quarters as marshly as possible, with a small pond of fresh water in one corner, for it is an amphibian. It lives entirely on the blood of animals, taking all nourishment through the medium of the suckers on the extremities of its eight legs. These eight legs, by the way, have doubtless led to its being called by the natives, 'Pudamuck' which means 'many legs.'"

Hon. William Rhodes, ex-Minister of Agriculture, died at his residence, St. Louis-road, Quebec, yesterday. He was born in England, where he joined the army as an officer. He came to Canada with his regiment in 1847 and settled in Quebec.

Trains bearing doctors, medicine, disinfectants and everything that can be used in combating contagious diseases have been despatched to the Russian provinces in which typhus fever is raging, and every effort will be made to stamp out this disease and smallpox.

A despatch from Coleraine in county Londonderry says that Mrs. Anna Margaret Montagu, daughter of Robert Montagu, was committed for trial on the charge of causing the death of her daughter, Mary Helen Montagu, a child, only three years of age, whom she fastened to the wall by a chain and padlock and left to perish.

How to Sew Furs.

In case any lady wants to make over a fur garment, she can do so by following these directions: Whenever she wants to cut her fur she must mark it on the skin side with chalk and cut it with a sharp knife, not letting it cut quite through at first, and then pull the piece apart, finishing the cut very delicately so as not to spoil the fur. On no account must scissors be used, as they will cut the fur on the outside in spite of the utmost precaution. When it is all cut the edges to be sewed are brought together and moistened and sewed overhand with waxed cotton thread. Silk cuts the skin. When the seam is sewn it should be laid fur side down on a board and the seam again moistened, and pressed flat by rubbing it with a shell, or some other smooth-surfaced article. Done this way, no seam is visible on the outside and the garment looks as well as if done by professional sewers. All kinds of fur are sewed in the same way.

Now is the time to take a good tonic medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the greatest merit, and is a popular favorite.

News About Town

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. PANIC AT A THEATRE.

MANY CHILDREN INJURED SOME FATALLY.

The Upsetting of a Lamp Sets the Place on Fire and a Scene of Indescribable Confusion Follows--Children Trampled Upon.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—During a magic lantern performance for children last evening in a building located on Gray's Inn Road, W.C., a lamp used in the entertainment was accidentally upset and broken. The oil ignited at once and in an instant the place caught on fire. A panic ensued among the large number of children present and a mad rush was made for the door. The greatest excitement prevailed and 20 children were injured.

Had for Mrs. Montagu.

BELFAST, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Anna Margaret Montagu of Coleraine, Ireland, who was charged with having caused the death of her 3-year-old daughter, Mary Helen, by tying a stocking round her neck, the result of which was asphyxiation, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $2000 and will be tried at the Londonderry Assizes.

Mr. Montagu, Dr. Creery and Miss Dosell, the child's governess, testified as to the cruel manner in which the little one had been treated, after which the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the child's mother had feloniously killed her by tying her with a stocking in a dark room.

The husband of Mrs. Montague is a grandson of the Duke of Manchester and a former officer in the navy.

Mrs. Montague, who is of Scotch extraction, is the daughter of a wealthy London tea merchant. She is noted for her daring horsemanship in Ireland. Cromoro, her residence, is one of the finest mansions in the district. Mrs. Montague has hitherto moved in the best society.

When an Associated Press representative called at the residence to-day he found Mrs. Montague engaged with the parish priest, but she consented to an interview being asked how it was that such severe punishment was administered to a 3-year-old child, Mr. Montague said: "My wife has strong opinions on the training and correction of children.

VIENNA, Feb. 20.—The wives of Karaveloff, Oroszakoff and Jeorgoff, who have been confined in their houses since November last, will be put on trial on Monday at Sofia, charged with high treason.

They are accused of having signed and handed to the Belgian Consul a memorandum to the representatives of the European powers, in which Bulgarian public functionaries are accused of torturing several prisoners supposed to have been privy to the murder of Beltcheff. These prisoners included the husbands or other relatives of the signers. An act like this constitutes, according to an old Turkish law still in force in Bulgaria, the crime of high treason.

The object of the Government in instituting this trial is, first, to prove that no prisoners have been tortured; second, to elicit from the wives what could not be obtained from the husbands—some further information about the murderer.

"The Daffodil King."

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Mr. Barr, better known as "The Daffodil King," will set out to-day on his annual hunt for a new species of that flower.

Spain, Portugal and the Pyrenees are Mr. Barr's hunting grounds for a new daffodil, and he hopes to find a few specimens at the Escurial, the burial place of the Spanish kings. This flower has been brought to England before, but did not survive removal.

France and the Vatican.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—In order to remove the friction between France and the Vatican due to the refusal of Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, to communicate to the French bishops the letter written to him by the Pope, in which the latter enjoins upon the French prelates to give their adhesion to the republic, Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, has advised the French Government that the Papal Nuncio at Paris has been intrusted to distribute copies of the Pope's letter to the bishops. Cardinal Richard in replying to this letter declared that he was unable to communicate its contents to the bishops, for he did not believe the time opportune to do so. It was charged at the Vatican that the Cardinal's action in refusing the Pope's request to make the letter public was due to the influence of the Royalists.

Earthquakes, Wrecks, Explosions, Fires and Smallpox.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 20.—Advices from China and Japan state that 60 houses have been destroyed by earthquake shocks at Nanetsuj, Japan.

The Scotch Oriental steamer Someditch, Phra Nang (Capt. Jones), is missing. She carried a crew of 40.

The total loss of life by the wreck of the steamer Nanchow of Hong Kong was 424.

The Government powder factory at Foo Chow blew up recently. Twenty men were killed.

Five men were killed and 11 wounded by the explosion of gas in the Heronia Coal Mine in Japan a few weeks ago.

A fire which originated by the dripping of a lamp into a quantity of paraffine in the house of a merchant at Sondai, Japan, caused the death of the merchant, his wife and three children, the injury of 11 employes and 8 firemen and the destruction of 15 houses.

Smallpox is still raging at Yokohama and Tokyo.

IRISH LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Opinions of the British Press on Mr. Balfour's Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Irish Local Government Bill, on which the ministry staked its fortunes this session, met with an extremely hostile reception from both sections of the Irish party and the Gladstonians.

The Morning Post says the reception accorded the bill makes it highly probable that the Government will modify the safeguarding clauses before it is offered for second reading. The strongest objections are offered to the trial council's cumulative vote, the disfranchisement of illiterates and the control of capital expenditure.

The Daily News says: Nothing more extraordinary in the shape of an Irish bill was ever submitted to Parliament. Mr. Balfour's strongest opponents never imagined that he could have devised so thoroughly bad and hopeless a measure. We are far from supposing that he meant to insult Ireland. Probably he will try to raise the cry of obstruction. The luckless measure, however, does not need to be obstructed. It will sufficiently obstruct itself.

The Chronicle describes the bill as an honest attempt, but as "failing to please everybody." It concludes: "The bill is good as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. The fact that Mr. Balfour's whole speech was a dispirited apology to his own supporters instead of a strong defence suggests that the bill is like the hero of Ibsen's 'Sengangere worm eaten at birth.' The principle of the judges' trial of councils is a gross excrescence and must be squelched."

The Standard understands that the Government has resolved to proceed with the bill, and that it confidently anticipates that it will receive the support of the Liberal Unionists. The Standard's article indicates that the Government is willing to go before the country on the ground of Liberal obstruction to a laudable attempt to place local government for Ireland on a popular basis.

The National Press of Dublin says: The bill is a beggarly account of meaningless provisions. It is like a Japanese toy—a succession of empty boxes within one another.

The Freeman's Journal of Dublin declares that the bill is a legislative joke. An appeal to the country on this legislative abortion would make Mr. Balfour and his colleagues the laughing-stock of the country.

The Irish Daily Independent (Parnellite) says the Irish party was prepared to give the bill hearty support had it proved satisfactory, but the measure is a sham, a fraud and an insult. Not much was to be expected from a Unionist Ministry, but nothing so ridiculous as this bill was anticipated.

LONDON, Feb. 02.—The St. James Gazette says the negotiations which are being conducted between England and Russia in regard to the expulsion by Russian officers in September last of Capt. Younghusband from the Pamirs point to a settlement favorable to England.

The Russian authorities have fully investigated the affair and have concluded that the Russian officers acted precipitately, and Russia now shows her full desire to make reparation for the acts of her officers.

It is expected an apology compatible with the dignity of both countries will be tendered to England by Russia.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

Bradstreet's Report as to Trade in the Dominion—The Spring Outlook.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's point to no material change in conditions affecting the general business situation. Trade thus far on the whole is disappointing, though a deal of confidence is expressed as to what the spring may bring forth.

In the Canadian Dominion general trade is only moderately active, raw wool and staple drygoods being most in request. Orders from the Maritime Provinces and a portion of Quebec are unsatisfactory. Canada reports 43 failures, a material reduction from last week.

Bank clearings at four cities in the Dominion show a reduction of 17 per cent. this week as compared with last.

POISON.

Ends the Ailments of James Griffin of London.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 20.—James Griffin was found dead yesterday. From what could be learned from his wife he had been suffering for some time past from grip and bronchitis. This morning between 7 and 8 o'clock he left his home in Wellington-street, near Clark's bridge, and it is said obtained a bottle of strychnine. Returning to his house he died in a few minutes. The bottle was afterwards found under his pillow by his wife. For 34 years he had kept a seed store in this city.

Another Crash on the M.C.R.

COMBER, Ont., Feb. 20.—Another collision occurred on the M.C.R. early yesterday, this time at Ruscomb Station, about 5 miles from here. A freight was standing on the main line awaiting orders, when another came crashing into it at the rear. The locomotive and 15 cars loaded with freight were thrown into the ditch and the locomotive is hoisted and broken in every conceivable shape, while the cars are a total wreck. The trainmen escaped injury by jumping.

Hubbell Gets Two Years.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—Hubbell, the defaulting teller of the Ottawa Bank, was again brought before Judge Ross to-day and pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against him. He was sentenced to two years in the Kingston Penitentiary, the lowest that could be inflicted for the offence.

The threat made at the joint meeting of representatives of 23 labor societies in Rome that a general strike would be inaugurated and continued until the Government started public works to give employment to idle workmen was set at naught by the Government, which caused the arrest of several of the prominent labor agitators. Yesterday the men were all working as usual.

A loaded bomb was discovered last night outside the Spanish Consulate in Messina, Sicily. The fuse attached to it was burning, but was quickly extinguished with remarkable presence of mind and courage by the finders. The police were alarmed and immediately began a search for the dynamiters, but no arrests have yet been made

Skin Disease 9 Years. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured by Cuticura for $4.75.

I feel it is my duty to tell you my experience with your CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled for over nine years with a dreadful skin disease. When I first felt it, there appeared a few small red spots on my breast, and it kept on spreading slowly. It started the same on my back, between my shoulders. A few days after the spots turned gray, and began itching. Small scales would fall off, so it continued spreading all over my body. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, or get hold of. I also consulted doctors. Yes, they would cure me in a short time, but they always failed. Then I gave it all up, thinking there was no cure for me. Some few months ago, I noticed your advertisement in the Tacoma Morning Globe; thought I would try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, not thinking it would do me much good, but to my surprise, three boxes of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT cured me entirely. My skin is now as white and pure as that of a child. I send my photograph. I have many friends in Chicago, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

JESSE JAMES OUTDONE.

THE STAR OF THE WESTERN BANDIT PALES

Before the Daring Nerve of His Eastern Rival, Who Robs an Express Car, Shoots the Messenger, Steals an Engine at the Point of a Revolver and Keeps Up a Running Fire from the Cab of the Locomotive at His Pursuers—Finally Captured.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 22.—The shooting of an express messenger on a Central Hudson train, the rifling of a valuable safe, the flight of the robber on the engine of another train, from which he drove the crew at the point of a revolver; a running fight from the engine cab for miles, chased by another engine filled with railway men and final capture of the desperado by a sheriff's posse in a swamp after a wild pursuit across the country—these are some of the sensational features of the most desperate attempt at train robbery in the history of the Central Hudson Railway. The exploit casts in the shade as an exhibition of coolness and nerve the famous exploits of the Jesse James band or other outlaws of Western fame.

Train No. 3 on the Central Hudson is known as the American Express Company's special. It runs every day in the year between New York and Buffalo and carries only goods and property shipped by that company.

The train leaves New York at 9 o'clock each evening and is due in this city at 7.05 o'clock in the morning. Nearly all the cars are run through to Chicago and contain the most valuable express matter.

The Famous "Money Car."

One car is known as the "money" car and in it is sent the specie from the United States Treasury for Western banks, as well as money in process of exchange between banks of New York and the West. The load of wealth sent out from New York on this train is usually greater on Saturday evening than on other days and often amounts to more than a million dollars, in addition to jewelry and other valuables. One of the most trusted messengers of the company and sometimes several are placed in charge of this car. So great is the secrecy observed in regard to this car and its contents that often the crew of the train do not know in which car the money is carried.

The Robber's Appearance.

Daniel T. McInerney of this city was in charge of the money car on the trip Saturday night. The train was made up of eight express cars and one day coach for the accommodation of the regular train crew. Only one messenger was assigned to the money car, as the work of billing was light. The other cars had two messengers.

The train left Syracuse at 5 o'clock this morning in charge of Conductor Emil Loass of this city. The train was drawn by engine 692, with Caleb Cherry, Engineer. The coach was in the rear of the tram and the money car just ahead.

When the train was near Weedsport the conductor, who was in the coach with his two trainmen, thought he heard the air whistles sound very faintly. It was enough to arouse him to the belief that something was wrong in the express car.

Going out on the platform of the coach he climbed on the rail, and looking through the hole where the bell cord comes through he saw the upper part of a man whose face below the eyes was concealed by a red flannel mask. The messenger he could not see.

Bullets Commence Whistling.

He went back, set the air brakes and called his two trainmen. The three stood leaning out from the platform looking forward along the sides of the express car. Suddenly a man's form appeared at side door of the express car. Revolver bullets whistled past their ears and a voice was heard commanding them to signal the engineer to go ahead or take the consequences.

The trainmen were unarmed. The conductor told one of his men to jump off, run back to Jordan and telegraph along the line to Rochester that they had a train robber on board. This was done and the conductor signalled the engineer to go ahead full speed, thinking that the robber would not dare to jump and would be captured at the next stop.

Stained with Blood.

The train went to Pt. Byron. Here the brakes were set again and the conductor and the trainmen went to the express car.

The car showed signs of a desperate struggle. Money packages and jewelry were lying scattered about. Everything in the car seemed stained with blood, and Messenger McInerney was lying bleeding from several wounds and almost unconscious. The robber was nowhere to be seen and was supposed to have jumped and made good his escape.

McInerney wanted to be brought on to Rochester. A telegram for an ambulance was sent to Rochester and train went on to Lyons, the next stop. The news had spread all along the line by this time and the station at Lyons was alive. Among others in the crowd was a well-dressed young man wearing gold eyeglasses and carrying a satchel, slung by a strap over his shoulder.

He Was the Robber.

Now, it so happened that the trainman had noticed this same young man at the station at Syracuse before the train pulled out and they had not seen him since, and the question of what he was doing at Lyons and how he got there at once suggested itself.

An attempt was made to seize him, but he pulled out two revolvers, held the crowd back and backed across the yard until he reached a coal train. The engine had steam up ready to pull out for the west he pulled the pin holding the tender to the first car, climbed over the coal into the cab, drove the engineer and fireman out with his revolvers and started the engine up.

Conductor Loass and one of the switchmen procured a shotgun, freed the engine of the express and with the firemen and engineer started in pursuit of the fugitive.

It will be remembered that the Central Hudson is a four-tracked road and the two engines, though both going west, were not on the same track.

A Duel at 30 Miles an Hour.

The express engine soon overtook the robber, who suddenly reversed his engine and let his pursuers pass him, pouring a perfect hail of pistol bullets into the cab as his pursuers went by. Then the pursuer stopped and the pursued went ahead.

Another artillery duel ensued, the shotgun taking part this time. No one was hurt in either battle.

About two miles beyond, the robber found his engine's steam was going out, so he jumped off at a cross road and started across the country, going south. He managed to terrorize a farmer into letting him have a horse and rode on about two miles further south. Here he procured a horse and cutter, persuading the owner, a German farmer, to entrust him with them by firing on him.

Running the Bandit Down.

The party on the express engine had returned to Lyons, where the Sheriff of Wayne county had organized a posse, which, under command of Deputy-Sheriff Collins, started in pursuit.

Meantime the farmers along the robbers' line of retreat had also turned out fully armed, in pursuit. The runaway was sighted about five miles south of Newark. The roads are very bad and he had made poor speed. He abandoned his rig and ran to Benton's swamp, but this swamp proved too full of water to be penetrated and the fugitive took up his position behind a stone wall and faced his pursuers. After some parley he surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Collins.

He was taken to Lyons and lodged in jail. He gave the name of William Cross, said he was from New Mexico and had been boarding in Syracuse for some time.

He admitted that he was the man who had attempted the train robbery.

Cross is believed to be the much-wanted Oliver Curtis Perry, who robbed Express Messenger Moore near Utica last fall.

Perry, the Lyons train robber, was formerly a cowboy and later worked as a brakeman.

But it is believed Cross boarded the train when it pulled out of Syracuse, and climbed on top of the express car. He was provided with a hooked rope. Fastening the hook in the slight cornice of the roof on one side of the car, he let himself down on the other, and resting his toes on the ledge that runs around the car he looked in the glass of the side door and saw the express messenger in front of one of the safes, which was open, making up his bills. He smashed the glass with his revolver, covered the messenger and shouted to him to hold up his hands.

The Shooting of the Messenger.

Instead of doing this McInerney reached for the signal cord with one hand for his revolver with the other. A bullet smashed the hand on the cord, but not before it had given the signal that aroused the conductor.

Then McInerney fired on the robber and put a bullet through his coat.

Thereupon the robber shot the messenger twice, once in the right leg and once in the left temple.

Cross climbed into the car and a desperate struggle took place, which did not end until the train was stopped for the first time near Weedsport.

It is evident the robber had climbed out on top of the car and remained there through the stop at Pt. Byron until the train reached Lyons.

A Hamilton Customs Broker Misappropriates Funds and Decamps.

HAMILTON, Feb. 22.—W. G. Townsend, customs house broker, has fled, as the result of defalcations detected by Inspectors Mewburn and McMichael. Townsend has been guilty of making false entries and altering invoices. Townsend has been for the last two or three years one of the highest of Hamilton's "high-rollers." His tastes were expensive, and he gratified them. He lived in one of the most luxuriantly furnished homes in the city. He is one of the owners of the yacht White Wings, and has spent a lot of money in yachting and its subsidiary pleasures. Recently he entered the 13th battalion as lieutenant.

M. Constans Had Apologized.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—In the Chamber of Deputies Saturday M. Loherisse, a Boulangist, interpellated the Government as to why M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, had not been prosecuted for assaulting M. Laur (Boulangist) on the floor of the Chamber at the session on January 10.

M. Floquet, the President of the Chamber, replied that the prosecution had been abstained from owing to the fact that M. Constans had made an apology for his action on the occasion referred to, and his apology had been accepted by the House.

The chamber stopped further discussion of the interpellation by adopting the order of the day.

Lady Russell to Pay Costs.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—An echo was heard Saturday of the famous Russell divorce suit, when the court refused to grant Lady Russell's petition. She was ordered to pay the costs to-day. Lady Russell applied to the court to compel her husband to pay her solicitor's charges and the costs of the court, amounting to £350. The application was made on the claim that she was without means. The court refused to grant the application.

Embezzled Government Money.

CALGARY, Feb. 22.—Mr Campbell, postmaster at Banff, pleaded guilty at Calgary yesterday of embezzling $359 Government money. Sentence was reserved.

THE POLITICAL SLATE.

RESULT OF THE BYE-ELECTIONS ON SATURDAY.

East Hastings and South Ontario Both Favorable to the Government—Additional Writs, the Last For Ontario at Last Being Complete.

PORT PERRY, Feb. 22.—William Smith, the Conservative candidate in South Ontario, was elected to the Commons Saturday, defeating James I. Davidson (Liberal) by 157 majority. The majorities:

	Smith.	Davidson.
Whitby town	57	..
Oshawa "	73	..
Port Perry "	15	..
Reach township	101	..
East Whitby township	..	59
West Whitby township	..	30
	246	89

Majority for Smith, 157. At the last general election Davidson defeated Smith by a majority of 32.

East Hastings.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 22.—The bye-election in East Hastings Saturday resulted in the return of W. B. Northrup, Conservative, by a very large majority over W. R. Aylesworth (Liberal). The majorities:

	Northrup.	Aylesworth.
Deseronto	294	—
Tyendinaga Township	64	—
Hungerford Township	109	—
Thurlow Township	—	27
	467	26

Majority for Northrup 441, with two polls to hear from. The majority of S. B. Burdett (Liberal), since deceased, was 54 at the general election.

Bribery Acknowledged in Carleton, N.B.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 21.—In the Carleton county election petition trial at Woodstock, Charles McEwan of Beaufort testified that he had been guilty of both bribery and personation in the interest of the Liberal candidate. The petitioner's counsel has withdrawn from the record the claim of the seat for Major Vance on a recount, so that if the petition succeeds a new election must follow.

Four More Writs Issued.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The writs for West Northumberland, Monck and South Perth were issued Saturday, which closes the Ontario list of bye-elections. Nomination March 3, polling March 10 in Monck and South Perth, and polling March 15 in West Northumberland. The writ was also issued for the Montmorenci election. Nomination March 4, polling March 11.

The Recount in East Bruce.

WALKERTON, Feb. 22.—A recount in the East Bruce election was held here Saturday before Judge Barrett, and resulted in increasing Mr. Cargill's majority from 10 to 14.

More Writs Issued.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Three writs for the holding of elections were issued Saturday. In South Perth and Monck nomination has been fixed for Thursday March 3, and polling for March 10. W.R. Davis of Mitchel is returning officer in Perth, and John Henderson of Marshville in Monck. The nomination in Montmorency will take place on March 4, polling March 11.

POISION LURKED IN THE SODA.

Mrs. Jarrett Didn't Know It and Gave it to Her Neighbors.

BANGOR, Me., Feb. 22.—Last summer an old hunter named Jarrett, living near Green Lake, died suddenly. His wife and children could not account for the strange malady, but no investigation was made. Soon afterwards the family moved away and settled in Mountain Chase.

Among their goods was a quantity of cooking soda, which was in a tin box. It was undisturbed until a few days ago, when in consequence of snow blockades soda in the neighborhood became scarce, and Mrs. Jarrett thought of the contents of the box and supplied all the families in the vicinity with soda.

The next day no less than 28 persons, all who partook of the bread made with the soda, became seriously ill.

An old man named Rider died last night and several of the older patients have since been dangerously ill.

The soda is admitted to have been the cause of the trouble. It is surmised that the box containing the soda had been previously used for some deadly poison employed by Jarrett in killing game or curing furs.

ALL BUT THE DRIVER.

A Train on the B. & O. With 100 Passengers on Board Narrowly Escapes Going Over an Embankment.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 22.—The Wheeling express on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway with 100 passengers on board had a narrow escape from an awful accident near Whitehall, 12 miles south of this city, last night.

Near Whitehall and just around a steep curve is a temporary trestle 300 feet long, 40 feet high. The train was running at the rate of 35 miles an hour when it rounded the curve. The engine struck a huge rock, which loosened by frost had rolled from the high embankment to the railroad.

An awful crash followed, the engine broke from the tender and left the track, the tender partly broke from the train and the separated parts rushed in a mad race for the trestle. When the engine reached the trestle proper it seemed to stop suddenly and plunge down the embankment. The train swept by in safety, being stopped by the air brakes at the other end of the trestle, as the engine toppled over. Engineer Mahan was thrown 40 feet in the air and killed. The fireman was also seriously hurt.

Actor McDowell Insane.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—It was made known in theatrical circles yesterday that Eugene A. McDowell, a well-known actor, had become insane as the result of a long illness, and that he had recently been placed in a private asylum in the vicinity of New York.

Customs Collector Dead.

DUNNVILLE, Ont. Feb. 22.—Mr. Art Brownson, collector of customs at this port, died yesterday of inflammation of the lungs after a short illness.

Found Dead.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22.—Kelsie Oulette, a young farmer, hailing from Quebec, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning at Macleth's farm, a few miles from here.

THE FINANCES OF ONTARIO.

With Governments as with individuals, generally, "number one is a primary consideration;" therefore the financial showing made by Hon. R. Harcourt, is a source of gratification and thankfulness to the people of the banner province of the Dominion. For the past twenty years during which the Mowat administration has governed this province, there has been, in connection with real economy, a full as liberal regard paid to every need of the public service. Millions spent in necessary public buildings, and still there is an available surplus, after deducting liabilities, immediately payable, of five and a quarter million—$5,285,515. So much for the general financial situation. When we come to consider the past year's operations we find that the expenditure has been continuously, since 1885, kept within the estimates—this year within it by $193,695. Yet there have been no inconsiderable extraordinary outlays. The sum of $100,000 was devoted to the University buildings; the new Parliament buildings required an expenditure of $208,000; $160,000 was spent upon asylum buildings at Mimico and Orillia. There is a tendency to a decrease in the expenditure in the future. The railway expenditure is being very much reduced. The expenditure on public buildings is growing necessarily less as the supply is approximating the demand. The Parliament buildings are about completed. And here it may be stated that the total cost of these buildings will be less than the amount voted —$1,250,000. In connection with the cost of these buildings, "it is to be borne in mind that the sum of $802,297 has been already paid on account of these buildings, while the Province has only drawn $ 67,000 from the fund appropriated for the erection. The assets still available for that purpose are 21½ acres of land in the west part of the city, and the block of 9½ acres of ground on which the old buildings stand. At the lowest estimate these lands are worth $525,000, so that this amount now stands to the credit of the Province. The people of Ontario will have reason to be proud of these buildings, not only because of their fine appearance, solidity and convenience, but because of the economy and perfect freedom from jobbery which have characterized the management of this great work." Altogether the financial condition of the province, present and future is of the most satisfactory and hopeful nature, showing judiciously economical management, and prudent energy, and that, as the Honorable the Provincial Secretary, said, no other British Colony, no other province can present a balance sheet one half so favorable. In this connection it is fitting to conclude with the closing sentences of Hon. Mr. Harcourt's address:—

I have attempted, sir, to keep my statement altogether free from even the appearance of party controversy, in the belief that what the House desired and the people expected from me was a plain account of our financial position. I expect, indeed I know, sir, that the criticisms to follow will be made in the same spirit. I have no desire to conceal anything; I have nothing to conceal. My whole life has been spent in this province and I am proud of its position, consider it from whatever point of view you wish. We have demonstrated clearly that our people appreciate to the full, nay, that they cherish and make the best possible use of their priceless right of self-government. The history of our municipal institutions, the wonderful growth and success of our educational system, reaching and brightening through its expansiveness every home, even the humblest in the land, prove this most conclusively. My faith in our future is deep, loyal and abiding. The foundations for a career of uninterrupted if not of unexampled prosperity have been wisely and securely laid. The nice balance between a pleayune, persistently parsimonious policy on the one hand, which would check development, retard progress and discourage enterprise, and a policy of reckless prodigality on the other hand which in its turn, while it would bring about momentary spasms of prosperity and create false hopes, would eventually end in humiliation and bankruptcy, has been most evenly preserved. No one will even for a moment underate the importance of continuing a policy in the management of our finances which has led to such good results and which makes it possible for every citizen of the province, even in these trying times, to refer with no small degree of pride to our financial position. I wish to say, with all the earnestness I can command, that I know of no State or commonwealth this wide world over, which can this hour present to its people a financial statement more satisfactory, all things considered, than that of our fair Province. May this very desirable state of things long continue. May we be able always to encourage with liberal hand in a hundred different directions, as we have constantly done in the past, deserving institutions and undertakings. And may we always, in the face of this liberal expenditure, be able to point to ample surpluses, highest credit and unfailing resources. How much all this is due to the political prescience, the timely caution, the untiring energy and great ability of the leader of this Government, this House well knows.

The greatest boon I can ask for this Province I love so well is that his life may be long spared to shape its destinies and preserve its rights. And thus will his name, even to a greater extent than it is now, and in a woof of brightest and unfading colors, be inseparably woven into and become part of the history of this fair land. I move, Mr. Speaker, that you do now leave the chair. (Applause.)

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES

BY THE

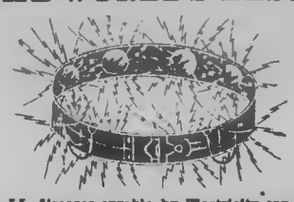
DORENWEND

ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy them; but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Senate Representation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—It has been before pointed out that this district is not represented in the Dominion Senate. From Toronto on the west to Belleville on the east there is no resident Senator. Thus a large, a populous and a wealthy district has no voice in that body, which has the power to introduce, to amend or to prevent legislation. The injustice of this is obvious and the Government should take advantage of the first opportunity to call to the Senate a resident of this district.

This being true, it is also true that the Senator should be chosen from Peterborough. This I do not place alone on the ground that Peterborough is in a central position and is the largest town, although that of itself is sufficient to give it a very strong claim to recognition when the appointment is made. But in addition to that there is a gentleman, a resident of this town who, owing to his business capacity, experience in public positions, political influence and popularity would at once come to the front as one worthy of the honor and one who would be a useful member of the second chamber. After what I have said the name of Mr. James Stevenson will at once suggest itself to the mind of the reader. Mr. Stevenson has had a long and successful career as a business man, and the Senate, which is more of a revisionary body than the Commons, requires just such men of ability and experience as he is. In public affairs Mr. Stevenson has taken an active part. Nearly forty years ago he was chosen by the people of this town to fill the office of Mayor and at different times since he has been chosen Chief Magistrate of the town. He has served on the Board of Education continually for many years, and also on the Town Trust Commission, of which he is and has been chairman for many years. This demonstrates not only the popularity but also the public spirit and capacity for managing public business which Mr. Stevenson possesses. In 1887 he was sent to Ottawa to represent West Peterborough in the House of Commons, and his re-election last year by a large majority was strong testimony of the approval of the people of the manner in which he had represented them. It is unnecessary to call the attention of the people of Peterborough to these facts, but they are mentioned to emphasize the qualifications for the position to which I, as well as thousands more, would like to see him appointed.

Mr. Stevenson's popularity is not confined to any section or class of the community, but is shared by all. He is a broad-minded man whose desire in his municipal positions has always been to work for the benefit of the people of the town as a whole, and as a Parliamentary representative he has had in view the interests of all his constituents and of the Dominion at large. His excellent qualities of head and heart (and they are well balanced) have given him the prominent position he occupies.

No better man could be chosen for a seat in the Senate. Mr. Stevenson would fill the position with ability and would be a useful legislator in that chamber, as he has been in the Commons. At the same time his many and great services to the Conservative party entitle him to this recognition from the Government.

Mr. Stevenson's appointment would give general satisfaction, not only to those who are of the same political party, but also to Liberals, and I hope that this will be remembered by the Government and that if there is an opening now Mr. Stevenson will be appointed, and if there is not, that his appointment will be made when the first opportunity occurs.

Yours truly,
AN OLD CITIZEN.

Cheese Board.

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board took place in the new market building on Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members. Mr. J. M. Drummond, Keene, president of the Association occupied the chair and called the meeting to order a few minutes after one o'clock.

Mr. M. E. Sanderson, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, held on May 12th, which were confirmed.

Mr. George Edwards, treasurer, read the report of the board for the past year.

Balance on hand as per last account, $51.63; receipts from salesmen, $53.00; receipts and balance on hand, $104.64; disbursements, $54 75; balance on hand $49 25.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS for the ensuing year was then proceeded with resulting in the re-election of all the old officers of the Board:—

PRESIDENT—J. M. Drummond.
VICE PRESIDENT—John Crouse.
SECRETARY—M. E. Sanderson.
TREASURER—Geo. Edwards.
INSPECTOR—W. H. Wrighton.
ASSISTANT INSPECTOR—Hugh Spence, (in cases where Mr. Wrighton is buyer or seller.)

All the old rules of the Board were confirmed—excepting No. 2 relating to the selling of cheese which was amended to read:—"Should the buyers bid on selections, the bid so made on the first selection shall be one eighth of a cent in advance of the highest bid made for the board of other counties, or 1/16 for the board; all selections shall be not less than 500 boxes."

The following resolution was unanimously carried: "Any salesman selling cheese off the board without having permission to do so, shall have his factory erased from the board."

Mr. Scully submitted several rules and regulations for the consideration of the board, which were laid on the table.

It was suggested by Mr. Thomas Robinson and endorsed by Messrs. Galvin, Stewart and others, that this board do not make sales of two or three months' make of cheese but sell every two weeks, except during the months of October and November.

It was moved by Mr. Stewart, seconded by Mr. Robinson that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Wm. Claxton for his services rendered the board. Mr. Claxton in a short speech thanked the members for their kindness and said he had always endeavored to deal fairly and squarely by the board and freely give the members the advantage and benefit of his long experience as a cheese buyer. He strongly recommended that no cheese be sold except by contract. The date of the first sales was fixed for Thursday, May. 25th.

The board then adjourned at three o'clock.

Life Insurance.

An abstract of the operations of Canadian Life Insurance companies during the year 1891 shows how rapidly the business has grown, more particularly during the last decade. In the twelve months ending with December, 20,830 new policies, covering $23,286,478 of insurance were taken out, bringing the number of policies in force at the close of the year up to 99,130, a gain of 6,306. It is obvious, however, that as only 912 policies became claims during the period, while over 20,000 were taken out, the percentage of lapses continues very large, exceeding 60 per cent of the applications acted upon. The total amount of insurance in force by Canadian companies is now no less than $148,343,000, the average amount per policy being $1,500, and to clearly exhibit the extra ordinary progression of the business the following figures are subjoined:—

	1881.	1891.
Premiums	$1,207,726	$4,462,675
Amount effected	11,166,482	23,286,500
Amount in force	60,841,800	148,343 000

The premium income last year was half a million greater than in 1890, the exact figures being $464,000, while the amount of policies which became claims rose from $1,236,168 to $1 391,194. An item of expenditure which is likely to increase in the future is the payment of endowment claims, policies of this kind now beginning to fall due in larger numbers; last year $163,000 was paid on this account, as compared with only $66,940 in the preceding year. Of the total amount of life insurance carried by Canadians, more than one-half is in the hands of the home companies, while fifteen years ago our own institutions had less than one-fourth of the whole business. In the volume of insurance carried, the Canada Life easily ranks first, with the large sum of $56,104,000, the Confederation following next with $20,870,000, and then the Sun Life with $19,425,000. It is proper to add, however, that these three institutions are more nearly on a par in point of new business effected last year, the Canada Life having issued 2 103 policies for $4 959,200; the Sun Life, 2,245 policies for $4,012,517, and the Confederation, 1,926 policies for $3,004,606.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1. dw

Sufferers

FROM Stomach and Liver derangements—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick-Headache, and Constipation—find a safe and certain relief in Ayer's Pills. In all cases where a cathartic is needed, these Pills are recommended by leading physicians.

Dr. T. E. Hastings, of Baltimore, says: "Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic and aperient within the reach of my profession."

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oceana, W. Va., writes: "I have prescribed Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. I urge their general use in families."

"For a number of years I was afflicted with biliousness which almost destroyed my health. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills."—G. S. Wanderlich, Scranton, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since."—T. P. Brown, Chester, Pa.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these Pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"Ayer's Pills have been used in my family upwards of twenty years, and have completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afforded me greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—Thomas F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

Contract Awarded.

The contract for building the new brick school house in school section No. 4, Eamismore, was awarded to Mr. Richard Sheehy, the figures being $361.00, his being the lowest tender. The following tenders were put in: James Bogue, $555; T. Corkery, $550; E. Mann, $387; J. Jopling, $490; R. Sheehy, $361; A. Headren, $390; A. A. McIntyre, $369. The apparently small figures are explained by the fact that the material is provided by the trustees.

A Serious Accident.

Mr. Harry Drake, cabman, residing on Hunter street, met with a rather painful accident on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Drake was out to the barn and had placed a ladder up to the loft for the purpose of climbing up. While in the act of ascending the ladder slipped on the ice throwing him forcibly on some sleighs. The fall was a severe one and had the effects of stunning him for some minutes. Mr. Drake sustained two nasty cuts on his right cheek and one on his left. One of his eyes is badly injured and his right shoulder and arm were hurt and are swollen. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

NORTHWEST MISSIONS.

Rev. Dr. Robertson Superintendent of Northwest Missions in Town.

He Preached Two Eloquent and Convincing Sermons on the Work Yesterday —The Country, its resources, Fertility and Prospects—Rapid Growth and Abundant Hope for the Future.

Rev. Dr. Robertson, General Superintendent of Presbyterian Missions in the North-Territories, preached two powerful and eloquent sermons yesterday, to large congregations. Dr. Robertson has been superintendent of missions in the far west for ten years, and is making a tour throughout Ontario endeavouring to create an interest among the people in the Canadian mission fields and to raise funds in order that the work so successfully carried on during the past few years, may be prosecuted with still greater activity. In the morning Dr. Robertson preached in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, choosing as text: St Matthew 13 chap., 31, 32 and 33 verses.

Dr. Robertson in the course of an eloquent discourse furnished a great deal of information relative to the growth, prosperity, resources and advantages of the Canadian Northwest. He graphically described the work being carried on in the mission fields there which as yet was like the grain of mustard seed of his text.

In the evening he preached in St. Andrew's church, from the words found in St. Luke xxiv chapter, 45, 46, 47 and 48 verses. The preacher said there was not a soul round about Jerusalem but might have heard the Gospel preached. Christ's disciples might well have asked if He Himself had not all over, and what was the use of them following in His path? The doctrine of the resurrection preached in Jerusalem first was one of the strongest evidences of that great event. If the Gospel was to go to India, China, Africa and other benighted regions, we in Canada, England and the United States must have a basis for carrying on the work. The people must be living witnesses of God's truth and work. If the question of Christ's having risen from the dead was asked we would answer, yes. The evidence of a change wrought in a drunkard or a thief by God's grace and power, changing the man in his conduct, feelings, motions and aspirations, was one of the most convincing proof of the doctrine of the resurrection and the power of a living Christ. Dr. Robertson stated he had specially come to tell them something of the work in the West, what they have done and are endeavoring to do, and to receive their assistance in the matter, The question had often been put to him, "can you give any good reason for the mission work in the west being so vigorously pushed." His answer was that he would not engage in a work half heartedly. If it was worth doing, it was worth doing well, and if he did not mean business he would give it up. The West was a country of vast resources. Some might belittle and disparage her, but those who studied her advantages and resources had found her no mean factor of the Dominion. People were continuously flocking in to fill up the country and till the land. The West was becoming the home of a vast population and it was necessary that the resulting society should be built upon the foundations of truth and Christianity. The silver, iron and coal mines were illimitable and inexhaustible. There was ten times the area of Ontario to occupy in farming and pasture land, and the resources of the mines could never give out. One could easily see that a mighty population was soon to take root there. True the climate was cold, but where the best of wheat grew, the Anglo Saxon race could live and flourish. Among no people could you carry on mission work better than among the Celts and Saxons. They were an intelligent, thrifty, law-abiding, energetic and industrious people. They were largely our own children. Fully one-third of the population belonging to the Northwest were adherents of the Presbyterian church. It was better worth while to look after these children when they went away than to leave them to take care of themselves. If we neglected them there, there was no one to look after them at all. Among the churches it was not half as interesting to begin work in the west as in India, China or Japan. He was utterly unable to get a missionary to labour among the Chinese in British Columbia. There was not romance enough about the work off there, but plenty of missionaries could be secured to embark in work in China. It required good, practical common sense to carry on the work in the west, and it should be carried on vigorously for God had abundantly blessed the prosecution of the work during the past ten years, since he had been superintendent of the work. There were then between Lake Superior and the sea when he undertook the work. There were now 71 congregations, 28 missions and 143 missionaries. A decade ago the gospel was preached at only 116 points; last summer it was preached at 639 points. The number of Presbyterians then was 1,153, now there were over 14,000 communicants. The people ten years ago gave $15,100 for this work, last year they contributed $194 700. The people of the west are very liberal, and would gladly give largely for the work if they had it. Their average giving was $19.90 a member, while in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, the average was only $12.81. The lack of funds prevented the prosecution of the work, and the amount which the people and the committee were going to give was uncertain. How was a man going to carry on the work? Twenty-seven new fields were occupied last summer, and the bulk of the funds was contributed by the members of the church. We wanted the gospel of God's grace planted in the country, and we should be thankful that we had this grand field for operation. For the whole work they were getting only 35 cents from each member of the church, and it would require 52 cts. a head to carry on the work satisfactorily. This he did not think was a large amount to receive from each member. Speaking figuratively, the West was a big boy. It was growing into strong and vigorous manhood and when grown up the people of Canada would be proud of her noble and patriotic son. In one field a man had lived for eight years and no service of any kind had ever been held. Young men from Ontario going off there had had their morals corrupted and plunged into the very depths of sin from having no one to look after their spiritual welfare, perishing for want of a shepherd. In another part of the country a Scotchman, emigrated to the North West over forty years ago, had been unable to become married to an Indian woman with whom he had lived for over forty years, simply through the lack of a clergyman to perform the ceremony. The man's children and grand children had never been baptized as no missionary had ever visited that field in forty years. Dr. Robertson instanced the case of several districts comprising seventy, eighty and even hundreds of families perishing from the lack of the Gospel and tidings of salvation. So great was the interest and enthusiasm taken in the work wherever missionaries had planted foot that the people had in a great many instances erected churches, built a manse and had become self sustaining. Seven years ago they had one presbytery; after the meeting of the next general assembly they would have two synods and ten presbyteries. It would require from only $12,000 to $15,000 to successfully carry on the work and as only $70,000 was now asked, he thought this additional amount could easily be raised. The summer session to be held in Winnipeg would be the means of supplying many more men for the important work. The doctor closed an hour's interesting and instructive addresses by invoking God's blessing upon this great and important work.

ONLY TWO CONGREGATIONS

Police Court.

MONDAY, Feb. 22nd.

There was a large crowd at the police court this morning.

John Adlum, who was summoned for being drunk and disorderly, was allowed to go by the magistrate on suspended sentence. He promised to sign the pledge.

The case of Wm. Swinton and others against J. J. Brealy, binding him over to keep the peace, was enlarged a week.

The charge of embezzlement preferred against Goldsmith English by the Singer Sewing Machine Company was then taken up. Mr. R. E. Wood, County Attorney, conducted the prosecution while Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the prisoner.

MISS DAVIDSON was the first witness examined. She said she was in the employ of the Singer Manufacturing Company's branch office in town as book keeper, having charge of the office work up to Jan. 2nd, 1891. Every agent taking a machine had to record his signature in the books. On September 12th, 1891 there was an entry "V. S. 3, No. 882596," signed G. S. English. The machine was sold to Mr. Blackwell. She spoke to prisoner several times about the return of it. He replied that it was impossible to get a lease or note from the purchaser and it was impossible to get the cash until Mr. Blackwell had disposed of some produce. He reported it as placed on trial. He began to complain that he was not having machines enough to sell, was loosing money and threatened to sue the company. At time of complaint he had two machines. In September orders were issued to bring in all machines not sold. Agents do not generally leave machines on trial longer than two or three weeks. Have orders to that effect. They are provided with leases and blank notes which they sometimes use.

MISS IDA MARTIN was next sworn. She was the present book keeper at the Singer Sewing Machine Office. Had taken Miss Davidson's place, and occupied the same position. She commenced work on January 4th, 1892. She and Miss Davidson worked together on January 2 No return of the machine had been made to her, nor had Mr. English spoken to her about any machine.

Mr. J. A. BLACKWELL, said he lived in Emily township. Knew the prisoner. He had arranged to buy the machine of him, price paid to be $33. He got a guarantee with the machine. He wanted a year to pay for the machine in. He gave his note for a year. English came back to him and had note changed as he could not get it cashed, as the date was too long. He then gave him a note for four months so that he could get it cashed in advance. Prisoner knew note was to be cashed. Note was lifted at the Ontario Bank and was paid before it was due.

Mr. W. D. PARKER stated he was accountant at the Ontario Bank. Note was discounted on 28th Sept. 1891. Mr. English brought it and wanted money upon it. Discounted it for him and took note. It was marked paid, Jan. 27th. 1891. Mark bore the stamp of the bank.

Mr. J. W. MCCREARY local manager for the company stated that English had been working for the company under him about two years. He had had no unpleasantness with him during that time. He refused last fall to give him machines until he had reported what he had out. English complained that the company had not treated him fairly—that they were owing him for horse feed, and lost time. He threatened to sue the company for damages. Prisoner said he could not effect an immediate settlement with Blackwell till the latter had disposed of some produce and that he would not give him the money for the machine. English told him on January that he would settle for one machine providing he would give him more. He did not state that he had money for the machine or what machine it was. In November prisoner had four or five machines out. Agents sometimes had that many. English complained that the company was indebted to him without mentioning the amount. Prisoner said he would report if paid for horse feed and lost time. On Jan. 19th he said he had the money but would not pay it over for above reason. Salesmen do not guarantee their sales. Agents take notes but are not in the habit of cashing them. Mr. Edwards on behalf of the prisoner addressed His Worship, who said he would consider the matter carefully and give judgment on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

Church Chimes.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, M.A., pastor of St. Paul's church, preached a sermon last evening on the late Cardinal Manning and Chas. H. Spurgeon.

Rev. Joseph H. Locke, pastor of the George street Methodist church, conducted services yesterday in the George street Methodist church.

The incandescent electric lights which were placed in the Murray street Baptist church last week were lighted for the first time at last evening's service. There are fourteen lights in all, seven on each side, which brilliantly light up the edifice.

Rev. Jas. Thom, B.A., pastor of the Mark street Methodist church, conducted the services in the George street Methodist church last evening. He preached to a large congregation from the words the 13th verse of the 13th chapter of Corinthians:—"And now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three, but the greater of these is charity."

Rev. W. R. Cook, of Cavanville, preached in the George street Methodist church Sunday morning. He chose as his text the 10th verse of the first chapter II epistle of Peter: "Wherefore the rather brethren give diligence to make your calling and election sure, for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall." In the evening the Rev. Mr. Cook officiated at the Mark street Methodist church and preached a powerful, practical sermon to a large congregation.

Temperance in the Schools.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to the article re Temperance in the Schools contained in your issue of Saturday last over the signature of "A W. C. T. U. Woman," asking me to explain why I taught one lesson on the subject in question, and that on the last day of school, I say emphatically that she is still not in the possession of facts in the matter, as I did not mention the subject the last day of school, and would ask her to comply with her request to parents, and come and investigate before the class, as she says they (the pupils of my class) informed her that I "did teach one lesson."

If the W.C.T.U. woman had pursued this course of investigation before writing her first article on this subject, neither her controversial powers nor mine would have paraded the public mind, nor would she now be under the necessity of either retracting another false charge, of only one lesson being taught, or of lying under the imputation of having made another incorrect statement without having fairly and honestly investigated the matter.

Wishing to be charitable in the matter, I accept her statement that she "never meant to state" what she did state in regard to teaching this subject. I am sure she would not had she been thoughtful enough to come and see.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for you kindness,
I am yours truly,
WM. SMITH,
Principal Public Schools.

The Germs Came in Rawhides.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The official report of the Danish veterinarian on the recent outbreak in London of foot and mouth disease among the cattle said to be from Denmark concludes with the statement that it is not possible that the contagion was contracted in Denmark or aboard ship, and that it is probable that the cattle became infected in Islington market. The report confirms the view of the veterinarian attached to American Consulate in London that the germs of the disease were imported in raw hides from Germany and is in accordance with the fact that animals have been attacked in England which never came in contact with Danish beasts.

Ulster Supports the Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Ulster members have imparted to Mr. Balfour their approval of the Irish Local Government Bill, together with the opinion that it is advisable to withdraw the clause investing the judges with supervisory power over the council, and the transfer of power to assess damages for malicious injury or murder from the grand committees to the county court judges.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

The Effect of Anticipation.

A well known commercial man returning from a business trip in the west, on Saturday night, and indulging as he reached town, in a little anticipation of the morrow, got thinking of attending church. As he thought of the sermon he would hear, he went to sleep as naturally as if he was actually listening to it, and was carried past the station, and only woke to find that he was at Norwood, where he was compelled to stay till morning. He reached home in time for church—but didn't go.

SARAH IS MAD.

St Louis Refuses to House Berhardt and Her Dog, Too.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22.—Sarah Bernhardt reached here in her private car yesterday. Her manager had telegraphed ahead for seven rooms at the Southern Hotel, but the managers of that hostelry were unable to comply with the request, and the divine Sarah had to be content with three rooms, but the hotel people said they could not permit her to bring her pet animals with her, so Sarah said that rather than be separated from her four-footed companion she would remain in her car.

After a two hours' stay at the depot she reconsidered her determination and entering a cab drove to the Lindell. Here she was told that her requirements could not be granted, and after a rather stormy scene Mlle. Bernhardt drove to the Southern. She had evidently wearied of the attempt to keep her St. Bernard companion with her and told the hotel people she would not insist on the dog sharing her rooms with her, but during her ride the rooms had been engaged and Sarah's choler, which had been gradually rising, now reached a point where she could find relief in an outburst of the most emphatic French that has greeted the ears of the hotel folks in many a day.

She again folded her wraps about her, and giving the hotel clerk in particular and St. Louis in general, such a scorching as only Sarah can give, once more entered the cab, and at a late hour this afternoon was wandering about the streets in a pouring rain, seeking relief for herself, maid and dog.

MANY SHIPS WRECKED.

A Spanish Vessel Goes Down With All on Board.

London, Feb. 22.—What is likely to prove the gravest maritime disaster which has occurred since the tempestuous weather of the past week set in is reported from the Cornish coast.

A large vessel, whose name is unknown, but which is supposed to be a Spanish steamer, has been wrecked off Penzance and it is feared all hands who were aboard of her are lost.

Already brief despatches telling of tragic and horrifying scenes which attended the disaster have been received.

It is learned that a boat containing six men which had set out from the vessel for shore was capsized almost immediately in the blinding gale. The boat was next seen keel upward, but none of her crew could be seen except two men.

The first of these was clinging to the boat in desperation. He was seen to be twice washed off, the second was swimming in an effort to reach safety. Efforts made by the coast guard to help the two men proved too late and both were drowned.

Two boats from the wreck and a quantity of wreckage have come ashore.

A Cork packet boat towed a Norwegian schooner to Queenstown to-day. The master of the schooner was drowned. The schooner Petrel has also been towed to Queenstown. She was found abandoned.

The steamer Corea, from Cardiff for Ganoa, has been sunk near St. Vincent.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

On Saturday evening Messrs. Miller, Early and the General Secretary gave their impressions of the Provincial Convention held last week at London, which seemed to interest the young men present, and a very helpful after meeting was held with good results.

Mr. Thomas Dodds led the Bible study and consecration service on Sabbath morning very profitably. The attendance was excellent, and much interest was manifested.

Mr. R. M. Russell's earnest and practical talk at the personal purity meeting yesterday afternoon was much appreciated by the young men present, and we are hoping for results from it. The orchestra led the singing.

Last evening the attendance and interest was good at the gospel and song service. Mr. Early gave a short talk on the work being done by the Y.M.C.A. and what was done at the London convention. Mr. George Gilchrist, one of our active members, who leaves this week for Vancouver, B. C., spoke on the benefits derived from the association, and bade us God-speed and farewell. It was a time of refreshing from the presence of the Lord.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 4. All ladies interested invited. Reports will be presented and officers elected.

Devotional and invitation committees will meet on Tuesday evening at 8.

Bible study Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

We have received from a friend two elegant engravings, "The Entry into Jerusalem," and "Christ Led to Crucifixion," and which Mr. H. Thompson has kindly framed. We thank them both very much. Also another friend for Bible Readings for Home Circle, and 'Review of Reviews,' 'Manufacturer and Builder,' and 'American Machinist.' For these practical gifts we are very grateful.

STORY OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE PANORAMA IDEA.

Robert Barker Said to Have Caught It by Noting the Effect of Light Thrown Down a Shaft Upon a Letter—Early Panoramas in Paris—Optical Illusions.

The people who stand upon the central platform of a modern panorama, says the Chicago Herald, and lend themselves freely to its deceptions know that the illusion is so complete that they can scarcely realize that they are not before nature itself, and those gifted with lively imaginations can readily persuade themselves that they are participants in the action represented.

Even those in whose make-up there is less sensibility and more inquisitiveness

cannot always discover how the illusion is produced; to divine where the real objects in the foreground and the canvas commence; what is the size of the painted figures, and how a broad expanse of country can be represented in so small a space are bewildering to them and they feel that they have been duped.

It is for the latter class that this article is written. The others, those gentle, artless natures whose pleasure in life is made up of illusions, are warned that in reading this they must deprive themselves of the pleasure of ever taking part again in any of the battles of the Civil War, witnessing the Crucifixion, or similar thrilling events.

The history of panoramas from the time of their invention, a little more than a century ago, gives a good idea of how the present perfection of illusion was reached.

There is a story which may be true or not, that a young painter named Robert

A FEW SILHOUETTES.

Barker was imprisoned for debt in Edinburg, Scotland, in 1785, and that during his incarceration in a cell which was lighted from above by an air-shaft that was close to the wall, he had occasion one day to read a letter, and when he placed it against the wall near the air-shaft he was so astonished at the brilliant effect of the light upon it that he resolved to use the principle in lighting large paintings from above.

Whether this story is true or not, Barker is the acknowledged discoverer of the principle of panoramas, and he received a patent for his invention in 1787. Five years after he exhibited in Leicester Square, London, his first complete panorama representing the "English fleet at anchor between Portsmouth and the Isle of Wight."

Paris and Berlin were the first continental cities to have panoramas, where they were first shown in 1800. In 1786 Robert Fulton went to London, where he studied painting under Benjamin West, and readily comprehended the scheme of the panorama which he saw there. 1796 he went to Paris and in 1799 was granted what was called a brevet d'importation giving him the right to construct panoramas in Paris. Lacking in funds he sold his right to Mr. and Mrs. James Thayer, who constructed two cupolas on the Boulevard Montmartre on either side of the passage which to-day bears the name of the Passage des Panoramas. In them were placed a "View of Paris" and "The Evacuation of Toulon by the English in 1793," executed by three French artists, Prevost, Mouchet, Fontaine, and Bourgeois, who received 8,000 francs for each of the paintings. The buildings were 23 feet high by 35 feet in diameter, and were lighted by glazed frames which cast a shadow on the painting. Above the central platform was hung an awning, which prevented the upper edge of the painting from being seen, and a drapery of the same color as the awning extended from the base of the platform to the lower edge of the picture. Their success was prodigious, as was also that of others which followed in spite of their imperfections. The painter David took his pupils to see the panoramas on the Boulevard Montmartre, and after regarding them attentively for some moments said:

"Truly, gentlemen, it is here we must come to study nature."

In 1810 Napoleon visited a panorama in Paris representing "The Interview of Tilsitt in 1807" and was impressed with the idea that it would be an excellent means to popularize his victories. He ordered an architect to prepare plans for eight rotundas to be erected on the Champs Elysees. In each of these one of the grand battles of the revolution or the empire was to have been represented. The events 1812 prevented the realization of the project. Barker had taken his panoramas, or nausoramas, as he called them, to Germany, where they were shown in Hamburg in 1799 and in Leipsic the following year.

In 1830 the first attempts were made to supplement the painting with a foreground simulated with natural objects, and Daguerre, the discoverer of photography, who made the first dioramas, made use of silhouettes of figure and objects cut out like the set pieces of scenery in theaters.

The construction of buildings in which modern panoramas are exhibited need but little description. They are simply rotundas with a conical roof, a zone of which is glazed, admitting light into the building directly in front of the painting, which is on a circular band of canvas attached to a rail at the top of the roof and weighed down at the bottom with sacks of sand or paving-stones. The upper edge is hidden by the drapery which is hung over the central platform, and its lower edges are hidden by the foreground, so that the canvas is apparently without end.

When the canvas is sized and primed with several coats of paint it is ready for the artists. The subject to be painted is usually drawn from a sketch made on a smaller scale, though sometimes landscape scenes are thrown up after the manner of stereopticon views and traced with charcoal.

In looking at a picture, no matter how large, the frame announces that the spectator is not in the presence of nature, but at the same time, if proportions and tones are just, the frame shuts out natural objects which may serve as points of comparison. In a panorama the same principles are applied and the absence of a frame makes the illusion still more striking. In a picture there is but one point of view, in a panorama there is one point of view for what is practically a series of pictures. This point of view is the center of the platform on which the spectator stands and the horizon is drawn on the canvas at the same height as the eye of the spectator. There are several considerations which must be observed in drawing the perspective of buildings, streets, or rectilinear forms. The surface of the canvas, besides being concave instead of flat as in a picture, has a tendency to bulge in the center and this is remedied somewhat by making the circumference at the bottom smaller than at the top. For this reason all lines which appear straight from the platform are curved and often irregular on account of the uneven curvature of the canvas.

This is illustrated in two sketches of the Rush stree bridge as it appears in the cyclorama of the "Chicago Fire," which show it as it will appear from the platform and from the floor below when the work is completed.

In drawing figures in the foreground their lower extremities are made long in order to counteract the foreshortening caused by the elevated point of sight and the curvature of the canvas. The tallest painted figures in a large panorama, like the "Chicago Fire," are not a yard in height, though they appear to be life-size from the platform. In smaller panoramas, where the canvas is nearer the spectator, the figures must be drawn larger.

In general the tones in a panorama are more gray than in pictures. High lights of great brilliancy are obtained by applying tinsel to the canvas, which stands out at right angles to the canvas and catches the light. In front of the canvas are placed silhouettes made of canvas pasted on wood and cut out, as is sometimes done in stage scenery. In front of this are placed real objects.

The ingenuity of artists and promoters of panoramas is continually employed in devising means to increase the realism in effects produced. This is especially noticeable in the cyclorama of the great Chicago fire. It will doubtless prove a revelation not only to the general public but to those more or less familiar with panoramic methods. In this work the fire will be shown burning at the very feet of the spectator. Crumbling walls in the foreground will suddenly glow with furnace heat and gradually become somber and dark, the effects coming and going in a surprising realistic manner. This and other novel effects are produced by mechanical, electrical, and chemical devices, together with a system of reflecting surfaces.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ©

The London Convention.

Impressions of the Y. M. C. A. Annual Convention Given by Delegates on Saturday Evening.

There was a fair attendance of young men at the Saturday night meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Saturday evening. Mr. R. J. Colville, General Secretary, presided. He called attention to the fact that as Peterborough was to have the next annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. next February, when delegates would be present from all over the province, it would be well to gain some idea and knowledge from the Convention recently held in London its work, benefits, advantages and lessons.

Mr. ALFRED MILLAR said the first and most important impression he formed was how little are we doing for those around us. How much more we need to study the Word than we have in order that we may be better able to prosecute this work. Everyone who attended the Convention must have been struck with the fact of how liittle are we doing for Christ and the idea of doing more than has been done in the past. If young men were to be converted and become honest, useful and upright workers in the cause, they must needs start early in life.

Mr. G. J. EARLY, President, said he had attended a convention held in London several years ago, but it was of a different nature from the recent one. One thing which surprised him most was to see so many college associations so largely represented. He had no idea of the large number of college Y. M. C.A.'s before. These Associations were organized by Christian young men attending our Canadian colleges and universities. They were doing a noble work throughout the whole college realm in throwing the mantle of Christianity around young men just entering upon their careers, surrounded by so many temptations. He believed each chairman of the various committees, should bring in reports at the monthly meetings and that they should also be on the Board of Directors. He was also impressed at the convention that more young men should take part in the public services in connection with the association. A boys branch should be established in connection with each association. These should not be started by having fascinating games for the purpose of entrapping boys in the association. They should be brought into the work and made to become intrusted in it, they would then grow into the men's branch. He thought from the reports of the various associations, that Peterborough had one of the strongest and flourishing organizations in the province. Her reports in all the departments, stood well ahead. Every association should have a Bible class; it fitted young men for personal work. The convention was thrilled through and through, by two excellent Bible readings and a masterly address given by Bishop Baldwin, a grand and liberal-minded Christain man. His address was on prayer and its power. Bishop Baldwin said there were three kinds of prayer, private, public and social prayer. Mr. Early stated he had been impressed wonderfully with what he thought was one of the most successful and instructive conventions ever held and that he had resolved to devote himself more than ever to Y.M.C.A. work. Secretary Colville stated that he had the priviledge of meeting Mr. Sayer, General Secretary of the London Y.M.C.A. branch and found him a grand man and a noble worker The London Association had left nothing undone and had accomplished all in their power to make the stay of the numerous delegates a pleasant and profitable one. The London association had established a policemen's branch and the weekly meeting in this branch was largely attended by the sturdy guardians of the peace. This new department was already doing a grand and blessed work. The reports of the provincial committees were very interesting and presented a highly satisfactory showing. The paper of Mr. Brown, of Chicago, on Bible study was carefully prepared, and all were enlightened by it. He said that associations, members, our lives and all would be a signal failure if we neglected the study of God's word. The Sunday morning consecration service resulted in the conversion of twelve young men. The farewell services were also impressive. It was the most successful and profitable convention he had ever attended

Mayor Spence, of London, was a grand Christian man and an earnest Y. M. C. A. worker. He gave a practical and powerful address for the delegates. The paper could not use the many visitors to the city too kindly and took them all one afternoon for a drive around the city. Mr. Colville closed with the prayer that the next annual convention holden Peterborough might be even more successful, helpful, effective and profitable than the one recently held had been.

The great majority of so called laxatives do little more than impair the digestive functions and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral on the contrary, while it cures the cough, does not interfere with the functions of either stomach or liver.

If you give up hope of ever having rid of that cough, after you have tried Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which makes flesh and blood, is a positive cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, sore throats and all throat and lung troubles in consequence. Thousands have thrown away crutches and gained from five to fifteen pounds in weight by taking one bottle of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, which contains hypophosphites of lime and soda. In big bottles, 50c. and $1 at Peterborough drug stores.

She Ate Candles

MALTON, Feb. 20.—Elizabeth Rowe, widow, was fined £10 to-day for brutally ill-treating her step-daughter. She had compelled the child to eat candles and to drink brine and soapy water. She had also tied the child by the arms and legs to a bed and left her there for the whole night. In addition to this torture the child was frightfully bruised by beating.

McGreevy Is Out of It.

QUEBEC, Feb. 20.—John Hearn and Arthur H. Murphy were nominated for Quebec West, the former in the interests of the Government, and the latter as Liberal candidate. Thomas McGreevy retired from the contest.

It is said that McGreevy retired at the request of Hon. Edward Blake, who arrived here yesterday.

Yellowhead's Fate.

ORILLIA, Feb. 19.—Edward Yellowhead, an Indian belonging to Rama, was struck by a train, receiving injuries which resulted in his death. He was found lying beside the track with three ribs crushed into his lungs and only lived a few hours.

Killed While Skidding Logs.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 19.—Richard Walter of East Wawanosh was skidding logs in his bush, when his leg was caught by a log and was smashed to a pulp. He only lived two days.

A Blind Man Killed.

MACLEOD, N.W.T., Feb. 19.—While a blind Peigan Indian was being led by a boy close to a high cut bank near the reserve the boy went too close to the edge, and his blind companion fell over and was instantly killed.

The New Brunswick Appeals.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 20.—An appeal will be taken against the judgment of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick in dismissing appeals against the return of Hon. Mr. Foster, and also in the Queen's county case, which awards the seat to Mr. Baird.

"Adonis" Dixey Sued for $5000.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—William Gill, the playwright, has brought suit in the Superior Court against Actor Henry E. Dixey for $5000 for alleged breach of contract. Gill alleges that Dixey agreed to pay him for writing "The Seven Ages," but failed to do so.

Another M. P. Dying.

SACKVILLE, N.B., Feb. 20.—Mr. Josiah Wood, M.P., is very ill, and it is understood with congestion of the lungs as a complication of la grippe.

More cases of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver Pills, than by any other means. dw

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are enemies greatly to be feared. With B. B. B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results. dw

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Canada's Wonder.

The more it is known and the further it is carried to distant shores the greater grows the wonder. All nations and tongues declar St. Leon perfection to assist digestion, purification of the blood, the assimilation of the food, circulation and promote healthy vigor life-long. St. Leon Water has no compeer. For sale all over. dw

A Wonderful Change.

GENTLEMEN,—For twenty years I suffered from rheumatism, dyspepsia, poor appetite, etc., and received no benefit from the many medicines I tried, but after taking five bottles of B. B. B. I can eat heartily of any food, and am strong and smart. It is a grand medicine and has made a wonderful change in my health.
dw MRS. W. H. LEE, Harley, Ont

My wife and I had dandruff and lots of it, accompanied by almost continual itching of the scalp. Anti-Dandruff entirely relieved us from both annoyances, and we think that it is the best preparation known to clean out dandruff, tone the hair and act as a dressing, without giving an unnatural appearance.

STORMS IN ENGLAND.

THE TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND IN A FLEECY MANTLE.

A Large Spanish Vessel Sunk off the Cornwall Coast With All On Board—New Cabinet in France—A British Garrison in Upper Burmah Besieged.

SIGNAPORE, Feb. 22.—Fort Sadon in Upper Burmah, which is garrisoned by a force of British troops, is surrounded by 500 Katchyens. The latter have made repeated attacks on the stronghold, but so far have been repulsed. Nineteen men of the British force have been either killed or wounded. The garrison is closely besieged by the enemy, who have completely blocked the road leading to the fort. Ten Sepoys have been massacred while on their way thither.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Advices have been received from Upper Burmah to the effect that the Sadon post which is being besieged by Katchyens is garrisoned by 100 natives and seven British infantry under the command of Lieutenant Harrison. The Katchyen attack was instigated by Chinamen who have been disputing the frontier line and who have lately been encroaching on frontier posts within the Central line.

Major Yale chief in command of the district is away with 500 men dispersing Katchyens and is not expected to return to Sadon until the 25th. Details of the reverse are still wanting.

BURIED IN WHITE.

Great Britain Encounters Another Heavy Snow Storm.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Snow storms prevailed Saturday night throughout the United Kingdom.

In London two inches of snow fell.

In North Wales ten thousand quarrymen have been thrown out of work by the snow that has fallen to great depths in that part of the country.

All outdoor work in the shipyards at Hartlepool has been stopped, rendering idle 7000 men.

The snow storm continues in Westmoreland and traffic on the various railway lines is seriously impeded.

Further despatches from Ireland are to the effect that the snow is still falling heavily in that country, and that in Cork and adjoining places the roads are covered to a depth of four feet, and in consequence traffic has been almost entirely suspended. The despatches say that the roads in Listowell district, Kerry County, are also badly blocked by huge drifts.

MATERIAL FOR A PLAY.

A Paris Foundling's Fight for a Fortune.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—A case with incidents that would make a society drama commenced before the First Chamber, Civil Tribunal, on Tuesday. Thirty-five years ago a new-born child was received at the Assistance Publique in Nancy. The boy grew up under the impression that he was an orphan.

At the age of 23 Albert Bauer, the presumed orphan, was in the employ of the Northern Railway Company at Dunkerque. There the idea occurred to him to see his birth certificate. Having obtained this document he succeeded in finding his mother. Sophie Bauer had become Mme. De Castro, the wife of a wealthy Spanish gentleman, who owned a hotel in the Champs Elysees quarter of Paris.

An affectionate correspondence between mother and son followed, but for obvious reasons the latter was not introduced to Signor Castro.

Now the mother is dead and Albert wants his share of her fortune, which is estimated at 300,000 francs. Whether he is legally entitled to this or not is being considered by the First Chamber.

A Dog's Cunning.

Hunting dogs, when they grow old, become rheumatic, or at least debilitated with pains. We know, too, that they crave heat, and get as near the fire as possible—a craving which increases as they grow older. One such dog, older than the others and slower in getting into the the lodge on returning from the hunt, was often crowded away from the fire by other livelier dogs getting the best places before him. Finding himself thus turned out in the cold, he would dash toward the door barking, when the others, supposing it was an alarm, would rush away too, while the old rheumatic went to the fire and selected a place to suit him. —Revue Scientifique.

Well-Known Stock Exporter Dead.

BRAMPTON, Feb. 22.—Robert Craig, the well-known live stock exporter and extensive land owner of the county of Peel, died at his residence in Brampton after a brief illness in the 82nd year of his age. Mr. Craig was known from one end of the Dominion to the other.

SIX THOUSAND FOR A LIFE.

A Widow's Suit Against Her Husband's Murderer.

VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 22.—The suit of Mrs. Alice A. Holmes, administratrix of the estate of Elsie W. Leech v. John W. Graeler and O'Connell Fairhurst, guardian, for damages occupied the attention of the Knox Circuit Court in this city since Saturday.

The plaintiff is the mother of Elsie W. Leech, a Pullman car conductor on the Iron Mountain Railroad, who was shot and killed last February at Bald Knob, Mo., by the defendant, a passenger, who had suddenly become insane. Graeler lives in Vincennes and is very wealthy. Since the killing he has been in a private asylum for the insane at Cincinnati, until recently when he was released, having regained his sanity. Fairhurst was appointed his guardian.

The case was bitterly fought and a great array of legal talent appeared on both sides.

The jury after deliberating all night, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff awarding her $6000.

Kissed the Corpse and Fell Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Kate Hartney, a sister of Undertaker Edward Hope, died at her home, in Third-street, Jersey City, Monday. Mrs. Isaac Kaylor, widow of Isaac Kaylor, a prominent Democratic politician, was in the house Monday night. She had been a life-long friend of Mrs. Hartney. At midnight Mrs. Kaylor told the relatives that she was going home.

"I will take a last look at my dear friend," she said, and she bowed over the casket and kissed the lips of the corpse. The next moment Mrs. Kaylor gasped and fell to the floor, dead.

A physician said death resulted from heart disease.

Gave His Babe Strychnine Instead of Teething Powder.

WIARTON, Feb. 22.—The 9-year-old child of John Lemcke complained of being unwell and feverish. The mother, thinking that its teeth was the cause, requested her husband to go to the cupboard and mix up one of the Steedman's teething powders. Not seeing the powder where he expected to find it, looked around and discovered another powder in a dish which he supposed was the powder desired, mixed it up and gave it. Ten minutes later the child was dead. The drug was strychnine, which had been purchased in Wiarton a few days previous to kill mice and had been in the dish.

Greer and the Heslop Murder Alibi.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 22.—On Wednesday night Detective Greer arrived in the city and remained over night, going on to Middleport shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The object of his late frequent visits to the Indian bush and to Middleport is to get up corroborative evidence that Douglas and Goosey were at the reserve and in the vicinity on the day of the Heslop murder. It is expected the defence will try to prove an alibi for Bartram and Lottridge, and that such evidence will be brought from Lewiston, N.Y., as will tend to throw the greatest discredit upon the testimony given by Douglas and Goosey.

The defence allege that the two Indians were not even in Ontario at the time of the murder and will try to show that Douglas, at least, was in Lewiston. Against this Detective Greer is hunting up proof of their being near Middleport, and has already unearthed the fact that a funeral took place on the reserve the day of the murder, and that Douglas was present at it.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

Quarreling Hungarians Use Their Knives with Terrible Effect.

LETHBRIDGE, N.W.T., Feb. 23.—On Saturday evening a number of Hungarian miners were imbibing pretty freely in the bar of the McKenzie House, when an altercation arose between two young men, Adam Varge and Frank Tykodi. The quarrel had scarcely begun when the latter whipped out a clasp knife and, before any one could interfere, stabbed Varge twice, once in the face near the ear and again in the back. The assailant was arrested.

Later in the evening, between 12 and 1 o'clock, a party of Hungarians were passing the boarding house in the railway yard near the track. Joe Tojan, a Slav, was chopping wood at the door, and Paul Onwick, one of the party, called him an insulting name. A few words ensued and Onwick rushed upon Tojan brandishing an ugly knife in his left hand. There was a groan and Tojan fell to the ground insensible, with the blood pouring from a terrible wound in his right breast. The knife had been sunk deeply in the man's breast and given a twist, making a ghastly cut and severing a large artery. It is doubtful if he will recover. Onwick was arrested.

The Wedding Consummated.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 23.—Mr. W. A. Davis, the young man who was arrested here some time ago on a charge of burglary at Cooksville, a station on the C. P. R., arrived in the city on Saturday.

Davis was the night operator at the Cooksville station. H. G. Reid was the station master. Thirty dollars was stolen and Reid accused Davis. In the court at Brampton it was shown that on the night in question the money had not been in the safe in the station, but in Reid's residence, and was taken out of a book in which he placed it. The residence adjoins the station. The Judge after hearing both sides of the case acquitted the accused.

This afternoon the marriage of Davis which was so unceremoniously postponed on a previous occasion, on account of his arrest for larceny, took place. The bride was Miss Nellie Dowling, daughter of Mr. Thomas Dowling, Marlborough-street. The Rev. T. S. Johnston, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony.

Kicked to Death.

GALT, Feb. 23.—William Huntzberger, aged 27, employed on the farm of J. C. Dietrich on the Clair-road near Galt as a farm hand, was found this evening lying on the floor of the stable in a dying condition. Doctors were summoned, but death had occurred prior to their arrival. Upon examination it was found that the ribs were crushed in over the heart, caused by the kick of a horse. Huntzberger had been working the horses during the day and was alone engaged fixing them in the stable for the night when the accident occurred.

New Brunswick's New Schemes.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23. — Solicitor-General Pugsley of New Brunswick, who is here attending the Supreme Court, informed a correspondent to-day that there will be a deficit of about $70,000 in the province for the year ending December 31st last. It is proposed to make up this deficit by issuing liquor licenses the same as is now done in Ontario. So far these licenses have been under the control of the municipalities. It is also understood that a provincial tax will be placed on telephone and telegraph companies, banks, insurance and railway companies.

Kaiser Bazaar Sold.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—The great emporium known as the Kaiser Bazaar, which is in liquidation, was sold to-day for 14,500,000 marks.

He Packs the New York State Convention, But There Is Trouble in Store.

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 23.—The Democratic State Convention to-day instructed the delegates to vote under the unit rule for David B. Hill as the party nominee for President. The protesting or anti-Hill Democrats have decided to hold a state convention on May 31 and have constituted a Provisional State Committee. There are, therefore, now two regularly organized Democratic parties in this state.

Edward Mitchell, formerly manager of the Bank of Commerce at Hamilton, died in Buffalo yesterday.

Ed. Coy, aged 22, a negro, was burned at the stake at Texarkana, Ark., Sunday, for assaulting Mrs. Jewell, a white woman. Six thousand persons witnessed the lynching, and the torch which set fire to the pile of logs was applied by Mrs. Jewell herself.

EXECUTIONER OF PARIS

AFTER BEHEADING 208 MURDERERS HE RESIGNS HIS POSITION.

The Guillotine Always in Public in Paris—M. Deibler, the Man Who Operates the Guillotine Knife in Paris, and His Exalted, His Gruesome Duties.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Once again has the rumor been set afloat that M. Deibler, the carrier out of the "hautes œuvres," as he is always called in the Paris press—in other words, the public executioner—is about to retire. A few days ago certain Boulevard journals even went so far as to announce that his retirement was already an accomplished fact, and it is still stated that he is now only waiting till he can arrange with the authorities as to the amount of his pension to withdraw from a calling of which he has been the ornament for the last 33 years and more.

It can be authoritatively stated that this rumor is false, but it is a fact, however, that when Mr. Deibler does retire there will be no end of applicants for the vacant post.

M. Deibler is perhaps better known than his successor may ever be. He is a character conspicuous before the whole French nation, and though of rather a retiring nature himself does not forget that he embodies famous traditions. His attire and manner show that he feels that he has a position to keep up. Closely buttoned up in his suit of sombre black, with a stove-pipe hat on his head, he is a man of few words and goes about his duties like one who feels he has a responsibility on his shoulders, but intends to carry out the affairs intrusted to him without mishap of any kind.

Death's Swift Agent.

In September next he will have accomplished 34 years' labor in the service of the state, during the last 14 of which he has occupied the proud position of head executioner. Two hundred and eight persons have been launched by him into eternity, including many notorious criminals. His execution of that thorough paced rascal, Pranzini, earned him, it is said, some slight censure. The whole affair took rather too long. This could not be said of the way he carried out the sentence on the two precocious criminals who came under his hands a short time ago for the murder of the old lady at Courbevoie.

The two boys, for they were but little more, one being 20 and the other 19, were both got ready in their prison at the same hour, and only three and a half minutes elapsed from the time when their "toilettes" were completed to the instant when the knife fell for the second time. Shortly before dawn the pair of youthful murderers were awakened and informed that their hour of doom had arrived. Each in his respective condemned cell was sleeping soundly, and within 60 minutes of the time they were awakened their bodies were laid in their graves.

The Drama of the Guillotine.

The hideous scenes around the guillotine have too frequently been described to need more than passing mention here. Any sensational criminal who is to be executed will attract a crowd numbered by thousands to witness his death. The spectators, mostly of the lowest class in Paris, come to enjoy themselves, and they hold ghastly revel in the broad square and its approaches. Men and women, boys and girls, thieves, broken down cocottes, the haunters of low wine shops of every description, all gather together and form a mob which, as the old saying has it, simply "beggars description."

On the one side of the square stands the forbidding looking building known as the "Grande Roquette," from whose portals the criminals are shortly to issue. Over the way is the other prison or rather penitentiary, called the "Petite Roquette," an edifice scarcely more inviting in its aspect, which is used for the reception of juvenile criminals and incorrigibles whose parents or the authorities obtain an order of the court for their "putting away" until such time as they arrive at years of discretion.

Through the square runs the road leading up to the cemetery of Pere la Chaise, bordered by trees, in the branches of which several adventurous gamins pass the cold and weary hours of the night, sustained by the possession of a point of vantage from which the scene can be viewed. Even when the military have cleared a wide space around the guillotine, strange to say, the soldiers never attempt to dislodge the temporary lodgers in the trees

No Bitterness in Death.

I was a spectator the morning that Eyraud paid the penalty for the murder of the huissier Gouffe under the glittering blade. How slow the moments sped in the cold gray dawn; it seemed as though the great door of the prison would never open to pass out the murderer to his awaiting doom. In the meantime a mob of 20,000 people awaited him, passing the time in shouting in chorus a parody on the latest popular tune of the day:

C'est la tete d'Eyraud qu'il nous faut.
Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh!

There was no delay when he did come out, and almost quicker than it takes to describe it the cart, escorted by mounted police, was starting off at full gallop for the cemetery with the decapitated corpse.

Songs at executions have always been part of the entertainment in Paris. Some of them are written specially for the occasion; others are merely parodies which have come into the head of someone in the crowd during the hours of waiting. It never seems to strike the French authorities that the scenes which take place are scandalous, and that the working of the guillotine in public, so far from acting as a deterrent to crime, really encourages murderous villainy by its brutalizing influence.

M. Deibler insists that the majority of the "subjects" who have passed through his hands have died full of the proud consciousness of being the leading actors at a great popular demonstration. "There is no bitterness of death with the ladies and gentlemen who are my clients," he is reported to have said to a Government inspector who accused him of being too leisurely with his work. "Ma foi (my faith), would you have me grudge them a moment's realization of the difference between comedy and tragedy?"

A One-Armed Man Killed.

QUEBEC, Feb. 23.—A young man named Godbout, belonging to Hadlow, was killed near St. Flavel station Saturday evening on board the train bound from Halifax. Deceased, who had only one arm, fell between the cars and was instantly killed.

TRAGIC FATE OF A NEGRO

HE WAS BURNED TO DEATH AT THE STAKE.

Thousands of the Best People at Texarkana, Ark., See Ed. Coy Roasted to Death—He Criminally Assaulted a Farmer's Wife.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 23.—Ed Coy is no more. Last Saturday he criminally assaulted Mrs. Henry Jewell, the young wife of a respectable farmer two miles south of this town, since which time he has succeeded in eluding the officers, until this morning; when he was discovered at the home of Ed Gains, negro, four miles north of here. He had a mistress at the home of Gains, and it was she who gave him away, fear, for the safety, perhaps, of herself and family acting as an initiative. The posse in search of Coy suspected that he was being harbored by Gains and two or three times this week put a rope around the latter's neck and assured him that death would certainly be his portion should he fail to notify the posse upon the first appearance of Coy. This morning early the mistress of Coy went to the house of a white neigobor, A. B. Scott, living near by, and told him that Coy was at the house of Gains. Scott at once sent a message with the news post haste to town and a posse immediately went out to arrest the negro. Meantime, however, Coy had left Gains' house, but was apprehended and taken in charge by Mr. Scott and two sons, who held him until the arrival of the men from town.

The latter immediately brought their prisoner in, and placing him in a carriage conveyed him to the Jewell farm, where Mrs. Jewell, without hesitation, identified him beyond all doubt as the man who outraged her. The trembling wretch was then returned to town, placed in a room with a number of guards and a heavy guard also placed outside the building, it being resolved that he should not be disposed of until all the posses that were still out should be called in, in order that they might take part in the proceedings.

All the posse were in by 2 o'clock, and the leaders, after a consultation, decided to hang the negro to a telegraph pole on Broad-street at the State line, the most public place in the city. Coy was accordingly marched to this point with a view to carry out the program, but when the crowd saw the rope and divined that a hanging had been decided upon there were thunders of protest.

"Away with the rope; hanging is too good for him, burn him, burn, burn him." This was the shout that went up from 5000 throats. The leaders soon saw the futility of opposing the mob's wishes, but begged that the deed should take place out of town, and to this the crowd agreed. Half trotting, and half running, the crowd rushed the doomed wretch along with them, east on Clinton-street, then south on College Hill-street until the Iron Mountain tracks had been crossed. Here is a beautiful grass plot of two or three acres, void of trees or shrubbery, save one tree 18 inches in diameter and broken off at the top. To this tree Coy was hurried, and one man who still favored hanging, began climbing the tree. In a flash a score of Winchesters were leveled at his head and he was glad to descend. The announcement was then made that the next man who should attempt to climb the tree would be hung on it, and that the negro was going to be burned, and that was all there was to it.

Coy was strapped to the body of the tree with iron fastenings, and coal oil was poured over his entire person in liberal quantities. There was a moment's silence and then another shout went up. It was, "Let Mrs. Jewell apply the match; let Mrs. Jewell set him off." Walking slowly and very pale, but collected, the woman emerged from the crowd. Her appearance among them set the mob fairly wild, and such a cheer went up as almost shook the ground on which they were standing. The crowd fell back at her approach, making a pathway for her, who, leaning upon the arm of a male relative on either side, walked unhesitatingly forward to where the negro stood pinioned, struck a parlor match with her own hand and with perfect deliberation fired the negro's clothes in two places. In a second the poor wretch was one mass of consuming flames, but even in death his wonderful nerve, exhibited ever since his arrest, never forsook him, and while suffering the tortures of fire he actually called to the men of the assembly and in a clear voice requested of them, "Move back so the ladies can see." He referred to the negro women, a large number of whom witnessed the execution.

Coy made but little noise pending his horrible death, except to groan and grunt, and died in about 20 minutes after the application of the torch. A few minutes before he was taken out to meet his horrible death he was seen by a reporter. He did not seem at all nervous, and protested his innocence, saying at the same time that he felt sure he was about to be put to death. He reiterated his denial of guilt while the mob was struggling with him on the streets, and died with the lie on his lips, as there is not a shadow of doubt as to his guilt.

Quite a number of persons favored hanging, but they were in a hopeless minority and were easily ridden down by those who desired to strike terror to the hearts of the negroes by making Coy an awful example, and these thought fire the only proper instrument of death.

To-night everything is comparatively quiet and no troublesome results are feared. The negroes generally favored the hanging, but have little fault to find that fire was resorted to.

THE ROBBER IDENTIFIED.

The Nervy Central Hudson Express Robber Acknowledges His Identity.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 23.—The American Express car robber has been fully identified as Oliver Curtis Perry of Syracuse, suspected of the Utica train robbery of last October, and has confessed that he is the man wanted for that attempt. He was not arraigned to-day, but spent the day in jail at Lyons receiving visitors, among whom was his father. He will be examined to-morrow morning.

THE POODLE'S BITE FATAL.

Terrible Convulsions of a Man Scarcely Scratched by a Tooth.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Feb. 23.—Bitten, or scarcely more than scratched on the leg by a poodle that ran up behind him 10 days ago, Frank Hippemtiel of Centre Valley is now dying of hydrophobia. Five men were unable to strap him down to a bed, so violent were his convulsions when the malady seized him yesterday. Three doctors are having a tough time with the sufferer.

Teachers and Entrance Examinations.

In the Amended Regulations of the Education Department.

A few important changes have been made in the Entrance Examination: the first four should be carefully noted by teachers preparing candidates for the examinations next July:

(1) The examination in literature will be based partly on prescribed selections from the fourth reader and partly on the remaining lessons in the same reader.

(2) At the examination in composition the candidate will be expected simply to write a letter and a narrative or description, each being of about thirty lines in length.

(3) Drawing books Nos. 5 and 6 will both be required.

(4) The subjects of Agriculture and Temperance and Hygiene are optional, but papers will be submitted in each when required. Candidates may take either or both; but, when taken, the minimum of one third will be required in each, and the total aggregate shall be correspondingly increased.

(5) The Presiding Examiners must in all cases be Inspectors or teachers in actual service.

(6) When at any time during the interval between entrance examinations it is considered desireable to admit a pupil, provisionally, until the next examination, the Principal of the High School, and the Public School Inspector shall at once report in detail upon the case to the Minister, without whose approval no provisional admission may be made.

The Provincial Finances.

Hamilton Herald (Independent Tory.)

Notwithstanding the attacks of the Opposition critics, the finances of Ontario seem to be in fairly good shape. The Government is always able to make a good showing and defends its position ably. It is being said that as soon as the Crown Lands, from which the Government derives a large portion of its income, give out, we may be brought face to face with direct taxation, but while the riches from this source are bound to be exhausted in time, though that time is far distant, untold wealth lies under Ontario's soil and the royalities from the mines should yield a large revenue to the banner province of the confederation.

There is one thing we must all bear in mind, and that is that we have received good value from the Government for every dollar spent. The money has not been squandered or directed into illegitimate channels, and in this respect at least the Mowat Government stands out in striking contrast to a sister province where the inheritance of the people has been devoted to enriching politicians and the hangers-on of a corrupt and unscrupulous administration. Say what we will, we must admit that in a great many respects the Mowat Government seems to be above reproach. It may not be perfect, but so far the Opposition has not succeeded in showing many weak spots in it.

If you are troubled with hawking and spitting, dull headaches, losing sense of taste or smell, you are afflicted with catarrh, and to prevent its development into consumption, Nasal Balm should be used promptly. There is no case of catarrh which it will not relieve, and for cold in the head it gives immediate relief. Try it. All dealers. dw

A Crying Evil.

Every crying evil should be promptly removed. Such a one is a crying evil affecting those afflicted with Canadians, which can easily be removed by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, the best known stomach, liver and bowel regulator and cure for sick headache from whatever cause arising. dw

Pale, Weak Women need a tonic, strength giving blood enriching medicine like Milburn's Beef, Iron and Wine.

FIRE.—Early Sunday morning, February 14th, Mr. C. Kitney's greenhouse was discovered to be on fire, and although efforts were made to extinguish the flames, they had already made such progress that this was impossible, and it was with great difficulty that the dwelling house, which was close to the greenhouse, was saved. The loss will be considerable, and is only partly covered by insurance. Mr. Kitney has the sympathy of his neighbors in this misfortune.

IMPASSABLE ROADS.—The frequent heavy falls of snow and the subsequent drifting has made the roads in many places impassable, and roads have accordingly been made through the fields.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION. — Cold Springs Union Sabbath School was well represented at the S. S. Convention of the township of Otonabee, held in Keene on Wednesday, February 17th. It would be invidious to particularise, and it would occupy too much of your valuable space to give the names of all who attended, as there were fourteen altogether. Some very useful information was gleaned from which the school may profit in the future.

PREPARING FOR SUMMER.—Those interested in brick manufacturing are making active preparations for the coming summer by laying in abundant supplies of wood, and will no doubt be able to supply the trade with a first class brick, as they have in the past.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The concert held here on the evening of Feb 12th was a decided success, but owing to the rough weather and the blocked roads the attendance was much smaller than was expected. The Eanismore troupe who conducted the concert performed their part in a very able and creditable manner, and for over three hours kept the audience deeply interested in the performance of their plays, songs and comic dialogues.

The attention of the Ontario Government is called to the condition of the locks in the river at the entrance to the lake. The land on both sides is being washed away, and if it continues, which it will unless some repairing is done, the owners of the land will be requiring compensation. Doubtless the attention of the Ontario Government will only need to be called to the subject to have the matter remedied.

Self Application of Electricity

FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES

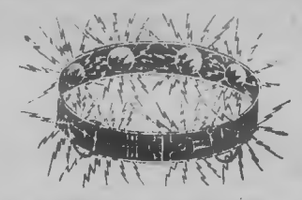
BY THE

DORENWEND ELECTRIC BELT

And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—103 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliances. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT of QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASES, HEART DISEASES, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nervous and Muscular Systems.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not clean the Belt with the humbug combinations of lye, soap and meal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but, if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

The Standing of Ontario.

The Province of Ontario occupies a unique position in the Canadian Confederation. In area, in natural resources, in wealth, in population and in good government it ranks easily first. The settled portions of it are unsurpassed in America for variety and quality of agricultural productiveness; while the unsettled portions are perhaps only less valuable for their supplies of timber and minerals. It is a question, indeed, if in the near future the ores and minerals of the northern districts may not prove to be a richer heritage than the grain fields and grazing lands of the south. The Province has been most fortunate also in the class of men and women by whom it was settled. They came from the old world for the most part without help of any kind, and, having energy, intelligence and character, they manifested from the first an aptitude for self-government which bodes well for the future State whose foundations they laid. In our common school system and in our municipal system are found the beginnings of the excellent system of local government which obtains in Ontario; without these it is doubtful if the experiment of one chamber in the Legislative Assembly could have been tried, or if tried that it could have succeeded in meeting

THE REQUIREMENTS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT.

We have had now a quarter of a century of the one chamber, and all parties agree that it has worked admirably. No better evidence of this is required than the fact that our statutes have become the model for all the other Provinces. Legislation has been steadily progressive, and so carefully has it been framed that not more than half a dozen measures have been disallowed since the first year of Confederation. Our institutions, too, are deemed worthy of study and imitation, not only in the other Provinces but in neighboring States; and in all matters of public policy it may be said that the Government of Ontario is an exemplar to the commonwealth of the continent.

The position we occupy in all these respects was well set forth the other day in the budget speech of Mr. Harcourt. It is difficult to import anything new or striking into the Treasurer's annual statement, considering the narrow limits of Provincial finance; but Mr. Harcourt's speech was novel in its treatment of the subject, and at the same time an admirable commentary on the standing of Ontario as a stable and progressive State. It would be needless to review at length a speech which all men who study Provincial politics will read with interest and profit; yet a few topics may be referred to for the sake of illustration.

A STANDING OBJECTION OF THE OPPOSITION

is that in the sale of Crown lands and timber limits the Government is wasting our patrimony and squandering our capital. The lands cannot be retained unless settlers are to be kept off, and no one desires this to be done. But if settlers go into the northern districts and begin to clear off the land, and if railways are built to open up the country, the risk of forest fires leaves the Government no alternative but to dispose of the timber. It is turned to the best use and sold to the best account, and no one ever had cause to say that good prices were not realized, or that anyone was treated with favour. Mr. Harcourt showed that since the year 1872 the gross receipts from the Crown Lands Department have been $17,253,250. viz.: from woods and forests, $13,671,074, and from lands, $3,582,176, and if there be deducted the expenses of management for inside and outside services, the net receipts are $12,207,143. Has the money been wasted, as the critics of the Opposition would fain make the country believe? In no wise; it has been invested in public buildings, railways, colonisation roads, and other public works which constitute valuable permanent assets, greatly assisting the growth and development of the Province. From 1872 to the end of last year the amount expended by the Government on public buildings was $5,096,293, on railways $5 655,478, on public works $2 324,811, and on colonisation roads $2,146 792, or a total of $15 223,374.

THE END OF THE WHOLE MATTER,

therefore is, as Mr. Harcourt put it, "that we have substituted for a portion of the assets we have in lands and timber other assets more valuable and more productive. There has been no diminution or waste of assets; one class of assets, indispensable and the most valuable of all conceivable assets, has been substituted for another. We have public buildings, schools, colleges and asylums scattered all over the Province, of which any country might well be proud." And perhaps that is not all, or the best. Other capital has been encouraged by the government investments, and in this way many millions of dollars have gone to enlarge the possibilities of the country. In those twenty years the Government has appropriated $7,000,000 to assist railway construction; the municipalities have been stimulated in turn to grant additional subsidies to the amount of $14,000 000; and a further sum of not less than $90,000,000 has been supplied from private sources—there having been completed in the Province since Confederation 4 450 miles of railway. And the obligations of the Government for railway subsidies are rapidly growing lighter, for this year the number to receive aid under the subsidy arrangements will be six less than last year. In another six years the number will be again reduced by six, and twelve years hence to receive a subsidy out of the large number which the Government undertook to assist. These railways have been of great service in opening up the country and furnishing facilities for its trade and commerce, and their benefits will continue long years after the last dollar of Government subsidy has been paid. As to public buildings, the Government has been actuated by a desire to give the country institutions which are a credit to humanity and to civilisation; and although large sums have been expended for building and maintenance, they are commended on all sides. Our institutions for the deaf, the blind, the insane and the idiotic are no doubt the most complete, the best equipped and the best managed in America. Many millions of dollars have been paid out in the last twenty years for these and other public buildings, but all the vigilance of the Opposition has never been able to detect an impropriety in connection with the works.

ONLY TWO WILL REMAIN

The Parliament buildings are by all odds the largest of these works, the vote for them being $1,250,000, and the Treasurer, as acting Commissioner of Public Works, has challenged the closest scrutiny of the accounts. "I promise beforehand," he said, "that it will be found there has been no unfair enrichment of contractors, no scamped work, no manipulation of tenders, no favoritism, no extras.

NO QUESTIONABLE DEALING

of any kind, but, on the other hand, that there has been an attempt, earnest, conscientious, successful, to secure the best of work at the lowest possible cost to the Province." And as acting Commissioner, Mr. Harcourt is able confidently to say that the total cost of the building will be less than the amount voted. Therefore he was more than justified in paying a compliment to the Commissioner Fraser, now laid by on account of illness. "In these days of unusual political turmoil, when the public mind is as it never was before filled with disquiet and unrest, when the old-fashioned notions of truth and right and honour do not always prevail, even in high places, it is a great thing to be able to say of a Commissioner of Public Works, as I do now, after eighteen long years of active continuous service, of one who has controlled the expenditure of several millions of public money, that there is no stain on his fair escutcheon, no stigma on his honoured name." But this is a compliment which might be paid to every member of the Cabinet in turn, for if ever a country was wisely and faithfully served by its responsible rulers, it is the Province of Ontario under the Administration of Mr. Mowat. After all the provisions that have been made for the needs of the Province, for public works, for education, for hospitals and charities and the multifarious objects which enlist Government sympathy, we have the example of a country without a public debt, with all its obligations promptly met, and with a surplus which might be converted into cash of more than $5,000,000, besides assets of land, buildings, unpaid balances, etc., of many millions more. It is a blessed thing for the Province of Ontario, and for the cause of peace and order, that her people have been governed by Mr. Mowat and his colleagues so well in the last twenty years.

Necessity Demands It! Our People Ask For It!

The lessening of suffering, pain and misery brought on by disease, has in all ages received particular attention from those who have had the welfare of humanity at heart. We believe this work can be prosecuted with increased vigor and great good accomplished in the future. Thousands of our Canadian people require free medical advice, and this should if possible be given to all as truly, as honestly, and as faithfully as correspondence will admit of.

The wonderful reputation earned by Paine's Celery Compound in the subjugation of disease, and the marvellous and astonishing cures effected by its use, have created feelings of admiration and surprise in all quarters of our Dominion; and hundreds of weary, suffering men and women have written to us regarding their complaints, and have asked for advice and counsel.

Heretofore, circumstances have prevented us from pursuing this good work. Now we are fortunately enabled to announce that we have secured the services of a competent and thoroughly qualified physician—a graduate of one of our best Canadian medical colleges—whose work it will be to prescribe for all suffering correspondents, and give experienced medical advice and counsel in questions of diet and proper nourishment.

On and after the 1st March, 1892, our consulting physician will be ready to prescribe for, and give advice to, all sufferers. Such services are FREE to all Canadians, irrespective of age or class; and, as in ordinary practice, every case is confidential.

Greatly Benefited.

DEAR SIRS,—I have been using B. B. B. for cancer of the breast during the last two years and four months, both externally and internally, and have been greatly benefited. Have had cancer over seven years, and no medicine ever did me as much good as B.B.B. I feel sure that sufferers from cancer can obtain relief or even cure from B.B.B., and will be pleased to answer any questions as to the use and benefit received from this remedy. MRS. A. ELLIOT, Waterdown, Ont.

My wife and I had dandruff and lots of it, accompanied by almost continual itching of the scalp. Anti-Dandruff entirely relieved us from both annoyances, and we think that it is the best preparation known to clean out dandruff, tone the hair and act as a dressing, without giving an unnatural appearance.

Sufferers

FROM Stomach and Liver derangements—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick-Headache, and Constipation—find a safe and certain relief in Ayer's Pills. In all cases where a cathartic is needed, these Pills are recommended by leading physicians.

Dr. T. E. Hastings, of Baltimore, says: "Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic and aperient within the reach of my profession."

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oceana, W. Va., writes: "I have prescribed Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. I urge their general use in families."

"For a number of years I was afflicted with biliousness which almost destroyed my health. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills."—G. S. Wanderlich, Scranton, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since."—T. P. Brown, Chester, Pa.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these Pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"Ayer's Pills have been used in my family upwards of twenty years, and have completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afforded me greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—Thomas F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

I.O.G.T. Entertainment.

Some fifty members of the I.O.G.T. Carswell lodge, No. 312, and Ashburnie Lodge, No. 358, drove out in three large sleigh loads to Keene last evening, where they entertained the members of the Keene lodge of Good Templars in a manner they will not soon forget. The entertainment took place in the Temperance Hall; Mr. H. P. Lindsay ably filled the position of chairman, and in opening the evening's proceedings made a brief and happy address. The following programme was then carried out satisfactorily and to the enjoyment of all present.

Opening chorus ..... A large choir
Recitation ..... Bro. Jas. Munro
Mouth organ solo ..... Bro. Peter Fisher
Stump speech ..... Bro. Geo. Munro
Physical drill ..... Bro. Chas. Rabey
Intermission of five minutes.
Part I. Dialogue, "Cold in the Head" ..... Sisters Emerson, Anderson, McGregor and Munro, Bros. P. Fisher and Geo. Munro.
Recitation ..... Bros. J. and R. Munro
Mouth organ solo ..... Bro. R. Hudson
Part II. Dialogue, "Cold in the Head" .....
Instrumental solo ..... Sister J. McKim
Recitation ..... Sister C. Kingdon

This brought to a close a successful evening's programme after which refreshments were provided by the members of the Keene Lodge. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the members of the Carswell Lodge for their kindness. The return home was made at two o'clock this morning over very rough roads but without any mishap. In all likelihood the Keene brethren will shortly return the compliment to their Peterborough friends.

Sale of Town Lots.

The auction sale of town lots at the Council Chamber yesterday afternoon was fairly well attended and the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust are no doubt well satisfied with the prices realized. The Magazine lot including the building, south of Rink street was sold for $760, the purchaser being Mr. Alfred Macdonald. Lots two and three north of Townsend street were sold to Mr. Henry Rush for $35 each, and lot number four north of Townsend street was sold to Mr. James Bogue for $90. Lots two, three and four were sold under the conditions that a bond be executed by the purchasers to the Vendors before the 1st of March next, that they will within three years from the date of sale fill in the lots purchased by them to the present level of Townsend street. Mr. Chas. Stapleton was the auctioneer.

St. Paul's Social.

A Pleasant Time Spent Last Evening by Those Present.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavour of St. Paul's Presbyterian church held a social reunion last evening in the Sunday School room for the young people of the church. There was a large attendance, Mr. Wm. Nelson filled the position of chairman with grace and dignity.

The regular meeting of the society was held first, after which the following programme was carried out in good style:

Instrumental duet.... Misses A. Hall and [Fairweather
Vocal solo..... Miss Sophie Cameron
Recitation.. Master De Witt Talgage Stuart
Instrumental duet.... Misses Edith Holland [and Eva Wrighton
Recitation. Master De Witt Talmage Stuart
Vocal Solo..... Master G. Arlidge
Instrumental Solo..... Miss Wrighton,

At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served in grand style, and partaken of with an epicurean relish. The recitations of Master Stuart were well received and loudly applauded. A novel feature was introduced during the evening which was specially attractive. Each one present was provided with a small card and pencil and in order not to go through the trying ordeal of an introduction in order to make the acquaintance of another, this was overcome by simply interchanging cards and each individual inscribing his or her name upon the other's card. This novel feature of cultivating acquaintances worked well and greatly delighted all present.

License Reduction.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Now when the question of license reduction is receiving so much discussion, I should like to call attention to one phase of it which seems to have escaped public notice. I have often felt the monstrous moral incongruity of the beautiful church property of St. John's being ornamented (?) with a hotel in its sacred precincts, and at the very doors of the church. As a practical temperance man, (though not a total abstainer) this fact has often humiliated me. When showing my guests from a distance the beautiful church in which I worship, and the beautiful grounds of St. John's, I have always done what the churchwardens have certainly not done—kept the hotel in the back ground—and when natural inquiries as to the extent of the property, have forced me to include the hotel, I have felt the shame very deeply. Hotel keeping is a legal business, but, on moral grounds, it appears to me a sin to have the church to put, by proxy, the bottle to its neighbour's lips; and I fail to see how money derived from a traffic whose general tendency and effect is to destroy God's image in man, can, consistently, be used to promote the regeneration of man's moral nature—"it is the price of blood." It is to be much desired that the churchwardens of St. John's will consider this matter and take the steps which their conscience, which religious obligation and which enlightened Christian and public sentiment demand.

Very sincerely yours,
CONSISTENCY.

Warsaw's Welcome.

Reception to the New Pastor of the Baptist Church—Rev. W. H. Stevens Warmly Welcomed.

Last night was a great night among the Baptist brethren at Warsaw, a very cordial and successful reception having been tendered to Rev. W. H. Stevens, the new pastor of the Warsaw, Ninth Line Dummer and Norwood Baptist churches. A large number of persons filled three vehicles with visitors from Peterborough, including the Baptist church choir and Mr. Hoover, organist. An elaborate and tasteful supper was spread in the cheese factory building, which was abundantly patronized. A great many persons being in the village on account of it being election day, the patronage was unusually large and the ladies are to be congratulated, both upon the spread they prepared, and upon the liberal demand that was made upon it. After the supper an adjournment was made to the Baptist church, where the pastor took the chair and a pleasant and profitable couple of hours was spent. On the platform were Rev. J. E. Trotter, Peterborough, Rev. Mr. Lewis, Methodist, Norwood, and Rev. Mr. Hyde, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Warsaw, by whom addresses suitable to the occasion were given. At intervals excellent music was furnished by the choir of the Peterborough Baptist church. A very pleasant and profitable evening was spent and Rev. Mr. Stevens must have been much encouraged by the warmth of the reception given him on his entering upon his new field of labour. Before starting for home the Peterborough party fortified themselves for the rather undulatory journey homeward by making a second attack upon the inexhaustible store of good things at the cheese hall, and arrived home at an early hour this morning.

To-night there will be a feast for the Sunday school children, with the presentation of prizes.

NO MORE LIQUOR.—A rescued victim of alcohol, a workman who had had several attacks of Delerium Tremens, and had been cured in ten days by the Father Mathew Remedy said some time after his recovery "I have no disgust for liquor, but I do not care for it; and when I am thirsty I enjoy a glass of water, or of milk, more than I would any kind of liquor. 1d

Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Mr. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, introduced the Irish education bill in the House of Commons this evening. The Hon. Henry Chaplin introduced an agricultural holdings bill and explained its provisions. It aimed, he said, at a wider distribution of land among the people to re-create or augment the yeoman class, which had been dwindling for many years. The bill passed its first reading.

New York's Daily Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Annie Stevens, aged 25, was shot in the shoulder and in the neck at her home to-night by her husband, Henry Stevens. Stevens also shot and seriously injured Nellie Smith, aged 26 years, who was in his wife's company at the time. The would-be murderer, thinking he had slain the two women, then turned the pistol on himself with fatal effect.

A Great Family of Boys.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson of Leamington, Cumberland county, are rejoicing over the birth of their first daughter in a family of 11. Of 28 children born to George, James and John Nelson, brothers, 25 are boys.

Two Mountains Election.

ST. SCHOLASTIQUE, Que., Feb. 23.—F. X. Mathieu, Liberal, and J. Girouard, Conservative, have been put in nomination for the bye-election contest in Two Mountains, which takes place on Saturday next.

Forester's Sympathy.

The following letter has been forwarded on behalf of Court Warsaw, 220, C.O.F.:

To MRS. D. E. CAMERON, Cottenice:

DEAR SISTER,—That whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom and love to remove from you your beloved husband and our late beloved brother by the hand of death; we the officers and members of Court Warsaw, No. 220, Canadian Order of Foresters, tender to you our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in the severe trial you have been called upon to pass through, and may God in His infinite grace sustain, comfort and strengthen you and your family in the hour of affliction; and may you leave it all to Him who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind, and may you all meet again in the High and Heavenly Court above there to again be one family inseperable for ever and ever.

Signed on behalf of Court.
L. E SNIDER, Chief Ranger. B. JAMES, JR., Rec. Secretary.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

An Awful Rebuff.

One of the smart Alecks of the Peterborough press entered a woodworker's shop on Edinburgh street yesterday afternoon and flourishing a pencil in the air asked for an item. The woodworker in response to the request, furnished the scribe with one, but the unlucky reporter had forgotten his note book and asked for a sheet of paper to write it on.

"What kind of paper do you want?" asked the joiner.

"Oh, a newspaper man can write an article on anything," boastfully rejoined the representative of the press.

"Very well," replied the former. "Here is a sheet of sand-paper, try your luck."

"The Queen's" New Palace.

It has been customary with all successful newspapers and publications to secure a home for themselves by erecting a building and naming it after the publication, as soon as the success of the enterprise would permit, and it is only another indication of the success THE QUEEN has met with to learn that it has reached that point where larger and better quarters are required for its extensive and growing business, and that the publishers have decided to erect one of the handsomest and most complete newspaper buildings in the Dominion. A large lot has been purchased on Melinda street, and the architects are now at work on the plans of the building, which is to be in brown stone and pressed brick, with a large statue of the Queen at the top of the building. The lot secured being right in the heart of the business portion of Toronto is a valuable location, and THE CANADIAN QUEEN building will add one more to the substantial structures which have been erected for business purposes by enterprising corporations and business concerns during the past few years.—From (Toronto, Ont.,) Empire, Friday, Feb. 12th, 1892.

Norwood Races.

A Good day's Sport and a Large Crowd.

The horse races at Norwood yesterday afternoon were a "howling" success. There was a large crowd present, probably numbering 2000 people to witness the sport. The track, one half mile, is situated on the ice and owing to the warm weather was in a soft condition which militated against very good time being made. Some of the trotters broke through the ice in the heats. On account of the amount of slush and snow on the ice the spectators did not have a very pleasant foot-hold. The judges were Messrs. Martin Connors, Peterborough; Terney Spellman, Hastings, and Wm Morgan, Lindsay. The decisions were fair and impartial giving satisfaction to all.

In the three minute trot there were three entries as follows:—

"Dick Smith," Mr. Collins, Toronto; "Gladstone," John Newhall, Ashburnham; "Sarah Jane," Mr. May, Toronto. Three heats were trotted, the horses coming in the order named in each heat. The race was very keen and exciting throughout, intense interest being manifested in every heat. The last heat was very tightly contested, the three horses keeping neck to neck throughout the entire heat. The time made in each heat was, 2:44, 2:43, and 2:47.

In the green race there were four starters. "Harold Hartwood," Alex. Patterson, Peterborough; "Maud Hunter," F. J. Daly, Peterborough; "Lucy," Mr. Collins, Toronto; "Tommy D," Richard Tierney, Peterborough.

Five well contested heats were trotted, Lucy managed to take first place in the first heat but could not keep in the subsequent heats. "Maud Hunter" showed a fine burst of speed. She was driven by Jas. Connors and had the track been in a better condition she would have claimed first place. In the last heat she broke through the ice, "Tommy D" was not "in it."

Horse.	Driver.	1	2	3	4	5

Maud Hunter....	Jas. Connors....	3	2	1	2	2

Tommy D,.....	Thos. Delaney....	4	4	4	4	4

The time was 1st, 2:49; 2nd, 2:51; 3rd, 2:54; 4th, 2:57; 5 h. 2:53.

The races on the first day, taken on the whole, were a success. They began at two o'clock and continued until half past four. This afternoon the races were concluded. There were two interesting events, the open race and the named race. In the first event there were four entries. "Cyclone," Mr. Collins, Toronto; "Volunteer," Mr. Collins, Toronto; "Paddy," Mr. May, Toronto; "Minnie Bell," Jos. Daly, Lindsay. In the named race there were three entries. "Fred S." Mr. Connors, Toronto; "Cobourg," Fred Jones, Cobourg; "Cook's Mare," Silas Cook, Brighton. A large crowd of sportsmen again went out from town.

NOTES.

"Lucy," who took first place in the first heat of the Green Race is a one-year-old colt owned by Mr. Collins, of Toronto.

Gambling was started on the track shortly before the races commenced but was immediately stopped.

The track was very heavy and deep.

If Richard and Tom expect to win, they will have to practice their "bloods" up a bit before the next meet.

In the three minute trot there was a purse of $75 offered—1st $40, 2nd $20, 3rd $15. The Green Race was for a $30 purse—1st $15, 2nd $10 and 3rd $5.

This brought to a close a most successful evening's entertainment. The proceeds amounted to $10.

The Dummer Reeveship.

Mr. Robb Re-elected by a Majority of 24.

The election for the reeveship of Dummer took place yesterday and was keenly contested. Both candidates did their utmost to gain a victory. It will be remembered that Mr. Jas. Robb was elected over Mr. A. R. Kidd in January by a majority of five, but owing to some irregularity in Mr. Robb's assessment, Mr. Kidd took proceedings to set aside the election, and after the January session of the county council Mr. Robb resigned; afterwards the judge set aside the election, Mr. Robb's counsel offering no objection. The clerk of the municipality then fixed the date for a new election which took place yesterday, Mr. Robb defeating Mr. Kidd by an increased majority. We learn that the majority for Mr. Robb is 24.

A Temperance Meeting.

The St. Luke's C. E. T. Society Hold a Successful Temperance Meeting Last Night.

The Church of England Temperance Society of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, held a most successful temperance meeting in church Sunday school rooms last evening. There was a very large attendance. The pastor Rev. J. W. McCleary, occupied the chair, and in opening the evening's proceedings made a few brief remarks, congratulating the society on its success and prosperity. The programme opened with a temperance hymn, Miss Eva Tivey presiding at the organ.

Instrumental duet.... Miss Packenham and [Mr. John Armstrong
Mouth organ trio.... Messrs. Dobbin, W. [McGrath and F. Cook
Song.....Master Bert. Wood
Mouth organ and autoharp selections.. Mr. [B. Hudson
Comic song.....J. J. Turner

This concluded the programme, after which Mr. R. J. Colville, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., followed in a temperance address. He described the general evils arising from the use of intoxicating liquors, and related many incidents illustrative of its baneful effects upon humanity in general. He strongly advised all classes to abstain from the use of spirituous beverages as they were the greatest curse and blight upon an enlightened people and an advanced civilization. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Colville for his masterly address, by Rev. Mr. McCleary and Mr. Hudson. A temperance song was again sung, after which the Rev. Mr. McCleary pronounced the benediction.

MRS. OSBORNE IN JAIL.

Mrs. Osborne, the aristocratic thief and perjurer, who after stealing her friend's jewels, tried to bring dishonor upon that friend's family, has surrendered to take her trial in preference to life long exile, with the constant danger of arrest.

MRS. HARGREAVE, WHOSE JEWELS WERE STOLEN.

The sentiment of the "upper classes" is changing toward Mrs. Osborne. After the trial, her duplicity and barefaced lying, her sacrifice of innocent people and reckless disregard of almost every human obligation, secured general horror and indignation; but recently she has figured as a haunted creature hiding her shame in the obscure corners of the earth, sick with harrassing suspense and cursed with the knowledge of the misery she must bring upon her unborn babe; but even stronger was the feeling of sympathy with the husband. He had been the one redeeming feature of the sordid, miserable occasion. He has stood loyally by his wife, shielding her as far as possible from the consequences of her own wrongdoing. Her punishment for the theft may be light, but she is likely to get a couple of years for perjury, for which she is committed for trial.

THE PHYSIOLOGY OF TEARS.

Composition of the Little Drops That Relieve Nervous Strain.

No subject has yielded more poetry than that of tears. Adjectives the most various have been used to express the qualities of tears. They have been called "hot," "cold," "languid," "briny," "gushing," "round," "glittering," "dull," "silent," "wearied," "wanton," and I know not what else. They are waves of emotion, and as a general expression, they are said to spring always from the heart an expression singularly truthful, for no one ever wept from the head; that is to say, no one ever reasoned himself or herself into tears, except through an appeal back to emotion.

The poets have dealt with what may be considered, from their point of view, the chemistry of tears. They have written about "salt tears," "crystal tears," "poisonous tears," "honeyed tears," and the like. They are to some extent correct in their poetic guesses. Tears are saline, for they carry a trace of the chloride of sodium or common salt which exists in the blood; they may be poisonous, for in persons under the influence of a soluble poison, like a salt of antimony, they may convey an infinitesimal part of such poisonous material; they may be honeyed, for in diabetes the tears do sometimes become saccharine, like the other fluid secretions.

But this sort of thing is exceptional. In a general way tears are made up of pure water holding a trace of saline matter, and nothing more; the glands which secrete them are the purest wells of water of the body. Tears are the result of a nervous storm in the central nervous system, under which there is such a change in the vascular terminals of the tear-secreting glands that the excretion of water from the glands is profuse. Some excretion is always in progress, in order that the surface of the eye may be laved and cleared of foreign matters which may come in contact with it, but the controlling centre is at a distance.

As the muscular power that extends or flexes a finger is at a distance from the part moved, so the excitement to tears is from an irritation in a distant nervous centre, and is removed when the nervous centre is either soothed or exhausted. The persons who weep say that tears afford relief. Nothing is more perfectly true, nothing more clear, when the facts are understood. The relief comes not from the mere escape of tears, which is only a symptom, but from the cessation of the storm in the nervous chain.

If the storm be calmed by soothing measures, as when we soothe a child that is weeping from fear, annoyance or injury, we quiet the nervous centres, upon which the effect ceases. In children the soothing method succeeds, and sometimes it succeeds in adults, although in adults the cessation of tears is more commonly due to actual exhaustion following a period of nervous activity.

In grief, the afflicted weep until they can weep no more; then they become calm, or, like children, cry themselves to sleep. Thus tears indicate relief, and that the nervous system has fallen into the repose of weariness. Persons subjected to many and repeated griefs shed in time fewer tears, and the aged compared with the younger are almost tearless. The poor insane patient who ceases to weep becomes griefless; under continued excitement the grief-centre fails or dies.

If this were not the case tears would flow in such a person so long as life lasted. Tears have their value in the life of mankind; they are of value not as tears, although their actual flow gives relief, but as signs that the grief centres are being relieved of their sensibility, and that the nervous organization is being fitted to bear up against sorrow. A very slight emotional disturbance will induce the nervous irritation leading to tears in susceptible subjects; and this, although the catastrophe has nothing to do, intrinsically, with the person affected.

Hence the commotion of tears conjured up in a play. Hamlet, it will be remembered, seizes aptly this point when the player weeps. "What's Hecuba to him, or he to Hecuba?" Of course, nothing, yet the player weeps, and maybe the audience weeps with the player. By art another remembrance may be used to call forth tears on the proper occasion. On the other hand, anything that produces diversion of mind, when the disturbance is not severe, may keep back the outbreak.

John Hunter tells us that once when he went to see Mrs. Siddons perform, in a moving exposition of her great powers, he could not join the rest of the house in their tears "because he had forgotten his pocket handkerchief." In these facts there is nothing incompatible, because the more intense the nervous vibrations, the more easy is the diversion of impulse from one centre to another. Change of scene, mental diversion and outdoor life are the best remedies for the tearful, but an opiate judiciously prescribed is often the sovereign remedy.

Other narcotics are injurious Alcohol, so often resorted to, is fearfully injurious. It disturbs and unbalances the nervous system, keeps up a maudlin and pitiful sentimentality and sustains the evil. Alcohol is the mother of sorrow. There are other narcotics which are similar in effect, notably chloral; but an opiate given at night time, under necessity, not only soothes, but controls, and when prescribed so that the use of it shall not pass into a habit, is a divine remedy.—Dr. B. W. Richardson, in the Asclepiad.

The Head Surgeon

Of the Lobon Medical Company is now at Toronto, Canada, and may be consulted either in person or by letter on all chronic diseases peculiar to men. Men, young, old or middle-aged, who find themselves nervous, weak and exhausted, who are broken down from excess or overwork, resulting in many of the following symptoms: Mental depression, premature old age, loss of memory, bad dreams, dimness of sight, palpitation of the heart, emissions, lack of energy, pain in the kidneys, headache, pimples on the face or body, itching or peculiar sensations about the scrotum, wasting of the organs, dizziness, specks before the eyes, twitching of the muscles, eyelids and elsewhere, bashfulness, deposits in the urine, loss of will power, tenderness of the scalp and spine, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep, failure to be rested by sleep, constipation, dullness of hearing, loss of voice, desire for solitude, excitability of temper, sunken eyes surrounded with leaden circle, oily looking skin, etc., are all symptoms of nervous debility that lead to insanity and death unless cured. The spring or vital force having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequence. Those who through abuse committed in ignorance may be permanently cured. Send your address for book on all diseases peculiar to man. Books sent free sealed. Heart disease, the symptoms of which are faint spells, purple lips, numbness, palpitation, skip beats, hot flushes, rush of blood to the head, dull pain in the heart with beats strong, rapid and irregular, the second heart beat quicker than the first, pain about the breast bone, etc., can positively be cured. No cure, no pay. Send for book. Address M. V. LUBON, 24 Macdonell ave., Toronto, Canada.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy for ladies in clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1. dw

More cases of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver Pills, than by any other means. dw

The Blood is the Life.

Good health without pure blood is simply impossible, and to secure pure blood is therefore absolutely necessary, especially in spring when bad blood is very prevalent. Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy, without an equal in the world of medicine. It drives out all poisonous humours of the blood from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore. dw

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are enemies greatly to be feared. With B. B. B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results. dw

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it, a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and a dollar. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Worms cause serious sickness. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup destroys and expels all kinds of worms quickly and surely.

Canada's Wonder.

The more it is known and the further it is carried to distant shores the greater grows the wonder. All nations and tongues declare St. Leon perfection to assist digestion, purification of the blood, the assimilation of the food, circulation and promote healthy vigor life-long. St. Leon Water has no compeer. For sale all over. dw

If you are nervous or dyspeptic try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptic, either one renders you miserable, and these little Pills cure both. dw

A Wonderful Change.

GENTLEMEN,—For twenty years I suffered from rheumatism, dyspepsia, poor appetite, etc., and received no benefit from the many medicines I tried, but after taking five bottles of B. B. B. I can eat heartily of any food, and am strong and smart. It is a grand medicine and has made a wonderful change in my health.

MACKENZIE ON HEALTH.

AN ABLE PAPER ON THE HIDDEN CAUSES OF DISEASE.

A Noteworthy Contribution to Hygienic Literature by the Late Sir Morell Mackenzie—Paralysis, Peculiarities of Structure and Heredity Specially Treated.

At the solicitation of the editor of Youth's Companion, Sir Morell Mackenzie, M. D., a short time before his death, wrote the following article on the "Hidden Causes of Disease:"

Age is not always to be measured by years. It has been truly said that "a man is as old as his arteries;" as long as these living conduits retain their soundness and elasticity, the parts which they supply with blood will resist decay.

Overwork, "hard living," prolonged privation and exposure to cold, and, generally speaking, whatever makes the fire of life either burn too fast or get low for lack of fuel, will add very largely to the natural wear and tear of the tissues.

Dryden speaks of a man whose restless spirit

Fretted the pigmy body to decay
And o'er-informed the tenement of clay.

Anxiety and distress of mind also contribute powerfully to hasten the advent of old age. A great sorrow will whiten the hair and make a man look old and worn, adding, in very truth, years to his life in the physiological calendar.

Probably there is no more potent cause of disease than long-continued mental suffering, and the greater part of its effect in this way is due to the fact that it brings on premature old age.

THE LATE SIR MORELL MACKENZIE.

Old age causes disease by setting up changes in the tissues which make them liable to perverted action, as in the transformation of harmless warts into cancerous growths; or less capable of resisting the effects of cold and other external agencies; or more prone to wasting which the exhausted system finds it more and more difficult to repair.

Organs like the brain and the heart—which are, as it were, banks for the storing up and distribution of vital energy—become worn out, and physiological bankruptcy results.

The special enemy of old age, inflammation of the lungs, is due to weakness of the heart, combined with loss of elasticity in the lungs. The mortification of the feet and ulcers of the legs so frequent in the aged are also consequences of deficient blood supply, associated with local degeneration of tissue.

HOW PARALYSIS COMES IN.

The arteries lose their elasticity and give way under an unwonted increase in the force of the blood current; thus a fit of anger or even a sudden movement may be followed by bleeding into the brain—popularily called "apoplexy" or "paralytic stroke"—or a large vessel may become dilated into a kind of hollow ball, called an aneurism, which causes pain and troublesome complications by pressure on the parts in its neighborhood, and may at last burst, with an immediate fatal result.

The changes wrought by old age in the structure of the brain show themselves at first in subtle alterations of disposition and intellect, such as irresolution, timidity, irritability, unreasonable suspicion, avarice, —that "good old-gentlemanly vice," as Byron calls it,—garrulity, loss of memory, confusion of thought, and all the characters of age," which literature from Homer downward has delighted to portray.

In a more advanced stage these senile changes in the brain lead to various forms of mental derangement, and in the last scene of all to "second childishness and mere oblivion."

The most fatal tendency of old age, however, is to the formation of what are called "malignant" growths. This is distinctively a "senile change," if we are to believe Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson, an English authority on the subject, who insists that cancer is merely chronic inflammation in tissues that have undergone the degeneration characteristic of old age.

PECULIARITIES OF STRUCTURE.

That there are peculiarities of structure and constitution which predispose to certain diseases is a fact as to which there can be no possible dispute.

A good example of such a proclivity is seen in "bleeders," who suffer from what medical men call hæmophila. The constitutional tendency to bleed on the slightest provocation is very marked in such persons. After the extraction of a tooth or a trifling cut they bleed so profusely and so long that surgical skill is sometimes taxed to the uttermost to keep them from bleeding to death.

The late Duke of Albany (Prince Leopold) was the subject of this peculiarity to such a degree that the lives of his physicians were made a burden by the almost incessant demand for their assistance which it entailed. It was ultimately the cause of his death; and yet the injury which indirectly proved fatal was nothing more serious than a slight twist of the knee joint, which occurred in dancing.

Nothing has yet been discovered to account for this extraordinary peculiarity except a certain thinness of the blood-vessels, which is far from being constantly present in such cases. The theory that the Duke of Albany had "one skin less than other people" is probably a grotesquely distorted version of this slight structural anomaly.

The most noteworthy instance of constitutional tendency to disease is seen in the case of consumption, and what used to be called scrofulous diseases. These are now all classed, together with consumption, under the head of tuberculous diseases.

The peculiarity of structure in these cases shows itself in this—that the real cause of the disease requires a certain condition of the tissues before it can produce its effect. They are more delicate and more easily injured in predisposed subjects than they are in other people. Wounds do not heal kindly, and are apt to fester in persons of this constitution.

HEREDITY.

That heredity is a cause of disease admits of no doubt. It is not the disease itself, but the tendency thereto, that is inherited, just as other physical peculiarities are.

Readers will remember the horseshoe vein on the forehead which was the badge of all the tribe of Redgauntlet; and there is a well-known family in the south of France which for more than three centuries has boasted a white lock of hair. The Bourbon nose, and the thick lip of the Hapsburgs, are other instances in point.

Consumption, gout, insanity and cancer are the diseases which show the greatest tendencies to run in families. Of the hereditary transmission of gout, nearly every noble family in Europe can show the most conclusive proof. With regard to cancer the case is not so clear; but statistics prove that heredity can be more or less distinctly made out in a considerable proportion of those who fall victims to the disease.

The Bonaparte family furnishes a remarkable example of the hereditary transmission of cancer. One of the parents of Napoleon the First died of cancer of the liver or stomach. He himself died of cancer of the stomach, which also proved fatal to his brother Lucien and to his sister, the beautiful Pauline Borghese.

A hereditary tendency to disease may not show itself till an advanced period of life, as Professor Huxley, in his charming autobiographical sketch has lately told us that a peculiar movement of the hands which was habitual in his mother has recently shown itself in him.

The moral to be drawn from these facts is that if a man has reason to suspect that he inherits a tendency to a particular disease, he should be careful to avoid exposing himself to the conditions which favor its development. He should also be mindful of his posterity, actual or possible.

Most people use their bodies as if they were their property in fee simple. This is hardly fair to their descendants. A man should undoubtedly treat his body as though it were strictly entailed, and the rights of his heirs should be, as far as possible, respected.

If the attack of the disease can by any means be kept off, it is possible that in time the family taint may be eliminated.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is because it possesses true merit, and no claim is made for it which is not fully supported.

WHERE IS HER CREW.

DRIVEN BY FIRE TO DEATH IN THE SEA.

Locked In Each Other's Arms Captain Boyd and His Wife Fell With the Blazing Bowsprit of the Doomed Loodiana—Eighteen Men Were Aboard the Loodiana, But No Trace of Them Could Be Found For Miles Around.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The sailing vessel Loodiana of Nova Scotia left the port of New York with a cargo of petroleum for London two months ago. She was owned in Windsor, Nova Scotia, and was of 1874 tons register. After her departure from this port Dec. 21 nothing was heard of the ship until three weeks ago.

The arrival of the steamship Egyptian Monarch at London in the latter part of January confirmed the rumor of the disappearance of Loodiana, but added to the disaster by the report that she had been sighted on fire. Capt. Irvin stated that he had seen the Loodiana blazing fiercely in mid-ocean. Two persons were on board, but before they could be rescued the flames forced them off the vessel and they were drowned within sight of their would-be rescuers.

The Egyptian Monarch arrived at Quarantine early yesterday morning and reached her dock at Wilson's Stores, Brooklyn, in the afternoon. Second Officer Jordan, who was on the bridge on the night of Jan. 16, tells this story of the burning of the Loodiana:

"I was on the lookout. The wind was blowing furiously and the waves seemed mountains high above us. Suddenly away over on the port bow I saw a glare in the heavy sky. At first I thought it was only a sailing vessel showing a flare light to scare off passing vessels. Then I saw a sudden flash and what seemed to be an explosion lighting up the horizon for miles around Seizing a glass I found that a sailing ship was on fire. I sent for Capt. Irvin, who came on deck immediately. He gave orders to take in all sail, and the Egyptian Monarch was headed in the direction of the light.

"At 1.30 a.m. we rounded to near the burning vessel. It was the Loodiana, and she was ablaze almost from stem to stern. The flames had nearly reached the bows. In the bright glare I saw two figures sitting astride the jibboom. The glass showed them to be a man and woman, whom we afterwards learned were the captain of the Loodiana and his wife.

"There was no hope of saving the vessel, even if any one had thought of doing so. The flames had run up the masts and rigging, and had obtained such a hold that nothing could stop them until the ship was burned to the water's edge. Big patches of burning oil floated around and about us. We were almost afraid that some of the blazing oil would be tossed aboard our own ship, for the storm had not abated. The waves, gleaming with the golden reflection from the flames, drove the helpless vessel away from us. The ridges of the mountainous billows were tinged with a lurid glow As we cut through them we seemed to be sailing in a sea of fire, which leaped up angrily around us.

"We got as near to the Loodiana as possible. The two survivors saw us. That agonizing cry for help which escaped them at that moment chilled the blood in my veins. The man astride the boom was thick and heavy set. He clung to a rope with one hand, clasping with the other the waist of a frail-looking woman. Man and wife, as was afterwards learned, they stayed together until death.

"We shouted to the couple to be of good cheer. Their answer was a piteous cry for help where no help could come, as it proved. The burning ship was lying with its head to the wind. The flames were creeping slowly towards the boom. Occasionally the ship's stern was tossed high in the air on the wave, the flames were blown along the bows until it seemed as if the clothes of the couple were scorched by the intense heat.

"The stays supporting the jibboom had been burned away. A few minutes afterwards the ship swung around. The flames leaped towards the keel of the bowsprit. An awful cry of agony went up from those poor tortured ones. Down they fell into the fire-lit waves. We saw them for one short moment. The man was holding on to the stump of a spar and the woman was clinging to him. A heavy wave lifted them up and dashed them against the side of the burning vessel. We never saw them again.

"We steamed around the blazing hulk in the hope of seeing a boat, containing the crew. Then we steamed to leeward for 12 miles, but no sign of boat or raft could be discovered. We laid around as long as possible, but no boat could live in such a sea as was running at that time.

"When we reached Gravesend the scratch crew was immediately discharged. Capt. Irvin went to the London agents of the owners of the Loodiana, which was then reported to be missing. The burning vessel was of American build and the description of our captain seemed to leave no doubt that it was the Loodiana which we had seen. He learned that the captain had his wife on board. We saw the vessel in lat. 48, lon. 6, about 1200 miles west southwest of Queenstown."

The Loodiana was 5½ years old and had carried cargoes of petroleum for some years. She was insured at Windsor, N.S., [illegible] and was in command.

Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely cures where other preparations fail. It possesses medicinal merit peculiar to itself.

TRACKED TO THE MOUNTAINS.

A Prince of the House of Bonaparte Stole a Turkish Minister's Wife.

PANAMA, Feb. 23.—A newspaper of Oruro, Bolivia, has the following: "Princess Bonaparte Wyse-Fure, mother of M. Jose Paul Fure, tis here en route to Santa Cruz in quest of her son, who, while an attache of the French Legation at Constantinople last October, made love to and fled with the wife of a high official in the Sultan's service, and has since been living quietly with his fair Circassian inamorata way up in the Santa Cruz Mountains, whence he had turned a deaf ear to the appeals of his family and friends in France. His mother thinks, however, that she can prevail upon him to return with her to Paris, hence her visit to this republic and present trip to Santa Cruz."

But madam, the mother, will probably have her pains for nothing, for another newspaper says:

"M. Pexon, attache of the French Legation at La Paz, spent several days in this city on his return from Santa Cruz, where he went recently in quest of information as to one M. Fure, a prince of the house of Bonaparte, who suddenly disappeared from Paris several months ago, went to Constantinople, and was afterwards reported to be living incognito in this republic.

"He found the Prince living quietly on an immense hacienda in the vicinity of Chiquitos with a beautiful Circassian girl, said to be the wife of one of the Sultan's favorite Ministers of State, who eloped from the Turkish capital by night with the gay young French Prince.

"M. Fure told M. Pexon that nothing could induce him to abandon his present life and return to the bosom of his friends and family in the Old World."

CAST UP BY THE SEA.

Further Details of the Loss by the Recent Storms in Britain.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Later information from Penzance shows that the steamer lost off that port was the Violante (Br), 555 tons, bound from Rotterdam for Liverpool.

The body of a man has been thrown ashore by the sea at Penzance It is supposed he belonged on the lost steamer.

Terrible weather prevailed in St. George's Channel last night. The French steamer Trignac foundered off the Scilly Islands and three of her crew were drowned.

A despatch from Gibraltar states that during the storm the Italian bark, Nina Schraffino, went ashore at Cape Spartel and was wrecked. Seven of her crew were drowned.

A large steamer bound from Glasgow for South Africa is stranded at Merry's Castle, county Wexford.

The yacht Surprise has been wrecked at Donaghadee, county Down.

The schooner Jane and Alice foundered off Dungarvan, county Wexford.

The list of casualties due to the fierce gales which have just swept over the coast of Great Britain increases. Among the wrecks is the Norwegian timber bark Dronning Sophie, which went ashore at Galley Head, a promonotory of Ireland in county Cork. Her crew of 11 men were saved.

Vaubourg, the Paris Assassin of Boutry, Sentenced.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Charles Vaubourg, the porter of the house No. 27 Rue de Charonne, in the cellar of which the mutilated body of a fellow-porter named Boutry was found on Nov. 4 last, was to-day convicted of being Boutry's murderer, and was sentenced to penal servitude for life.

The Boutry murder was one of the most sensational affairs in the recent criminal annals of Paris. What was known as "the mystery of the headless corpse" baffled the skill of the police for several months.

Finally a web of circumstantial evidence was ingeniously woven around Vaubourg, and during a private examination by M. Athalin, the magistrate whose acuteness had much to do with the unravelling of the Eyraud-Gouffe mystery, Vaubourg broke down and confessed the crime.

Vaubourg stated that he had invited his friend Boutry to sleep with him; that during the night they had quarrelled, and that he had seized Boutry by the throat and choked him.

To conceal the crime Vaubourg hid the body in the cellar, but cut off the head and threw it down a sewer, so that the body could not be identified when found.

MISS MATHER'S MARRIAGE.

The Actress Said to Have Begun Suit Against Haberkorn at Chicago.

BUFFALO, Pa., Feb. 23.—It is said on good authority that Margaret Mather, the actress, has begun suit in Chicago for a divorce from her husband, Emil Haberkorn. Haberkorn was a young orchestra leader in Buffalo when he met Miss Mather. They loved at first sight, and apparently lived happily together for a year. Then they separated. Haberkorn came to Pittsburg. Neither has ever explained the cause of their estrangement.

A Defaulter Sentenced Five Years.

Train Men Fatally Injured.

QUEBEC, Feb. 23.—The train from Halifax with the English mail was delayed yesterday by the train leaving the irons at Mill Stream, N. B. The locomotive was smashed and the engineer and fireman are reported dangerously injured. None of the passengers were hurt. The mails and passengers were forwarded by the regular express, which reached Levis at noon.

Killed by Falling Ice.

QUEBEC, Feb. 23.—This noon a large quantity of snow and ice fell off the roof of the house occupied by Mr. Joseph Lartin, No. 62 Augustin-street, and struck a little girl passing named Dugal, aged 6, daughter of Mr. Felix Dugal, laborer. The little girl's skull is fractured and it is feared that she will die.

A man named Bique was killed yesterday by a icicle falling from the top of a house. He died two hours after.

Killed by a Bogus Snake.

MILLIGAN, Tenn., Feb. 23.—A tramp visited the House of Riley Hart on Monday and asked for food and money. Mrs. Hart ordered him away, whereupon he exhibited a huge rubber snake. Mrs. Hart was so frightened that she died yesterday from the nervous shock.

Committed for Trial.

WELLAND, Feb. 23.—Joseph B. Wood was committed to the March assizes to-day on the charge of perjury in connection with the late election protest trial here. Being unable to find bail he was placed in jail.

The Montreal Herald Sold.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23. — The Montreal Herald after 85 years of existence was sold to-day for $11,350 to Mr. J. B. Young of The New England Paper Company, acting for a small syndicate of Montreal men.

The Elopers Traced.

COMBER, Feb. 23.—Alex Jackson arrived home on Saturday from Chicago, where he had gone in search of his 14-year-old daughter, who eloped with Neil P. Campbell a week ago. Mr. Jackson found his erring daughter and learned that she had married Campbell and that they had gone to housekeeping. Campbell has secured a position in a lawyer's office. Several of the merchants here mourned Mr. Campbell's hasty departure.

PREPARING FOR SPRING BUSINESS

Our usual Stock-Taking has just been completed, and we are very pleased to be able to say that the past year's business has been particularly successful.

In all lines of business to-day one season has scarcely closed before another has commenced, and in no line is this more clearly illustrated than in the Retail Dry Goods. Scarcely has the demand for heavy goods ceased before the Spring trade is in full blast, and in order to be fully prepared for this we have passed into stock SPECIAL VALUE IN FACTORY COTTONS, PRINTS, SHIRTINGS, COTTONADES, WHITE COTTONS AND EMBROIDERIES. These lines may be said to constitute the staples of the Spring trade, and are usually purchased early in order that they may be "made up" during the many spare moments caused by the inclement weather during the months of February and March.

OUR FACTORY COTTONS (Samples of which we distribute on the Market on Saturdays) are admitted by all who have seen them to be

The Very Best Ever Offered in Peterborough.

Our Prints a Splendid Range, all new, and including "CRUMS" Celebrated Wide Cloth, should be seen by every lady who intends purchasing a Print Dress. Our EMBROIDERIES, for which we have always had a reputation, sell at sight. Our WHITE COTTONS, COTTONADES AND SHIRTINGS are the very best that can be procured for ready money.

From this date forward we will daily receive the Latest Novelties in DRESS GOODS, HOSIERY AND GLOVES, CORSETS, RIBBONS, LACES AND TRIMMINGS, and we want everybody who intends making a spring purchase to at least see our New Goods, feeling confident that business will surely be the outcome.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE DEBATE ON THE TREASURER'S STATEMENT.

Speeches by Messrs. Balfour, A. F. Wood W. B. Wood and Others

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—The deferred debate on the financial standing of the Province was resumed at the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Balfour, in replying to Mr. Clancy's speech of Friday last, challenged the statement that there was no debt when the present Administration came to power. What did he make of the million and a half dollars which the province stood committed to for railways? If this was a debt it should be deducted from the four million dollars which Mr. Clancy said was the cash surplus at that time. In regard to the timber wealth of the province the Government had not only preserved the timber resources, but by their fight for provincial rights they had added to those resources. What reckless expenditure had the Government been guilty of? Could the hon. gentleman point out any? They heard a great deal of grumbling, but they had never heard a specific instance of extravagance. The honorable gentleman would not take one dollar from the sums now granted to education, to charities, to agriculture and for the erection and maintenance of public institutions. If he would not reduce the grants to these objects how did he propose to reduce the expenditure? He argued that the Government did not take a dollar more from the municipalities now than it did in 1881. Moreover the Government did assist in the administration of the license law, although honorable gentleman stated that the government did not contribute one dollar towards support of jails, etc. The Government obtained greater returns from the licenses because it had raised the license fees. The municipalities had the same power but did not exercise it. The Government paid last year for the administration of criminal justice $142,000 and a proportion of that was paid towards the support of prisoners in the jails. He said that the municipalities shirked the responsibility of exercising their full powers of imposing license.

The honorable gentleman held up the bogey of direct taxation. Well, as they had a snug sum in the hands of the Dominion Government which they could draw on for the next twenty years at least, there need be no great excitement at present. They were using the products of their timber resources to meet the cost of necessary provincial buildings. They were merely taking capital in one shape and putting it in another, in public buildings, etc. Speaking of the Quebec agreement, which had been attacked, the speaker said that had that agreement been adopted the Dominion Government would be paying to the provinces $293,000 annually more than it was doing now, and of that sum Ontario would be receiving more than one-half, namely $151,000. There was therefore no reason to abandon responsibility for the Quebec agreement.

Mr. A. F. Wood (North Hastings) said that the question before them was: What were our resources, how have they been used and what were the prospects for the future? The resources were the Crown Lands, which were our capital. Our sources of revenue were the provincial subsidy, interest on trust funds, revenue from licenses, etc., amounting in all to $2,162,572. This being our income how were they to meet their expenditure, which exceeded this sum by more than a million dollars? There were three ways of meeting it. They could draw from capital or they could borrow. Speaking of the income from the licenses he claimed that it was money unfairly taken from the municipalities. The Government had taken their present control of the issue of licenses presumably in the interest of temperance. It was quite evident now that it was revenue they were after. It was difficult to follow the treasurer in his alternative allusions to surplus and capital. At one time a certain sum was termed surplus; at another he treated it as capital. He flouted the claim that the leader of the Government or any other man or set of men had made this country prosperous. This province was prosperous by reason of the intelligence and enterprise of its people.

Mr. W. B. Wood (North Brant) said he had not heard of any municipality complaining that the Government was collecting money from licences that should go to the municipalities. The Opposition failed, however, to tell their constituents that the grants to the agricultural societies and to education had been increased by reason of the increase of receipts from licenses and such other sources. The Opposition were simply unreasonable when they expected that the Parliament buildings and the grant for rebuilding the university could be paid out of the ordinary current revenue. He called upon them to point out where the expenditures could be decreased and to tell the House and the country what their financial policy was and what retrenchments they proposed to make.

Mr. Whitney twitted the Government on its alleged surplus and its capital, its assets and its liabilities. He found now that the Government and its friends had shifted ground. They were calculating public buildings and colonization roads as assets. Were there no assets at the time the administration came to power? Yet they had never been so accounted until now.

E. J. Davis (North York) dealt at some length with the timber limit question. He then proceeded to answer the contention that the administration of licenses has not been equitable.

The debate was continued by H. E. Clarke and J. Waters successively and was adjourned at 11 o'clock on motion of A. S. Hardy.

A deputation, introduced by R. Tooley, consisting of Messrs. J. Gilmour and Calvert, was received by Mr. Mowat. They wish the Government to allow the council s to appoint police magistrates and to prohibit justices of the peace from exercising their present powers. The Attorney-General replied that the matter would be left optional with the various counties.

A deputation composed of Messrs. W. F. Allen and D. B. Simpson, mayor and solicitor respectively of Bowmanville, waited upon the Government. The object was that that town should be permitted to consolidate its debt by an exchange of bonds, falling due in 1908 to 1910, for bonds running for a longer period, and that the town be permitted to introduce a bill to that effect waiving to a certain extent the customary notices. A direct reply was not given, but from remarks passed it was inferred that the request would be refused.

The municipal council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, owing to the fact that no means is provided whereby justices of the peace can collect fees for their services in connection with criminal cases tried before them, wish provisions made so that these gentlemen may be paid for their services in all cases engaging their attention.

Dr. Baxter presented a petition from the Canada Southern Railway Co., asking that the bill entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Village of Victoria," be not passed. The ground of objection is that the only effect would be to increase the assessment and taxation of the land proposed to be taken within the boundaries of the village mentioned without any corresponding advantages.

The Government have decided to meet a delegation of mining men on March 8 at 7 o'clock. The matter to be discussed is proposed amendments to the Mining Act.

The various committees met during the morning and elected their chairmen as follows: Railways, Mr. Hardy; Municipal, Mr. Hardy; Private Bills, Mr. Gibson, Hamilton; Privileges and Elections, Mr. Harcourt; Standing Orders, Mr. O'Connor, and Printing, Mr. Balfour. The Public Accounts Committee has not yet been organized.

SERVANT GIRLS MURDERED

A Crime Resembling in All Its Details That Committed by the Schneiders of Vienna.

MAGDEBURG, Feb. 24.—A man named Fritz Erbe and his fiancee, Dorothy Bunstock, have been arrested here charged with murdering servant girls for the purpose of robbery.

These murders resembled in most of their horrible details the Schneider murders in Vienna recently, the victims being inveigled to their fate by means of bogus advertisements.

The police have already discovered the names of two of the victims and are at work on the other cases.

When the police descended upon the culprits the clothing of the murdered girls was found in their possession and will be used as evidence against the prisoners when they are brought to trial.

Dorothy Bunstock has broken down in the face of the charges made against her and has made a confession, in which she described the manner in which the murders were committed. She admits leading the girls to a wood, where Fritz was waiting to spring upon them and where after his bloody work was finished the victims were stripped of all their clothing and any money or valuables in their possession and their bodies hidden in a spot where it was not likely they would be discovered.

THE GROCERS' WARFARE.

The Wholesale Grocers' Guild and the Price of Sugar.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—The sugar refiners have now had their meeting and the Grocers' Guild have had theirs. The result is not as had been anticipated by some grocers, the destruction of the guild. It appears that by general consent the members resolved to suspend Rule No. 2 of the association, which governs the sale of sugar, thus permitting everyone to sell present stock at such rates as they think proper and profitable for their own interests. When all these stocks are sold, however, the members of the guild alone will be able to go to the refiners and ask them for more sugar. There will then have to be a new shuffle ordered before the outside men can enter the guild, which they will have to do in order to be able to purchase sugar at all.

There are four large wholesale houses outside the Dominion Guild, two in Montreal, one in Kingston and one in Toronto. The recent defection of a wholesale house here appears to have led to the present action on the part of the members of the Wholesalers' Association. It is said that before this house withdrew from the guild it had purchased some $300,000 worth of sugar from the refineries, so that it is amply supplied with stock to carry on the war for some time to come. The other houses outside the Guild are also understood to have good supplies of Scotch and Dutch sugars. Fierce cutting is now the order of the day and it is merely a question of the survival of the fittest.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Supreme Grand Lodge in Session at London.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England began its annual session in Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mayor Spencer read an address of welcome.

Richard Ivens, Supreme Grand President, in his report said that satisfactory advance had been made during the year just closed, both in the number of lodges instituted and in the additions to the membership.

William Hancock, Supreme Grand Vice-President, stated in his report that a lodge of the Sons of England existed in every principal town and city in the Dominion. Harry Symons and William Barker, the auditors, reported that the condition of the Supreme Grand Lodge fund showed an improvement over that of last year, the balance to credit being $565.

The number of members initiated during the year was 2344. Number of members in good standing was 9457, an increase of 1477 over last year. The amount of cash received was $65,217.24, an increase of $10,000.

Ambushed and Massacred.

SAN SALVADOR, Feb. 24.—General Enriquez was killed Tuesday by a body of Guatemalan soldiers, together with a number of companions, near the city of Zacapia, Guatemala.

General Enriquez had been unanimously proclaimed dictator of the Constitutional party of Guatemala and had in consequence incurred the active hostility of President Barillas.

General Enriquez was proceeding toward Zacapia accompanied by his two brothers and a party of friends. A company numbering 100 soldiers, lying in ambush on one of the roads out of the city, fired upon Enriquez and others of his party, killing all of them. The attack and killing of the party is attributed to orders issued from the capital and the deed is imputed to the Guatemalan Government.

YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS

PATTERSON DEFEATS CAMERON IN WEST HURON.

A Close Contest and a Small Majority—Liberals Elected Both In Kingston and North Renfrew For the Ontario Legislature By Majorities of Several Hundred Each—General Political News.

GODERICH, Feb. 24.—J. C. Patterson, Secretary of State, was elected in West Huron yesterday by a majority of 20 over M. C. Cameron, the unseated member. The contest was the keenest ever fought in the constituency. The majorities:

	Patterson.	Cameron.

Majority for Patterson 20. Mr. Cameron's majority against Mr. Porter (Conservative) at the general election was 379.

North Renfrew.

PEMBROKE, Feb. 24.—The election for the vacancy in the Ontario Legislature caused by the death of Mr. Dunlop (Conservative) took place in North Renfrew yesterday. The Conservatives did not nominate a candidate, but Mr. Findlay (Ind. Lib.) opposed the regular Reform nominee, Mr. Barr.

Mr. Barr had a walkover, his majority being 421.

Kingston.

KINGSTON, Feb. 24.—The election for the Ontario Legislature yesterday to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. J. Metcalfe resulted in the election of Mr. W. Harty, the Liberal candidate, by a majority of 705 over Mr. Drennan, undertaker, the Conservative candidate. The seat was carried in June, 1890, by Mr. J. H. Metcalfe (Conservative).

Nominations in Vaudreuil.

VAUDREUIL, Feb. 24.—Mr. McMillan (Conservative) and Mr. Harwood (Liberal) were put in nomination for the vacancy in the House of Commons for Vaudreuil, caused by Mr. Harwood being unseated for bribery. A meeting was held afterwards, when the Hon. Mr. Ouimet and Mr. Bergeron delivered addresses.

South Perth Conservatives.

ST. MARY'S, Feb. 24.—The Conservatives of South Perth to-day nominated William Pridham of Fullarton to oppose Mr. Trow at the bye-election on March 10.

Trial Adjourned.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—The court to-day adjourned the Laprairie contested election case till after the session of Parliament.

The Battle in Quebec West.

QUEBEC, Feb. 24.—Meetings of the supporters of Hon. John Hearn in Quebec West were held to-night in Montcalm Ward and at Cap Blanc. Sir Adolphe Caron and Hon. Mr. Costigan delivered addresses.

OTTAWA GOSSIP.

The Minister of Justice to Sit in the Late Premier's Seat.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—The city is donning its sessional appearance, and each train as it arrives in the city brings small contingents whose duties lead them to Ottawa during the sitting of Parliament

Those from a distance generally arrive first and as a consequence we have senators from British Columbia and Prince Edward Island. One or two members of the Commons have also arrived from the Maritime Provinces.

The hotels are beginning to present a lively appearance, all is bustle and activity in and around the House of Commons, the officials being engaged in giving the last finishing touches to the work of renovation, which has been going on for the past few weeks.

Sir Hector Langevin has taken his seat on the opposite side of the House between Mr. Mulock and Mr. Desjardins.

Mr. James Johnson, Commissioner of Customs, has been superannuated, Mr. Parmelee, the assistant commissioner, succeeding him. Mr. T. J. Watters, accountant, becomes assistant commissioner, and it is likely that Mr. George W. Jessop, appraiser, will succeed Mr. Watters.

There has been considerable grumbling for years past on the Commons side of the House as to the manner of conducting the restaurant. This was one of the questions on which both Grits and Tories agreed. An attempt is being made to introduce something like the club system by the new caterer, F. B. Coleman. The bar will be done away with and those entitled to the privileges of the restaurant will be served in rooms on what is known as the European plan. The staff, comprising a couple of cooks from New York, will number in all 20 hands, nearly double that formerly employed. The Senate restaurant will be carried on by the old carterer on the old principles.

There will be no state ball next week as usual. The Court mourning is one reason, but the strongest given is that Lent commences next Wednesday and no ball will be given till after Easter.

A Present For the Pope.

ROME, Feb. 24.—Some time ago a committee of Roman Catholics were formed with the object of collecting 1,000,000 francs (₤200,000), to be presented to the Pope on the occasion of the jubilee anniversary of his entering the episcopate, Jan. 17, 1843. The subscription list already shows a total of 23,499 francs, and the outlook for future donations is most encouraging.

May Lose His Arm.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 23.—Charles Lundy of Niagara Falls, Ont., with a number of friends was out rabbit hunting and they had a fine rabbit under cover of a large pile of brush-wood and while attempting to start it out, young Vanderaluys, son of Capt. Vanderaluys of the 44th Regiment, discharged his gun, the whole charge lodging in Mr. Lundy's arm at the elbow lacerating the fore arm terribly. Mr. Lundy will in all probability lose his arm.

Mount Pleasant.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. George Keown and wife, of London, Ont., were in the village on Sunday evening. They are the guests of Mr. Robert Mills.

On Wednesday of last week at the residence of the bride's father, Miss Emily Sutcliffe was married to Mr. Walter Green, of Millbrook. A large number of friends were present and witnessed the ceremony. The bride was the recipient of many presents. The young married couple have taken up their residence in Millbrook.

Do not forget the Mount Pleasant S. S. tea and concert on Friday evening, 26th inst. The tea will be served in the Temperance Hall from 5 to 7 p.m. The concert begins at 8, and will be held in the Presbyterian church. Rev. R Johnston, of Lindsay will speak at the concert and from his famous reputation as an orator and platform man, we expect a rare treat will be given to those who hear him.

Mrs. J. F. Gill and her two children will soon return to North Dakota.

Master Herbert Smith will soon wing his way Uncle Samward, too.

Through the influence of an address on Patronism and its workings, a large number joined the society in this village on last night of meeting.

Mr. J. J. Mcladdo spent last week with Mr. W. H. Lough, of Ida.

Oyster suppers are all the rage in town now; two last week.

Mr. John Bloxom lost a valuable yearling colt on Sunday last. The colt's leg was broken by a kick from another horse in the stable and this unfortunate occurrence necessitated the shooting of the yearling.

Mr. James Coe was in town this week.

Messrs. A. Webster and W. Thurton, of Millbrook, were in town on Monday.

It occurs that the desperado we tried to portray so vividly in our last grist was none other than one of our quietest citizens, who, seeing and recognizing a friend (the pursued one) wished to overtake him to converse. The latter surprised at any one trying to come up with him at that unseemly hour of the night, hastily concluded his pursuer to be a villain in chase of him, and consequently decamped, which caused the chase, and lastly, the laugh (!) when the truth was found out.

Propagating Fish.

The Fisheries department is now shipping a large quantity of salmon trout and whitefish eggs from the Newcastle and Sandwich hatcheries to those at Magog, Que., Bedford, N.S., and St. John river, N.B. When hatched they will be deposited in lakes suitable to their growth. The department has a large number of speckled trout eggs on hand, and many persons in the province who desire a supply thereof are asked to make immediate application.

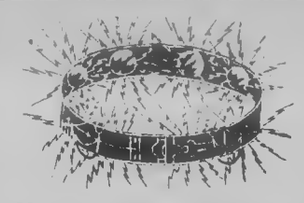
Self Application of Electricity
FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES
BY THE
DORENWEND
ELECTRIC BELT
And Attachments.

HEAD OFFICE—186 Yonge St., Toronto

THE WORLD'S BEST.



ALL diseases curable by Electricity can be treated at home by the Dorenwend Appliance. The Dorenwend is the only legitimate Electric Belt made which fulfils the requirements of Electro-medical science. It is a complete BODY BATTERY. It has an independent Battery, which generates a mild, continuous current of Electricity (without shocks) and can be regulated to suit the strongest man or the weakest child. It is a CURRENT OF QUANTITY, not merely a sensation current, and the quantity current is the greatest curative. It is a successful treatment for INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, WEAK BACK, SPINAL DISEASE, HEART DISEASE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PARALYSIS, VERTIGO, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, IMPOTENCE, SEXUAL DECLINE and all diseases of the Nerves and Muscular System.

Remember that the DORENWEND BELT is the very latest invention in this line, and was invented by a competent electrician, and ranks as the best in the world; we defy anyone to bring proof to the contrary.

Do not class this Belt with the humbug combinations of leather and metal with which the country is being flooded. If you wish to experiment with cheap articles, buy THEM but if you want to procure a genuine Electric Belt and one that will be a benefit get a Dorenwend Belt.

Send name and address for Illustrated Book on Home Electro-medical treatment and mention this paper. J. D. TULLY, Agent, Peterborough. eod w Liquor License Fees.

Their Relation to the Provincial Finances and the Municipalities.

From Mr. Harcourt's Budget Speech.

Our receipts for the year from liquor license fees amounted to $298,184. Our estimate was $300,000, and not $310,000 as it was printed owing to a clerical error. The number of licenses issued during the last license year was 22 less than that issued during the previous year, and in all probability there will be a somewhat greater reduction during the current year. The Province took to itself control of liquor licenses in 1876. Since that date it has received as net revenue from licenses $2,630,515, or $164,407 per year. It has paid to the municipalities during the same period $3,885,922 or $242,870 per year. The municipalities have therefore during the last sixteen years received on an average $78,463 more per year than the Province from this source.

Mr. Clancy—But you took more from the municipalities.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt—I am speaking of the fact as it is found—of the record as I find it. The temperance people, I would say to my friend, have time and again expressed their belief that it would be better for all concerned if the municipalities got nothing for licenses. (Applause.)

In answer to some press criticisms arising out of complaints made by a few municipalities as to their share of the license fees, I last year pointed out that the municipal revenue from licenses had during recent years been steadily increasing; also that their percentage of increase had been more than double that of the Province.

Without question, in our larger cities licenses have become much more valuable to the holders year by year, and it may be that the time has now come when we should consider the propriety of raising the fee and thereby increasing our revenue.

The fees paid in some of the American cities are considerably larger than those we extract.

It has never been considered inappropriate that the State should ask the dealers in liquors as well as the consumers to contribute to the cost of the Government.

If the liquor traffic is only one half as responsible for the serious cost incident to the administration of justice as some allege it to be, than these license duties which we are discussing might be measurably increased. It will be remembered that nineteen municipalities, availing themselves of our license legislation of 1890, passed local option by-laws for prohibiting the sale of liquors by retail.

Our act of 1890 (53 Vic., chap. 66) simply restored to the municipalities the powers they formerly possessed, re-enacting as it did provisions which were in force at the time of Confederation as a part of the Consolidated Municipal Act, and which were also contained in the Tavern and Shop License Act of 1868, but which were afterwards omitted in subsequent consolidations of the Municipal and Liquor License Acts, similar provisions as to local prohibition being contained in the Temperance Act of 1864 (Dunkin Act), which act has been repealed, where not in force, by the Canada Temperance Act.

The validity of the clauses of our statute on which the local option bylaws were based being questioned in the courts, Chief Justice Galt quashed some of these bylaws, and held that the Legislature had no authority to empower the municipalities to pass them.

Our act of last session respecting local option (54 Vic., chap 46) explained the act of the preceding session and provided for a reference of the question of its validity, construction and effect to the Court of Appeal for Ontario, under the authority of the act for expediting the decision of constitutional questions. The opinion of the Court of Appeal was given in September last. Chief Justice Hagarty, after reciting that the municipalities had from an early date, at least as far back as 1849, the power to regulate tavern licenses and to limit their number; that section 200 of the act of 1866 contained a clause identical with the prohibitory clause (clause 18) of our act of 1890; that a similar clause in like terms is found in the Tavern and Shop License Act of 1869; that it was omitted in the act of 1887; that municipal institutions are in the class of subjects within exclusive Provincial regulation; that in our act we expressly disclaimed any exercise of jurisdiction beyond the revival of provisions in force at date Confederation; that clause 18 of the act of 1890 (the clause in question) applies only to places where neither the Dunkin Act nor Canada Temperance Act are in force, concludes that the Legislation had jurisdiction to pass it.

And thus another disputed point of jurisdiction as to powers of legislation in the matter of liquor licenses is happily set at rest.

While this local option movement has as yet had no effect upon our license revenues, we need not be greatly surprised if in the near future it will cause a considerable shrinkage.

Although the question may be considered from two widely different points of view, namely, that of the financier and that of the moralist, still I think I fairly represent the views of the whole House when I say that if local option will secure substantial, abiding progress in the cause of temperance and morality, then we will all rejoice, in spite of the temporary loss of revenue which it would entail.

A sign of the times is discernable in the fact that very marked attention is being given to this subject in the Northwest Territories and that a license law very like our own, if not a transcript of it, has been enacted there this very year.

The ratepayers came to the conclusion that under the old state of things the law was not only not observed, but held in contempt, and smuggling encouraged as well; that their experience of prohibition had resulted in dismal failure, and that the only remedy was a system of well-regulated license.

A Sample.

The late James McLaren was one of the syndicate who offered to build and equip the Canadian Pacific Railway for $3,000,000 less cash and 3,000,000 less acres of land, without any of the many privileges and exemptions given to their successful rivals. They also undertook to return to the Government at any time, on demand, the completed road with all lands and other property at cost price. The Government refused their offer, and the syndicate, whose successors were the present company, obtained $25,000 000, twenty-five million acres of land, $35,000,000 worth of completed railway and valuable privileges and monopolies.

Sufferers

FROM Stomach and Liver derangements—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick-Headache, and Constipation—find a safe and certain relief in Ayer's Pills. In all cases where a cathartic is needed, these Pills are recommended by leading physicians.

Dr. T. E. Hastings, of Baltimore, says: "Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic and aperient within the reach of my profession."

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oceana, W. Va., writes: "I have prescribed Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. I urge their general use in families."

"For a number of years I was afflicted with biliousness which almost destroyed my health. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills."—G. S. Wanderlich, Scranton, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years, and am satisfied I should not be alive to-day if it had not been for them. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since."—T. P. Brown, Chester, Pa.

"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these Pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.

"Ayer's Pills have been used in my family upwards of twenty years, and have completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afforded me greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—Thomas F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

Mr. Stratton has been appointed a member of the Committee on Private Bills, Printing, Standing Orders, Railways and Municipal Committee.

TO AMEND THE MUNICIPAL ACT.

Mr. Willoughby yesterday introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Act. It has for its object the same purpose as his bill of last year in regard to bridges within 80 chains of county boundaries, declaring them to be county boundary bridges, but limiting the obligation to bridges that were originally built either wholly or in part by counties or parts of counties, the county of Victoria bridges and the bridge at Trent Narrows. This bill was defeated last session by a very small majority.

Police Court.

Mr. G. English Committed to Trial—An Assault Case.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 24th.

The police court room was filled with an eager and interested crowd of spectators this morning.

The case of Goldsmith English charged with embezzlement by Mr. Morton, manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, Montreal, was first disposed of. The magistrate stated after due consideration he would commit the prisoner to be held for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Prisoner was admitted to bail himself $200 and furnishing two sureties of $100 at each.

Ed. Welsh was charged with being drunk.

MAGISTRATE.—Edward Welsh you are charged with being found drunk in a public place, are you guilty or not guilty?

The prisoner slowly arose and after a sleepy yawn and an abnormal strut, succeeded in gaining his voice, and mumbled, "I am and I ain't."

THE MAGISTRATE—I think that this is the first time you ever patronized the police court, and as you were evidently doing no harm I will let you off this time, only take care and don't let a policeman get hold of you again, and appear before me on a second like offence.

Ten young boys varying in age from 7 to 15, were charged with throwing snow balls. It appears that there was a tally-pull in the north end of the town last night, and as each visitor entered the house this squad of youths standing on the opposite side of the street, would hurl these flying missles thick and fast. The magistrate warned them not to snow ball on the public streets but to get off in some field if they wished to participate in this diversion where they could molest no one but themselves. They were allowed to go.

John Montgomery was charged with assaulting Thos. Scott. Mr. W. F. Johnston appeared on behalf of the plaintiff.

Mr. SCOTT sworn and said "The assault took place at the Morgan House on Saturday afternoon between four and five o'clock. I was going up the street past the Morgan House and Mr. Montgomery was sitting on the window sill, talking to another man. He said that he wished to speak to me; I told him I had nothing to say to him. When I was going in the door of the hall, defendant stepped in the door ahead of me I then asked him to let me go through, but he wouldn't let me pass him. I then attempted to go in the bar room door but he grabbed me by the breast of the coat and swung me around lightly. I then warned him to keep his hands off me. He let go and I crowded past him into the hall. He followed me in the hall where there was a large crowd of thirty or forty ladies and gentlemen He screamed out at the top of his voice, "Robt. Scott you are nothing but a d——————." He repeated the assertion again and followed me out in the bar still abusing me. The bar was full of men. When I got to the stove I turned around. He accused me of telling certain stories, which I denied. He then threw off his coat and hat and challenged me to come out into the yard. I refused and told him to let me alone. He continued abusing me still, calling me vile appellations and hurling bitter epithets. He put his fist into my face twice, and shoved it under my nose. I then left him. He has threatened me several time on different occasions. I am afraid of his doing me bodily harm.

Defendant then proceeded to cross-examine the plaintiff, but asked questions of a personal nature, which had no relation to the case, and which the magistrate refused to allow.

JAMES GRANT and MATTHEW ROBINSON being examined fully corroborated the statements of Mr. Scott, the latter admitting that Montgomery had attained some notoriety as a slugger.

Montgomery offered no defence.

Mr. Johnston asked His Worship on behalf of his client to have the defendant bound over to keep the peace. The magistrate thought the request reasonable. He said the charge had been clearly proven. He fined defendant $5 and costs ($9.40 in all) in default 15 days in gaol. Montgomery was also bound over to keep the peace with Scott by furnishing securities, himself at $500, and two securities of $200 each.

The court adjourned at 11 o'clock.
